C. W. Grinnell, Former GM Of Town Crier, Is New NEC Public Relations Head

BOSTON -- Charles W. Grinnell of Wellesley, former general manager of The Town Crier, has been appointed to the new post of Director, Public Relations of The New England Council, it has been announced by NEC Executive vice president Gardner A. Caverly.

Grinnell succeeds Martin Sheridan of Newton, who has held the position of Director of Information and Publications and has returned to the Admiral Corporation of Chicago as Director of Public Relations. Sheridan served in that position for six years prior to joining the NEC some 17 months ago.

The Boston-born Grinnell, 39, is the son of Frank W. Grinnell, secretary of the Massachusetts Bar Association and editor of the Massachusetts Law Quarterly.

Both Towns To Have "Days" At Boston Arts Festival

Wayland and Weston are two of 17 Metropolitan area communities which will send residents for one day to serve as the staff at the Boston Arts Festival on the Public Garden. They will be on duty from 10 a.m. until nearly midnight, doing all the jobs which need to be done.

Wayland Day will be June 9 and Weston Day will be June 20. Mrs. Horace B. Gray, community chairman, will supervise the 30 volunteers from Wayland, and Mrs. John A. Birch, Weston chairman, will direct the 30 volunteers from Weston.

New Church In Weston?

WESTON -- A meeting will be held in the Lower Town Hall on Wednesday evening, June 3, at 8 o'clock, to which all those who are interested in the possible formation of a Congregational Church are cordially invited. Present will be the Rev. Dr. Albert J. Penner, President and Minister of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference, and the Rev. Baldwin W. Callahan of the Conference Staff.

Mrs. Reed Will Do "Strings"

WESTON -- Mrs. Allen E. Reed of 92 Sunset Road has agreed to take over the job of compiling "Strings Around The Finger", the list of advance notices which appears in The Crier once a month. Mrs. Reed, as the "Welcome Wagon lady", has met nearly 1000 new families in town during the past few years. Her telephone number is TW 3-8780. People will have to call her. She won't call anybody.

Elected President

WESTON -- Lawrence H. Pexton of 8 Cedar Road was elected president of the Boston Control of the Controllers Institute of

Lawrence H. Pexton

America on May 13. The Controllers Institute is a management organization established in 1931

Miss Grace A. Maguire

WAYLAND -- Funeral services were held at St. Zepherin's Church on May 20 for Miss Grace A. Maguire of 5 West Plain Street, sister of Mr. Cornelius J. Maguire of Maguire Road.

Miss Maguire, a bookkeeper for the Natick Bulletin, had been a resident of the town for more than 30 years. She was a graduate of the Framingham Business College and a member of St. Zepherin's Catholic Women's Club.

Old Weston Landmark

WESTON -- The photo above, which turned up some months ago in a local household, shows a once-famous Weston landmark, "Cutting's Store", which stood facing the Post Road where the St. Julia's Church parking lot now is. The inscription under this print says it is an engraving made from a photograph taken in 1865. On the cardboard mounting under the picture, are the words: "Compliments of George W. Cutting & Sons Family Store, Weston, Massachusetts. Established 1833". Cutting has long been a well known family name in both Wayland and Weston.

4-H Horse Show Action

WESTON -- Big crowds were on hand all day long on May 23 at South Avenue for the 10th annual Wayland-Weston 4-H horse show, but some of the liveliest action occurred behind the scenes, as the picture above suggests. The horse is Townshend Lad, who has been cared for at the home of John G. Brooks 2d, 178 Boston Post Road, and he was a little reluctant to get into the van and go to the show. Peter Campbell is standing at the left. The hand at the left is that of John Brooks.

Town House Kindergarten Nears Full Enrollment

WAYLAND -- Enrollment for the kindergarten classes to be sponsored by the Wayland Junior Town House next year has nearly reached capacity, according to Mrs. William Porter of Happy Hollow Road, in charge of registrations. Applications have been sent to the parents of all children who will be 5 years old by December 31, 1959, but anyone interested in enrolling a child of that age should contact Mrs. Porter, at EL 8-2059, immediately, before the enrollment is full.

Registration day will be September 21 and classes will begin on the 22nd.

A single class of 21 children will be taught by Mrs. Ethel Bamforth at the Pequod Lodge and two classes of 21 pupils each will be taught by Mrs. Bruce F. Kingsbury and Mrs. Allen H. Morgan at the Trinitarian Congregational Church in Wayland Center. Mrs. Burton R. Clay will teach a class of 17 at the Community Methodist Church in Cochituate.

Classes next year will be directly oriented to preparation for Wayland first grades. Seven local first grade teachers, Mrs. Alice Hall of WESTON -- Joseph R. Nardone of 25 Chiltern Road has been appointed to the sales staff of Ives-Cameron Company, Philadelphia pharmaceutical concern, according to William B. Dean, director of sales.

Joins Sales Staff

Nardone, who was formerly associated with the S. E. Massengill Company, is a graduate of Boston University, 1951. He served for two years with the U. S. Army at the Walter Reed Army Medical Center in Washington, D. C.

Letters to the
EDITOR

West Plain Street

To the Editor:

May 1, through the kindness of the Crier, express my personal "Thanks" to the Wayland Highway Department for the excellent job done on the refinishing of West Plain Street.

Last year's unfortunate experience in the same attempt undoubtedly brought many gripes from those who did not understand the circumstances but few of those who complained will now take time to commend the Department.

I am sure I speak for the residents and other users of the street in noting not only the fine new surface but the looming and seeding all along the sides as well.

Congratulations to the Commissioners, to Superintendent Potvin and the employees for a job well done.

Sincerely,
John W. Arnold

Acknowledgment

To the Editor:

We wish to acknowledge, with most grateful appreciation, the many acts of kindness, beautiful floral tributes, spirituals bouquets and thoughtful expressions of sympathy, extended to us during our recent bereavement by relatives, friends and neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius
J. Maguire
Cohituate.

In Appreciation

To the Editor:

On May 30th when we pause to do honor at the Fiske memorial on the corner of Concord and the Post Road, may be pay a tribute not only to Lieut. Charles Henry Fiske III mentioned there, but to those men who in the past few months have reassembled the stone wall and the memorial itself.

Mr. Charles Stimpson, our Town engineer, designed the graceful curve, and under the overall direction of Mr. Stanley Fabbri, of our Highway Department, the work has been beautifully and painstakingly done.

The shades of those old timers who originally made the old wall may easily look upon it and say "well done, boys!"

Yours very sincerely
Helen P. Wheeler

Jericho Thank You

An open letter to The First Parish Friendly Society of Weston, Weston.

Ladies and Gentlemen:

First, let me say that as a member of The First Parish Friendly Society of Weston, I was very pleased with and proud of the presentation of "Jericho" by the members of the Society.

As Administrator of The Waltham Hospital, please let me say that I am pleased with, and grateful for, the material assistance which The First Parish Friendly Society of Weston is giving to The Waltham Hospital as a result of the efforts of its members.

I have some idea and appreciation of the amount of work and the many hours of labor which went into this production, not only by those who appeared on the stage, but by those who worked behind in their many capacities. I also know that it takes time to finish the details of a play when once produced, and I do not want too much time to elapse between the giving of the play and the receipt of the check, which is in the offing, before I express to all of you my personal appreciation and the Trustees' sincere thanks for the help which is to be given us. It is virtually impossible to write to each and every person who took part in any way in the production of this play. Therefore, I have advisedly taken the medium of our local paper as the vehicle to convey to each and every one of you our sincere thanks.

Cordially yours,
Walter R. Amesbury Administrator

Hil There!

Summer is almost here! Vacation plans are being made by our friends and neighbors. However, at our office plans are made now for your heating comfort next winter and believe us it is difficult to think of next winters heating demands with the temperature hovering around 80°.

We offer you the best in home heating right in your own home town - Clean burning Mobilheat - a brand name and product of Socony Mobil - an Automatic weather watching degree day system second to none - Balanced Monthly Payment Plan - at no extra cost - 24 hour burner service and a money saving discount plan.

Wayland has had its own fuel business since the 1880's or before. Mr. Adams sold the coal, wood and ice business to A. W. Atwood about 1905 - (Mr. Atwood, now 90 years old lives in Monson, Mass.). Both Mr. Adams and then Mr. Atwood cut ice on the Mill Pond and stored it in the ice house which was situated at the old mill dam. In 1943 we purchased the coal, ice and wood business from Mr. Atwood and three years later became a distributor for Socony Mobil Oil Co.

We purchased good-will in 1943 and will continue to spread good-will in the future. Join our Mobilheat family! Call us today for the Finest Fuel Oil Service In Town.

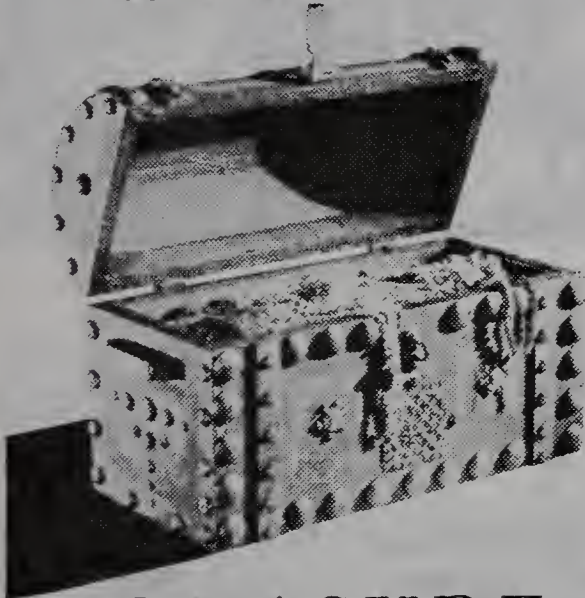

Sincerely,
Tom Linnehan.

Should Euphoria Break Out, Society Would Fall Apart

Only Misery Keeps People Working Instead Of Smelling The Flowers

Of all the disasters the wise men threaten us with, none is less likely to occur, nor more likely to be dreadful in effects if it should occur, than an epidemic of euphoria.

Euphoria, the dictionary tells us, is a sense of well being and expansiveness. And if it ever breaks out all over, society will be shattered into a zillion fragments.

Take May or June around here (when the sun shines) and the grass is green and trees are in bloom and the world looks about as pretty as it does anywhere. On the rare day, it is only man's sense of misery which keeps turning the wheels of industry. There is the nasty feeling that if one doesn't keep working, no matter the temptation to sit down and enjoy life, probably starvation or the finance company will set in. Through many ages man has been conditioned to fear the worst, and this terror still afflicts us.

But take a sunny day and an attack of euphoria together, and imagination boggles at the the thought of the happy chaos resulting.

The commuter would open one eye in the morning, smell the sweet air, and decide not to go to the city. He would get up and make himself a breakfast (if Mrs. Commuter happened to catch the bug, too, she wouldn't even lift the coffee pot) then go outdoors and wander around with as silly a look on his pan as though he had had 14 martinis.

The storekeeper wouldn't open the store, and if he did he'd give away steaks. The teacher wouldn't go to school, the trains wouldn't run (they scarcely do that now), the banker wouldn't bank, the police force would disband, grudges and hostilities would come to an end, divorce courts would close and bill collectors would forget what they came for.

People would gather in large groups, smiling and bowing, telling each other how wonderful they felt (instead of relating their symptoms) and admiring the beautiful children who, for once, under the influence of the sweet distemper, would be behaving themselves like angels on duty.

This, you see, would be very bad, because man isn't built to endure happiness of the exaggerated, overflowing kind.

Man is built to worry, to scrimp, to connive, to be afraid, to work, to contend constantly with 10,000 nagging devils inside him.

This peculiar, unattractive construction of man is all that keeps the world going. Were he feeling gay, uplifted, happy, unafraid, would a person go on, day after day, performing the dull, routine job to which he thinks economic necessity has condemned him? Wouldn't he just quit and go smell the flowers? And then what would happen to the electricity, the food supply, the stock market, the Bermuda shorts factory and the fur trade? Not to mention horse tracks, television, high school graduation and the number pool?

To be sure, we advocate that activity known vaguely as the pursuit of happiness. Hence the cocktail party, for which man prepares by working like an unhappy demon all day, in the hope that taking a certain amount of the magic liquid at 5 p.m. will lift his spirits to the level they might have been on all the time, had he only been bitten by the euphoria germs in the first place. It raises the question, what would we do with happiness if we ever caught it? Wouldn't it throw us completely off our rails, on which we run none too steadily anyway?

Maybe euphoria is like anarchy. Both have certain elements of attractiveness, but probably man isn't yet qualified for either. Up with misery, comrades, and back to the space travel program.

When you buy groceries here, you get part of the store, too!

These folks are buying quality groceries at regular super-market prices. Yet, a part of what they are paying the cashier goes to buy a share of ownership in the store itself.

This store looks like any other progressive super market, but it's a cooperative. It is owned by those who buy from it... and any income remaining in the store's cash register, after operating expenses are paid, is credited to customers in proportion to their annual purchases.

Of course it's a different way of doing business. THE MAIN DIFFERENCE IS THAT MORE PEOPLE BENEFIT.

Coming to the "Village Shopper" Wayland

THESE CASH REGISTER RECEIPTS ARE WORTH MONEY!

They not only tell you how much you bought but they are a record of your ownership in the store. Their total at the end of the year is used to figure your patronage refund.

Five Candidates For Strawberry Festival Queen Have Been Picked

WAYLAND — Wayland High School students have nominated five girls from the junior and senior classes for the honor of being nominees for "Queen" of the 10th Annual Strawberry Festival. They are Evelyn Archer, Judy Emmons, Beatrice Gimenez, Susan Lunt and Carolyn Rydberg.

The girl receiving the most votes will reign at the big June 20 affair. Everyone is entitled to one vote. Ballots must be signed and placed in the ballot boxes around town or mailed to Mrs. Herbert Lipton, 48 Maiden Lane, Wayland.

The crowning ceremonies will climax an afternoon and evening of fun and festivities. The Strawberry Festival, Wayland's biggest day of the year, is sponsored by the Wayland Junior Town House, a United Fund Organization.

Evelyn Archer, a senior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Archer of 132 Plain Street in Cohituate. Youngest of four children, captain of the cheer leaders and member of the National Honor Society, Evelyn is to be commencement speaker at graduation and plans to attend Chandler Secretarial School. She was also a Strawberry Festival Queen nominee last year.

Judy Emmons, a junior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Emmons who have resided at Three Ponds Road for two years. They formerly lived in Greenfield and Haverhill, Massachusetts, and in Ohio and New Hampshire. Judy took ballet and tap dancing lessons for 9 years, was also a cheer leader and plans to enter college after finishing high school.

Beatrice Gimenez, a junior, came from Argentina and resides at 56 Dean Street with her mother, father and brother. Beatrice speaks both Spanish and English fluently, having attended American schools in Buenos

50 Weather Balloons Will Feature Loker Feild Day

WAYLAND — Loker School children, their families and friends are invited to participate in the Field Day to be held Saturday, June 6. Beginning at 10 a.m., there will be exhibitions of the extra-curricular activities programs which have been sponsored by the PTA this year, under the directorship of Chris Stergia. Group demonstrations of the art, science, and dancing programs will be presented, and the after-school physical education program will be represented by demonstrations of skills in tumbling and apparatus, and basketball.

At noon, soft drinks will be available to accompany the box lunches brought from home, and at 1 p.m., the literal and figurative high point of the day will be reached when a barrage of 50 weather balloons is to be released. After lunch, there will be a father and son softball game, and supervised games for the girls.

Among the parents who have contributed much time to the success of the after-school program, particularly to the Field Day preparations, are Mrs. Herbert Gallier and Mrs. Howard Smith, for the dance program; Mrs. James Mavor and Mrs. Chris Stergia, the art program; George Freedman, the science program; and Mr. Ridini for the physical education. Howard Smith will m.c. the June 6 program, and Mrs. George Dresser will plan refreshments with the help of Mrs. Theodore Musto.

Susan plans to attend Vermont College and become a medical secretary.

Carolyn Rydberg, a senior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henning Rydberg of 52 Cohituate Road. One of three children, she is an old hand at this "queen" business, having reigned at her Junior Prom and been a Festival nominee last year. Carolyn had the lead in the senior class play, "Mother is a Freshman."

"Auntie Mame"

"Auntie Mame" will be presented by Bill Herp at the Red Barn Theater in Westboro on Tuesday, May 26, at 8:20 p.m. and will run through Sunday, May 31.

Lois Kibbee will play "Mame", with Bernice Bolek, Ruth Koltun, Patricia O'Connell and Lois Robinson in the other supporting roles.

Sets will be done by Gene Callahan of New York. This is to be directed by Mrs. Patty Nason of Westboro. Many of the costumes will be from the original New York production.

DUTCH FILMS AT DRUMLIN FARM

Three films on Holland and its bird life will be shown at the Massachusetts Audubon Society's Drumlin Farm in South Lincoln on June 5 by Dr. Hubert N. Kluljver. Dr. Kluljver, a visitor from Holland's Ecological Institute in Arnhem, is making a special study of our native Chickadee.

PIANO RECITAL

WAYLAND — Anita Castiglione, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Castiglione of Carpenter Road, a 4th grader at the Loker School, will present a program of piano music at the home of her teacher, Allen Barker, on Draper Road, at 4 p.m. on May 30. She will perform works by Bach, Scarlatti, Haydn, Ravel and Bartok.

Aires. Her ambition is to be an interior decorator she plans to attend Rhode Island School of Design.

Susan Lunt, a senior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Lunt of 26 Orchard Lane, formerly of Baltimore, Maryland, and Hartford, Connecticut. Susan was a member of the Queen's Court at the Junior Prom and belongs to the National Honor Society. She has an older brother in college.

"Bolshoi Ballet" At Wellesley

"The Bolshoi Ballet", a remarkable filming of the distinguished Russian group which won such praise at the New York Metropolitan Opera opening this month, comes to the Community Playhouse in Wellesley Hills on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of next week. Gullina Ulanova dances the full-length classic "Giselle" in the film which also has six other ballet divertissements typical of the Russian repertoire. There are excerpts from the Bolshoi Ballet's production of "The Fountain of Bakhchisarai", "Swan Lake", "Ivan Susanin" and "Faust", as well as the divertissements "Spring Water" with music by Rachmaninoff and "The Dying Swan", created by Fokine for Anna Pavlova and performed in this film by Ulanova.

Big LWV Party On WBZ-TV

WESTON — WBZ-TV, the Westinghouse Broadcasting Company station in Boston, will undertake one of the most ambitious and important public service projects in television on Thursday, June 11, when it telecasts a special hour-long (8-9 p.m.) dance party, in conjunction with the Massachusetts League of Women Voters, to encourage a mass registration of newly-eligible Massachusetts voters.

The program - entitled "A Party For The Vote" - will be televised live from the large outdoor facilities of WBZ-TV, Soldiers Field Road, Boston and will feature Woody Herman and his band, with Malden-born nightclub and recording star Teddi King, and the Four Esquires.

The purpose of the prime evening-time telecast, which is part of WBZ-TV's year-long "Lamp of Knowledge" project, is to illustrate the importance of active participation in local government, and assist in overcoming one of today's great civic problems - voter apathy.

Those who wish to secure tickets for "A Party For The Vote" - and can prove that their 21st birthday falls between Sept. 30, 1958, and Sept. 30, 1959 - should contact the local League of Women Voters, in Wayland, EL 8-2247, or in Weston, TW 3-3817, or write or telephone the League's headquarters, 41 Mount Vernon St., Boston, LAfayette 3-3545.

Each ticket - which will admit one couple - will be distributed by the Massachusetts League of Women Voters on a first-come-first-served basis.

Group 20 Players At Wellesley Will Present "A Street Car"

Tennessee Williams' "A Streetcar Named Desire" has been added to the roster of plays to be presented this summer at Group 20 Players' Theatre-on-the-Green in Wellesley. Scheduled to follow the opening production of Shakespeare's "Much Ado About Nothing", starring Rosemary Harris and Barry Morse, "A Streetcar Named Desire" will play for two weeks.

The 10-week season, Tuesday, June 23, through Saturday, August 29, will continue with Jerome Kilty's production of Shaw's "Man And Superman" (including the Hell scene), J. M. Barrie's "Peter Pan", starring Rosemary Harris and Eric Portman, and Sophocles' "Oedipus Rex".

Now...an easy way to reduce winter heating bills

Our budget plan stretches out the costs over a full year...and there's no service charge!

Most of us are always seeking ways to reduce our bills. But, it's not always easy.

That's why we offer a budget plan for your heating oil bills. Instead of paying most of them between November and March, when you're faced with holiday costs, taxes, extra food and clothing expenses—you use this plan.

It provides for 12 equal payments to stretch out the costs. Your bills are smaller during the peak heating months. And that means you'll have extra money on hand to meet the other expenses. What's more you pay no service charge for this plan.

Wayland Women's Golf Team

WAYLAND -- The Wayland Women's Golf Team has ended its 6th year of competition in the State of Massachusetts. This year they have played in Weston at Pinebrook, in Swampscott at Tedesco and at Bear Hill in Wakefield.

Two opposing visiting teams at the Wayland Country Club have been Andover and Winchester. The team consists of five members and two substitutes. Four hundred and fifty women are involved in these matches in the State, and the competition is terrific. Mrs. C. D. Inman, Mrs. William Hammond, Mrs. F. Stetson Eddy, Mrs. Roger Woodman and Mrs. John Quinn are the regular members, with Mrs. Ralph Stewart and Mrs. Norman Burns substitutes.

Members would be delighted to hear from anyone interested in joining for next year. If there is enough interest there might be some local tournaments. A ringer tournament is going on for the Summer and Fall and anyone is welcome to enter.

Emerson Hospital in Concord is compiling a list of emergency blood donors, who may be called on when their particular type of blood is needed. The list now has 431 names, but more are needed. Those willing to put their names down or interested in finding out more about the program may call Mrs. John T. Bennett Jr., EL 8-2632.

"Weston Promenade" Was A Big Floral Success

WESTON -- "Weston Promenade" by the three Garden Clubs created quite a stir with cars and groups of ladies from near and far touring six of Weston's most interesting homes and gardens. The consensus seems to be that it was a big success and a delightful afternoon, despite the humidity, which made the refreshments at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George N. Chamberlain Jr., a very special treat.

Many beautiful and appropriate flower arrangements graced each home, and the gardens were an inspiration to all, green thumbed or no. The arrangements by club members were officially judged, with Mrs. Donald Wyman, Mrs. John W. Ayer, Mrs. Alfred L. Backstrom, Mrs. Donald D. Sloan, Mrs. John M. Cole and Mrs. Edward H. Robertson winning Blue Ribbons for their artistic efforts.

Second prizes went to Mrs. Parker Harrison, Mrs. J. Manton Bradley, Mrs. Henry E. Wile, Mrs. Robert E. Sullivan, Mrs. Edgar Brister and Mrs. Henry M. Merrill.

Third prizes and honorable mentions went to Mrs. Karl Adams Jr., Mrs. B. Howard Spicker, Mrs. Frank Lewis, Mrs. Eben Wallace, Mrs. Gilbert Peakes, Mrs. Charles H. Ford, Mrs. John R. Waters, Mrs. Wm. Hart Nichols and Mrs. Donald King.

The novice class at the Weston Public Library was especially exciting, since those exhibitors did arrangements for public show for the first time. The three blue ribbons in that Class went to Mrs. C. Bartlett Eddy, Mrs. Howard R. Crawford and Mrs. Ford R. Waugh. Mrs. Gustav Fleischmann, Mrs. W. N. Derby and Mrs. Richard Alles took second prizes; with Mrs. John N. Fisher, Mrs. T. Osborne 2nd, Mrs. Wilmet Whitney, Mrs. Richard P. Berry, Mrs. Gerard DeNapoli, Mrs. D. S. Thrall, Mrs. Donald Alcaide and Mrs. Arthur Clifton winning third prizes and honorable mentions.

The other flower arrangements were "Invitation Arrangements" done by such experts as Mrs. William J. Breed, Mrs. Robert Marsh, Mrs. Raymond C. Cronin, Mrs. Herbert S. Evans, Mrs. Hollis L. Gray, Mrs. George E. Ham, Mrs. Robert Richards and Mrs. Richard Roquemore.

The average U. S. taxpayer will pay more than $47,000 in taxes, or 10 years of his earnings, before retirement.

JRC Work At Loker School

WAYLAND -- A successful membership drive for the Junior Red Cross was held in March at the Loker Street School. Following this, a council of students was elected, one from each classroom, to assist in directing a service project for the school. At a meeting of the council with Mrs. Joyce Brown, sixth grade teacher and JRC teacher-sponsor, and Mrs. Ralph Wolfe, chairman of the Wayland JRC, it was decided to hold a workshop at the school on April 30 for the purpose of constructing articles for the enjoyment of the patients at the Metropolitan State hospital with major emphasis on those in the Children's Unit.

The response to the call for volunteers was overwhelming and it was necessary to limit the numbers. There were about 65 children at work on the afternoon of April 30 following regular school hours. These children painted murals for decorating hospital walls, made candy cups and tray mats for bed patients, and puzzle and joke books for the adult unit.

The results of their efforts were appreciated by the hospital and the patients.

Wayland 22, Weston 4

WESTON -- Wayland High's undefeated baseball team rubbed it into Weston, 22-4, at the Weston field on May 21. Bob Page, for Wayland, gave only two hits, a double and a triple, both by Jeff Macdonald. Wayland had 17 hits, including four by Page and four by Ken Morrell. It was the 13th victory in a row for Wayland, coached by Buzz Bowers.

Library Committee Met

WESTON -- The newly appointed Citizens' Committee to investigate the plan and facilities of the Weston Public Library held its first meeting at the Library on May 25.

Members of this committee are Mrs. Harry Cormen, Mrs. A. Paul Hare, Mrs. James L. Whittenberger, Rev. Brendan Connolly, S. J. Henry DeRusha, Coutland Gilmore and Martin V. Marshall.

WAYLAND -- Mrs. Angus Wilson of Old Connecticut Path, who is serving on the Board of Directors for the Framingham-Wellesley Branch of the American Association of University Women, attended a recent meeting at the Wellesley home of Mrs. Paul Barslow, the newly-elected Branch president.

TOWN OF WAYLAND

May 28, 1959

The owners or occupants of the following described parcels of land situated in the Town of Wayland, in the County of Middlesex, and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and the public, are hereby notified that the taxes thereon, severally assessed for the year hereinafter specified, according to the list committed to me as Collector for the Town of Wayland by the Board of Assessors of said Town, remain unpaid, and that said parcels of land will be taken for the said Town of Wayland on Thursday, the eleventh day of June, 1959, at three o'clock P.M., for the payment of said taxes, and interest, if any, with all legal costs and charges thereon, unless same shall be previously discharged.

With respect to printing certain lands for Taking, the following is corrected to read:

Assessed to Margaret E. Maynard; to: Thomas E. Maynard, Conservator, on buildings and land in that part of Wayland called Glezen Lane, supposed to contain 3.7 acres, and described in a deed as House Lot Glezen Lane, and recorded in the Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds, Book 3214, Page 550.

The Wayland Junior Town House, as a non-profit organization, receives some support from the Community Fund. However, all of its functions depend on the efforts of volunteers and financial support received from family memberships and the Strawberry Festival which will be held on June 20 this year.

The kindergarten program has been expanding its operations over the last 15 years and the Town

House hopes to continue sponsoring one until the Town feels able to support a public kindergarten.

St. Zepherin's Meeting

COCHITUATE -- St. Zepherin's Catholic Women's Club regular monthly meeting was held on Wednesday, May 13, in the lower church hall following Benediction at 8 p.m. Mrs. Frances Schneekloth, president, presented Rev. Otis F. Kelly, Pastor, with a check for the Building Fund, which represented the proceeds from the White Elephant and Food Sale held recently.

Mrs. Patricia Forance gave a book report on "Bird of Fire" which described the life of St. Francis. After the business meeting a Chinese Auction was conducted with Mary Powers and Ann Demeo acting as auctioneers. Refreshments were served immediately after the Auction. Mrs. Patricia Barry and Mrs. Barbara Burns were in charge of arrangements for this program, assisted by members of their committee.

New Wayland Residents

WAYLAND -- New residents will be Mr. and Mrs. Richard Douglas Thornton who were married recently at St. Andrew's Church in Wellesley.

The former Marian Francis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Francis of Dover, Mrs. Thornton was graduated from the Winsor School and from Smith College and is a member of the Junior League and the Vincent Club.

Mr. Thornton, formerly of Oxford, North Carolina, was graduated from Princeton and took his graduate degree at M.I.T. where he is now an assistant professor of engineering. The couple will move to Wayland following a wedding trip to the West Indies.

WESTON -- Sally Richardson of 12 Bogle Street was awarded her certificate in Oral Hygiene from the University of Pennsylvania School of Dentistry.

Mrs. Gilbert Peakes Is Fashion League Director

WESTON -- Mrs. Gilbert Peakes Newbury Street, Boston, has been elected a member of the National Board of Directors of the National Home Fashions League and will attend a meeting of the board in New York in June.

Mrs. Gilbert Peakes

Mrs. Peakes is an interior and color consultant for both residential and industrial work and is particularly interested in art and its relationships to interior design. An active member of the American Institute of Decorators, she is a partner in the firm of Gilbert and Ruth Peakes Interiors at 97 Newbury Street, where they have been established for more than 20 years. They have lived in Weston for many years and have three children, Denys, 17, Robin, 15, and Bradford, 10. Mrs. Peakes is listed in the new "Who's Who of American Women".

Blood Donor Day Volunteers

WAYLAND -- Mrs. Robert D. Emmons of Three Ponds Road reports that the following volunteers have signed up for the Red Cross Blood Bank Day to be held at the Parmenter Health Center on June 4 from 3 to 7 p.m.

In the Donor Room will be Mrs. Frank Gardner, Mrs. Herbert Somers and Mrs. H. W. Zieler. Taking records will be Mrs. Howard Tewksbury, Mrs. Gregory Wolfe and Mrs. Albert A. Gale. Registered nurses in charge of checking pulses and temperatures will be Mrs. Will Brown and Mrs. Douglas Surgenor of Wayland and Mrs. N. J. Del Patta Sr., of Sudbury.

The Bloodmobile Day is a joint enterprise of the Wayland and Sudbury Red Cross.

George Bottjer Becomes A Captain In Naval Reserve

WESTON -- George E. Bottjer of 4 Hidden Road, manager of Raytheon Company's Missile Systems Division Flight facility at Bedford, has been promoted to the rank of Captain in the U. S. Naval Reserve, effective July 1.

During World War II, Bottjer devised a method for dropping mines by parachute with great accuracy from high altitudes. The idea was adopted by the Army Air Force which, in dropping Navy mines, successfully bottled up Japanese shipping channels before the start of the Okinawa campaign.

In recognition for his services, Bottjer was awarded the Army-Navy Commendation, Navy Cross and the Air Medal.

We Hate To Say This.

But The Subscription Rate Has To Go Up

With regret, it has to be announced that the subscription price of the Crier for one year will be increased to $4 as of July 1, 1959.

The present subscription price is $3 for one year or $5 for two years.

The reason for the increase is the old and painful one, the cost of publishing a paper of high quality. In an effort to get as many new subscribers as possible on the books before the increase in price, the Crier has, during the past six months, conducted telephone circulation campaigns in Cochituate, Wayland and Weston, with gratifying results.

New subscriptions at the old rate will continue to be taken between now and July 1. In addition, to make this easier for old subscribers, subscriptions scheduled to run out between now and Jan. 1, 1960, may also be renewed at the old rate before July 1.

That is: Suppose one has a $3 or a $5 subscription which will expire on Nov. 1. If he renews before July 1, the extension will be counted as beginning Nov. 1.

The special Welcome Wagon rate of $3 for the first 18 months, for new neighbors, will be $4 for 18 months after July 1.

After July 1, the $5-for-two-years rate will be abandoned.

The newsstand price for a single copy will remain at 10 cents.

At the new rate of $4 a year, the Crier's price is still in line with that of weeklies in nearby towns, and is still $1.20 less than the price of 52 newsstand copies.

Rivers School Announces It Will Move To Weston

Above is an architect's drawing, showing how a section of the new Rivers School building will look when completed.

WESTON -- The Rivers Country Day School, located in Brookline since its founding in 1915, is preparing for a move to a completely new campus in Weston. It has been announced by Frederick W. Haffenreffer, president of the board of trustees.

By the fall of 1960, the independent boys' school will be transferred from its present site at 436 Heath Street in Chestnut Hill to the new 31-acre campus in Weston situated on Nonesuch Pond at Bogle and Winter Streets.

At the same time, Haffenreffer announced that a building fund campaign organization is being formed to raise funds to erect the principal buildings on the new campus.

Chairman of the Rivers Building Fund campaign will be Dr. Hathorn P. Brown, urologist and surgeon. Dr. Brown, who was a member of the Rivers class of 1935, is a graduate of Yale and Harvard Medical School. He is a member of the staff of Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, urologist for the Free Hospital for Women, and consultant at the Massachusetts Hospital School in Canton.

Assisting Dr. Brown in organizing the fund drive will be Robert L. Henderson, who has been appointed vice chairman. Mr. Henderson is president of James D. Henderson and Son and Henderson and Ross, Inc., both real estate concerns. He was graduated in 1930 from The Country Day School for Boys of Greater Boston, which merged with the Rivers School in 1940 and was graduated from Harvard College in 1934. He was last year's chairman of the Brookline committee to raise funds for the Republican State Finance Committee, is a trustee of the Chestnut Hill School, and a member of the Harvard Club, Boston Skating Club and Wianco Yacht Club. He resides in Brookline with his wife and two children.

Both Dr. Brown and Mr. Henderson are members of the board of trustees of The Rivers Country Day School.

Haffenreffer said that the trustees had been contemplating a move from the present campus for some time. "Our main problem was one of space," he said. "The school's present facilities at Chestnut Hill leave no room for growth. At the same time, there is increasing pressure on Rivers--as on all independent schools

Turtle Ties Up Traffic

WAYLAND -- Incoming, outgoing, and onrushing traffic was tied up for a good half-mile in both directions on Cochituate Road last May 22 when an ancient turtle measuring about four feet square, decided to cross the highway south of Wayland Center just as Raytheon workers were returning home and mothers were either collecting children or delivering them to a pre-season swim at Lake Cochituate on one of the hottest days of early spring.

The primordial monster, which had obviously never heard of industrialization or suburban living, was taking the tortoise's usual slow pace just as traffic reached its late afternoon peak. Since none of the drivers cared to be an accessory in the death of a turtle, all of them pulled up and some of the nature-loving attempted to divert the creature into the nearby bushes. With the help of the Wayland police who showed up shortly, the hard-shelled roadblock was tossed into the brush.

Before most of the automatic shifts had gone into operation, however, the tortoise turned up in the road again. At this point there was nothing left to do, if nerves, dinners, and family routines were to be saved, but to shoot the determined intruder. This, the officers did with dispatch.

According to one resident who was on the scene, no larger turtle has been seen in these parts over the last half-hundred years.

Alfred Wypler Is A New Weston Fin. Com. Member

WESTON -- Mr. Glenn N. Lempereur, Moderator, has reappointed Mr. Burdette A. Johnson and Mr. Lawrence H. Pexton to the Finance Committee for three-year terms. In addition, Mr. Alfred R.

Alfred R. Wypler Jr.

Wypler Jr. has been appointed for a three year term. Mr. Wypler succeeds Mr. Harry S. Ferries, whose term expired and who was not available for reappointment.

At its meeting on May 26, Mr. Leonard H. Dowse was reelected chairman of the Finance Committee for the year 1959-60.

About Ripe Grapes

To the Editor:

In your May 28th issue, tucked between miscellaneous ads and an appeal for blood donors, you mention "seniors won field events". This is a grievous slight to the superlative athletic ability of the senior class at Weston High School.

Sir! No more of this! From henceforth on, in mentions of senior class activities let glowing adjectives drip as full bunches of ripe grapes, and emblazon them centered on the first page, where the underclassmen may read them and weep. Thank you.

Director of Senior Propaganda at Weston

Wayland UF Committee

WAYLAND -- A permanent United Fund Volunteer Committee has recently been set up in town to relate the town to UF activities, to publicize UF plans, needs and accomplishments, and to choose a local campaign chairman each year.

Chairman of this standing committee is James T. Burgess, vice chairman is Mrs. George F. Johnson and secretary is Mrs. Pierpoint Blair. Others on the committee are Mr. and Mrs. Francis Cassidy, Mr. John Sibley, Mr. Richard W. Foster, Mr. Walter Wilcox, Mr. Francis Bartol, Mr. Nathaniel Hamlen, Mrs. Thomas Gannett, Mrs. A. Brandon Delaney, Mr. Dunbar Holmes, Mrs. John Rooney, Mr. Frederick Walther, Mr. Douglas Surgenor and Mr. Edward Mendler.

Chosen to be co-chairmen for the 1959 United Fund campaign in Wayland are Mr. and Mrs. John B. Wilson of Old Connecticut Path.

WAYLAND -- The Columbian National Life Insurance Company of Boston announces that Mr. David J. Houston of Wayland led the company during the month of April among all full time agents. Mr. Houston is associated with the Westwood branch office.

WAYLAND -- Pioneer Girls of the Trinitarian Congregational Church enjoyed a fun day Saturday, May 2, which began with games and a barbecue held on the beautiful back yard of Mrs. Frederic Jenks, Training Field Road.

Organized by Mrs. Francis Cassidy and Mrs. Merrill Smith, the girls and their pals, 30 in all, enjoyed hot dogs and hamburgs.

Then the girls, escorted by Mrs. Leonard Bradford, Mrs. Francis Cassidy and Mrs. Dan Haywood, took off to visit "The Chapel in The Pines" in Rindge, New Hampshire.

They Hold The Income Tax Checks 6 Weeks Too Long

And Thus They Add To Checkbook Confusion, Which Is Already Rife

On the island of Yap, where, they say, the only coin of the realm consists of 400-pound millstones, the problem of balancing a checkbook is probably pretty simple. A fellow just looks out his window, makes sure his six round rocks are still there, then goes down to the store and opens a line of credit for a year's supply of coconuts.

Around here, where the standard of living is so high it's sickening, finance is more complicated. It's based on imaginary, or checkbook, money, and on two sets of figures, the bank's and ours.

In the funny papers women are always being kidded about their alleged inability to balance a checkbook. As a matter of sad fact, nobody can balance a checkbook and keep it that way unless he devotes all his spare time to the project.

Now one simple way to remain aware of how much imaginary money is in the account is to go back to some bench mark in the book where, one feels fairly sure, the amount on deposit was $24.36.

Then he goes through the deposit book and adds up the money put in since, and adds that to $24.36, making $81.94. Then he adds up the checks since the bench mark, which total $77.35. Then he subtracts $77.35 from $81.94, and thus finds that he has a hefty balance of $4.59.

But he'd better not write a check for $4 because there's something in there called an account charge. So much for each check, an amount which, over the years, will cause a deviation large enough to throw the planet Venus off its orbit (lack of money always upsets those under the influence of Venus) and make one wonder why so many bankers remain lean.

A safe rule is never to come closer to zero in the account than what one imagines is around $10. The danger is that one will inadvertently write a check for more imaginary money than there is in the bank, and this is a pretty embarrassing thing. The man in the bank will say that of course it was a simple mistake which anyone could make, but the look in his eye will say that a couple more mistakes of this sort will put the offender in Alcatraz for 42 years.

Another complication is the mathematical chart, called a statement, which the bank sends out each month.

This is the official batting average. If it's within $50, one way or the other, of the customer's figure, it's good arithmetic by the latter.

The element of time, however, enters into the bank's calculation. The customer knows to the day the checks he has written and the amount he has deposited. But not everybody who has received a check has bothered to cash it, and this may leave a fat sum of imaginary money in the account.

Many a taxpayer loots his own home and family to get up the scratch before April 15. Then neither Uncle Sam nor the Commonwealth of Massachusetts will put the tax check in a bank until the second week in June. This creates an apparent surplus which does no harm as long as one leaves it alone. But let him write a check against it, and he's likely to find out the penalty for paying taxes with rubber, which is probably something involving thumb-screws.

Some like to argue with the bank over how much money is in the account. Others take a defeatist attitude, figuring they can't win anyway. More assume that the bank uses infallible machines which can't go wrong.

But if all the bank's machines should blow their tubes at once, they probably couldn't confuse the customer's accounts much worse than they are now.

The alternative to all this is to pay cash, an unthinkable proposition. Paying out real money hurts. Writing a check seems only like a little game of make believe.

EVENTS AND PEOPLE TO BE FEATURED IN THE NEAR FUTURE

Another Picture Of Queen Candidates

WAYLAND — Candidates for Queen of the Strawberry Festival, to be held June 20 at the High School field, line up here in an election campaign picture. Ballots must be signed and put in ballot boxes in various places around

Priscilla Bock To Head

"Adventure" Science Explorers

WAYLAND — The staff of leaders for the Junior Town House "July Adventure" program is now complete with Miss Priscilla Bock of Natick in charge of the Natural Science Exploring Group.

Miss Bock, who has long been interested in nature activities, began as an Audubon wildlands camper in Barre, Mass. She was assistant councillor there and has also been employed in guiding and program planning for Natick's Science Park. She has also done supplementary teaching in nature study at one of Natick's elementary schools. Along with her nature work for "July Adventure," Miss Bock, who is interested in painting, plans to work closely with the Adventure's art classes.

The program offers a variety of activities besides art and nature studies. Handicrafts, square and ballet dancing, and outdoor sports are also included.

"Green fliers" were sent home with elementary school children in May but there is still room for more "Adventurers." Parents whose children misplaced or did not receive the information may call Mrs. John Gregory, EL 8-4596, for full details.

The program is in operation for three days a week, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, from June 29 through August 7, and is limited to children in grades through 6.

St. Ann's Kouples Klub

WAYLAND — St. Ann's "Kouples Klub" will have its next get-together Friday evening, June 12, in the Coghitate school at 7 p.m.

A smorgasbord supper will be enjoyed, followed by Mr. Louis G. Thackeray in an audience participating handwriting analysis program. Mr. Thackeray's topic for the evening will be "Are You Fit To Be Tied?" Admission $1 per couple.

Wayland Tennis Lessons

WAYLAND — The Youth Tennis Foundation of New England has announced that this Summer they will conduct a series of lessons in Wayland for boys and girls of high school age desiring to learn the game. Classes will begin with a clinic on Saturday morning, June 20, and will continue each Tuesday thereafter throughout June and July. Classes will be held on the court of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick L. Heinrich, adjacent to the Wayland High School playing fields.

Instructors will have been schooled thoroughly in the Don Budge System of teaching tennis. Boys and girls taking the course will be scheduled additional times to play and practice on their own throughout the summer. Limited facilities necessitate small classes, but a number of vacancies are still available and will be filled on a first-come basis. For further information and to register call Mr. or Mrs. Heinrich at ELmwood 8-2984.

Red Cross Canteen To Serve Workers And Donors

WAYLAND — Mrs. Richard M. Verrill on Pelham Island Road, Red Cross Canteen Chairman, announces that canteen workers will be on hand at the Parmenter Health Center on Blood Donor Day, June 4, from 3 to 7 p.m. to provide refreshments for the donors as well as for the local volunteer workers and professional personnel.

Mrs. Arthur L. Twohey, Mrs. Douglas E. Dyer, Mrs. Christos G. Stergis and Mrs. David C. Stewart are helping to prepare and serve orange juice, coffee, and cookies to the donors and a full-course supper to the 40 or more workers who will be participating in the Blood Day program.

Charter Day Luncheon, D.A.R.

WAYLAND — The annual Charter Day Luncheon of the Wayside Inn Chapter D.A.R. will be held June 6 at 12:30 o'clock at Wayside Inn, Sudbury, from which the Chapter took its name 54 years ago. Mrs. Rixman, the former Miss Staples and former hostess at the Inn, will speak, showing slides of the Wayside Inn. Mrs. Herbert H. Dicks, regent, Mrs. Phillip Richardson, vice regent and Mrs. Evelyn Coyne, state page, attended the state chapter meeting at the Sberatoo-Piazza, Boston, at which the new state officers were introduced.

Musical At Loker School

WAYLAND — A musical performance by several students of Mr. Vahe Boyajian, teacher of guitar and accordion at the Loker School, will be conducted in the Little Theatre of the Loker School Tuesday, June 9, at 3 p.m. A cordial invitation is extended to parents and friends to attend the event. There is no admission fee.

Some of the pupils who will demonstrate their talents are Miss Deborah Freedman, Miss Gail Rooney, Carl Widdis, Robert and Donald Fide, James Coghlan, Ross Wilkinson, and Miss Cheryl Lorenzen.

Mr. Boyajian represents the Boyd Studios of Music of Waltham and Maynard. He has been teaching the guitar and accordion at the Loker School and will conduct the performance.

ST. ZEPHERIN'S COOK-OUT

COCHITUATE — The St. Zepherin's Catholic Women's Club annual cook-out will be held at the home of Mrs. Kay Peck on Tuesday, June 9, at 6:30 p.m. A short business meeting which will be the final one for this season, will be conducted after the cook-out.

Food Sale, Trin. Cong. Church

WAYLAND — Women of the Trinitarian Congregational Church will hold their annual food sale on the Village Green, Wayland Center, Saturday, June 13, starting at 10 a.m. This special event is conducted by the Ladies' Benevolent Association, Quarter Century Club and Women's Fellowship and every woman in the Church is asked to participate.

The following committee members will answer any questions or arrange to have donations picked up: chairman, Mrs. Warren G. Moulton; members, Mrs. Waldo H. Russell, Mrs. Paul W. Hagerty and Mrs. Bernard L. Marsh.

Natick Art Association

The '59 Festival of the Arts, sponsored by the Natick Art Association, will be presented at the Natick Industrial Centre, Route 9, Natick (west of Speen Street) from Saturday, June 20, through Friday, June 26. It will combine the visual and performing arts and will be presented to the public free of charge.

This year, for the first time, the exhibition of paintings, sculpture and graphic arts will be open to artists from all over New England, together with artists who have previously exhibited in the Annual Arts Festival held on the Natick Common.

For information regarding entry forms, call Mrs. Thompson, Olympic 3-2404, or Mrs. Friedman, Olympic 3-1704.

Dance Party Of LWV

WAYLAND — Local interest is running high in the dance party to be co-sponsored by the Massachusetts League of Women Voters and WBZ-TV, Thursday, June 11. It will be held outdoors at WBZ-TV, Soldiers Field Road, Boston. The first hour, 8-9 p.m., will be televised.

The dance, called "A Party for the Vote" will feature Woody Herman and his band, with Teddi King, vocalist, and the Four Esquires.

In order to be eligible for tickets, one member of each couple must be 21 between Sept. 30, 1958, and Sept. 30, 1959. Interested 21-year-olds may contact Mrs. Richard Durant, Voters Service Chairman of the Wayland League, at EL 8-2247, for a ticket which admits two, or the State League office may be contacted at LA 3-3545.

Sudbury Valley Trustees'

First Spring Walk June 6

WAYLAND — The Sudbury Valley Trustees will have their first spring walk on Saturday morning, June 6. The plan is to explore the Paul Hamlen Tract off Rice Road. Assembly point will be the Red Coach Grille parking lot on Route 20 at the Wayland-Weston town line at 9 a.m. No walk if raining or immediate threat of rain. Call ELmwood 8-2515 if in doubt. Wear waterproof footwear! Spring migrant birds should be in evidence.

The Directors have obtained a number of copies of The Exploding Metropolis which they have placed in the public libraries of Lincoln, Concord, Wayland, Weston and Sudbury. People are urged to read especially Chapter V, "The Urban Sprawl."

"British Artist Craftsmen" To

Open At DeCordova June 7

LINCOLN — Stained glass windows, Bibles, altar furniture and silver, and religious vestments, tapestries and sculpture are featured in British Artist Craftsmen, an extensive exhibition of contemporary crafts which opens at the DeCordova Museum in Lincoln at 3 p.m. on June 7 under the patronage of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II.

Organized by a distinguished committee in London and circulated in the United States by the Smithsonian Institution, the exhibition introduces to Americans the outstanding work of British artist-craftsmen since the end of World War II. Emphasizing contemporary design for the church.

EVENTS AND PEOPLE TO BE FEATURED IN THE NEAR FUTURE

Many Parties Are Planned For Dancing On The Green

WESTON -- Some of the members of the committee for "Dancing on the Green" posed for their pictures on the town green the other evening and discussed the now-completed plans for the big party. By families, left to right: Mr. and Mrs. Lawson T. Hill; Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Merrill Jr., with Henry 3d and Mark Merrill; Mr. and Mrs. Martin V. Marshall, with Doc Marshall, and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Schwartz with J. Martin Schwartz.

WESTON -- Both adults and children all over Weston are planning a gay evening of Dancing-on-the-Green Saturday, June 6. The annual affair is sponsored by the Women's Community League of Weston for the benefit of its Community Service and Scholarship Fund. Many dinner and dessert parties will precede the dance.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Perkins will entertain Mr. and Mrs. William H. Kidd, Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Burt and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Osborne II.

A large cooperative neighborhood party is being planned in the Spruce Hill area by Mr. and Mrs. Evon Z. Vogt, along with Dr. and Mrs. Henrick H. Bendixen. Twenty-five or more families have been invited and among those planning to attend who have been selling tickets in the area are Dr. and Mrs. Robert J. Haggerty and Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Ecker.

Mr. and Mrs. George B. Foote are planning a large dinner party, and a group including Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Merrill Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Lawson T. Hill Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William C. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Hebditch and Mr. and Mrs. J. Peter McNeerney will attend a buffet supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin V. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. McMullin will also entertain a small group of friends at dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett L. Stone will entertain a group for their son, Alden. His invited guests are Tris Dammin, Guy Hubbard, Russell Terkelson, Kitty Talbert, Leslie Lawrence, Marcia Howe and Lynn Staley.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold P. C. Peterson have planned a party of sixth graders for their daughter Janet. Her guests will be Edwin Goodall, Sandy Windsor, Jack Comey, Mary White, Carl Clark, Wendy Hayes and Tony Morse.

Sally Derby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Derby will entertain Mark Rogers, Seth Heywood, Alan Cauld, Jay Crawford, Heather Mitchell and Stephanie Rizzo.

Betsy Howe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen C. Howe Jr. will have a dessert party. The dancers in her group will be Ronnie Duffy, Joyce Tenneson, Linda Heywood, Shirley Vogt, Kathy Chisholm, Beverley Boden, Nancy Woodland, Carolyn Sloan, Bob Russell, Gay Teleki, Kenneth Walker, Tad Hetherington, Terry Craves, Robert Trowbridge, Nick Pearson and Jim Birch.

Kim McMullin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kimball A. McMullin, will entertain a group of eighth graders including Jane VanNostrand, Charles Schuerhoff, Ann Ford, Robert Benotti, Tamsoo Meyers, Bill Bogardus and Susan Cross.

Jodie Wetmore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Ingis Wetmore, will have a cookout for a group of seventh graders, including Rawley Thomas, George Foote Jr., Joel Sabean, Sam Pillsbury and Joan Bassett.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Woodside will give a party for fifth and sixth grade friends of their daughter Marcia and son Frederick Jr. Their guests will include Sam Crocker, Dan Vogler, Debbie Field, Caroline Wareham, Marcia Monahan and Ralph Hines of Waltham. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Schwartz will have a group of eight fourth graders for their son Tommy. His guests will be Barbara St. John, Candy Benson, Christine Dowd, Martha Jones, Danny Benson, Cooper Phillips and Steve Leech.

Rev. Robert Drinan Will Speak At St. Julia's Breakfast

WESTON -- The annual Communion Breakfast of St. Julia's Holy Name Society will be held on Sunday, June 7, at the home of Richard Robinson, 161 Boston Post Road, following the 8 a.m. Mass. The men will receive Corporate Holy Communion at this Mass.

The guest speaker for this meeting will be Rev. Robert F. Drinan S.J., Dean of the Boston College Law School, whose subject will be, "The Future of Catholic Schools in American Democracy". In this discourse, Father Drinan will explain the Catholic Church's position concerning the separation of Church and State.

In addition to being a member of the American, Massachusetts, and Boston Bar Associations, Father Drinan is also a member of the Family Law Committee of the Association of American Law Schools, of the Section on Family Law of the American Bar Association and Chairman of the Family Law Committee of the Boston Bar Association.

Father Drinan has contributed a number of articles to a score of periodicals which include the "Georgetown Law Journal," "Commonwealth," and "Social Order". He writes regularly for "America," the National Catholic Weekly, of which he is a corresponding editor. Father Drinan writes on Church-State relations, on Family Law, and Jurisprudence.

Rev. Harry Meserve To Speak At Camb. School Graduation

WESTON -- Rev. Harry C. Meserve, minister of the Unitarian Fellowship of Northern Westchester, N. Y., and a member of the Executive Staff, Rockefeller Brothers Fund, will be the speaker at the Cambridge School graduation exercises on Monday, June 8. Dr. Meserve, formerly of Weston, is vice-president of the Unitarian Service Committee and author of the recently published (Beacon Press) book, Faith in the Making. Dr. Meserve's son, Harry, is a junior at the Cambridge School and last week was elected moderator of the school Town Meeting.

Rev. Harry C. Meserve (Cristof Studio)

Rev. Charles Styron, of the First Parish Church of Lincoln, will give the invocation and benediction. Diplomas will be presented by Mr. M. Adolphus Cheek Jr., headmaster, and Mr. Hans Biermann, assistant headmaster. Among the 45 seniors who will be graduating, four will attend Harvard; one goes to Yale; one will attend Radcliffe; while others will go to Barnard, Swarthmore, Colby, the University of Chicago, Skidmore, Carleton, Antioch, Cornell and Bryn Mawr.

On Sunday, June 7, the traditional Founders Day Program will be held, with annual meetings of the Corporation, Board, Parents Association, and Alumni Association. This will culminate with the senior play and a buffet supper.

Summer Driver Education Course

WESTON -- Plans are being developed for a Summer driver education course, with lectures to be held at the Case House in the early evening, beginning around June 15, and road work to be arranged at the convenience of teacher and pupil. The complete course should not cost more than $35, it is believed. Those interested may call Mrs. Alfred R. Wyler Jr., TW 4-5708, or Mrs. Robert W. Little, TW 3-4339.

JUNIOR HIGH ASSEMBLY

WESTON -- Parents are invited to a Junior High assembly at 2 o'clock on June 9 at the Country School Auditorium. The seventh grade mixed chorus, the eighth grade boys' glee club, and the junior high orchestra will perform, and awards will be made for projects in science and art.

Carousel Theatre Schedules A Weston Night For June 22nd

WESTON -- Weston and nearby residents are eagerly awaiting the opening of Carousel Theatres' second season. GeneVieve, the distinguished French star often seen on Jack Paar's show, will star in "Can Can", commencing Monday night, June 22.

The producers are happy to announce that a Weston night is being planned for Wednesday, June 24. A local charity will be selected by a committee working in conjunction with Selene Harmon Howe and producer Harold Leverant. Tickets are priced at $3.00 and $4.00. All ticket orders for this occasion should be mailed or phoned in to Mrs. Howe, TW 3-7231.

The following Weston women have already expressed an interest in this project: Mrs. Richard Schanzle, Mrs. Guy Garland, Mrs. William Coues, Mrs. Richard Leghorn, Mrs. Robert McMullin, Mrs. Paul Sargent, Mrs. Stephen Mallet Jr., Mrs. Gerard DeNapoli, Miss Florence Freeman, Mrs. John Durant, Mrs. George Amadon, Mrs. C. F. Clumber, Mrs. Loring Marshall, Mrs. Raymond Boscho, Mrs. John Littlefield, Mrs. Karl Adams Jr., Mrs. John Lord, Mrs. Edward Langenbach, Mrs. Rearick Byrne, Mrs. David Reid, Mrs. William Saunders and Mrs. Sarah Noonan.

Carousel Theatre, with a seating capacity of almost 3000, announces the following shows, all of which will run for two weeks: July 6th, To be announced; July 20, Marie Alberghe in "Rose Marie"; August 3, Loyd Bridges (star of TV's Sea Hunt) in "Guys and Dolls"; Aug. 17, Frankie Lane in "Pajama Game"; Aug. 31st, To be announced, and Sept. 7, Anne Jeffries and Robert Sterling (stars of TV's Topper series) in "The Bells are Ringing."

Swimming Pool Registration

WESTON -- Registration for the Weston swimming pool will be held at the Town Hall on Tuesday, June 9, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and on Wednesday, June 10, from 7 to 9 p.m. The fee for a single permit is $1 and for a family, $3. (Schedule for entire Weston Summer recreation program is on Page 2 of this issue.)

High School Building Plans Will Be Discussed On June 5

WESTON -- The High School Building Committee will hold a public meeting at 8 p.m. on June 5 at the Country School auditorium to go over "preliminary preliminary" plans for the new school. Special invitations have been sent to parents of children in the 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th grades, who will be using the new school, but all interested persons will be welcome.

ST. PETER'S COOKOUT

WESTON -- St. Peter's Church Couples Club cook-out and annual meeting, home of John Bennetts, Plain Road, Wayland, at 6:30 p.m., June 12.

Weston Baptist Church Mother Daughter Dinner

WESTON -- More than 110 mothers and daughters gathered on May 12 at the First Baptist Church for a banquet in their honor. A roast beef dinner served under the leadership of Mr. Robert Stuart was enjoyed. Mr. Stuart was assisted by Mrs. C. Francis Whittemore and a corps of men, including, Mr. C. Francis Whittemore, Mr. Kenneth French and son, Ken; Mr. Jack Williams, Mr. Raymond Ogilvie, Mr. Erlon Merrill, Mr. Norman Stockellburg, Mr. Fred Howell and Mr. Carlton Allen. Recognition of the various phases of motherhood was given in the form of verse composed by Mrs. Carlton Allen. In addition, flowers were awarded to the following: oldest mother, a tie between Mrs. Laura MacLeod and Mrs. Walter Wheeler; youngest mother, Mrs. Alden Whittemore; four generations present, Mrs. Elizabeth Powell of Dorchester, Mrs. Dwight Foster of Dorchester, Mrs. Norman W. Stockellburg of Weston and Miss Amy Stockellburg of Weston; the mother and daughter nearest each other in age, Mrs. Stephen L. Colpitts and Miss Barbara Colpitts; the mother and daughter farthest apart in age, Mrs. Percy Jensen and Miss Wilena Jensen of Wayland; mother with most daughters and feminine members of one family present, Mrs. Anna L. Smith; the mother with the youngest daughter of all, Mrs. Rudolph Helgeson; the youngest lady present, Miss Amy L. Stockellburg; the mother of twin girls, Mrs. George F. Smith of Newtonville; the mother with the nearest birthday, Mrs. Wallace L. Farwell of North Tewksbury.

The President of the Guild, Mrs. John Akers, was awarded a flower in recognition of being both a mother and a daughter, and the speaker of the evening, Mrs. Gurdon I. Dower, was also the recipient of a flower.

Mrs. Dower, showed how to make hats out of any old odds and ends that happen to be around and still be smart, with only a few apologies to the latest styles. Miss Faye Ogilvie went home with her "hat" made out of a "Chore Boy" type of pots and pan cleaner.

Red Barn Annual Meeting

WESTON -- The annual meeting of Weston's Red Barn Nursery School, Inc. was held on Monday evening, May 25, at the school. Parent members of the corporation reelected Dr. Jean Mayer of Sudbury as president and Mrs. Berton V. Phinney Jr. of Weston as secretary. S. Theodore Guild Jr. of Weston was named treasurer. Newly elected to posts on the school's Executive Committee were Mrs. Philip Driscoll of Waltham, Mr. James H. Gardner of Wayland and Mrs. William M. C. Lam of Weston.

Executive committee members continuing in office, not up for reelection this year, include Mr. David R. Brooke, Mrs. John F. G. Eichorn Jr., Mrs. Thomas L. Kelley, Mrs. Henry M. Merrill Jr., Mr. Berton V. Phinney Jr., and Mrs. Robert S. Sturgis, all of Weston. Parents of next year's new pupils were also elected to membership in the corporation.

Dr. Mayer outlined plans for the addition of kindergarten sessions next year as well as the established nursery school curriculum. Unlike the nursery school, the kindergarten will not be a cooperative venture. The posting of a bond will not be required. Parent participation in the classroom will be optional rather than required.

Coch. Methodist Church Mother Daughter Dinner

COCHITUATE -- A delightful evening was enjoyed by approximately 150 women and girls at the Mother-Daughter Dinner Party sponsored by the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Cochituate Community Methodist Church on Tuesday evening, May 26.

The tables were decorated in pastel colors and featured miniature maypoles with spring flowers made by Mrs. Robert Hatton. Following the invocation, which was given by Mrs. Carrie Elkins, a ham dinner was served. The program included a musical selection by a group of little girls under the direction of Miss Sylvia Brown. The traditional song by mothers-to-daughters with the daughters-to-mothers response followed.

Mothers honored by corsages were: oldest mother, Mrs. Carrie Elkins; youngest mother, Mrs. Philip Dudley; grandmothers with most granddaughters present, Mrs. Hazel Taylor and Mrs. Ernest Schleicher; and grandmother with a great-granddaughter present, Mrs. Edith Ware.

The main feature of the program was a fascinating talk on "Dolls" by Mrs. Abbie McCartney of Wellesley. Mrs. McCartney had many of her dolls on display and gave a brief description of each. Some of the dolls date back to the 1800s and all are collectors' items.

The committee in charge of the banquet consisted of Mrs. Arnold Baker, chairman, assisted by Miss Joann Brown, Mrs. Robert Hatton, and Mrs. Hazel Taylor.

Miss Eva Warren And Miss Helen Green Are To Be Honored By H.S. Alumni

WESTON -- The Weston High School Alumni Association, oldest and largest institution in town (some churches excepted), is to honor, this year, Miss Helen B. Green, High School math teacher who is retiring, and Miss Eva Warren of the class of 1883, oldest living graduate of Weston High.

Nearly 1400 invitations have been sent out for the annual meeting, the 87th, which is to be held at the Town Hall at 8 p.m. on June 13.

Miss Warren went from Weston High to what was then called Framingham Normal School. She later taught in a district school, since torn down, on Merriam Street, and she later went to M.I.T. Afterwards she taught in Waltham, Newton and

St. Ann's Guild Officers

WAYLAND -- New officers of St. Ann's Guild, above, were photographed at the annual banquet, held May 26 at The Meadows, with 75 present. Rear, left to right: Mrs. John W. Cotney, recording secretary; Mrs. William E. Sarsfield, vice president; Mrs. John J. Hayes, treasurer, and Mrs. Robert J. Hause, corresponding secretary. Front, Rev. William P. Castles and Mrs. John F. Maguire Jr., president.

Miss Warren's home on Newton Street is on land which came to the family by royal grant. Her great grandfather, Jedediah Warren, was paying taxes on it in the 1790s. Her sister, Mrs. George W. Cutting Jr. is town treasurer.

Miss Green has been teaching at Weston High since 1916, for 43 years.

The first Weston High School class of three members was graduated in 1868. They were Elizabeth S. Coburn, Albert G. Upham and Fannie I. Wheeler. The High School Association was formed in 1872 and the first reunion was held March 8, 1872. Graduates and all who have been connected with the school are eligible for membership in the Association.

Weston Hostesses For Arts Festival Are Still Needed

Mrs. Horace B. Gray of Wayland has already signed up her crew of volunteers for the Wayland day at the Boston Arts Festival, June 9, and Mrs. John A. Birch and Mrs. Karl Adams Jr. of Weston are still seeking helpers for the Weston day, June 20.

Those willing to serve on the latter date may call Mrs. Birch at TW 4-7260, or Mrs. Adams at TW 3-4050.

However, the school was forced to advance its plans when the Town Meeting of Brookline this spring voted to buy the property. This resulted from a plan, under discussion for some time, to rezone an existing Town playground. Under law, the Town was required to provide a similar playground space in the same area.

"This put the next move squarely up to us," Haffenreffer said. "While the trustees had decided relocate the school prior to the town's decision, there had been no indication that events would move so quickly."

a combined classroom and administration unit, a gymnasium, and to prepare the grounds for playing fields, access roads and landscaping, will amount to $510,000, it is estimated.

Net proceeds from the sale of the present property to the Town of Brookline are expected to amount to $160,000.

"This leaves $350,000 that we must find before our new school can stand free and clear," Haffenreffer said. "We are organizing our campaign to raise as much as possible toward the $350,000 needed. Since the Rivers family is relatively small, and many of its members still are young men getting started, this may not be an easy assignment. However, the goal represents a figure that can be reached eventually if everyone joins in giving as generously as possible."

To meet present demands with provision for future expansion, the architects evolved a flexible plan which will provide adequate space for immediate needs with allowance for future additions.

The first two units will be separate buildings joined by a covered walk. Eventually, there will be four such units, grouped around a central courtyard and connected by walks.

The larger of the first two units to be built will contain the study hall, library, offices and several classrooms. The second unit will be entirely a classroom building. These will be structures attractively conventional in design, but with modern convenience, light and utility.

The gymnasium building includes space for two practice or one official basketball court with folding bleachers along the long walls, a wrestling room, locker-dressing space, showers and a coaches' office. The gymnasium also will serve as the school's dining area.

Because one of the major space problems at the Chestnut Hill campus has been the lack of adequate outdoor playing fields, the new site already has seen the construction of a baseball diamond and football field. In addition, a hockey rink has been dug and was used last winter for skating.

"This is a big step," Haffenreffer said, "but I know our alumni and friends will rally to help us. Rivers represents the kind of independent school education and the kind of training for leadership that our country needs more and more, and will continue to need during the years to come. We know the many friends of the school who have received this training, or whose children have received it, will recognize its importance to the coming generations."

Standardizers Chairman

WAYLAND -- William Gombos of 88 Draper Road has been chosen chairman of the mailing list committee for the Standards Engineers Society's eighth Annual Meeting in Boston on September 21 and 22, 1959.

This international society, organized in 1947, is made up of professional standardizers and others concerned with the principles of standardization. Its members include engineers and representatives of other professions throughout the free world.

The function of industrial standards, in general, is to prevent duplication of effort, record the organized solutions to repetitive problems, and develop approved interchangeable parts that are readily available, as economical as possible, and reproducible. Standardization is also responsible for the creation of drafting specifications to ensure clarity and uniformity of drawings.

Mr. Gombos is employed by the Raytheon Company and is responsible for Military documentation in the Standards Engineering Section, Wayland Laboratory. He has been a Wayland resident since 1952, and is an active member of the Parent-Teacher Organization, and the National Safety Council. He and his wife, Marjorie, have two children, Dawn Marie, 11, and William Alan, 7.

He has served as interpreter for many displaced Hungarian families who fled to this country during the 1956 revolution. He has helped them to find homes and jobs, and has advised them in a variety of matters.

Local Real Estate People Win "Oscar" Tributes

Local realtors were among the eight real estate representatives from 65 cities and towns in the Metropolitan Boston area to be awarded Oscars recently for "the most imaginative and resourceful selling in 1958."

Mrs. Lucy Davenport Boyd of Weston received her Oscar for the transforming of a dilapidated barn in Weston Center into an attractive nursery and garden shop, a project which required "both skillful negotiation and imaginative design."

The Wayside Realtors of Sudbury, of which Leslie J. Caulfield of Wayland is co-owner, received their Oscar for a residential development transaction. Both projects took a period of two years to complete. This was the second recognition received by the Wayside team. They were previous winners in the former "Deal of the Year" contest.

Lasell Graduates

Ann Donham

Karin Weeks

WAYLAND -- Ann Donham and Karin Weeks of Wayland will be among 247 young women graduated from Lasell Junior College, Newton, when it holds its 104th annual commencement exercises on Sunday, June 7, on the campus.

Miss Donham, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Donham, 74 Glezen Lane, will be awarded the Associate in Arts degree.

Miss Weeks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Weeks, 37 Woodridge Road, will receive the Associate in Arts degree also.

WESTON -- Norumbega Council, including Boy Scouts in Newton, Wellesley and Weston, reports it registered 4,054 boys and 1382 adults last year.

WESTON -- A graduate of Brown University this year is Robert W. Watson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph G. Watson of 67 Ox Bow Road, who received a bachelor of arts degree. He is a graduate of Boston Latin School. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity and he served as managing editor of the undergraduate yearbook.

WAYLAND -- Stephen L. Wilcox of the Bowdoin College class of 1961, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Wilcox of Old Connecticut Path, has been made one of two managing editors of the Orient, undergraduate weekly newspaper. He is a graduate of Belmont Hill School and a member of Zeta Psi fraternity.

Country Garden Club

WESTON -- The new Executive Board elected for the coming year at the annual meeting of the Country Garden Club of Weston:

President, Mrs. Lewis W. Mustard III; first vice president, Mrs. Arthur S. Reid; second vice president, Mrs. John M. Cole; recording secretary, Mrs. Charles H. Abbott; corresponding secretary, Mrs. George C. Terkelsen; treasurer, Mrs. Howard J. Morrison; civic, Mrs. Robert E. Sullivan; nominating, Mrs. Sheldon C. Sommers, and publicity, Mrs. Howard B. Crawford.

The meeting, held at the home of Mrs. B. Howard Spicker, was followed by a plant sale with a large selection of plants contributed by members. Mrs. Sheldon C. Sommers brought in many flats of seedlings from her greenhouse and members bought enthusiastically without thought of the planting to be done on some hot afternoon later.

All seemed reluctant to close the final meeting of the year and those that could stayed to lunch.

New Company Manager

WAYLAND -- Mr. John B. Wilson has been named by Carr Fastener Company to manage its newest division, Dot Products Supply Company, Cambridge. The new firm, which began operations June 1, will act as a national distributing organization for all Carr Fastener products.

Mr. Wilson is a member of the Wayland Finance Committee and School Building Committee. He resides at Old Connecticut Path with his wife, Barbara, and four children.

Wayland CD Asks For A Transportation Officer

WAYLAND -- Fire Chief Francis J. Hartin, Civil Defense director, is asking for a volunteer to take over the duties of Civil Defense transportation officer, preferably a man with experience in the field who can coordinate Wayland's transportation in case of natural or wartime disaster.

Chief Hartin is also asking the citizens of Wayland to take a first aid course sponsored by the Red Cross in connection with Civil Defense. The course will be held at the Town Office Building evenings and will run approximately 6 weeks.

People may contact Chief Hartin at EL 8-7701 for information.

WESTON -- Miss Nancy L. White, a sophomore in the physical education course at Bouve-Boston School which is affiliated with Tufts University, Medford, attended the four-week camp session conducted by Bouve at Camp Monomoy at East Brewster on Cape Cod. Miss White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. White of 211 Conant Road, has been elected vice-president of the Athletic Association for the school year 1959-60.

Will Enter Radcliffe

Miss Cecilia Bessell, above, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Cecil Bessell, long residents of Wayland and now of Possum Ridge Road, Rolling Hills, California, will be entering Radcliffe College next fall. Cecilia attended the Wayland schools from second through eighth grades, followed by two years at Concord academy.

She is graduating with honors from Chadwick School, Palos Verdes Peninsula, California, this June, where she has been secretary-treasurer of the student body, member of the Girls' Athletic Association Board, and on the varsity team in four sports.

Too Many Sunday Boaters At Lake Cochituate Park

WAYLAND--The record demand for boating privileges at the Cochituate State Park has made it necessary to issue further permits on a "part-time - no Sunday" basis, according to Commissioner Charles H. Foster of the Department of Natural Resources. The new permits will be good for boating at Lake Cochituate on weekdays and through 4 p.m. on Saturdays although they will entitle the holders to use the Ashland, Hopkinton or Whitehall reservoirs at any time.

Full time permits reached the limit of 2000 several weeks ago and the new plan is being put into effect to allow boatmen use of the Lake on days when it is not so crowded.

The new restricted permits may be obtained for $2.00 by applying in person at the supervisor's office on Commonwealth Road in Cochituate.

Mrs. Collard Has Exhibit

WAYLAND -- Mrs. C. Norman Collard of Millbrook Road is responsible for the exhibit, "Planting for the Birds," now being shown at the week-long flower show being presented to the public by the Garden Club Federation of Massachusetts and the Jordan Marsh Company at the company's Boston store from June 1 through June 6.

Mrs. Collard's display is one of three in the Educational Division which has as its theme "Share Our Interest" in herbs, ferns and planting for the birds.

Earl Emery Wins Medal

WAYLAND -- Earl Emery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Emery of Concord Road, was recently awarded the Lt. Col. Stuart C. Williams Medal at Middlebury College. The medal is awarded to the freshman in Military Science who displays "outstanding qualities of military efficiency and aptitude."

A 1958 graduate of Belmont Hill School, Earl was the recipient of the school's physiography prize on graduation. He is particularly interested in riflery.

Dr. Lee Keck Is Interim Minister At 1st Baptist

WESTON -- The Rev. Dr. Lee Keck, instructor in Biblical history and literature at Wellesley College will be the interim minister at the First Baptist Church in Weston, June 1 - August 2.

Dr. Keck is a graduate of Linfield College, McMinnville, Oregon, where he received his A.B. degree; Andover Newton Theological School, Newton Centre, where he received his B.D. degree; and Yale University Divinity School, where he received his Ph.D. degree. In September he will join the faculty of Vanderbilt University.

He lives on the Wellesley College campus with his wife, Janice, and their two-month-old son, Stephen Lee.

Mrs. Chellis Was Speaker At N.Y. Wedgwood Meeting

WESTON -- Mrs. Robert D. Chellis of 9 Pembroke Road, was one of the principal speakers at the Bi-centenary Wedgwood Jubilee celebration in New York, May 22-23. This two-day program was sponsored by the New York Wedgwood Society of which Mrs. Chellis is a charter member.

The program planned to commemorate the 200th anniversary of the founding of the Wedgwood pottery in Staffordshire, England, 1759, included Carl C. Dautermann, curator of Post-Renaissance art, the Metropolitan Museum of Art; Marvin D. Schwartz, curator of decorative arts, Brooklyn Museum; Dr. Floyd E. Hawes, Wellesley Hills, and Hensleigh C. Wedgwood of New York.

The honored guest and speaker at the formal dinner May 22, was Dr. Charles Malik, president of the U.N.'s 13th general assembly, formerly a professor of philosophy at the American University, Beirut. He has the important Wedgwood collection in the middle east and spoke on the Josiah Wedgwood, his philosophy and genius. Both Dr. and Mrs. Malik brought to the guests much enthusiasm they shared in collecting Wedgwood. They are members of the New York Wedgwood Society.

Some fine Wedgwood from Mrs. Chellis' extensive collection was on exhibition and 350 selected Wedgwood items.

Wayland Public Library

WAYLAND -- The Wayland Public Library and the Cochituate Branch will go on their Summer schedule of hours, beginning June 20 and continuing through Sept. 5. Through those weeks both libraries will be closed on Saturdays. Other hours will be the same.

In order to bring about more prompt returns of popular books the Board of Trustees has decided to revise the schedule of fines at the Library. Beginning on June 1, the following fines will apply: All 4-week books, 2 cents per day; all 2-week books, magazines and records, 5 cents per day. The 25-cent maximum will be abolished and fines up to cost will be charged.

Weston Tax Rate Goes To $52.60, Up $5.60

WESTON -- The Board of Assessors of the Town of Weston announced on Tuesday, May 26, that it had, with the approval of the Commissioner of Corporations and Taxation, fixed the tax rate for 1959 at $52.60 per thousand dollars of assessed valuation.

This is an increase of $5.60 per thousand over the rate of $47.00 fixed in 1958. Total assessed valuation of personal property and uation of personal property and real estate rose from $25,222,989 in 1958 to $26,220,982, an increase of $997,993.

The increase in rate would have been substantially higher had not the Town voted to appropriate $50,000 from surplus for the purpose of holding it down. The surplus "free cash" as of January 1, 1959, was $327,000 compared with $220,000 in 1958.

Mr. And Mrs. Biermann Are Honored At Camb. School

WESTON -- More than 40 seniors were graduated on Monday, June 8, from the Cambridge School of Weston in ceremonies which commemorated the 28th year of graduations since the school moved to Weston from Cambridge in 1931. Students from 12 states were among this year's graduates, with 17 from Massachusetts, 3 from California, and others from West Virginia, Alabama, New Jersey, and Michigan, as well as the other New England states.

Among seniors from Weston were Anne Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Myers of Byron Road, who will go to Goucher College, and Eric von Hippel, son of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur R. von Hippel of Gien Road, a Merit Scholar, who will enter Harvard this fall.

The highlight of the commencement festivities for friends and former students of Hans and Herma Biermann, of Gun Club Lane, Weston, was the tribute paid to these two teachers who have given 25 years to the school. In words of appreciation from Mrs. Dusch Schmidt Scott of Newton for the Alumni, Mrs. Arthur von Hippel of Weston for the parents, and Mr. M. Adolphus Cheek Jr., headmaster, Mr. and Mrs. Biermann were presented with a tooled leather scrapbook of letters from

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Bierman

former students, a check from the alumni for apparatus or other material for the classrooms, and a personal check to be used for a trip abroad or in any way the Biermanns might choose.

At the same time other gifts were made to the school. The Senior Class, through its president, Vincent Pirrotta, son of Prof. Antonio Pirrotta of Harvard and Mrs. Pirrotta, of Winchester, gave the traditional senior class present, this year a tulip tree destined to supplant a great old elm stricken by the blight. A grand piano was given by Mr. Raynor Gardiner, of Needham, in memory of his wife, Mrs. Alice Gardiner, who until her death this winter had been a teacher for many years in the school. A rug for one of the dormitories, a fine oil painting, and a number of books were given by devoted friends. The Thrift Shop, operated by the Parents Association, presented to Mr. James T. Dennison of Framingham, president of the Board of Directors, a check for $1000. for the scholarship fund, as well as a second check, earned by the sale of baked goods at school occasions, of $250. for the purchase of a curtain for the stage. The Library Committee of the Parents Association, which had conducted a Book Fair before Christmas, presented a check for $1275. to be used for books for the library.

53 Will Be Graduated At Wayland High Exercises

Nobody Kicked

Last week the editors announced that the subscription rate for the Crier would go up to $4 a year after July 1. Nobody kicked. The editors didn't even kick themselves for not making it a bigger increase, because the idea is to make it as easy as possible for people to get the paper. With disdain for conventional economics, the editors urge all who can to get their renewals in before July 1 at the present value-fraught rate.

Spearheads, Red Ochre And Arrowheads Galore Are Found At Indian Burial Site

Benjamin L. Smith, seated, of Concord, is making notes as the dig progresses. Above the white square at the bottom of the square pit may be seen some of the stone blades shown in the close-up photo. At the right, grabbing a little food, is Mrs. Elizabeth Clark of Lexington, who did a lot of the actual work with trowel, jackknife and brush.

Child's Burial Place Is Latest Find At The Dig

WAYLAND -- Latest developments at the Mansion inn diggings:

Air digging was ordered ended at the site at 6 a.m. June 9, and a Wayland police officer was put on duty there to keep everybody away.

This is to give properly qualified archaeologists a chance to dig in the right way, and not risk damaging the priceless material.

Representatives of the Massachusetts Archeological Society dug all night Sunday night and far into the night Monday night.

On Monday night they uncovered a child's burial place, containing 24 knife blades, red ochre and even a piece of wood. Mr. Benjamin L. Smith of Concord, in charge, said the body and the weapons, probably ceremonial pieces, were burned before being placed in the ground. The red ochre, mixed with water, was poured into the grave to replace the lost blood.

The knives were found at a depth of about 22 inches.

The experts dug with great care, measuring, photographing and taking notes as they went. On Monday evening, a crowd of 50 to 75 persons hovered around the small group of workers in the pit, watching every move, fascinated.

Charcoal samples were taken for carbon 14 tests, which should determine the age of the articles.

Wayland Takes Holliston In Baseball Quarter Finals

Dean Schofield of Holliston tried to steal home in the sixth inning, but he didn't make it, Ken Morreil, right, put the tag on him. (McCann Photo)

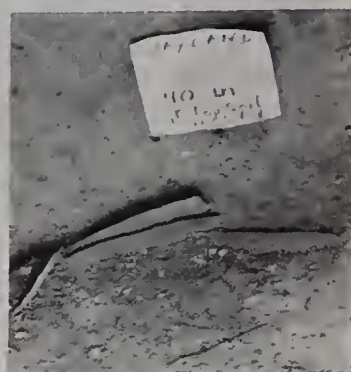

New St. Zepherin's Church Is Now Under Construction

COCHITUATE -- Construction began recently on the long-awaited new church for St. Zepherin's parish in Cochituate and North Natick. The colonial-style brick one-story building will be big enough for 850 people, and will be completed next spring. It will face Main Street and adjoin the rectory on the corner of Willard and Main Streets. James Flaherty of Dedham is the architect and John Griffin Co. is the contractor.

WAYLAND -- Buzz Bowers' undefeated baseball team (15 wins - no losses) won over Holliston, the champion of the East-Central League, by a score of 16 to 10 in the quarter finals of the Eastern Mass. Baseball Tournament at the Wayland High Field on June 8. Both teams had drawn a bye for the opening Tournament games.

Bob Page was the starting pitcher and Ed Johnsen finished the game. Eddie Marsh was the heavy hitter with a home run, a double and two singles.

They meet St. Jean's of Lynn in the semi-finals.

This is the way the stone knives lay in the child's grave. A close-up.

WAYLAND -- Discovery and excavation of what is believed to have been an ancient Indian cremation pit on the old Mansion Inn property has been a two-weeks wonder in town, featured by frantic digging by school children.

Innumerable Indian relics have been turned up, including many arrowheads, spearheads, gouges, a sharpening stone, a hoe, knives and fragments.

Edwin Rudenauer of 36 Edgewood Road, with the big spearhead he found.

How old the deposit may be is a matter of speculation. Mr. Benjamin L. Smith of 64 Sudbury Road, Concord, past president of the Massachusetts Archeological Society, says it may date back 5000 years. The people who left these Frank Zicuis with spearhead. remains, he says, were primitive indeed, yet more skillful in working stone tools than Indians of later years.

One of the weapons found was a spearhead four or five inches wide, considered most unusual. A small piece of pointed stone is believed (Please turn to Page 7)

Graduation Speeches Could Use Some Different Themes

Speakers Might Point Out That 90% Of People Are Honest And 90% Are Poor

The only commencement speaker around here who has struck sparks so far this season was the fellow over at Wellesley, who said women are more important than missiles, and he'll probably get hot arguments from some of the television repair men over at Raytheon laboratory, and so comes to mind the kind of graduation speech a fellow might make by way of getting out of the ordinary uplift stuff. Such as:

"Young men and women of the class of 1959, you have always heard that honesty is the best policy. But look around you, Ninety per cent of the people are honest and 90 per cent of them are poor. Tuck this fact away in your mind..."

Or this:

"Young men: You have been brought up to believe that American womanhood belongs on a pedestal. This is true. Therefore, don't marry until you can afford a good $50,000 pedestal."

Or some practical advice:

"You have always heard about the brave trail breakers of civilization. They are the ones who dare to dispute established beliefs, to seek new truths, to fight battles for humanity against great odds. These are the people to whom statues are erected, after they're dead. Note that well, 'after they're dead'. My advice to you is never stick your neck out. If your boss says black is white or a piece of pie, be quick to agree that it's white or a piece of pie. You want to fit in with the gang, don't you? What do you care about a statue after you're dead? Just be a dog..."

To make headlines:

Predict the next great discovery will be that there's no such thing as outer space. (It already begins to sound slightly ridiculous.)

Announce that the world is now entering upon a Golden Age, likely to last for 500 years if the stock market can hold up that long. (This would be about the most shocking remark possible, because every commencement speaker feels called upon to be a calamity howler. Tell the graduates to forget all they've just been told, because it will all be proved wrong in the next 40 years anyway.

Or insult the gleaming young:

"I'll bet not three in 900 of you know how to write or even spell the English language. I'll bet you don't know where to put the commas in the Gettysburg Address, and I'll bet no two members of the faculty could agree on it, either. I'll bet if there's one among you who can write four correct sentences in a row he'll forget it by the time he's 35. This goes for all members of the English Department, who have already forgotten..."

Take up large affairs:

"Of course this is a rough world you're going into. It's on account of your ancestors, the ones who are so full of good advice. They're the ones who were responsible for World Wars I and II and also III and IV, even if the latter haven't happened yet, not to mention the income tax and the sales tax. And if you think booze, sin and late hours are modern inventions, go read some of the books you haven't had time for in college, on account of being so busy reading Mad..."

And to the girl graduates:

"Ladies, you have it made. You have won your rights without giving up a single privilege. You have 75 per cent of the money, 100 per cent of the influence and 100 per cent of the membership in the garden club. You have nothing to fear except fat itself..."

Oh, those graduation speeches could be improved a great deal. Maybe that's why some schools don't have guest speakers any more. The student speakers don't know what they're getting into any more than the graybeards know what they've been in, but at least the audience knows the new graduate is in there wrestling hard with the ancient enemy, Truth.

Special Gifts Campaign For New Rivers School

WESTON -- A group of alumni, parents and friends of the Rivers Country Day School recently discussed plans for starting the drive for funds needed to move the entire school from its present site in Chestnut Hill to the new, 31-acre campus on Nonesuch Pond in Weston.

Co-chairmen of the special gifts division are H. Shippen Goodhue, 90 Dover Road, Wellesley, a partner with Welch and Forbes, attorneys, and William D. Manice Jr., of Weston, broker and account executive with Marsh and McLennan, Inc., insurance.

The special gifts drive inaugurates the first phase of the campaign, which is expected to raise a substantial amount toward the $350,000 needed.

Strawberry Festival On June 20 Will Be Covered By Television

WAYLAND — The 10th Annual Strawberry Festival is almost in full orbit. Chairman Mrs. Luther Davis Jr. announces it will be covered by television. The 1958 Queen, Linda Cherry, will be on hand to crown the new queen. A square dancing exhibition directed by Mrs. Charles Bemis is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Community square dancing begins at 7:30 p.m. There will be tons of hot dogs, hamburgers and the traditional strawberry sundaes so that families may enjoy supper at the festival. Tables will be set up for this purpose.

Mrs. Luther Davis Jr.
(Bradford Bachrach)

The big change this year is the new starting time of 3 p.m. Games galore will be under the direction of games chairman Mrs. Daniel Rosborough Jr. Games captains are: Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Heald, Mr. and Mrs. John Densmore, Mr. and Mrs. George Dresser, Mr. and Mrs. John Worthen, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Allen, Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. James Sullivan and Mrs. Edward Shaklik.

Advance ticket sales are expected to break all previous records. Ticket chairman is Mrs. Wesley W. Teich. Cochituate chairman is Mrs. George R. Johnson, Vice chairman

Reminder

WAYLAND — Food sale on the Village Green, Saturday, June 13, at 10 a.m. Conducted by women of the Trinitarian Congregational Church.

St. Zepherin's Spring Dance

COCHITUATE — St. Zepherin's Parish is holding its third annual Spring Dance on Tuesday evening, June 16, at the New Meadows. For tickets contact any member of the Holy Name Society or the Catholic Women's Club. Proceeds are to benefit the building fund.

are Mrs. Robert J. Condon, Mrs. Allison Newcombe and Mrs. Bruce Mansfield. Cochituate area ticket captains are Mrs. Orville E. Bean, Mrs. Herbert A. Brannen, Mrs. Russell W. Trageser, Mrs. Richard Turner, Mrs. Lansing Tuttle, Mrs. Malcolm White, Mrs. John Whitehouse, Mrs. John Williams and Mrs. Ralph Wolfe.

Wayland Historical Society

WAYLAND — "Your Doll and My Doll" is the title of a lecture by Mrs. Victoria L. Fay of Marlboro, to be given at the Heard House, home of the Wayland Historical Society, on Wednesday, June 24, at 2:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Fay's collection of period dolls is especially fine and her lecture will be of great interest to everyone who has played with, or collected dolls. Owners of unusual ones are urged to bring them. Tickets, including refreshments, are 99¢ and proceeds will be added to the moving fund which is expected to move the old Heard House back to its original site in the village. The number of tickets will be limited because of the small seating capacity; they may be obtained from Mrs. Mabel Draper, Mrs. Willard Dik or Mrs. Charles Morgan.

Millwood Horse Show

The annual Millwood Horse Show will be held Saturday, June 13, at Raceland, Framingham Centre. This show is traditionally Massachusetts' largest hunter show run entirely by amateurs. Raceland, the estate of the late John R. Macomber, nationally known sportsman, will provide grounds of unparalleled landscaping as a setting for the show, beginning at 8:45 a.m. and continuing throughout the day. Two rings are planned for advanced and junior horsemanship events and a third will be open from 10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. for dressage classes and for a program ride. Luncheon will be available on the grounds.

Active in planning the show are Mrs. Carl Cordes Johnson, Mrs. Thomas D. Cabot, Mrs. H. G. Lackey and Mrs. Harold B. Willis Jr., of Weston, and Miss Betty Dumaine and Mrs. Nathaniel Hamlen of Wayland.

Vokes Players Annual Picnic

WAYLAND — The Vokes Players will hold their Annual Membership Picnic at 6 p.m. on June 13 at the Orchard Lane home of Mr. and Mrs. John Bandelin. Cook-out facilities will be provided for members who prefer to bring supplies for a hot supper. The picnic is the traditional close of the Players' theatre season.

No MTA Tax This Year

WESTON -- A vote of the state Senate on June 3 saved local residents a hunk of tax money. The bill, which was rejected by a vote of 12 to 9, would have required "fringe communities"—those bordering on towns directly served by the MTA—to pay 25% of the MTA deficit for their supposed use of the into-Boston transportation system.

Pessimists expect a similar bill to be introduced again next year.

WESTON -- Charles J. Thornton Jr. of 633 Boston Post Road was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania on June 10 with a degree of master of business administration.

Houghton-Bray

Mrs. Charles B. Houghton
(Buschke-Sulick Studio)

WAYLAND -- The marriage of Miss Barbara Helen Bray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Bray of Short Hills, New Jersey, to Mr. Charles Bennett Houghton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerard M. Houghton of 31 Stonebridge Road, took place Saturday, June 6, at 4 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by the Reverend H. Otheman Smith at the Community Congregational Church of Short Hills. A reception followed the service at the Fortnightly Club of Summit.

Mrs. S. Donald Wildrich of Chatham was matron of honor, and Mrs. J. Franklin Koehler of New Providence and Miss Jane Corbin of Montclair were bridesmaids. The groom's sister, Elizabeth, acted as flower girl. All wore gowns of embossed nylon over aqua taffeta with wide cummerbunds and sashes and hats of matching color with circular veils. They carried pink bouquets of frenched carnations.

Mr. George B. Clark served as best man, and the ushers were the groom's brother, Donald M. Houghton, Robert E. Doane and Thomas Kociuba.

Mrs. Houghton is an alumna of the University of California at Los Angeles, while her husband was graduated from Clark University, Worcester.

through the schools, to the young amateur archaeologists who have been digging at the site.

It is known that scores of people have been excavating and that many, many objects have been removed. But they have all disappeared into private hands. No list has been made and only a few of the finds have been photographed. The experts in this field say that as many as possible of the objects taken in this rich discovery should be assembled.

Mrs. Mabel S. Draper, curator of the Historical Society, has written to Mr. Edward J. Anderson, superintendent of schools, asking that the teachers ask boys and girls to bring their finds to school. The Society would like to borrow the articles from their finders. Those who are willing to lend objects will have their names put on exhibition with the objects, and their cooperation will be publicly reported. Mr. Anderson has promised to help get this collection together.

Mrs. Draper points out that this was probably the biggest single Indian find in the town's history. But there won't be anything to show for it unless the objects are assembled somewhere, so the scientists can study them and everybody can see them.

The appeal is being made particularly to the boys and girls who have been digging so diligently, but it is also addressed to adult diggers. It is pointed out that the objects have no money value but great historical worth, and there is always the danger that they may get lost or broken. Mrs. Draper will be happy to receive loan objects directly.

INDIAN DIG

to have been a drill.

The Mansion Inn property, which has had a lively history even in modern times, has been acquired most recently by Mr. Nelson M. Silk of 105 Stafford Road, Newton, who plans to build 14 houses on the nine-acre site.

Some of the diggers worked around the roots of a big copper beech, planted many years ago, when Mansion Inn was built.

The bulldozers have been scraping and piling topsoil. At the very corner of the property, where West Plain Street meets Old Connecticut Path, the scraper had just barely taken off a top, thin layer of turf.

Searchers found some of the relics. Small boys quickly heard about it. Some tried to keep the secret, but it leaked out, far,

Pretty soon there was a small army of juvenile diggers on the job every afternoon, as soon as school was out. They dug with hoes, shovels, entrenching tools, beach shovels, spoons and rakes. They found articles from the grass roots down to about three feet.

The articles were found mostly in a bed of decomposed charcoal. Blackness mixed with sand and earth seemed to indicate the best places to dig. The area where most finds were made was perhaps the size of a small swimming pool, but prospectors on other parts of the property also found objects.

Another feature of the dig was the presence in the earth of streaks of red ochre. Mr. Smith says this adds to the mystery. Red ochre came from iron. Could have been from local bog iron or it could have come from Maine, by barter.

It could have been in pots and it could have been used ceremonially. Ethnologists speak of "Red Ochre Men" who seem to have lived in Maine at one time. Who were these Mansion Inn men?

One small digger said to another: "Let me have this hole. I raised it from a baby."

Dogs followed the children to the dig, and there was about one dog fight an hour.

John J. McCann, Crier photographer, prospected with a golf stick, without success. "Other people are hurting their feet on arrowheads," he complained.

As Mr. Smith tells it, this Mansion Inn area, near Lake Cochituate and Dudley Pond, has been Indian country for many centuries. Old Connecticut Path, now a highway, follows the old trail, which was worn deep and wide by Indian feet. One branch of the trail went to Albany and upstate New York, the other to Connecticut. It was the Massachusetts Turnpike of its time.

In comparatively modern times, the Indians of this area were known as the Nipnits or Nipnets. They would spend their Summers at the lake and their Winters at the seashore, around Dorchester or Milton. It is believed that there were Indian settlements all around the two lakes.

Cremation, says Mr. Smith, was one of a dozen ways the Indians had of disposing of their dead. Such a pit as this, however, he says he had never seen. And there was no way of telling when it was in use, or over how long a time it was used.

Some scraps of bone, thumbnail size, were found, but they were said to be animal bones, not human. A piece of shell, clam or oyster, turned up.

For Indian living, this must have been ideal country, with two lakes right at hand, the Sudbury River not far away, forests full of game everywhere and level land available for planting.

The Massachusetts Archaeological Society, which has headquarters in Attleboro, is a group of amateur diggers of high scientific standing. Some of its members came to Cochituate to dig. One woman said she found a good arrowhead a few hundred yards away, in Saxonville, where a new street is being built. It's very possible, says Mr. Smith, that other fine deposits of Indian materials may exist in the region around the lakes.

Another visitor to the dig was Douglas S. Byers, director of the Peabody Foundation, the archaeological museum at Phillips Andover Academy.

Temporary Baby Boom

WAYLAND — The local baby boom took a sharp upturn from May 10 to May 22 with eight births, six girls and two boys, reported during the 12-day period. (If this were a year-round average, it would call for the building of a new 250-pupil elementary school every year!) In order of appearance, the newcomers were:

On May 10, a girl, to Mr. and Mrs. Roger Q. Elliott of 17 Centre Street.

On May 11, a girl, to Mr. and Mrs. George Besolt of 17 Bayfield Road.

On May 13, a boy, to Mr. and Mrs. George A. C. Kellers Jr., of 10 Bald Rock Road.

Also on May 13, a girl, to Mr. and Mrs. Janis Sils of 49 Lakeshore Drive.

And, again, on May 13, a boy, to Mr. and Mrs. David Weeks of 132 East Plain Street.

On May 14, a girl, to Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Reuling of 72 Main Street.

On May 19, a girl, to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Hillery of 8 Bald Rock Road.

On May 22, a girl, to Mr. and Mrs. Hanns J. Wetzeln of 33 Bayfield Road.

WESTON -- Girl Scouts of Troop 24, fifth graders, had an overnight campout for practice on May 23 on the grounds of the Albert H. Curtis 2d home on Glen Road. Mr. Curtis made the picture above. Kneeling, front, left to right: Tricia Dye, Gerry Kelleher, Zan Perkins, Susan Kelly, Molly Osborne and Doris Olney. Second row: Pam Wright, Ruth Miller and Pam Howe. Standing: Jill Clarke, Bonny Harris, Nada Berry, Diane Gowell, Linda Dailey, Penny Curtis, Wendy Brownell and Andy Warren. Out shopping, when the picture was made, were Ceri Raynor and Faye Ogilvie.

WESTON -- Two Weston men have received executive promotions from Liberty Mutual Insurance Company.

Alfred R. Wypler of 72 Church Street has been elected a vice president, and Herbert J. Schwartz of 26 October Lane has been appointed an assistant vice president. Wypler is home office claims manager for the company and Schwartz is director of sales procedures and methods for the business sales department.

Wypler, a graduate of University of Wisconsin, class of 1933, joined the company's claims department in December, 1933. He has traveled extensively in claims work for the company and has been assigned to the home office since 1937.

Schwartz, a graduate of University of Buffalo, class of 1929, joined the company in June, 1929. He has served in various sales and management capacities in company offices in Buffalo, Philadelphia, Chicago and Boston. In 1949 he attended the Advanced Management Program at the Harvard School of Business Administration and is a member of the executive committee of the Boston Sales Executives Club.

Driest May On Record

It was not only very warm for May this year but the 31 days broke all previous records for lack of rain in the Sudbury River watershed. Only .81 inch was recorded during the entire period.

Back in 1878, it was pretty dry, too, with .9 of an inch recorded for May in that year. The records, which have been kept over the last 85 years, show an average rainfall of 3.29 inches for the merry month.

The last time a really dry May was recorded in the watershed area was in 1944 when .91 of an inch was measured.

WESTON -- Edward M. Mackinnon, S.J. of Weston College, was graduated with a doctor of philosophy degree from Saint Louis University at commencement exercises on June 6.

New Administrative Job Is Open In Wayland Schools

WAYLAND -- Wayland's School Department is now acting to fill a new position of Administrative Assistant for Finance and Management Services. It is expected that the new official will assume responsibility for administering non-educational aspects of the Town's growing educational plant and facilities at the opening of school next fall.

The School Committee expects candidates for the new Finance and Management position to have graduated from an accredited college or university, or have had at least five years of experience in the preparation and supervision of budgets, administration of purchasing systems, personnel, school building construction and maintenance.

Desirable but not required are previous experience in financial administration management of school systems, and acquaintance with teaching materials and school equipment.

B Positive Blood For Open Heart Surgery Is Needed

WESTON -- The "Open Heart" bloodmobile will come to Weston College at 9 a.m. on July 13 to collect blood to be used for Father Villaverde of New Orleans, who is coming to Children's Hospital in Boston to undergo open heart surgery. He will need 15 pints of B positive blood.

Donors with blood of this type are asked to call TW 4-4079.

WESTON -- Mrs. Robert S. Ogilvie of 445 Glen Road and Mrs. E. Paul Floyd of 217 Newton Street were elected chairmen of standing committees at a meeting of the Wheelock College Alumnae Association at the College on June 6.

Bancroft-Houghton

WAYLAND -- Miss Jeanne M. E. Houghton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benhardt G. Houghton of Willard Street, was married on June 6 at St. Zepherin's Church to Mr. Floyd W. Bancroft, son of Mrs. Viola Eldridge of Framingham. Reverend Frederick J. Hobbs officiated.

Mrs. Bernard Houghton was matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Carol Pavia and Mrs. Donald Bancroft. Mr. Donald Bancroft was best man and the ushers were Mr. Bernard Houghton, Mr. Frederick Ward and Mr. Henry King. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Framingham Motor Inn.

Miss Houghton was graduated from Wayland High School and has been employed by the Raytheon Company in Wayland. Mr. Bancroft attended M.I.T. and is now a representative for the Co-Op Oil Company in Framingham.

Following a wedding trip to the Pocono Mountains, the couple will make their home on Eliot Street in Framingham.

WESTON -- Joseph Antell Jr. will accompany his father, Mr. Joseph Antell, Boston and Wellesley shoe merchant, on a seven-week European business trip. Joseph Jr. plans to visit friends while in England and Switzerland. He will be the guest of Mr. Aldo and Princess Anya Bruzzichilli of Florence and New York while in Italy.

WESTON -- Seven residents of Weston were among the 1,000 alumnae returning to Wellesley College for the annual Wellesley Weed End, June 11-14, on the campus in Wellesley. The list includes Mesdames John W. Carter, Glenn N. Lempereur, Robert D. McMullin, William Queen, Russell Rowe, Edward E. Stritter and Robert B. Whittemore.

Weston Cong. Group Plans To Begin Services In Fall

WESTON -- Another meeting of townspeople interested in forming a Congregational church in Weston was held Wednesday evening, June 3, in the lower Town Hall. A temporary chairman, secretary and treasurer were elected, and an executive committee was named.

Plans are in progress leading to the commencement of religious services in the Fall. Rev. Albert J. Penner, president, and Rev. Baldwin W. Callahan, minister of missions and stewardship of the Massachusetts Congregational Christian Conference, counselled the group.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Alcaide, Mrs. Norman Appleyard, Mr. and Mrs. James Banghart, Mr. and Mrs. William Bogardus, Mr. Russell Doane, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dorr, Dr. Gilbert Garland, Mrs. Frank Giamo, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Gyska, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hamill, Mr. and Mrs. John Harding, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. Laymon Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ross, Mrs. Hillard Welch and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilson.

Wayland Man Father Of 5, Wins Northeastern Degree

WAYLAND -- Roger A. Backman of 7 East Road, father of five children, who has been holding down a job while also attending Northeastern University, will receive his degree of bachelor of business administration degree in engineering and management at Commencement exercises in Boston Garden on June 14.

Married eight years to the former Gloria Wanberg of Waltham, Backman began studying for his degree in 1957 in Northeastern's Evening School of Business.

He is employed by the Radio Corporation of America, Burlington, in the missile electronics and controls department in computer programming.

"I already have an associates degree in electrical engineering from Lincoln Institute," Backman says, "but my new degree will be an invaluable acquisition for me in my line of work. It will enable me to become more of a specialist, and, of course, the learning that the degree represents means a great deal to me."

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Backman, 37 Fairmont Avenue, Waltham, he is a veteran of the Coast Guard, (1945 to 1948) and the United States Navy, (1950 to 1952).

His five children are Robin, 7; Lisa, 6; Jeffrey, 4; Craig, 3, and Robert 1.

"Studying," Backman says, "with children running around the house is chore enough, but on three separate occasions while I was taking final exams three of my children were born."

Backman has enrolled in a Controls System Course at Lincoln Institute for next year.

WAYLAND -- Miss Mary Ann Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Turner of Draper Road, received her nursing cap at a ceremony held May 3 at the Peter Bent Brigham School of Nursing. She is in the class of 1961.

WESTON -- Mrs. Arthur Besse, Mrs. Victor Noel, Mrs. Arthur B. Johnson and Mrs. Arthur G. Walsh are Wheaton College alumnae who plan to attend the reunion week-end at the college, June 12-14.

Honors And Scholarships Awarded At 1959 Weston High Graduation

Weston High graduation was held out of doors, as usual. Picture above shows the seniors on the steps of the High School. Mr. Robert Corley, left foreground, is directing the singing. The nature of that circular object just over his head is undetermined. It may be a halo, something from outer space or, possibly, a defect in the film.

53 Are Graduated From Wayland High At Exercises In Auditorium

Wayland seniors gathered on the platform inside the High School auditorium. This year's class numbered 53, but Principal William M. Griffin says that next year's will be more than 100. Only one more graduation is scheduled for the stage shown above. The class of 1961 should be graduated from the new $2,300,000 school building on Old Connecticut Path.

Wayland Graduation

WAYLAND -- Fifty-three were graduated from Wayland High School at exercises held in the school auditorium in the evening of June 11. The night was cool, there were no mosquitoes, the exercises began on time and relatives and friends seated in the crowded room were comfortable.

The awards, presented by Mr. Edward J. Anderson, superintendent of schools:

Good Citizenship award of the D.A.R., to Elizabeth Lundy and Brooke Gregory.

Weston Graduation

WESTON -- Seventy-five graduates received diplomas, and one exchange student from Rombas, France, was awarded a certificate of accomplishment, at the commencement exercises on Thursday afternoon, June 11, at the Weston High School. The ceremony, which took place on the lawn in front of the school, began and concluded with music by the high school band. Musical selections by members of the senior class were featured during the program. Mr. James Robbins of the School Committee presented the diplomas, and Mr. Willard H. Smith, principal, made special awards to the seniors.

These special awards were given to the following students:

Arsine Victoria Avakian, the Alumni Award, for having had the highest scholastic average during four years of high school.

Susan Bump, the D.A.R. Good Citizenship Award, for demonstrating in the highest degree the qualities of dependability, leadership, service and patriotism.

Peabody Museum People To Start Digging At Mansion Inn Some Time This Week

WAYLAND -- Representatives of the Peabody Museum say they mean to start scientific digging at the Mansion Inn Indian burial ground around the middle of this week.

Since 6 a.m. on June 9 the site has been guarded by a Wayland police officer, paid for by the Museum. A few inches of earth has been scraped back over the area, to protect it, and so far as known, no digging has taken place during the week.

Meanwhile, a number of the artifacts uncovered have been taken as gifts or finds by the Massachusetts Archaeological Society, which has a museum at Attleboro, others have been taken by the Peabody Museum and some are being held at Happy Hollow School, probably for the Wayland Historical Society.

Mr. Frederick Johnson of the Museum went to Cochituate School

Fair Housing Practices Group Formed In Wayland

WAYLAND -- A Wayland Committee on Fair Housing Practices similar to those already established in nearby communities has been formed by a town-wide group of Wayland residents.

The purpose of the committee is to "strive to ensure that all people who want to live in Wayland are welcome on an equal basis, and are not subject to discrimination because of race, religion or national origin."

Among residents of Wayland who have helped in forming the committee are: Mr. and Mrs. Anthony L. Alesi, Mrs. Ethem M. Bamforth, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bowden, Rev. William P. Castles, Mr. and

Dancing On The Green

To the Editor:

This was the first time in 11 years of dancing on the green that rain has forced us indoors, and we want to thank the dancers for hearing with us.

We also want to thank the company, Brewer & Calhoun, for the supervision of the wiring on the

About Natick Art Show

To the Editor:

Perhaps the most interesting highlight caused by the opening of any art show, is the controversial element. High on the list of criticism is the judges choice of awards, particularly if the prizes fall in the modern class. Here the public knows what it likes and if there is no recognizable object in the painting, the comment is usually "What is it?" Often is heard, "My 3-year-old could do better!" or "I just don't see anything to this modern art!"

Then there are those who ooh and ahh over modern art but when asked to explain what they see or feel, all that comes forth is the usual cliches and dithyrambic hogwash. No small wonder why the public scratches his head in bewildered confusion.

Controversy will be in full swing again, when the Natick Art Association opens its Festival of the Arts on June 20 at the industrial park on route 9 in Natick.

This year the show is open to members and nonmembers alike and many cities and towns surrounding Natick will be represented.

WESTON -- The school orchestra conducted by Mr. Robert Corley, and the eighth grade boys' chorus and the seventh grade mixed chorus, conducted by Miss Paula Prial, performed at a Weston Junior High School music and award-presentation assembly on June 9 at the Country School Auditorium.

Diane Griffith, an eighth grade student, was announced by her art teacher, Miss Alice M. Oliff, to be the winner by a majority vote by the entire school of a contest to select and draw a school mascot. She won with her design of the Weston Bulldog.

In the science achievement contest sponsored by the American Society for Metals and the National Science Teachers' Association, the following eighth grade pupils of Mrs. Dorothy Mulroy received honorable mention awards for the area including New England, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick:

Louise Cutter, Glacial Effects in Weston; Charles Donaldson, Stereopsis: the Overlooked Sense;
David Greenlie, Parapsychology and Chuck Schuerhoff, Diffusion in Liquids and in Metals.

In the Science Countdown 1959 sponsored by Lowell Technological Institute and WBZ-TV, the award for first place in Weston Junior High and later Middlesex County and for second place among all eighth graders in the Commonwealth was given to Arra Avakian.

Warren D. Valentine

WAYLAND -- Funeral services were held at the Gibbs Memorial Funeral Home on June 9 for Mr.
Warren D. Valentine, a resident of the town since 1902. Reverend William J. Ogle, pastor of the Fiske Memorial Methodist Church in Natick, officiated.

Mr. Valentine had been employed at the Cohituate Post Office for 33 years until his retirement. He was a member of the Wayland Cemetery Commission and had been clerk of the Commission since 1935. He was active in Boy Scout work, a 50-year member of the Sherborn Grange as well as a Past Master of the Cohituate Grange, P. of H. He was also a member of the Sons and Daughters of Liberty.

He leaves four sons, Roger of Monterey, Mexico; Donald H. of Montclair, N. J.; Harlan G. of College Point, N. Y.; and Preston S. of Elizabeth, N. J.; and two daughters, Mrs. Ralph Harris of Sherborn and Mrs. C. Lawrence
MacKee of 4 West Commonwealth Road, with whom he made his home.

Among subscribers to the Boys'
Clubs charity premier of Pleasure Island on June 21 are Mr. and Mrs. John Boyd of Weston and
Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Foster of Wayland.

Public commentary regarding our Art Show will be welcomed by us all in the Association so why not let us know what you think.

Lions Club Gets Charter

WAYLAND -- On Wednesday,
June 10, the Sudbury-Wayland Lions Club officially received its charter from the International Association of Lions Clubs, at a dinner and dance held at the Maridor Restaurant, Framingham.

After the invocation by the Rev.
Stanley Rogers, Harold E. Neelon, newly elected president, accepted the charter.

The new club received good wishes from the town officials and from over 200 members of Lions clubs and other service organizations.

Elected officers of the Sudbury-
Wayland Lions Club are: Harold
E. Neelon, president; Carlton E.
Morse, first vice president; Robert Selby, 2nd vice-president; Joseph Morley, third-vice president;
Daniel Di Senso, secretary; Thomas Dolan, treasurer; Lee Covington, tail twister and Thomas McDonough the Lions tamer. The board of directors are: Dr. Alfred Sharpe, John B. Butler, Edward Fralin and Kenneth Throckmorton.

Dance Was Held Indoors

WESTON -- Dancing on the Green, on June 6, was considered a large and successful party, except that, for the first time in the history of the event, rain and cold made it necessary to hold it inside.
Above, left to right, Kathy Donaldson and Bill Ross, were two of the

At Least, The Rain Washes Away The Family Cookout. .

Which Would Be Fun If
The Children Enjoyed It As Much
As They're Supposed To

When there's a rainy week-end around here in Summer it's pretty miserable, just as it's pretty miserable around here all the year except for the one-third of the time when everybody goes away if he can, but there's one advantage to it. The rain wipes out the cookout.

The cookout, a comparatively modern but firmly fixed institution, is based primarily on the belief that children would rather eat out of doors with the mosquitoes than inside on a chair, where it's comfortable.

It is also based on the theory that it is a treat for the mother of the family to have a man take over the preparation and serving of a meal now and then.

Also involved is the notion that food tastes better when cooked out of doors, that a little burned part adds zest to meat, that appetite is better in the fresh air and isn't it too bad about those people who live in apartments in the city and don't have big fat back yards.

On account of these beliefs, there are more kinds of backyard cooking establishments than there are brands of beer, with which this form of activity often tends to become associated.

Some outdoor fireplaces are of the general size and shape of blast furnaces. Some are built as center-pieces of patios, which are a Spanish device imposed on Americans when the Mexicans won the Mexican War. Some are walled in on three sides, so the revelers can eat out of doors far into the Winter.

The fireplace fire, however, is not to be confused with the cooking fire. This is supposed to be a small blaze, because the experienced cook knows it's not necessary to have a roaring fire to broil a hot dog, which is what the guest is going to get.

The fuel for this little fire comes from the store in black lumps in a paper bag. A real back-to-Nature cook could scour the premises and find enough dead twigs, blown down in the numerous storms which thresh this area, but that's too much work. He has to have store fuel, which is kindled by squirting it with a liquid lacking only a few of the violent qualities of gasoline.

After the lumps start to smoulder, there's always an argument as to just when the cooking should start. With adults of bad habits, this is where the trouble begins. Being hungry but willing to settle, for the time being, for something to drink, adults attack the bottles and cans. The children, who are not allowed to have bad habits until they get older, have to go hungry, so they fight with each other, or just scream. It's a rare child who thinks an underdone hamburger is worth a wait of more than four minutes, but the adults will sit around for 45 minutes, soaking up Dutch courage with which to face the feast ahead.

The meal will consist of hot dogs or hamburgers. Once a host tried real good steak, but the neighbors, who weren't invited, smelled it and reported him to the Internal Revenue Service, and he was later good and sorry.

Seating arrangements are likely to be inadequate, too. Many of the guests will eat standing up, preferring that to sharing the ground with the ants. This involves more delicate maneuvering than juggling cup, saucer and thin sandwich at the tea party. It's a lucky guest who can find a child's cart on which to rest his paper plate and paper coffee cup, and a child who doesn't mind.

A feature of the cookout, too, is that it ends with the dirty dishes rather further from the kitchen sink than they would be in the house. Fussy housekeepers will not leave them outdoors for the rain and the squirrels to clean. There is also the problem of policing the back yard next day, not to mention that of getting the grime off the children and the cook.

Experts say that it takes a bright child about six years, counting from the date of his birth, to discover that he'd rather eat Mother's cooking than Father's, and that he'd rather read a comic book than stand around hungry while his elders fuss for an hour preparing a snack which a good short order chef would slap on the counter in about four minutes. — D.B.W.

Cooperatives cut the cost of living for 13,000,000 customer-owners

The folks who own and patronize cooperatives are not in business to earn a profit. Their sole aim is to make their dollars go farther . . . to buy goods and services at a saving.

Through a business which they own and control local CO-OP patrons buy groceries and fuel oil, and may borrow money at the credit union and provide almost any kind of service that people need.

The savings they make help them provide better for their families, but that's not the only benefit. They like the idea of having a voice in management of the businesses that serve them.

Cooperatives succeed because everybody shares; cooperatives grow because everybody benefits.

Way-Go Baseball Collection Will Be Taken On June 27th
WAYLAND — The Way-Go Baseball Committee will conduct its Annual Solicitation on Saturday morning, June 27, when boys and girls taking part in the Baseball Program will call at each of the homes in town. As most folks know, the funds that are supplied by the Town at the Annual Town Meeting through the Park Department budget are used only for the items necessary to play the game. (Bats, baseballs, protective equipment, bases, etc.) For all other items used in the program (uniforms, hats, jerseys, trophies, field days, etc.) the Committee is dependent upon the generosity of the townspeople.
In the past funds have been used to purchase seven sets of uniforms, hats for all participants, small trophies for members of All Star teams, jerseys for certain of the younger boys, and other items. This year it is hoped that one group of the Lassie program can be outfitted as well as a Field Day for all boys and girls sometime later in the season.
Since all of the program is supervised entirely by volunteers all funds collected will be used to benefit the activity. The Baseball Committee invites the townspeople to observe the program in action at any of the various fields Monday through Thursday evenings and those who can, to take an active part in its direction. Information may be had through any of the Division Directors listed below: Lassie Division, John Rooney, OL 3-9208; Nippers Division, Frank Tomasello, EL 8-7044; Junior Division, Harold Barnett, OL 3-7554, and Pony Division, William Morris, OL 3-6649.

Tennis Experts Will Demonstrate At Wayland Court On June 20th
WAYLAND — A tennis clinic sponsored by the Youth Tennis Foundation of New England will be held at 10 a.m., Saturday, June 20, on the court of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick L. Heinrich, adjacent to the Wayland High School playing fields. The fundamentals of tennis will be demonstrated and discussed and an exhibition doubles match will be played by four of New England's outstanding players.
Harrison Rowbotham, President of the New England Lawn Tennis Association and former New England men's singles and doubles champion, will team with Malcolm Hill, former National Junior father and son's champion, vs. Arthur Hills and Robert Joslin, present fifth ranking New England Men's doubles team. Admission will be free and anyone seriously interested in tennis is invited to attend.
The Youth Tennis Foundation of New England is a non-profit affiliate of the New England Lawn Tennis Association and is dedicated to promoting and teaching tennis for boys and girls.
During the balance of June and throughout July a group of boys and girls of high school age will be studying tennis in Wayland under the Foundation. The clinic on June 20 will serve as an introduction to the course. There is still room for a few more to take the course and those who are interested should call Mr. or Mrs. Heinrich at ELmwood 8-2984 for details.
If inclement weather forces a postponement of the clinic it will be held on the following day, Sunday, June 21, at 10 a.m.

"July Adventurers" Will Explore Sudbury Valley Trustees' Land Areas

WAYLAND -- Mrs. John B. Gregory, Chairman of the Junior Town House "July Adventure" Committee, announces that plans have been made for full-scale explorations by Adventure groups of selected pieces of land owned by the Sudbury Valley Trustees. Mr. George Lewis, representing the Trustees, will work with Miss Priscilla Bock, the Town House leader in charge of natural science activities, to select unusually interesting spots for nature study.

As in the past, there will be daily periods set aside in the Adventure program for nature work. However, this year there will be additional full-morning field trips for each of the groups to one or another of the selected areas.

Mrs. Gregory also reports that two High School assistants have recently been added to the Adventure staff. Miss Lynda Clausen, who will be a senior next year, is assisting MISS Bock in the Natural Science field and Miss Joy Kerr, a junior next year, will assist Mr. Stephen Durkee with the Arts and Crafts program.

"Adventure" sessions will be held from 9 to 12 on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings from June 29 through August 7 and there is still room for a few more "Adventurers."

Weston Methodist Church

WESTON -- At the June meeting of the official board of the Weston Methodist church, plans were presented for the coordination and enlargement of the church program for the coming year. The Commission on Membership and Evangelism will conduct an intensive visitation of the church membership, in cooperation with the Church School and the Methodist Youth Fellowship early in the Fall. This past year, 56 new members were received into the fellowship of the Church.

The Commission on Education announced that the Church School will open on Sept. 13 with registration of children. Rally Day will be on Sept. 27.

The Commission is making a careful study of the present curriculum with the view of introducing improvements which will further raise the educational standards of the Church School. Plans are being completed for a teacher's training program in the Fall. This Summer a Bible Study Class for young adults will be taught by Mr. Moore.

The Commission on Stewardship and Finance has planned the Every Member Canvass to be on Sunday, Nov. 15, and expects to raise the level of stewardship and financial strength to its greatest height in recent years.

The Commission on Christian Social Relations will hold a seminar on International Relations on World Peace Sunday in November.

Graduated From Dartmouth

Condit

WESTON -- Two Weston Dartmouth seniors received degrees at Dartmouth College's 189th commencement ceremonies on June 14.

They are Roger E. Condit and John E. Ferries. Both were graduated from Weston High School. Condit received a bachelor of arts degree in psychology. He was a four-year member of the Rowing Club and the Dartmouth Christian Union. In addition, he sang with the freshman glee club and was a member of Le Cercle Francais, the French language club.

Receiving a bachelor of arts degree, Ferries will enter his second year at the Amos Tuck School of Business Administration here next fall to seek his master's degree.

A brother of Kappa Sigma fraternity, he was a four-year member of the Dartmouth Outing Club and the International Relations Club. He also served with the Young Republicans and the staff of WDCR, the campus radio station.

Ferries' other activities included the governing committee of his dormitory, the freshman baseball squad, and the Sophomore Orientation Committee which helps incoming students adjust to college life.

Panetta-Tewksbury

WAYLAND -- Bouquets of white flowers decorated the altar of St. Joseph's Church in Lincoln for the wedding on Sunday afternoon, May 31 of Miss Joan Tewksbury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Tewksbury of Sherman Bridge Road, Wayland, and Pasquale J. Panetta Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale Panetta of Concord Turnpike, Lincoln.

Mrs. P. J. Panetta
(Vantines')

After the double ring ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a ballerina gown of embroidered organdy, with scoop neckline, short sleeves, and bouffant skirt. Her finger tip veil was edged in lace. She carried a prayer book covered by a cascade of white carnations and stephanotis, with an orchid center.

Maid of honor and sole attendant of the bride, Miss Dorothy Johansen of Concord wore a pale pink gown with matching headband, and carried a cascade of pink carnations.

Joseph Murray of Concord was best man and the ushers were Don Tewksbury of Wayland, brother of the bride, and James Aprile of Lincoln.

The bride was graduated from Wayland High School and Framingham Secretarial School, and has been employed as private secretary at M.I.T. Lincoln Laboratory. The groom is partner in the Panetta Mason and Contractors Co.

After a honeymoon in New Hampshire the couple are now at their home in Burlington, Mass.

Wins Fellowship Grant

WESTON -- Mr. Charles W. Skinner of 22 Overlook Drive, a research associate at the Graduate School of Business Administration at Harvard University, has been awarded a pre-doctoral fellowship grant by the Ford Foundation. The fellowship grants are made for the purpose of enabling students to devote full academic time to the completion of their doctoral programs.

WAYLAND -- Mrs. Bruce A. Mansfield of 1 Cole Road, attended a reunion weekend at Connecticut College, June 12 - 14. She is a member of the class of 1954.

Wayland Loses Final, 8-2, To St. Mary's Of Milford

Kenny Houghton, on the baseline above, turned third on a play on which Paton scored. He saw he was lost, so he dove for the plate through the middle of the St. Mary's catcher. The latter went down, as the lower picture shows, but the runner was out. (McCann Photos)

8:00 P.M. Application of Howard C. Phillips, d/b/a/ Cochituate Motors, for authority to build auto body and paint shop at 36 Main Street, Cochituate, according to site plan submitted. (59-37)
8:20 P.M. Application of Einar Paul Robsham for authority to build on two lots of non-conforming size on the westerly side of Joyce Road, a proposed way on subdivision Ledgewood off School Street. (59-38)
BOARD OF APPEALS

WAYLAND -- The Wayland High baseball team, after running a series of 17 consecutive victories, finally lost the Class C Eastern Massachusetts championship in the final of the tournament to St. Mary's of Milford, on June 16 at the Brandeis field in Waltham, 8 to 2.

Jim Gelineau, St. Mary's pitcher, seemed to make the difference. Eddie Marsh made the only authoritative Wayland hit, a triple to left center, and scored on a wild

3 Kellogg Grandchildren Graduated From School

WESTON -- Three grandchildren of the late David Moulton Kellogg, and Mrs. Kellogg of 177 Boston Post Road were graduated from preparatory schools last week.

Anne Kellogg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Moulton Kellogg 3d of 181 Boston Post Road, was graduated an honor student at the Weston High School June 11. She will enter Connecticut College in September.

Stanley G. Kellogg Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley G. Kellogg, formerly of Weston, now of New Ipswich, N. H., was graduated from Holderness School, Plymouth, N. H., June 7. He will enter the University of New Hampshire where his sister is a junior, next year.

W. A. Kellogg Jr., son of W. Alexander Kellogg, now living in Cambridge, was graduated from Phillips Exeter Academy, June 7. He has been appointed to the U. S. Air Force Academy, Denver, Colorado.

pitch. Paton and Houghton singled in succession at another point and Paton scored on an error, with Houghton thrown out at the plate.

Ed Johnsen pitched for Wayland and held St. Mary's scoreless for five innings. Bob Page finished up.

In spite of the failure to win the championship, the Wayland 1959 team was believed to have had the best record in the school's history. The 1957 team, although not undefeated, also went to the championship final to lose.

Only Bob Page will be lost from this team by graduation, and Coach Buzz Bowers and the boys should have another crack at the championship next year.

Thayer-Phillips

WAYLAND -- The marriage of Miss Virginia Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Phillips of 37 Oak Knoll Road, Natick, to Mr. Raymond G. Thayer Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond G. Thayer of 403 Mt. Wayte Avenue, Framingham, took place Sunday, June 14, at 3 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Paul D. Tiller at the First Congregational Church of Natick. A reception at the home of the bride followed the service.

Mrs. Raymond G. Thayer Jr. (Korday)

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a chantilly lace gown fashioned with scalloped V-neckline cluster with sequins, traditional long sleeve and full bouffant skirt terminating in a chapel-length train. Her silk illusion veil was held in place by a lace crown of seeded pearls and sequins and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis centered with an orchid.

Miss Jacqueline Phillips was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a pink princess style sheer nylon and lace dress over taffeta with Sabrina neckline and matching crown headpiece. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses and aqua carnations. The bridesmaids, similarly gowned in aqua, were Miss Janet Thayer, Miss Marjorie Thayer, Miss Jeanne Taft and Mrs. Dorothy Keith.

Mr. James Maboney was best man and the ushers were William Phillips, Edward Garvin, Robert MacDonald and Robert Desley.

Mrs. Phillips wore a rose lace dress with jacket and matching accessories and orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother chose a sheer nylon over lavender and rose print dress with white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The bride, a medical secretary, was graduated from Natick High School and attended the University of Massachusetts and the Children's Hospital School of Nursing. Mr. Thayer was graduated from Framingham High School, spent 3 1/2 years in the U. S. Navy and is now employed at Cochrane Motors.

Following a wedding trip, the couple will live at 220 West Plain Street, Cochrane.

on June 15 to talk to the pupils about the importance of the find. Mr. Walter Doucette, principal of the school, reports that pupils gave Mr. Johnson something like 20 pieces for the Museum. Mr. Doucette also was told, he says, that members of the Archaeological Society visited some of the boys who had found articles and solicited and received some of them as gifts.

Mr. Johnson also went to Happy Hollow School on June 15. There, says Mr. Daniel Frumerin, principal, the pupils had brought in 30 or 40 pieces, because of the request of Mrs. Mabel S. Draper, curator of the Wayland Historical Society, transmitted through the school system, to have the pieces loaned to the Society.

These pieces at Happy Hollow are being held, says Mr. Frumerin, and he thinks the pupils will decide

Associate In Technology

WESTON -- Richard L. O'Toole, son of Mrs. Austin O'Toole of 119 Park Road, was graduated from Franklin Technical Institute on June 14, with the Degree of Associate in Mechanical Engineering Technology.

for themselves where they are to go. Most of them, he says, seem to think they want the pieces to stay in town, with the Historical Society.

By coincidence, the fifth and sixth grades at Cochrane School had planned a field trip to the Peabody Museum for June 18, before the finding of the burial places at Mansion Inn.

How long it will be before the age of the find is determined seems to be problematical. Mr. Benjamin L. Smith of Concord, of the Archaeological Society, says the famous carbon 14 test takes anywhere from two weeks to two years, would cost $100, is a pretty fussy job and has to be paid for by somebody. But the Museum says it will make the test if it finds the right material.

saw, Richard Stackpole also saw it.

The book says this bird is a Southern character, living particularly in Texas, Oklahoma and Florida. He is rare indeed in these parts.

He is pearly gray, with black wings and touches of salmon pink under his wings. He compares in body size with a bluejay, but his outstanding feature is a long feathered tail.

The one Mrs. Benjamin saw looked somewhat beat up, as though he'd had a hard time on his travels. He had lost part of his tail.

The Audubon Society put the news on the telephone recording which it gives to those who call up wanting to know what's up in the bird world.

Richard Withington Wins Degree At South Dakota

WAYLAND -- Richard G. Withington, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Withington of 172 State Road, was graduated on June 8 from South Dakota State College with a B. A. degree. Mr. Withington was advertising manager and business manager of the college paper, "Collegian" for two years.

His parents toured cross-country to Brookings, South Dakota, to attend the graduation.

Mr. Withington is now enroute to Bakersfield, California, with his wife, the former Jean Henrichsen, and daughters, Priscilla and Pamela. He will be associated with a daily newspaper, the Bakersfield Californian.

Mrs. Gravem Will Teach

WESTON -- Mrs. Hamish C. F. Gravem of 214 Boston Post Road, who had a lead in the Friendly Society's musical, "Jericho", this Spring, will teach art at Nashoba Country Day School, a new school for girls which will open at 54 Main Street, Concord, in September.

Mrs. Gravem, who comes from Kansas City, is a graduate of Smith College. She has studied art at the Kansas City Institute and at the Museum School in Boston, and she has taught art for two years at Meadowbrook School.

There will be three grades, 4th, 5th and 6th, at Nashoba the first year, and 7th and 8th will be added in consecutive following years. School telephone, before July 6, is EMerson 9-2707.

Corvettes Win 3 Games, Lead Softball League

COCHITUATE -- Cochrane Motors Corvettes, girls' softball team, won three games last week to take the lead in the Central Massachusetts Softball League with a record of six wins and one loss.

On Wednesday the Corvettes beat Fort Devens Girls Softball Team, 12 to 3. On Thursday night, at P. A. C. Field, the Corvettes took a doubleheader from the previously undefeated Natick Debs, 5 to 1 and 4 to 0. In the second game, Carol Marshall of the Corvettes gave one hit, walked none and struck out 8.

Paul Zayotti, Of Naval Academy, On Summer Cruise

WAYLAND -- Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Zayotti of 16 Orchard Lane have returned from visiting with their son, Paul, at the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland, during June week.

Following the festivities they saw him embark for his Third Class summer cruise on the U.S. Destroyer J. P. Kennedy. The ships of the squadron will attend the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway, the International Exposition at Chicago and visit ports in the Great Lakes.

Paul was an outstanding basketball player at Wayland High School a few years ago.

WESTON -- Rev. and Mrs. Philip S. Krug of St. Peter's Church announce the birth of an 8-pound son, Corbin Eliot, on June 12 at Mt. Auburn Hospital, Cambridge.

M.I.T. Graduates

One student from Weston and one from Wayland received degrees at the ninety-third graduation exercises at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology on June 12.

Miss Shirley A. Bentley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bentley of 59 Plain Road, Wayland, was awarded the bachelor of architecture degree.

Frank N. von Hippel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. von Hippel of 265 Glen Road, Weston, received the bachelor of science degree in physics. On the Dean's List for eight terms, he was a member of the Physics Society, Outing Club and the freshman swimming team.

WESTON -- Robert Dana Chellis of 9 Pembroke Road received his A. B. degree from Princeton University at its 212th commencement, June 16.

4 Graduated From Harvard

WESTON — Local students who received degrees from Harvard University on June 11 were Gerald E. Bunker of 110 Ash Street, Daniel Field of 74 Sudbury Road, George C. Matthiessen of 17 Hawthorne Lane and Edward W. Weld of Ash Street.

Bunker and Field each received the degree of A. B., cum laude. Matthiessen received a Ph. D.

6 Northeastern Graduates

Six local men were among the 1900 Northeastern University students who received degrees on June 16.

Wayland:

Vernon L. Heeren, 197 Glezen Lane, master of science in mathematics from the graduate division of the College of Engineering.

Roger A. Backman, 7 East Road, and Dominic Ferrante, 68 Rice Road, both bachelor of business administration in engineering and management from the Evening School of Business.

Ernest I. Fox, with honor, Cole Road, associate in engineering (electronic) from the Lincoln Institute.

Weston:

William N. Bogle, with honor, 285 Winter Street, bachelor of science in electrical engineering from the College of Engineering.

David J. Martin, 168 Summer Street, bachelor of arts from the College of Liberal Arts.

WAYLAND — Army Pfc. Anthony P. MacDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald C. MacDonald of Maguire Road, recently completed an 11-week course in the maintenance of the Nike-Hercules missile fire-control system and associated radar equipment at the Air Defense School in Fort Bliss, Texas. A graduate of Wayland High School, he had been employed at Perodeau's Food Store in Cohasset before joining the Army in May, 1958.

WESTON — Mrs. Franksford G. Sumner of Silver Hill Road and Mrs. Miriam Carter Smith of Fort Lauderdale, Florida, formerly of Waltham, attended the 50th reunion of the class of '09, Sargent College, at the new building on Storow Drive.

Mrs. Smith is visiting her sister, Mrs. Charles T. Morgan, in Wayland.

PRIZE WINNERS

Among prize winners at the Natick Art Association's Festival this year are Adah Wagner, Weston, 3d prize, for "Lincoln Hill"; citations, Marjorie Furrer of Wayland, "Sun and Mist", and Mary Haigh, Wayland, "The Proverbial Bowl", and children's awards, Joanne Van Wart, Wayland, "Lost Circus Train", and Edward Haigh, Wayland, "Portrait".

Local Young People Going To Europe In "Experiment"

Four local young people, two from Wayland and two from Weston, are going abroad this Summer under the auspices of The Experiment in International Living.

Miss M. Barry Blackwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Blackwell of 337 Winter Street, Weston, will go to France, sailing on June 19 from Montreal.

Eric R. Elliston, son of Dr. and Mrs. William A. Elliston of 263 South Avenue, Weston, will visit Austria, sailing from New York on July 2.

Ann Donham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Donham of 74 Glezen Lane, Wayland, will visit Great Britain, sailing on July 2, from New York.

Brooke Gregory, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Gregory of 19 Concord Road, Wayland, will visit Switzerland, sailing on June 30 from New York.

WESTON — A Weston man who received a Bachelor of Arts degree at Bowdoin College's 154th Commencement exercises was Peter S. Morton, graduate of Weston High School, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace P. Morton of 72 Chestnut Street. A member of Psi Upsilon fraternity, he majored in economics and was active in freshman tennis. He was enrolled in the Reserve Officers Training Corps at the College and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army Reserve at special exercises.

WAYLAND — John Haywood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Haywood of Training Field Road, was graduated from Ohio University at Athens, Ohio, with honors, on June 7. His parents made the trip to attend the commencement exercises. Another son, Bill, halfback on last year's Wayland High football team, was graduated from Wayland High this month.

WAYLAND — Mr. Robert T. Lavin, son of Mr. Francis J. Lavin of Old Connecticut Path, was graduated from the Stockbridge School of Agriculture at the University of Massachusetts on May 31.

Mr. Lavin, who was president of the Stockbridge Student Senate, plans to continue his studies at the University.

COCHITUATE — Joan E. Cahill of 11 Fairfield Road received a degree of A. B. in history at the Regis College commencement on June 14. She has won an assistantship in history at Boston College for graduate study. She is a member of Pi Gamma Mu, national social science society, and she maintained a B average for four years.

WAYLAND — Mrs. Edward R. Lembo of 374 East Commonwealth Road won third prize for her painting, "Morning and Sunlight," at the fourth annual Art Show of the Framingham Artists Guild held at the Shoppers World galleries from June 6 through June 13. More than 100 paintings were entered for the awards.

WESTON — Miss Elizabeth Ann Frye, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Frye of 38 Golden Ball Road, was recently elected president of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority at Boston University.

A Junior at the University's School of Music, Miss Frye was chairman and director of the Chorus of the Greek World Sing and was co-chairman of the Greek Week and Ball. She has also recently been appointed marshall of the Alpha Province of K.K.G. Convention.

WAYLAND — Eileen V. Bresse of 151 Pelham Island Road was an usher at the Northeastern University commencement reception.

WESTON — Miss Gail S. Etheridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ryan, 208 Boston Post Road and Miss Jane Wells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald D. Wells, 4 Leglon Road, recently were awarded the degree of bachelor of science in education by Wheelock College.

WESTON — A graduate of Kents Hill School this year is William H. Hulsman Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Hulsman of 129 Ridgeway Road.

Judy Emmons Crowned Queen At Biggest June Festival

Miss Linda Cherry, who was the 1958 Festival Queen, left, sets this year's crown on the head of Judy Emmons.

(McCann Photo)

WAYLAND -- The 10th annual Strawberry Festival was blessed with perfect June weather, following 9 dismal days of chill and rain, as all previous records for attendance and income were smashed beyond recognition.

R. A. Andreotti Will Be Junior High Principal

WAYLAND -- Robert A. Andreotti, for the past four years teacher of mathematics and other subjects in the Junior High School, has been elected principal of the Wayland Junior High School, which is gradually to be divorced, during 1959-1960, from the Senior High School. This is in preparation for the opening of the new Senior High School on Old Connecticut Path, scheduled for September of 1960.

2 Weston Study Committees

WESTON -- The Selectmen report, in a letter sent to all the townspeople, the appointment of two committees, one to study whether another fire station is needed on the south side of town and the other to study the problem posed by lack of a meeting place large enough to hold all voters who might wish to attend a town meeting.

The fire station committee includes William R. Dewey Jr., chairman; Charles H. Abbott, Eugene O. Hanson, Frederic S. Mann and Robert A. Weaver.

The chairman of the other committee is Richard H. Field and the members are Raymond W. Coburn, Robert H. Marden, Mrs. Eleanor B. Speare and Mrs. Pauline P. Trumbull.

The letter is signed by Edward M. Dickson, Douglas Mercer and Edward R. Langenbach, Selectmen.

The Car Wouldn't Go

A local business man who retails various merchandise, including gasoline, went into Boston the other day to attend a wedding reception.

He drove up to the front door of a Boston hotel and plopped his automobile wouldn't go any more. He was out of gas.

WESTON -- Several deer have been seen in town recently.

Mrs. Campbell Honored At Assembly

COCHITUATE -- Mrs. Jane Campbell, second grade teacher at Cochituate School, who has taught in the Wayland school system for 43 years, was honored at a special assembly of the whole school on June 19, the last day of classes.

Mrs. Campbell is retiring this year. Her entire teaching career, including two years in Sudbury, covers 45 years.

Margaret Bigwood and Kathy Smith, two fifth graders, gave Mrs. Campbell a gift on behalf of all the pupils, and two little girls from Mrs. Campbell's second grade made her a special gift from the class.

Mrs. Campbell is the wife of Ronald S. Campbell of 25 Mitchell Street, who was for many years a member of the Board of Highway Commissioners in Wayland.

Rain Halted The Digging

WAYLAND -- Archaeology at Mansion Inn came to almost a complete stop last week, on account of the nine-day rain, but Frederick Johnson, curator of the Peabody Museum at Andover, said digging would be resumed as soon as possible.

Meanwhile, Wayland police officers were maintaining a 24-hour guard at the place, and no intruders were on the premises. The bulldozer had scraped off some of the crust, so the experts could see where they might start, but as of the evening of June 22, Mr. Johnson said there was just nothing new to report.

Mrs. Mabel S. Draper, curator of the Wayland Historical Society, received a contribution from two local boys. She writes:

"Twenty-six enthusiastic fifth graders from the Happy Hollow School, along with their teacher, Mrs. Eva Gately, and four parents, spent Wednesday morning (June 17) at the Heard House.

"Two members of the group, Robin Eddy and Billy White, brought carefully mounted specimens of their diggings at the Mansion Inn site. These are on loan to the Historical Society for an indefinite period and will be shown to all visitors."

Baseball Team Eats Steak

WAYLAND -- A steak dinner at the Wayside Inn on June 16 helped the Wayland baseball squad and Coach "Buzz" Bowers to forget some of their disappointment at losing the final game of the Eastern Mass. Tournament.

Mr. Reed Gerald, proprietor of Gerald's News Agency on East Main Street, was responsible for the tribute, figuring that the boys deserved the recognition whether they came home with the championship or not. Other local fans who helped to sponsor the dinner were of the same opinion.

Planning Weston Night

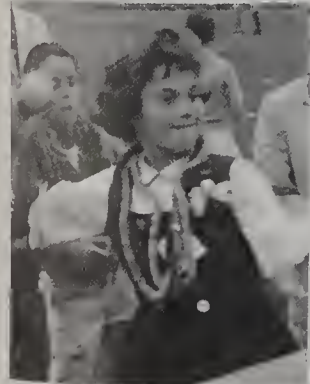

WESTON -- A group of Weston women, above, met recently to plan Weston Night at the Carousel Theatre, June 24, to raise money for the swimming pool fund of the Children's Unit of the Metropolitan State Hospital in Waltham. Left to right: Mrs. Robert G. Crockett, Mrs. Gerard DeNapoli, Mrs. Dudley B. Hartung, Mrs. Owen C. Howe Jr., Mrs. Ellsworth B. Lawrence, Mrs. Frederick C. Talbot, Mrs. Paul B. Sargent and Mrs. E. until July 1, when the subscription price of the Crier goes up to a flat $4 a year. Many have already taken advantage of the chance to get the Crier for the next year or two at the old rates. In fact, the treasurer says he's hurting. He hopes nobody else will subscribe at the old rate, because he likes $4 checks better than the $3 kind. But the offer stands. The Crier management is crazy about its subscribers, so many of whom have signed up recently that the printing order has had to be increased three times in the past six months.

P.S. More and more business men are becoming aware of the value of Crier advertising, too.

Letters to the EDITOR

Who Was The Man?

To whom it may concern:

I recently met a woman named Mrs. Madeleine Loeffler whose husband fell dead at the wheel on coastal route 1, California, 5 years ago. They were driving south when the accident occurred. A young man in his early twenties was most helpful to her. He came from Cochituate. He was heading north when the accident occurred, but realized that Mrs. Loeffler was in a state of shock. He drove her home to Cheviot Hills, Cal., called her doctor and left. She never discovered his name but has always remembered him. Who is he?

Kindly reply:

Mrs. Walter H. Trumbull Jr.
1923 LaMesa Drive

Bridge-Raising Closes Road

WESTON -- Merriam Street was closed to traffic on June 22 and will remain closed for a few more days to permit the raising of the bridge over the Boston and Maine's Fitchburg Division tracks at Silver Hill. The Railroad, which is hauling trailer trucks on its cars, finds it needs more clearance under the bridge.

Craig Jameson Named V.P. Of Dartmouth Outing Club

WAYLAND -- Mr. Craig Eugene
Jameson, son of Mr. and Mrs.
Charles R. Jameson of 124 Plain Road, has been elected vice-president of the Dartmouth College Outing Club. He is also president of the Boxing Club, a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity and a cadet in the Army ROTC program.

Mr. Jameson, who is majoring in philosophy at Dartmouth, is a former resident of Weston and was graduated from Weston High School in 1956 with first honors.

There Was Upstase In The Photonik Last Week

Gremlins got into the June 18 issue of the Crier and fouled things up.

In the first place, the fact that Mrs. Harold Belles, president of the Wayland Woman's Club, presented Woman's Club scholarships to Ursula Riley and Brooke Gregory of the Wayland High School graduating class, was omitted.

In the next place, Miss Riley's name failed to appear under her picture.

Besides that, the picture of Richard W. Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman E. Taylor of Wayland, who was graduated from Tufts Medical School, appeared twice, once where it belonged and once where there should have been a picture of Richard L. O'Toole, son of Mrs. Austin O'Toole of 119 Park Road, Weston, who was graduated from Franklin Technical Institute with the degree of Associate in Mechanical Engineering Technology.

In accordance with its fixed policy, the Crier blames all these mistakes on the printer, and regrets the injustice done to Miss Riley, Mr. Gregory and Mr.
O'Toole. Dr. Taylor seems to have come out all right.

Everybody Pretends To Go Away, But Some Hide Out

They Lock Up The House,
Stop The Milk And Aestivate In The Playroom

As everybody around here says, "Everybody goes away for the Summer", and like everything else said by everybody, this statement is open to question.

The fact is, it may well be, that very few go away for all Summer, except those who have inherited farm houses in Vermont or have relatives who live at the shore and like to have company. In truth, there are few who prefer to sleep on mattresses stuffed with rocks and strewn with sand, which one is likely to encounter in paid-for quarters at the beach.

What actually happens, it is believed, is that people pull down the shades, stop the milk and retreat to the playroom in the basement for extended periods in the Summer. That's what those playrooms, so-called, are really for. Nobody ever plays in them.

The only reason for going away, in good weather, and leaving what the realtors so aptly describe as a paradise for suburban living, is, naturally, social prestige.

But before spending a lot of money on a commodity so vaguely defined, many of the sensible take other steps.

The essential object is to have gone away, or be supposed to have gone away, and to have returned from somewhere.

It doesn't matter whether one has improved his mind, looks or muscle during the presumed absence. Presumed absence is as good as actual absence and a good deal cheaper. Therefore:

Taking advantage of the July 4 weekend, when a good many others are also engaged in this sly maneuver, the wise resident goes to stores 10 miles away, where he won't be recognized, and lays in supplies for three or four weeks.

Then he comes home and packs the provisions away. He puts the automobile in the garage and locks the garage door. He puts away all the garden tools. His wife pulls down the shades and drapes old towels or something over the living room furniture.

After that, they put on their oldest clothes, which around here are old indeed, go down to the playroom, kick off their shoes and prepare to aestivate, a $2 word meaning to hibernate in Summer.

The telephone, of course, they take off the hook. Gas and electricity they leave on, because they're not giveaways.

For the coat of tan with which they are supposed to return, they may use a sun lamp or, if their premises are sufficiently secluded, they may sneak out into the back yard at intervals.

For fresh air they may sit out in the darkness of night, when the air is the same stuff that's around in the day time.

This kind of vacation gets them away from the people they know, which is half the battle, without putting them in contact with new people they won't like any better.

In this leisure, they may even read books, a radical pursuit not generally thought of during the Winter.

Part of the scheme is letting the grass go uncut. Indeed, it's the crowning touch. Nobody is going to drop in for a visit at a house where the lawn is like a hay field. The tall grass proves the people are away.

Reappearing is easy. They just put empty bags in the car, drive out of town at 4 a.m., have a leisurely breakfast, then drive back, park in the drive and make a big production out of unloading the luggage, as the neighbors watch. With this performance, and a few subsequent lies, they've been away, and it hasn't cost much of anything.

It's surprising, they say, how many are doing it. . . D.B.W.

Attended Girls State

WESTON -- Karen Beamish, above, of Ripley Lane, attended Girls State at Bridgewater for a week as a representative of Weston High School. She was elected moderator of the town of Justice, was on a campaign committee, received a prize for highest point total in the town of Justice and won another prize for activity in a band.

"Tomatoes" Grew Overnight

COCHITUATE -- Alfred J. Perodeau, the Luther Burbank of West Plain Street, is telling about the gardening adventure of a neighbor newly arrived in this suburban area from the Bronx, where there is no local-type dirt for grown men to dig in.

This new resident prepared a piece of ground and put in some tomato plants.

Overnight some joker hung the tomato plants with small Japanese lanterns. And next day their owner proclaimed that he already had tomatoes growing.

Of course, some people from Boston, who should know better, drive out from the city until they reach Old Connecticut Path and Mainstone Farm. Then they stop and tell their children:

"Look! Those are cows . . . I think."

Among city folks moving out to this region are those who don't realize that the processes of Nature are slow out here, where it takes 16 months to make a year: 14 months of Winter and two of Summer.

Mr. Donald J. Clifford, son of Dr. and Mrs. Stewart H. Clifford of Doublet Hill Road, Weston, and Mr. James J. Doty, son of Mrs. Augustus F. Doty of Glezen Lane, Wayland, were among the recipients of Bachelor of Arts degrees at the Harvard University commencement exercises on June 11.

WESTON -- Don N. Weber of 352 Winter Street, was among the 4,157 students in the 1959 graduating class of Indiana University.

WAYLAND -- John W. Handrahan of 23 Lake Road attended the 44th annual convention of Kiwanis International at Dallas, Texas, June 14 - 18.

WESTON -- Mr. Robert L. Harnish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor C. Harnish of 327 Boston Post Road, received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Trinity College.

It Was Worse Last Year

Local residents and, particularly, mothers of small children who have been convinced that the recent seven-day rainy spell was the longest period of dreary weather in remembered history, should take a look at the Lake Cochituate Weather Station's chart for last May. Only last year, another seven-day stretch of showers piled up just as much annoyance and frustration and slightly more total precipitation.

The station recorded only 2.22 inches of rain for this June's dismal days as against 2.38 inches for those of May 2nd to 9, 1958.

WAYLAND -- Reverend Joseph E. Manton, C.S.S.R., of the Mission Church in Roxbury, was the guest speaker at the annual communion breakfast sponsored by the St. Zepherin's Catholic Women's Club on June 21 at the New Meadows in Framingham. Father Manton is heard over Station WHDH every Wednesday morning at 9 conducting the Novena of Our Lady of Perpetual Help.

WAYLAND--Arnold J. Bradford of 49 High Rock Road has enrolled in the 45th annual summer school at Wheaton college (Illinois) for the inter-session period of two weeks and the first term. He is taking special study in the area of Bible and philosophy.

Some Vacancies Still In July Adventure Program

WAYLAND -- The Junior Town House, sponsor of the "July Adventure" Summer program, announces that a few more children can be accepted before the enrollment reaches its official limit of 100. Mrs. Howard C. Weeks of Woodridge Road is in charge of registrations and may be called at EL 8-4526 before the sessions open on Monday, June 29. Registrations will also be accepted through the morning of July 29, from 9 to 12 at the Happy Hollow School, if the enrollment is not complete by that time.

All Wayland children who have been in grades 1 through 6 during the past year are eligible to attend and may register either for the entire six weeks period or for periods of two or four weeks. The cost is $3 per week and includes insurance and mid-morning refreshments.

The program, which specializes in Summer fun as well as new and creative experiences, will be held every Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning at the Happy Hollow School from June 29 through August 7.

In charge of the various "Adventure" activities are the following staff members: Mr. Stephen Durkee, director, in charge of arts, crafts, and painting, assisted by Mrs. Christos Stergis, Mrs. Mitchell Hoenig and Miss Joy Kerr; Mrs. Allen Barker, instructor in dancing; Edward Marsh, in charge of outdoor sports; Mrs. Robert Greenberg, instructor in creative dramatics; and Miss Priscilla Bock, in charge of the natural science program, assisted by Miss Lynda Clausen.

Red Buttons At Carousel

Red Buttons, star of TV and motion pictures, has been signed to play the lead in "Finian's Rainbow", gay musical comedy which will hold forth for two weeks at the Carousel Music Tent Theatre, Framingham, commencing July 6.

"Finian's Rainbow" will be the second of seven productions at Carousel Theatre, Framingham, which opened with Genevieve, the sprightly star of TV, in "Can Can" on Monday, June 22.

WESTON -- Two Girl scouts from Weston, Harriet Hartwell and Susan Stantial, will go to the big Girl Scout camp at Colorado Springs this Summer as part of the Watarwes Patrol, leaving Newtonville railroad station at 2:10 p.m. Tuesday, June 30.

The Patrol also includes girls from Watertown.

The Weston girls will have with them "Say-It" cards of convenient phrases in Russian, prepared by Senior Mariner Scout Erika Saunders with the help of Mr. Frederick Killebrew, High School Russian teacher. Girls will come to this meeting from many foreign countries.

Gail Graham and Peggy Sloan of Weston, also Senior Girl Scouts, will leave for a camping trip in Canada on July 2, also with girls from Watertown.

WESTON -- The Community League of Weston is planning a series of four world events lectures for the Fall and early Winter. Mrs. L. Sterling McKittrick Jr., chairman for the series, announces that these will be on subjects related to politics, finances, the United Nations and science.

WESTON -- Mr. Frederic A. Crafts Jr., of 426 Boston Post Road, is in charge of reservations for the annual outing of the Middlesex Bar Association which will be held at the Weston Golf Club on July 7 from 1 to 9 p.m.

Weston Methodist Church

WESTON -- The Parish Hall of the Weston Methodist Church was crowded with parents and children for Children's Day exercises on Sunday, June 14.

Under the direction of Mrs. Douglas Nickerson, Kindergarten Superintendent, Mrs. Sumner Viles, Primary Department Superintendent, and Robert Tabors, Youth Superintendent, the various departments presented the program and conducted the service.

Children received plants and gifts from the Commission on Education. Bibles were presented to the 3rd grade class graduating to the Junior Dept.

Announcement was made that classes will be resumed on Sept. 13. The Commission on Education is studying the curriculum to make suggestions for strengthening and improving it. A program of teacher training will be instituted in the fall.

A large number of young people and adult advisors of the Methodist Youth Fellowship attended a weekend planning retreat recently at the MacArthur's summer home in Newfield, Maine.

2 Weston Scouts Are Going To Philmont Ranch, N. M.

WESTON -- Fourteen Boy Scouts under the leadership of Robert McIntosh of Weston, an engineer with the Corps of Army Engineers in Waltham, depart on June 24 for a month's stay at Philmont Scout Ranch, a 123,000 acre ranch in New Mexico.

Among the boys going from Norumbega Council are Peter Sullivan and Robert McIntosh Jr., of Weston. The boys will return from New Mexico on Wednesday, July 22.

Lawrence Ilfeld

WESTON -- Funeral services were held at St. John's Church in Wellesley Hills on June 20 for Mr. Lawrence Ilfeld of 94 Oxbow Road, who died suddenly on June 14 while vacationing in Paris.

Mr. Ilfeld, a native of Albuquerque, New Mexico, attended Phillips Exeter Academy and was graduated cum laude from Harvard College in 1911, having completed his undergraduate course in three years.

A well-known wool merchant, Mr. Ilfeld was a former member of the Executive Committee of the Boston Wool Trade Association as well as a member of The University Club and the Charles River Country Club.

He leaves his wife, the former Mary T. Foristall, and a son, Lawrence, also of Weston.

WESTON -- Mr. John W. Zorn, Director of Summer Session for Emerson College, reports that Miss Janice Wilson of 20 Linden Circle has been accepted as a special summer student at Emerson College. Also accepted are Geraldine Zorn of 23 Longmeadow Road and Barbara Wareham of 43 Pinecroft Road.

Smith - Ferries

Mrs. Charles B. Smith
(Herbert Franklin Lang)

WESTON -- Miss Judith Ann Ferries, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith Ferries of 683 Boston Post Road, was married in an 8 o'clock candlelight service on June 16 to Charles Bryan Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan E. Smith of 39 Byron Road, at St. Peter's Church.

The service was performed by Rev. E. F. Chauncey and Rev. Philip S. Krug. The bride was given in marriage by her father. A reception was held at the Longwood Cricket Club.

The bride wore a Renaissance gown of white Chantilly lace with a fitted bodice and long tapering sleeves. The full skirt extended into a long train. Her full-length scalloped lace veil was held in place by a gold and pearl crown and ended in yards of white illusion. Miss Susan Ferries of Weston was the maid of honor. Her gown of ash green summer taffeta was fashioned with a princess-style sheath and a full overskirt of the same material. Her hat was a flat bow of taffeta with ash green veiling and she carried a cascade bouquet of talisman roses.

The bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Welch of St. Paul, Minn., Miss Susan Jane Smith and Miss Carolyn Bump of Weston, Miss Susanne Katherine Haran of West Hartford, Conn. and Miss Margaret Louise Bryant of Needham. Elizabeth Ferries of Weston was a junior bridesmaid. Their gowns and flowers were like those of the honor attendant.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Ferries wore a lavender silk linen sheath with a small hat of lilacs, and carried pink flowers on her purse. Mrs. Smith, the bridegroom's mother wore a navy blue silk linen sheath trimmed with white lace, and a navy blue veil with matching bows.

The best man was Mr. Charles Michael Bliss of Lincoln. The ushers included Mr. John Charles Ferries of Weston, the bride's twin brother, Mr. Andrew Lex Taylor of Lincoln, Mr. Walter Raleigh Jr., of Darien, Conn., Mr. Charles Wilson Patterson of New Britain, Conn.; Mr. John Leverett Davenport of Riverside, Conn., and Mr. John Zinner of Great Neck, L. I.

The bride was graduated from Smith College this month. The bridegroom was graduated from Amherst College in 1954 and is attending Harvard Medical School. After a wedding trip to Bermuda, they will live in Boston.

HOUSE of SPORTS

831 MAIN ST. WALTHAM
Twinbrook 4-0530
Open Wed., Thurs. & Fri.
Til 9 P.M.

Ginienez beamed approvingly, 1958 Queen Linda Cherry crowned the new Queen to the accompaniment of flashing bulbs and whirring cameras. Presiding was the chairman of the sponsoring organization, the Wayland Junior Town House, Mr. Parmelee C. Hill.

Hundreds of the town's small fry spent hundreds of dollars on the fascinating games featured during the afternoon. But the money goes to provide social and recreational facilities and services for the children of Wayland and Cohasset. The new starting time of 3 p.m. proved so successful that it will undoubtedly be continued.

After the big, beautiful and much relished sun dipped in the west, the air turned deliciously cool — just perfect for square dancing.

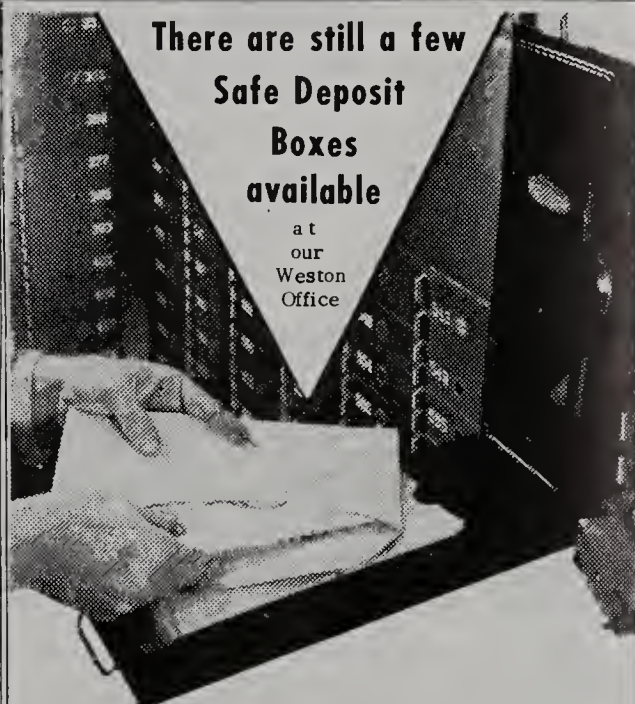

A square dancing exhibition by the Girl Scouts was performed under the direction of Mrs. Charles Bemis. Included were Lee Charlton, Martha Cronin, Stephanie DeSeno, Kathy Dixon, Linda Fifer, Meredith Frye, Janet Gilman, Kathy Juliano, Pamela Kather, Kathy Kariotis, Janice LaPenta, Mary Lynch, Janet Masiello, Ellen McIver, Sarah Mohl, Ann Mosher, Diane Osmond, Theo Parker, Kathy Rogers, Ellen Ross, Donna Shomphe, Gretchen Small, Carol Stewart, Leslie Tarbell, Sally Tarbell and Ellen Zeller.

The balance of the square dancing was very ably called by Wayland's Dick and Beth Best, followed by the "Kuntry Kaller" from Boxford, Joe Perkins. Many commented that they never before saw so many people square dancing at one time.

Some folks were content to stand around scratching their heads in awe of the absolutely perfect weather. Just being able to come out of the house was a treat after a full week of rain and cold. But the color and gaiety of the Festival, the happy dancers, the "country" music carrying across the green and the festive mood of the crowd made for a fabulous June evening that will be long remembered.

At the same time, Superintendent of Schools Edward J. Anderson announces that 6th graders will attend the Junior High School after the divorce. This will add one more grade to the 7th and 8th, which now make up the Junior High.

One reason for this change is the space problem in the elementary schools. Taking the 6th graders out of the elementary schools will make room for 220 younger children.

When the new Senior High is opened it will have 500 pupils in grades 9 through 12. The present High School building and Annex, for grades 6, 7 and 8, will then have 625 pupils, and it will be the largest school in town, in number of pupils.

Whether the 6th grades will remain in the Junior High School is not yet determined, says Mr. Anderson. It's not a usual arrangement, but not unprecedented either. It's the system in Scarsdale, N. Y.

The administrative separation of the two schools will be done gradually during next year, says Mr. Anderson, and is to be completed by June.

Mr. Andreotti was graduated from Worcester State Teachers College and he has a master's degree from the Harvard Graduate School of Education. He has been teaching at Wayland for four years, and his home is in Milford.

King - Hollis

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce V. King

WAYLAND -- St. Ann's Church in Wayland was the scene of the wedding on May 17, of Miss Julia R. Hollis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence D. Hollis of Wayland, to Mr. Bruce V. King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold King of Co-chituate.

A reception followed at the Elks Hall in Framingham.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of chiffon tulle, fashioned with a V-neck-line, short sleeves and a chapel train. The skirt and bodice were decorated with organdy applique's trimmed with sequins and seed pearls. Her veil was of silk illusion and she carried a white lace fan covered with white carnations, stephanotis and blue snap-dragons.

The bride's attendants included Mrs. Vincent H. Harriott of Natick, as matron of honor, Miss Bettylou Morrell of Wayland, Mrs. Carlton Carpenter of Boxboro, Mrs. William Anderson of Waltham and Mrs. Fredrick Gass of Dorchester. They wore gowns of white nylon organza embroidered in pastel colors and sashes to match. They wore white picture hats and carried baskets of colored carnations.

Miss Claudia Campana of Co-chituate, cousin of the groom, was the flower girl. She also wore white nylon organza and carried a basket of carnations and daisies. The late Mr. Vincent H. Harriott Jr. of Natick acted as best man for his cousin.

The ushers included David F. Hollis, brother of the bride, Clyde Kelton of Co-chituate, Billy Lloyd of Natick and Billy Kelley of Co-chituate.

The bride's mother wore pale pink silk organza with deep pink accessories and a corsage of baby pink roses. The groom's mother wore blue silk organza with blue accessories and white roses.

After a trip to Washington, Virginia and Niagara Falls, the couple are living at 203 State Road East, Wayland. Mrs. King was graduated from Wayland High in 1955 and is employed by the Wayland office of the West Newton Savings Bank. Mr. King also was graduated from Wayland High and is manager of Main Street Paint and Supply Co. in Co-chituate.

Mrs. Irwin E. Spalding of Plain Road, Wayland, and Mrs. Sheldon C. Sommers of Doubletree Hill Road, Weston, won awards in the horticultural division of the Flower Show which was co-sponsored by the Garden Club Federation of Massachusetts and the Jordan Marsh Company during the week of June 1 through 6.

WESTON -- Mr. Phillip Wye, principal of Weston Junior High, will leave Weston on June 29 to attend a one-week conference for principals on problems and trends in junior high education. The conference is sponsored by the Connecticut State Department of Education and will be held at the University of Connecticut.

Garden Interest Group

WESTON -- The final lesson of the Arrangers' course for beginners for new members of the Garden Interest Group of The Women's Community League of Weston was held at the Forge, Ridgeway Road, on Wednesday, June 17 at 2:30. Mrs. Henry M. Merrill, Mrs. Frank Lewis, Mrs. George A. Paul, and Mrs. Edward H. Robertson conducted the classes, all members of the Garden Interest Group.

The following members took the course: Mrs. W. A. Gray III, Mrs. Wendell Phillips, Mrs. S. B. Wells, Mrs. K. B. Wolfskill, Mrs. Robert Murkland and Mrs. J. E. Dorsey. Mrs. Murkland's table arrangement was acclaimed winner by public approval.

Mrs. Joseph Antell, Mrs. Carl Bergstedt, Mrs. H. M. Merrill Jr., members of last year's course made arrangements, as did Mrs. Stanley French and Mrs. Donald Wyman. These were on display in the downstairs room of the Forge. Refreshments were served, Mrs. Henry M. Merrill poured.

Daniel H. Coakley Is In Top Insurance Group

WESTON -- Daniel H. Coakley of 56 Doublet Hill Road has been elected to the five-man executive committee of the Million Dollar Round Table of the National Association of Life Underwriters. The Round Table is composed of agents who have sold a million dollars of life insurance in the previous calendar year or are life members through having sold a million a year for three years in a row.

Daniel H. Coakley
(Fabian Bachrach)

In the normal progression, Coakley will become chairman of the Round Table in three years. Coakley is a former attorney who has been a New York Life Insurance Company agent in Boston since 1946. He won his company's highest award - presidency of the Top Club - last year (for 1957 sales) and has been a member of the club continuously since joining the company.

Record In Tennis Matches Weston Women Made A Fine

WESTON -- Final results are in from the Women's Suburban Tennis League matches, and show Weston's two teams to have done well. Outstanding was the B Team, captained by Mrs. Philip Trumbull, with a record of 16 wins against 5 losses, while the A Team, captained by Mrs. Thomas West, won 13 and lost 8. The matches, doubles only, were against teams from Cambridge, Needham, Wellesley, Wellesley Country Club, Lincoln, Winchester and Lexington.

Number One on the A Team were Mrs. Anthony Morse Jr. and Mrs.

Henry Wheeler 3rd. Playing fine tennis all spring they emerged undefeated, as did Mrs. John B. Palne Jr. and Mrs. John Dynes in the Number Two position for the B's. Others playing in these matches, which ended on June 10, include Mrs. West and Mrs. Trumbull, Mrs. S. Denison Palmer, Mrs. Albert Stohman, Mrs. W. Barton Leach, Mrs. Albert Hunt, Mrs. Edward Petrick, Mrs. Waiter Stockmayer, Mrs. William Helm, Mrs. Moulton Kellogg Jr. and Mrs. Richard Alles.

Is It A Cemetery Or Is It So Old It Doesn't Matter?

WAYLAND -- Frank Kilburn, town counsel, reports on the law covering such finds as the one at the Mansion Inn:

A burial place can have its use changed only by an act of the Legislature. In the present case, there would be the question of establishing that the place was indeed a cemetery. If the heirs of the cemetery owners should appear, they might ask to have the burial place left undisturbed. But since this burial place is presumed to be hundreds, if not thousands, of years old, the chance of heirs appearing is to be considered remote.

Cold water isn't stimulating, it's exhausting, causing swimmers to lose energy and tire easily.

Troop 53 Court Of Honor

WESTON -- The final Court of Honor and parents' picnic of Troop 53 was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Leiser on Applecrest Road. With salads provided by the scout mothers and the outdoor grill cooking presided over by the picnic organizer, Mr. Walter Sullivan, 75 scouts, parents, brothers and sisters, greatly enjoyed the feast despite the cold weather.

At a meeting afterwards, the scout fathers planned next year's scout program.

Scoutmaster Marston Boden concluded the presentations by awarding Louis Ulm his sash of the Order of the Arrow. Joel Sabean became the troop's ranking scout as he received his Life award. Star rank was made by Louis Ulm and Peter Sullivan, the troop's senior patrol leader.

Assistant scoutmaster Henri Atkins presented 1st class rank to Kenneth Walker and to Royce Kahler. Advance to 2nd class was achieved by Thomas Hefferman and Thomas Dorrance.

Assistant scoutmaster Donald Sabean announced that the Panther Patrol led by Louis Ulm and Stewart Leach won the inter-patrol contest and will enjoy a Red Sox baseball game as reward. Mr. Sabean then presented the merit badge awards:

Douglas Howe, home repair; William Leiser, home repair; Stewart Leach, cooking; Christopher Packard, first aid; Joel Sabean, cooking, wildlife management, Louis Ulm, firemanship, safety, first aid.

Loker School Musicale

WAYLAND -- Loker School's Little Theatre was the scene of a Matinee Musicale, the culmination of last season's guitar and accordion teaching program at the school. The recital was arranged and conducted by Mr. Vahe Boyajian of the Boyd Studios of Music which carried on the work of instruction on these instruments throughout the school year.

Solos on the guitar were played by Donald Fye who played "Home, Home, Can I Forget Thee," Gale Rooney played "The Waltzing Guitar" and Deborah Freedman played "Waltz". Other soloists were Carl Widdis, playing, "Prayer"; Robert Fye doing "Long, Long Ago" and James Graham, "Little Minuet". There were also several ensemble numbers played by the group.

Miss Carole Iskian played Mozart's Piano Sonata No. 15 in C, 1st movement. Miss Iskian was visiting piano student.

Ross Wilkinson played "Marine's Hymn", "Dolores" and the "Big Parade" on the piano accordion.

Miss Cheryl Lorentzen closed the program with "Melody of Love" and "La Spagnola", also on the accordion.

Driving To West Coast

WAYLAND -- Jeff Bentley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bentley of Plain Road, left by automobile for Los Angeles on June 12, and Tim Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gaston Smith of Parmenter Lane, left a day later, on June 13.

Both young men were accompanied by their sisters. Jeff took along his sister Shirley (Mrs. David Stratton) who had been home for the M.I.T. Commencement exercises at which she was one of 10 co-eds to receive diplomas. Hers was a master's degree in architecture. Mrs. Stratton is en route to San Diego to rejoin her husband, who was recently transferred to the naval base there.

Tim was accompanied on his trip by his younger sister, Nancy, and by Miss Evi Krummel, an Austrian student who has been staying with the Ekhardt Kreidls of Bennett Road while attending Lasell Junior College. Miss Krummel will be visiting friends in San Francisco. Nancy, a junior at Brimmer-May School, just went along for the ride.

Solitude may be good for the soul but swimming alone is dangerous.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY, WESTON

439 Boston Post Road

10:45 a.m. Sunday Service, Sunday school at the same hour. A nursery is available. 8 p.m. Wednesday evening meeting.

How scientific understanding of God gives new inspiration and meaning to life will be a theme presented at Christian Science services Sunday.

Highlighting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Christian Science" is the Golden Text from 1 Peter (1:25): "The word of the Lord endureth for ever. And this is the word which by the gospel is preached unto you."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include: "The time for thinkers has come. Truth, independent of doctrines and time-honored systems, knocks at the portal of humanity" (viii: 13-15).

Among the Bible passages will be this verse from Isaiah (50:4): "The Lord God hath given me the tongue of the learned, that I should know how to speak a word in season to him that is weary; he wakeneth morning by morning, he wakeneth mine ear to hear as he learned."

WESTON -- Miss Elizabeth Hunter, for eight years a teacher of social studies, English and other subjects and a guidance counselor for girls at Weston Junior High School, will leave Weston this Summer with her mother and family to take a position teaching English at the Dunedin-Highland Junior High School in Dunedin, Florida.

Miss Hunter is a graduate of Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia and has done graduate work at Boston University and Clark University. She lives at 6 Cherry Road, Framingham.

Girls State Delegate

WAYLAND--Miss Marion Bova, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Bova of Glezen Lane, returned on June 19 from a week spent as Wayland High's delegate to Girls' State, held at Bridgewater State Teachers' College, full of enthusiasm over the activities and convinced that "anyone who gets a chance to go shouldn't miss it."

It wasn't all relaxation, according to Miss Bova. The first thing that happened to her was to get appointed secretary of her group. This meant sharing a typewriter into the early morning hours to get down large collections of minutes. Then she was appointed Town Clerk of her town, "Freedom," which meant more hours in typing up the Town Budget, Officers' reports, etc.

All 200 girls were assigned to one or another of two national parties and each of them had a job "even if it were Town Dog Catcher." Marion was a teller for the Federalists and both her roommates belonged to the Nationalist Party. Not only do politics make strange bedfellows, Marion found, but the situation "hardly helped create a feeling of togetherness."

There was plenty of "togetherness" in other ways, however, particularly since the girls were not allowed the usual freedom of motion because of the heavy blocks being set up for the capture of the Coyle brothers who were at large in that area. This did make for a certain amount of tension early in the week but after the capture (participated in by the brother of one of the delegates), the business of learning the fundamentals of government went on at a high pace.

Between lectures, campaigning, and mock legislative sessions, there were a number of sports and social activities. Marion, too busy at the typewriter to get a dip in the pool, was a member of the chorus which sang at the Inaugural Ball celebrating the election of officers who were sworn into office by Lt. Governor Murphy.

"It was really hectic," says Marion. "But every minute of it was fun. And I understand a lot more about politics than I did just studying about it in high school."

Golf pros at Weston and Wayland Clubs are among those qualifying for the National P.G.A. Tourney in Minneapolis next month.

Bob Crowley of the Pine Brook Country Club led the group with a score of 139. Jim Browning of the Weston Golf Club scored 145 and Reggie Sauger of the Wayland Golf Club qualified with a score of 147.

Rev. R. K. Jones Is New Minister At Coch. Church

COCHITUATE--The Community Methodist Church in Cochituate announces that the Rev. Robert K. Jones Jr., has been called to be its minister, beginning Aug. 1. Mr. Jones has served during the past 10 years as pastor of the Maynard and Sudbury Methodist Churches. At Sudbury he led the group in building the new educational building and Parish Hall. During his pastorate in Maynard the church was completely remodeled.

Mr. Jones was born in New Hampshire, attended Penacook, N. H., High School, spent two years at Providence Bible Institute in Providence, R. I., was graduated from Waynesburg College in Penn-

Elizabeth R. Parsons

WESTON -- Funeral services were held in St. Peter's Church on July 1 for Elizabeth R. Parsons, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Parsons of 29 Webster Road, who died June 29 at Children's Hospital, Boston, after an illness of several months. Rev. Philip S. Krug officiated.

Miss Parsons was a junior at Weston High School last year, and next year she was to have been editor of the school paper. She was first violinist and concert mistress for the Weston High School orchestra and she also played with the Wellesley Symphony Orchestra and the Boston Youth Symphony. She was born in Newton, but lived most of her life in Weston. She taught in the church school at St. Peter's.

Besides her parents she leaves a sister, Robin, 12, and two brothers, Peter V. K. Parsons, 14, and Tremaine, 8.

St. Ann's Given Land To Build New Rectory

WAYLAND -- Rev. William P. Castles, pastor of St. Ann's Church, announces that a gift of 12 acres of land has been received from Mrs. Frank C. Paine of Old Connecticut Path. The land, to be used as the site of a new rectory, is on Cochituate Road opposite and slightly to the south of the Sandy Burr Golf Club.

Father Castles reports that plans for the actual construction of the rectory are not yet complete.

Museum Gives Up On The Mansion Inn Site — The Evidence Is All Scrambled

WAYLAND -- After a week's digging at the Mansion Inn site, the Peabody Museum representatives came to the conclusion that nothing worth while in the way of Indian or pre-Indian relics remained, and gave up.

Mr. Frederick Johnson, curator, says he doesn't know whether the carbon 14 test will be given to material taken from the burial pits. He says the test is not only expensive but delicate and time-consuming, and there's always the question whether it's worth it. So the police guard was withdrawn from the site, and last weekend the amateur diggers were back on the job, although not in great numbers.

The artifacts found, it appears, have been dispersed widely.

The Wayland Historical Society has a few articles turned in as loans by local children.

The Museum has some objects.

Appley Adams Will Be Airlines Stewardess

Appley Adams

WESTON -- Appley Adams, daughter of Karl Adams Jr. of 28 Byron Road, has recently been accepted for a position as stewardess with American Airlines. She leaves July 8 for a five-week training course at Fort Worth, Texas.

Miss Adams attended the Weston public schools and was graduated from Rogers Hall School in Lowell. She also attended LaSalle Junior College and made her debut at the Weston Golf Club in June, 1957.

Branch Of Waltham Savings Bank Will Open In Weston

WESTON -- Benjamin F. Wood of Foxmeadow Lane, Wayland, president of the Waltham Savings Bank, announces that the bank will open a branch at 432 Boston Post Road, Weston, and another on the Boston Post Road in South Sudbury.

A hearing on the applications for the new branches was held June 25 and Edward A. Counihan 3d, Banking Commissioner, granted permission on June 26.

Mr. Wood says this is the bank's first expansion in its 106 years. The rules provide that the branches must be open within six months, but Mr. Wood expects the only wait will be for fixing up the quarters and engaging help.

"The Board of Trustees," he says, "are happy to bring their various thrift services to these two towns and want to thank those who signed cards or sent letters favoring our establishment of both branches."

New Highland Branch May Be Convenient For Residents Of Wayland And Weston

Marked out in black on the map above are Route 128 and Grove and Washington Streets. As a little study of the map will show, the new Terminal is some distance from the location of Riverside Station on the Boston & Albany Railroad.

Off To Philmont Ranch

WAYLAND -- James Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Granville J. Foster of 27 Old Tavern Road, an Explorer Scout, above, is making the trip to Philmont Scout Ranch at Cimarron, N. M., this Summer.

Armine Avakian Will Be Weston-Rombas Student

WESTON -- Armine Avakian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Arra Steve Avakian of 33 Ledge-wood Road, will be the Weston student to go to Rombas, France, next year, the Weston-Rombas Affiliation Committee has announced.

The Rombas student coming to Weston will be Francoise Freidrich, 17 years old, in whose home Miss Avakian will live during most of her stay in France. Where Miss Freidrich will live in Weston hasn't yet been decided. She is due to arrive soon after Labor Day. Her sponsor says she speaks English well.

Both girls will be in the senior class.

Susan Toner, who has been in Rombas during the past year, is due home at the end of July. And Francette Cilly, who has been here for a year, is scheduled to leave for France on July 30.

The new Highland Branch of the M.T.A., scheduled to be open for passenger service on July 4, brings the Boston rapid transit system many miles nearer to Weston and Wayland than ever before, and may turn out to be popular with local commuters.

The Riverside Terminal is practically at the Newton side of Route 128, and it has a parking lot for 1960 automobiles. Woodland Station, half a mile nearer Boston, at Washington Street, near the Newton-Wellesley Hospital, has space for 350 vehicles.

The running time from Riverside to Park Street, just less than 12 miles, is just less than 35 minutes. Fare is 20 cents from Riverside to Park Street. There is a station named Fenway Park, near the baseball park.

First car leaves Riverside at 5:56 a.m. on week days and the last leaves Park Street for Riverside at 12:10 a.m. Last car leaves Riverside for Boston at 12:05 a.m.

Thus any local resident wanting to go to the city to the theatre or to any evening event could drive a few miles to Riverside, park his automobile and forget about transportation until he got back there again.

For the commuter, the Branch offers a 12-mile ride with 18 (Please turn to page four)

WAYLAND -- Cochituate Scouts pumped gasoline and cleaned windshields all day on June 27 to help raise money to buy a dishwashing machine at Camp Resolute. They worked at Burke's Mobil Station, corner of Main Street and Commonwealth Road, Cochituate, by agreement with the owner, Mr. Andrew Burke.

Adults on hand were Theodore R. Magoun, who went into the streets in Indian costume, as Chief Gold Crow, to bring in customers; Robert Hause, scoutmaster; William E. Irwin, chief sponsor of Scouting in Cochituate; Edward Messom, assistant scoutmaster, and George S. Brown, cubmaster of Pack 1.

The Scouts, who worked in shifts, were Michael Baker, Henry Gilson, Charles Livingston, Stephen Orenstein, Robert Pelletier, Herbert Ames, Ames, William Cummings, Charles Thorne, Mark Widdiss, Allan Brown, Philip Harrington, Herbert Tufts, Donald Williams, William Witzell, Kenneth Goulding, Virgil Griffin, Roger Livingston, Robert Statton and Donald Widdiss.

Profits from gas sales for the day went to the Scout project.

Letters to the EDITOR

About Wayland Housing

To the Editor:

At a social gathering a week or so ago at the home of an acquaintance in Wayland I overheard two matrons discussing a policy which according to them you were sponsoring. From their discussion I could gather few facts, but had the impression that your paper, or you as editor, was urging a more human and logical approach to integrated housing than was quite palatable to these worthy ladies.

Possibly I am mistaken about the specific nature of your program, but the objections raised by the ladies were echoes of so many such sad and inane remarks I'd heard professed in New Orleans, that I could not help but be interested.

I'm a New Yorker by birth, and at present a teacher, but I spent a few years in New Orleans as a reporter on "Catholic Action of the South", a diocesan newspaper which won awards for its courageous stand on social justice. Later I was assistant public relations director at Xavier University, a leading university in New Orleans most of whose students are Negro. I was a member of the Catholic Committee of the South and edited a series of articles on racial justice sponsored by that group.

If this program of yours is aimed at advancing racial harmony and an eventual integration in which the word race may become an issue of no importance, I would like to lend it what support and encouragement I could. I'm not a very good speaker but perhaps I might help by supplying some first hand information you would find of value.

Sincerely yours in Christ,
Frances Dwyer
1212 Washington Street,
Canton, Mass.

The Crier of June 18 carried a news story about the formation in Wayland of a Fair Housing Practices Committee, the announced purpose of which is to "strive to ensure that all people who want to live in Wayland are welcome on an equal basis, and are not subject to discrimination because of race, religion or national origin."

Editor.

Six-Leaf Clover Found

WESTON -- Celia Shneider, 8, and Debbie Shneider, 10, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Shneider of 189 North Avenue, have been finding a number of four-leaf clovers lately, plus some five-leaf clovers and even one six-leaf clover. Mrs. Shneider notes a recent New Yorker magazine piece, which says clover picks up strontium 90 in much greater quantities than the grasses do. Mutations? That Old Cutting Store

WESTON -- Miss Elizabeth Cutting Kenney of 23 Hemlock Road, great granddaughter of the George W. Cutting who kept a famous store in Weston for many years, long ago, says that the building, during almost all of its long life, was on the north side of the Post Road, opposite the Jones House.

A picture of the store was printed in the Crier of May 28, and the caption said it used to stand on the south side of the Post Road.

The fact is, says Miss Kenney, that the store, started by Mr. Cutting in 1833, was on the side where the Town Green now is. When the Green was laid out, some time after World War I, it was moved across the street to a site near the fire station. Something like 10 years later the store went out of business and the building was torn down.

So, while the building was on the south side of the street for a short time, it was on the other side that it spent most of its noted life.

Win Baseball Recognition

WAYLAND -- Four members of the 1959 High School team were given recognition by Boston newspapers in their compilations of the best players of the season from public and private schools.

Bruce Waldman was named second baseman on the Boston

Traveler's Third Team and was also given an honorable mention by the Boston Globe. Ed Johnsen and Bob Page, responsible for some brilliant pitching in the last few weeks, were given honorable mentions by the Traveler. Jerry Whelchel, shortstop and the other half of the effective Waldman-Whelchel keystone combination, received an honorable mention from the Globe.

WAYLAND -- Thomas F. Linnehan Jr., son of Selectman and Mrs. T. F. Linnehan of Millbrook Road, flew to Miami on June 22 to be the guest, for six weeks, in the home of Austin Letson, former resident of Cochituate Road, Wayland. Tom, who will be a junior at Wayland High School in September, will play baseball for a prep league team in Miami.

WAYLAND -- Roger G. Marshall of Marshall Terrace, president of the Marshall Lunch Company of Lexington, is chairman of the Greater Boston Christian Business Men's Committee.

Independence We Have, But We Are Still Downtrodden

Laws Of Gravity And Averages
Still Bind Us And
We Still Have To Wear Clothes

Comes the Fourth of July and here's the Queen of England visiting on this side of the ocean and getting the glad hand in Washington, and it's reminder that even after 183 years we haven't nearly as much independence as we ought to have.

Take taxes. There was that measly little tax on tea which they made so much fuss about. Now we get the Internal Revenue Service and pay checks with stubs so heavy with deductions they'd sink if dropped in the lake, which would be a good place for them.

In place of a little tax on tea, a beverage which a good many wouldn't mind seeing abolished anyway, there's such a tax on booze that a modern character goes broke before he can reach the quiet of a drunkard's grave. Not even George the Third tried to put a tax on rum, and it turned out that he was a mental case.

We need independence from a good many other tyrannies, too. There's the simple old law of gravity, which keeps us from soaring through the air like birds and looking into whinnits' nests from above rather than below, which, as any birdwatcher knows, is a better view.

Then there's the law of diminishing returns. If we could get away from that, there'd be the biggest boom the business world ever knew. Everybody wants one pair of shoes, two are good, three agreeable, . . . but by the time one gets eight pairs he's a bit indifferent to shoes. Suppose everybody could maintain his passion for shoes, hot dogs, gasoline, movie tickets, television sets and diamond rings right up into the high numbers. Why, even the wheat surplus might get eaten up.

And we're still stuck with the law of averages, the one which keeps us from having winning streaks. Without this miserable rule, we could expect to drive like maniacs and get away with it, even if nobody but maniacs get any fun out of driving that way, and without it everybody could expect to marry the right spouse the first try, and we wouldn't need those clumsy expedients which give some several chances at the brass ring. The law of averages is what creates pessimists.

Even the landscape is cluttered with signs which aim at limiting our freedom. They say "Stop", "Go", "Slow Down", "Don't Park", "Don't Throw Rubbish", "Walk", "Wait", "Buy", "Sell", "Think", "Rent", "Fly", "Read", "Eat", "Drink", "Take Pills."

Those who post these signs and those who exhort us this way have a nerve. They wouldn't dare do

Nursing Degree Cum Laude

WAYLAND -- Miss Judy Kay Bressette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Bressetts of 130 Concord Road, was graduated June 8 from the College of Saint Rose in Albany. She received a bachelor of science in nursing degree cum laude. An alumna of St. Mary's High School, St. Albans, Vt., she was active in the campus glee club, sodality and student government, and was a member of the New York State Student Nurses Association. She will continue her clinical training until September. Above, Miss Bressette.

The Middlesex Tuberculosis and Health Association is cooperating with the National Safety Council in warning all parents against indiscriminate use of thin plastic bags in the home.

it if we were really free. We celebrate a little political independence but we're still slaves. Everybody tells us what to do and while of course we don't have to do it unless we agree, nobody wants to be out of step with all the other serfs.

We still endure the tyranny of clothes. Here we are in a dense wilderness from which women in Bermuda shorts and dungarees are ever-so-slowly leading us into the light. Man is still a slave to neckties and suits. Only women dare to wear what they please, part of the time, and everybody still has to wear clothes when he goes swimming, which is about as preposterous an arrangement as ever was thought up, no matter what for. (For sitting on the hot sand, clothes are something else again.)

And, pardon the horrid word, there's that curt order "Don't Spit on the Sidewalk". It's insulting, in the first place, because people of the finer type don't do it anyway. In the second place, it's ridiculous because the law isn't enforced. When was the last time, or the first time, anybody was ever arrested for it?

And in spite of independence, there is still that loophole in the public safety rules which allows irritated wives to acquire firearms.

Where is the new Patrick Henry to carry on the good work and get us some more liberty? --D.B.W.

Fabbri-Giurleo

WESTON--Mr. and Mrs. Stanley A. Fabbri of 44 Chestnut Street announce the engagement of their daughter, Rosemary, to Mr. Daniel John Giurleo of North Great Road, Lincoln.

Miss Fabbri was graduated from Weston High School in 1958 and is employed by the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co. Mr. Giurleo is a graduate of Concord High School and the Rittner's Floral Design School. Recently returned from service in the U. S. Army, he is now engaged in the florist business.

A September wedding is planned.

WESTON -- Peter A. Holland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard P. Holland of 96 Conant Road, arrived at Fort Devens on June 20 for a six-weeks ROTC training course.

He is a graduate of Middlesex School and Dartmouth College.

Wayland Auxiliaries Win The McNeil Trophy Match

WAYLAND — On Sunday, June 28, the Wayland Auxiliary Police won the David McNeil Trophy Match, which is open to all Civilian Defense pistol teams in New England, by defeating a team from Walpole which had won this event for the past several years.

It was generally expected that Walpole would win again but Wayland has enlisted several new men who have developed into "Master Class" shooters. Wayland's team scored as follows:

Robert Hitchcock of Waltham Street, 197; Daniel E. Kennedy Jr. of Nob Hill Road, 197; Arnold Benware of Commonwealth Road, 195, and David Burke of Cochituate Road, 190.

This made a total team score of 779. Walpole's score was 776. Each man fired 20 shots at 25 yards, slow fire. The match was held at Camp Curtis Guild in Reading, where the National Guard troops hold their rifle practice, on Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Teams from all over New England attended, with State Police teams of New York, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Maine and Massachusetts strongly represented.

Of special interest to shooters was the presence of three-time National Champion Hewlett Benner, a member of the Army team.

WAYLAND — Mrs. Keith H. Smith of Pequot Road was a member of the committee working on the June 25th Tour of Houses and Gardens By The Sea, the proceeds from which are for the benefit of the Cohasset Community Center.

Weston Mariners Sail

WESTON — Six members of Crew 5, Weston Mariner Girl Scouts, recently had a three-day cruise in Narragansett Bay and along the Rhode Island shore in the "Starlight", 48-foot auxiliary schooner, with Capt. Clayton Atwood. The girls were accompanied by their Weston skipper, Mrs. Howard G. Rogers. At left, in the picture, is Karin Mueller. At rear, Debbie Wright; front, Anne Jones; then Capt. Atwood, Sue Wright, Edie Wypler and Mariorie Toppan.

Has 8th Birthday Party

WAYLAND — Steven Williams of Old Connecticut Path, son of Mr. Edward J. Williams and the late Mrs. Williams, had a party last week on his 8th birthday, and it was so rainy the party had to be held in the playroom indoors. The guests were Geoffrey Rover, Billy Ames, Deannie Wilson, Timothy Kingsbury, Gordon Ornebeck, John Griffin, Bethy Shannon, Barbara Doerr, Linda Osmond, Linn Shaklik, Cindy Carlisle and Brenda Lamb. That's Steven at the head of the table in the background.

stops, which might become tedious but should offer a chance to read the papers, and should be less tiresome than rush-hour automobile driving.

Although the Riverside Terminal parking lot is only a golf shot from the southeast corner of Weston, it seems walled off by Route 128 and the maze of interchanges at the end of the toll road.

Actually, as the accompanying map, furnished by the M.T.A., shows, the Terminal parking lot should be fairly easy to reach from the west.

The trick seems to be to get to Grove Street, which crosses 128 just beyond Charles River, southbound, just before the Howard Johnson place. A new interchange connecting 128 with Grove Street has been under construction for some weeks.

When it is completed, any Wayland or Weston commuter has only to reach Route 128, go south, then turn and go east on Grove Street. The entrance to the Terminal parking lot is on Grove Street. Residents of the south side of Weston might get on Grove Street without going on 128 at all.

To reach Woodland Station, the commuter has to go south on 128 to Washington Street (route 16), the next interchange after Grove Street, then take Washington past the N-W Hospital to the station.

More Loans To Society

WAYLAND — At the close of school, in response to the request of Mrs. Mabel Draper, curator of the Wayland Historical Society, the following students of the Happy Hollow School loaned their collections of specimens from the Cochituate site of the Indian "diggings", to the Historical Society for display.

William Carr, Richard Howland, John Harris, Patricia Rooney, Allison Pickering and Maureen Dugan. The specimens are obviously of Indian origin and some appear to be pieces of arrow or spear heads.

The Historical Society greatly appreciates the generosity of these Happy Hollow boys and girls, and the pieces, labelled with the donors' names, will be on display at the Heard House until such time as the owners wish to reclaim them.

sylvania and did graduate work in Theology at Boston University. He preached two years in the Pittsburgh, Pa., Conference and was at the Methodist Church in Rockport, Mass. for five years before coming to Maynard. His community activities there included being Chaplain of the Rotary Club, Chairman of the March of Dimes, President and now Secretary-Clerk of the Maynard United Co-op.

Mrs. Jones was born in Waltham and was graduated from Malden High School and Salem Teachers College. She taught in the schools of Rowley and Malden before her marriage. Their children are Kenneth, 13, and Marjorie, 10.

The members and friends of "The Friendly Church with a Future" are looking forward to welcoming their new pastor, who will preach his first sermon on Sunday, Aug. 2.

This church will also have a new Assistant Minister and Youth Director this fall. The Rev. Kent Moorehead of Ferndale, Michigan, will assume his duties on the first Sunday in September. He is a student at Boston University and a graduate of Albion College in Michigan, where he was active in sports. He is a member of the Christian Athletes Association and this summer is doing Educational work for the Department of Evangelism of the Methodist Church in the Southwest. Mr. Moorehead will direct the activities of the Junior and Senior High Fellowships as well as assisting in the morning worship services.

MANSION INN

And members of the Massachusetts Archaeological Society, presumably as individuals, seem to have the bulk of the stuff, barring what local children and older residents may have.

There is a story that one of the archaeologists, when the find was new, took 80 objects from one pit, and that in another pit were 283 articles. There is also a report that a soapstone burial urn, perhaps as big on the bottom as a medium-sized cake tin, with sides four inches tall, was found, broken but with all the fitting pieces still there.

Soapstone, or steatite, it seems, is a comparatively soft rock, which could be shaped by hammering with harder, pointed stones. They say there's an Indian soapstone quarry in Milbury.

The guesses still are that the articles were placed in the pits around 5000 years ago, but there's no telling for sure. The deposits antedate the use of pottery.

The scientists are inclined to gnaw their nails over the whole affair. Had they been able to move in at once, when the site was first discovered, they say, they might have been able to uncover the pits in an orderly fashion and perhaps get them to tell a story about the Indians (presumably) who lived here before the Indians of historic time. But the evidence has been badly scrambled, with the same dirt turned over a dozen times, and while there may be other pits in the vicinity, no new ones have been discovered recently.

Indications are that there was one comparatively large cremation site, and that the individual burial pits were relatively small, perhaps two feet by two feet, dug in the glacial sand. Perhaps they were not buried very deeply, but during the ages there has been an accumulation of soil above the graves. Nobody knows whether the topsoil may have been disturbed when the Mansion was built, and nobody can tell just how much the bulldozers removed recently.

Nilan-Davis

WESTON -- Mr. and Mrs. John Nilan of 211 Meadowbrook Road announce the engagement of their daughter, Jane Elizabeth, to Mr. M. Fletcher Davis of Minneapolis. He is the son of Mrs. C. M. Seeds Davis of Fredericksburg, Virginia, and of Mr. Kenneth Culp Davis of Minneapolis.

Miss Nilan was graduated from Concord Academy and from Mt. Holyoke College. She is now on the staff of the Children's Museum in Boston.

Mr. Davis was graduated from Harvard College in 1958 and is attending the Church Divinity School of the Pacific (Episcopal) in Berkeley, California.

The wedding date is set for August 16.

WESTON -- Miss Margaret Mosher, librarian for over 35 years at the children's room of the Weston Public Library, has recently returned from a six-weeks trip to Europe. Before her departure she was given a morning coffee and presented with an orchid by her co-workers.

Dancing Classes Announced

WAYLAND -- Invitations have been sent to children in Wayland and Cochrane, 5th through 8th grades, for the dancing classes taught by Mr. and Mrs. John Nott on Tuesdays, every other week, beginning in October.

The committee asked for replies by July 4 so that numbers of classes and exact locations can be arranged. They hoped that all who are in these classes in school and are interested would receive invitations.

Replies should be sent to Mrs. Horace Gray, Shaw Drive, Wayland. Others on the committee who will be glad to answer any questions about the dancing classes are: Mrs. Parmelee C. Hill, Mrs. George F. Johnson Jr., Mrs. Dunbar Holmes, Mrs. Bruce F. Kingsbury, Mrs. Frederick G. Perry Jr., Mrs. James W. Richardson and Mrs. Richard W. Foster.

Field-Beecher

WESTON -- Miss Harriet Beecher, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Henry K. Beecher of Canton, was married on June 27 to Mr. Daniel Field, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Field of 74 Sudbury Road, at St. Michael's Episcopal Church in Milton. The Reverend Norman D. Goehring performed the ceremony.

Miss Mary Beecher, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The best man was Mr. Howard Lewis of Philadelphia and the ushers were Mr. Jonathan Beecher, brother of the bride, Mr. Michael Hobson and Mr. Lee Lescaze, both of New York. A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony.

Miss Beecher, a graduate of the Winsor School, is now a senior at Radcliffe College. She made her debut during the 1956-57 season and is a member of the Vincent Club.

Mr. Field prepared for college at Phillips Exeter Academy and was graduated this June from Harvard College where he is a member of the Hasty Pudding - Institute of 1770 and the Phoenix SK Club.

The couple will spend the Summer in Vermont and will then make their home in Cambridge.

Pearson - Carter

WAYLAND -- Miss Stephanie Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harold Carter of River Road, was married at the First Parish Church on June 13 to Mr. Duncan Stewart Pearson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Richardson Pearson of Waipole. Reverend Dr. Donald S. Ewing performed the double-ring ceremony and the wedding music was played by Mr. R. Clifford Orr.

The bride wore her mother's pearls, brought over from Brussels by her father, with a white ballerina gown of alencon lace and silk organza. A pearl coronet fastened her short tulle veil and she carried a bouquet of white daisies, stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Philip G. Pearson of Brunswick, N. J., was matron of honor and Miss Pollyanne Carter, sister of the bride, and Miss Kathleen Rhodes of Montclair, N. J., were bridesmaids.

Mr. Philip G. Pearson, the groom's brother, was best man and the ushers were Mr. Richard Carter of Wayland, brother of the bride, and Mr. Douglas Watson of Walpole.

A reception was held at the Fellowship Hall of the Trinitarian Congregational Church followed by a family supper at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Carter was graduated from Wayland High School in 1954 and from Westbrook Junior College in 1956. She received her A. B. degree from Boston University in 1958 and is now district director for the Greater Lynn Girl Scout Council.

Mr. Pearson was graduated from the University of Maine in 1953 with a B. S. in civil engineering. He is associated with Fay, Spofford, and Thorndike, Inc., in Boston.

Following a wedding trip to Maine, the couple will make their home in the Boston area.

Science Teacher Wins Harvard Science Grant

WAYLAND -- Mr. Robert V. Thurston of Cochrane Road is one of 15 Massachusetts school teachers to receive a grant from the National Science Foundation for a year of advanced science study at Harvard University.

Mr. Thurston, who has been teaching physics, chemistry and natural science at the Wayland High School for the past year, will receive free tuition and a living allowance under the Foundation's program designed to strengthen science and mathematics teaching in secondary schools.

A graduate of Union College in Schenectady, Mr. Thurston received his A.B. degree in 1949 and then took his Master of Education degree from Boston University in 1955. He will study physics at Harvard next year.

Robert F. Stewart Becomes Microwave Sales Engineer

WAYLAND -- Microwave Associates, Inc. announces the appointment of Mr. Robert F. Stewart of 35 Red Barn Road to its sales staff as a microwave sales engineer. Mr. Stewart will specialize in the waveguide component and test equipment products of the firm.

Prior to joining Microwave Associates, he was Assistant to the technical director of General Communication Company where he worked since 1952. Mr. Stewart was also assistant chief engineer with General Communication Company and worked on the design and development of microwave components and systems.

Donald Brayton In Europe

WESTON -- Donald Brayton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Brayton, formerly of 101 Ash Street, who will be a junior at William College in September, is spending the Summer at a job in Neuss Rhein, Germany. He will get through working on Aug. 15 and then travel in Europe until college reopens.

His parents, who lived at 101 Ash Street for 27 years, have moved to 7 Carlton Road, Wellesley 81. 101 Ash Street has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Burton N. Sears, formerly of 177b Boston Post Road.

He received his BSEE degree from Worcester Polytechnic Institute in 1950; was graduated from Babson Institute of Business Administration with honors in 1951, and is pursuing courses for an MBA degree at Boston University.

Young W.S.C.S. Member

WAYLAND -- Kerry Ann Schleicher, infant daughter of Mrs. Herbert E. Schleicher, past president of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Community Methodist Church, will become a member of the Society in a special service to be held at the Worcester District Day at Sterling Camp on July 15. A number of local church members are planning to attend the service.

Recently appointed chairmen of the organization are Mrs. Harrison Ware, who will be the new secretary of missionary education, and Mrs. Harold Taylor, who will be in charge of local church activities.

Dr. Gray Makes Long Tour Of The Scottish Islands

COCHRAN -- Dr. M. Geneva Gray of 4 Lake Road Terrace returned recently from a photographic tour of England, Scotland and Wales, during which she drove 3600 miles, stopping principally at places off the usual tourist route. A particularly enjoyable visit was made to the Western Hebrides, including the islands of Mull, Arran, Staffa, Iona and Skye.

Dr. Gray was entertained at Dunvegan Castle, Isle-of-Skye, the seat of the hereditary chieftain of Clan Macleod. The present chieftain is Dame Flora Macleod, probably the first woman in over 900 years to fill this role.

Warren Homestead Stands On Land Granted By King

The Warren homestead on Newton Street, built in the early 1700s, belongs to Mary Eva Warren, sister of Mrs. George W. Cutting Jr., town treasurer, who lives next door. The Warren land was granted by King Charles II.

"The first John Warren came to Watertown in 1630, aged forty-five; he was admitted freeman in 1631. In 1635 with Abraham Browne, he was appointed to lay out all highways and to see that they were repaired." From 1636 until 1640, he was Selectman of Watertown, the territory including Weston, then the Farmers' Precinct or the West Precinct.

The Warren homestead on Newton Street was a King's Grant issued by Charles II in the 1670s. John Warren who became a resident of the Farmers' Precinct was son of Captain John Warren and was born in Watertown in 1678. When he married Sally Jones of Weston in 1704, he settled here on the King's Grant. He was known both as Ensign and as Deacon John Warren. "At a church meeting of 42 brethren in Weston, 1733, Ensign John Warren was chosen to serve as Deacon in this church who pleaded incapacity, but sometime after accepted." The office of Deacon in the First Parish was not lightly offered nor was it lightly undertaken.

Deacon John Warren died in 1745, leaving John Warren Jr., fifth of the name. "Sole executor of his father's will, and possessor of his father's homestead," John Jr. married Mary Myrick of Weston and their son, Jedediah the sixth generation, was the great grandfather of Mary Eva Warren and her sister, Helen Ellms Warren now Mrs. George W. Cutting Jr., our Town Treasurer. Through their grandfather, Amos, and their father Charles, the sisters are the tenth generation from John Warren who came to Watertown in 1630, with Sir Richard Saltonstall and his company.

Eva went to Weston schools graduating from the High School in 1883, later from Framingham, and began her teaching career in Weston, in District Number III in the northwest part of the town, on

Special Weston Library Plant Committee Named

WESTON -- The Trustees of the Weston Public Library announce the appointment of the Special Library Plant Committee by Mr. Glenn Lempereur, Town Moderator. The purpose of this committee is to study and investigate the plant and facilities of the Public Library.

The Committee consists of Mr. Martin Marshall, Mrs. Harry Corman, Rev. Brendan Connolly, S.J., Mrs. Paul Hare, Mr. Henry DeRusha, Mrs. James Whittenberger and Mr. Courtland Gilmour.

Box Numbers For Wayland Fires Are Sounded No More

WAYLAND -- For the past year and a half, although not everybody has noticed it, no box numbers have been sounded in town for fire alarms. The only audible alarm has been 7-7, to summon call men, when it has been necessary to use the call men.

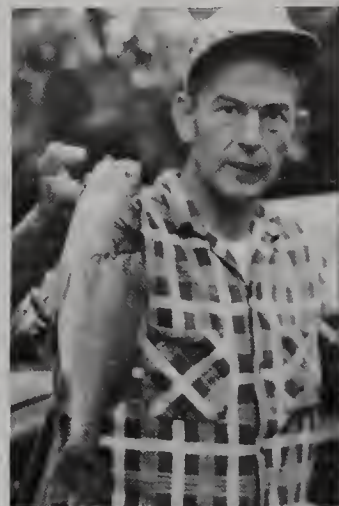

The reason, says, Chief Francis J. Hartin, is that the tappers have been speeded up. Formerly there was an interval of two seconds between blows. This has been reduced to three-quarters of a second. Some of the boxes now have four-digit numbers, so there's a substantial saving of time in reading each call as it comes in.

The air horns can't operate at this speed.

Another effect of this arrangement, says Chief Hartin, is that residents can't tell from the 7-7 signal where the fire is, and thus can't so easily flock to the scene.

This system isn't anything new, he says. Boston hasn't used any audible alarms for years, and the next-door town of Natick has a horn but doesn't use it on ordinary occasions.

Local Men Are Section Chairmen For UF Campaign

Douglas A. Dickey

Henry Wheeler 3d

Douglas A. Dickey of 6 Adams Lane, Wayland, and Henry Wheeler 3d of 29 Winsor Way, Weston, have been appointed section chairmen of the commerce and industry division for 1960.

Mr. Dickey is with the William Underwood Company of Watertown. He is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Controller's Institute. He attended Rutgers University and served in the Navy in World War II. Mr. and Mrs. Dickey have two children.

Mr. Wheeler is a graduate of Phillips Exeter, Harvard and Stanford Law School, and is with the law firm of Hutchins & Wheeler in Boston. He is clerk of the Weston Planning Board and a trustee of the Children's Museum and the Meadowbrook School.

11 Sudbury LWV Members Were In One Small Car

SUDBURY -- The Sudbury League of Women Voters won first prize in the town's July 4 parade, when nine members climbed out of one small foreign automobile, a Morris Minor lent by Crandall Hicks of Wellesley. Two members remained in the trunk compartment, symbolic telephones at their ears. Standing, left, is John Taft, the driver, and in the trunk, left to right, are Carol Clippinger and Sally Schuster. Vokes Players Approve Theatre Expansion Plans

WAYLAND -- Members of Vokes Players, Inc., approved plans for expansion of their theatre on the Boston Post Road at a special meeting on June 30.

Construction is expected to get underway shortly and should be completed in time for the Fall production.

The expansion plans call for building an addition at the back of the theatre which will serve to enlarge both the floor and balcony of the auditorium. The inner staircase and lobby will be relocated and the center aisle between the first floor seats will be eliminated. An extra row of seats will be added to the balcony and two or three rows of raised seats will be added to the rear downstairs.

The total number of seats will not be increased appreciably, probably around 40, from the present 135 to 170 or 175, but the rearrangement of the seating is expected to contribute immensely to improved visibility for the audience.

The Building Committee was authorized to spend up to $3500 on construction with the likelihood that some work will be done by Vokes members who often volunteer their services in maintaining and improving the theatre.

Ward Carter Is President Of Weston Rotary For '60

WESTON -- At the July 2 meeting of the Rotary Club of Weston, J. Ward Carter was installed as president for 1959 - 60, and Rev. Dan H. Fenn as vice president.

Other officers installed were: secretary, Royce C. Kahler; assistant secretary, Paul L. Secord; treasurer, Harold A. Ogilvie; sergeant-at-arms, Stephen L. Colpitts; directors, Harry W. Patterson, Charles J. Precourt and George B. Tomalty.

The new subscription rate for the Town Crier, effective since July 1, 1959, is $4 per year.

Off To Colorado

Local Girl Scouts left on June 30, by New York Central Railroad, for the big round-up in Colorado. Shown above, just before they boarded the train at Newtonville, are, left to right, Susan Stantial and Harriet Hartwell of Weston. Girls from Wayland who boarded the same train at Framingham were Pauline Weiss, Martha Collins and Edie Tarbell. The camera man looked for them, but couldn't locate them in the crowd. (McCann Photo)

Letters to the EDITOR

Cheers For Little League

To the Editor:
Speaking for all the parents of the Red Sox Little League Team, I would publicly like to thank the Triple A Market in Weston for not only whole-heartedly backing little league by sponsoring the team, but also for their personal enthusiasm all during the season.
To Peter, Hank and Bill - thank you!

Again speaking as a mother of a little leaguer and the anxious wife of a manager, I truly can't say enough for the wonderful thrill it is to watch these kids play. Our town should be very proud of the young boys we have. Whether they win or lose, their spirit is unbeatable. I'm sure there are many mothers besides myself who were sorry to see the season end. Many thanks should also go to all the managers of these teams who gave so much of their time and spirit.
They're doing a wonderful job. May little league go on forever!

Sincerely,
Shirley Millen
Weston.

We Look Like Lard, Wish We Had Been Born Brown

That's Why White Folks Knock Themselves Out Trying To Get Tanned By The Sun

Come Summer and a good many persons set out to acquire coats of tan, and this puts white folks in both the sun light and a funny light.

Some, in a part of the country which shall be nameless, have little to be proud of except whiteness.

Around here, come the first of June, whiteness is considered something to get rid of.

As a matter of fact, the ordinary white body, when not concealed by clothes, looks as though it had just been dug up.

The person making his first appearance of the year at the beach shows arms and legs the color of pure lard. If he's fat, they have the same consistency, too.

This white, unwholesome appearance doesn't signify that the person is any less worthy. In fact, beneath that morgue-style exterior may beat a heart of gold, which has one of the most popular colors. And the face, which is exposed to sun and air the year round, may look as well as it ever does or is ever going to.

The urge to acquire a coat of tan perhaps comes from this realization that skin the color of the underside of a haddock is not particularly attractive.

But nowhere in the words of the greatest philosophers is there any endorsement of the coat of tan. Aristotle doesn't mention it, nor does Freud, and the latter got about as personal as a philosopher can get.

In fact, although sun worship is pretty old, it never became really popular until recently, when it began to be practised under the name of "going to the beach". Having arrived at the beach, the person lies down on a blanket, shuts his eyes and proceeds to bake himself. Being in a hurry to cook brown before people see him, the character gets overdone the first time out, hence sunburn.

Everybody knows better than to get sunburned, but that doesn't stop anybody, any more than does the knowledge of what an extra martini may do to one who hasn't kept himself in drinking condition.

Sunburned red, while painful and obvious, somehow seems to rate higher in the social scale than cold cream white.

What really rates is the kind of golden tan a blonde young girl may acquire. This causes heads to turn and establishes her as queen of the shore until Labor Day.

On older folks, a well set tan tends to produce a leathery look, like that on the underside of a saddle.

An interesting effect is that of brown on a bald head, with white wisps of hair showing up.

Old farmers in the country may be seen at work all covered, wearing overalls and long-sleeved shirts. They just don't care. They've been out in the sun all their lives, and it's no treat to them.

The householder cutting grass on the week-end, however, peels down to shorts and shoes. He still wants that tan, and he has found by experience that he can get just as badly burned in a 10-cent doorway as he can at a $10 beach.

Another character is the one, male or female, who can lie in the sun in a state of suspended animation, like a roast of pork in the stove, while the tanning process goes on.

This ability to lie stockstill is not given to everyone. Some like to talk, to read, to move about. Some, in fact, are physically unable to sit still for more than two minutes at a time. Such as these find pretty irritating those who just lie there, totally divorced, for the time being, from human society.

Anyway, even those who count a white skin as a precious possession, do their best to get it tanned every Summer. Just how much tan is desirable is uncertain. Nobody ever stops trying to get darker. And somehow Nature always stops short of burning white people so brown they couldn't get into the freshman class at Little Rock high school. -- D.B.W.

What's the difference between "trading stamps" and co-op refunds?

Both are a form of discount on goods or services purchased.

Giving "trading stamps" to customers in proportion to their purchases is a common practice among many businesses. When they are redeemed for cash or merchandise at some later time, they reduce earnings of the company.

Co-op refunds are somewhat like discounts except that they are paid at the end of the business year. The percentage of "discount" is set high enough to disburse all the annual surplus funds of the co-op. After these refunds have been made, there are no earnings left.

THE DIFFERENCE THEN, IS THE AMOUNT OF THE DISCOUNT. Co-op refunds are generally much greater, of course, because the co-op is owned by those who buy from it and was organized to give service at cost.

Humphrey--Cusumano

Mrs. Gerald A. Humphrey
(Rosen's Studio)

WAYLAND -- Elizabeth Willard Cusumano, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Cusumano, formerly of Woodridge Road, was married at 11 a.m. on July 4 at the Church of the Ascension, Clearwater, Florida, to Gerald Albert Humphrey, now of the U. S. Marine Corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Humphrey of 30 Dudley Road, Cohituate.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey attended Wayland High School. The bride's family moved to 1414 Sunset Point Road, Clearwater, in August, 1957.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore her mother's gown of antique ivory satin, empire style, with Brussels lace yoke and long court train. Ellen Cusumano, her sister, maid of honor, wore pale yellow chiffon. Debora Lee Cusumano, also a sister, was flower girl. Best man was Jack Stewart.

Following the ceremony there was a luncheon at the Gray Gull Inn, where the wedding cake was served. After a wedding trip to Treasure Island, Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey will be at Quantico, Virginia.

Mr. Humphrey's address is Hq. Co., H & S Bn., BaScol, Marine Corps School, Quantico.

Unless the statistical trend changes, some 800 boats will be lost this summer in explosions and fires.

32 Are Graduated From Dale Carnegie Course

WAYLAND -- A class of 32 students was graduated from the Dale Carnegie Course at Wayland High School on the evening of July 2. This group, made up of residents from Wayland, Natick, Framingham and the surrounding area, successfully completed the 14-week course in effective speaking, human relations and leadership training which started last March 8.

This course was co-sponsored by the Wayland Kiwanis Club in cooperation with the New England Institute in Boston. John W. Handrahan, president of the Wayland Club said, "The Club promoted this course as a civic and educational project in line with the aims of Kiwanis International". The graduates have held a graduation banquet.

By votes of the class members, the following students received the prize awards: Mr. John Sokol of Natick, the impromptu speech champion; Mr. William Connelly of Waltham, the prepared speech champion prize; and Mr. Kenneth Kimball of Framingham the special award for achievement prize. Mr. John Kemper of Wayland was elected class president.

Graduate assistants who conducted the course are Mr. Robert Fleuriot of Caulfield Road, Wayland, and Mr. Frank Bateman of Massachusetts Avenue, Lexington.

Graduating in this class are the following: Walter A. Allen, Alberta Buckingham, Doris Carley, William Casey, Denison Chapman, William Connely, Aaron Cook, John F. Culver, Julie Henges, Evan Hull, Daniel Jameson, John T. Kemper, Kenneth Kimball, Francis Kirby, A. Emily Masiello, Claire M. McManus, Paul Mulvaney, Thomas Myles, James Powers, Marion C. Rich, Benson Rowe, John Ruth, Stephen Saran, William Sharpe, Barrett Smith, John Sokol, Fredrick Swett, Joseph Vincent, Jordan Wasserman, John Wathem, Quentin Wells and Vernon Wynott.

WAYLAND -- Peter S. Viles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Viles of Glezen Lane, has been assigned to the Army ROTC Summer Camp at Fort Knox, Kentucky, for a six-week training course. Mr. Viles is a junior at Norwich University.

Benedict - Sauer

WESTON -- Professor and Mrs. Manson Benedict of 25 Byron Road announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Hannah Benedict, to Mr. Myran Charles Sauer Jr., of Downers Grove, Illinois, son of Mr. and Mrs. Myran C. Sauer of Pittsburg, Pa.

Miss Benedict was graduated in 1958 from Wellesley College where she was a member of Phi Beta Kappa. She expects to receive her master's degree from the University of Wisconsin in the fall.

Mr. Sauer was graduated from the Carnegie Institute of Technology in 1955 and received his Ph.D. degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1958. He is a member of Sigma Xi and a post-doctoral fellow in chemistry at the Argonne National Laboratory in Chicago.

Miss Benedict is now a National Science Foundation Fellow at the University of Wisconsin. Her father is head of the Nuclear Engineering Department at M.I.T. A fall wedding is planned.

WESTON -- Mrs. Loran G. MacLeod of 11 Warren Place returned home recently from a month's trip to Ireland. During her stay, she visited relatives in Dublin and made a tour of the south of Ireland.

WESTON -- Donald Bumpus, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland L. Bumpus of Conant Road, a 1959 graduate of Weston High School, is now serving with the U. S. Air Force, stationed in San Antonio, Texas.

Concord Road. After the first term, she was transferred to the Weston Central Grammar School, but wider fields were awaiting her. Through the years, Eva Warren taught successfully in Waltham, in Newton, and in Somerville, taking time for further study at M.I.T., at Boston University, and at Amherst Agricultural College. When Weston College bought the Merriam Farm, the little district school house where Eva met her first pupils was moved over the meadows to a site nearer the College buildings, and became a reading-room. Thus a landmark was preserved.

At the annual meeting in June of the Alumni Association, Miss Mary Eva Warren, distinguished as the oldest living graduate of the Weston High School was honored with the gift of an engraved gold ring. At present living at the Weston Convalescent Center, Miss Warren thinks that she is the oldest native born resident of Weston.

Edward Phillips Promoted

WESTON -- The promotion of Edward E. Phillips of 502 Glen Road to assistant counsel was announced recently at the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company, where Mr. Phillips has been a member of the company's law department since 1957.

Edward E. Phillips

An alumnus of Amherst College and Harvard Law School, he is a member of the American Bar Association and the Massachusetts Bar Association.

Before his association with the Hancock he was a member of a Worcester law firm.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips, the former Margaret Whitney of Weston, have one son, John.

Troop 1 Honored By Council

WAYLAND -- Troop 1 Boy Scouts were honored by the Algonquin Council on July 1 for their endeavors in raising funds for the dishwashing machine to be installed at the Resolute Scout Reservation in Bolton. The President of the Council commended the local Boy Scouts for their ingenuity and enterprise as well as for the sizable contribution which they made to the Camp's expansion fund.

At the Court of Honor ceremony that evening, Donald Widdiss and William Witzell both received their second class rank and Henry Giffson was awarded merit badges for music and reading.

Other Scouts on hand for the presentation of the Troop 1 contribution were Michael Baker, Charles Livingston, Stephen Orenstein, Robert Pelletier, Herbert Ames, William Cummings, Charles Thorne, Mark Widdiss, Allan Brown, Phillip Harrington, Herbert Tufts, Donald Williams, Kenneth Goulding, Virgil Griffin, Roger Livingston, and Robert Stratton.

The Troop 1 donation, equalling almost 10% of the total needed for the dishwasher fund, was earned through various projects, the most recent being the volunteer "gas-pumping day" held at Burke's Mobile Station in Cochrane on June 27.

Medaglia - Nardelli

WESTON -- Miss Catherine Louise Nardelli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Saverio Nardelli of 31 Chiltern Road, was married on June 13 to Ensign Anthony Joseph Medaglia Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Medaglia of New-on Upper Falls. The wedding, at the Church of St. Ignatius of Loyola in Chestnut Hill, was followed by a garden reception at the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. Robert Collins was matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Alexandra Nardelli, Miss Elizabeth Todino, Miss Anne Medaglia, and Mrs. Joseph Farina.

Miss Karen Nardone was flower girl and James Medaglia was the ringbearer.

Mr. Joseph Ferrucci was the best man and the ushers were Mr. Richard Lucier, Mr. John Womack, Mr. Donald Kenney, Mr. David Jones, Mr. Robert Collins, Mr. John Farina, Mr. Robert Schwartz, and Mr. Joseph Dardeno.

Miss Nardelli was graduated from the Academie Moderne and the Modern School of Fashion. Ensign Medaglia, presently serving with the U. S. Navy, was graduated cum laude from Harvard College where he was a member of the Hasty Pudding Institute.

Following a wedding trip to Bermuda, the couple will make their home in Norfolk, Virginia.

Massachusetts residents own almost $16 billion worth of life insurance.

8 p.m. Wednesday evening meeting.

The spiritual power of Christ Jesus' teachings and example will be emphasized Sunday at Christian Science services in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Sacrament."

One of the key statements of Jesus to be read from the Bible is this from John (6:63): "It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing: the words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life."

Correlative citations from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include (25:26-31): "Implicit faith in the Teacher and all the emotional love we can bestow on him, will never alone make us imitators of him. We must go and do likewise, else we are not improving the great blessings which our Master worked and suffered to bestow upon us."

The Golden Text is from II Corinthians (13:14): "The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Ghost, be with you all."

Helen Angelo Wins Science Scholarship At Bryn Mawr

WESTON -- From Bryn Mawr College comes word that Miss Helen Marie Angelo, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Peter Angelo of 49 Newton Street, is one of three winners of Lillia Babbitt Hyde Foundation scholarships in science for freshmen.

The winners were selected from among 44 high school seniors, all registered applicants for admission to Bryn Mawr, who submitted essays in biology, chemistry and physics. Miss Angelo, from Weston High School, wrote a paper on "Gay-Lussac's Law of Combining Volumes".

The Hyde Foundation scholarships were established in 1952 as a means of encouraging young women to enter science and pre-medical studies.

Cookout For Weston Red Sox

WESTON -- On June 30, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Millen, with the help of Mrs. Richard Hosterman, entertained the pennant-winning Red Sox Little League Team with a cook-out at their home. The franks and hamburger were provided by the team's sponsor, the Triple A Market. Jane Hosterman, Elinor Lazzari, Ruth Moller and Ruth Bumpus donated home-made cake, tonic and ice cream.

This is the second year the Red Sox have won the Town's World Series. The players are Eugene Capocia, Eddie De Crosta, David Fay, Seth Heywood, Woody Hoblitzel, Richard Hosterman, Alan Lazzari, Bobby Lazzari, Gary MacLeod, Bobby Millen, Ricky Page, Skip Stritter and Jim Toner. Bat boy is Kenny Moller.

During the season, the team's catcher, Gary MacLeod, hit 4 home runs and Ed De Crosta, 1st baseman hit a grand slam homer in the last game of the series and his last for little league. When a home run is hit on the Sox team, the Triple A donates a steak to the boy who hits it.

Perkins - Small

WESTON -- The engagement of Miss Sally E. Perkins, daughter of Mrs. Edward W. Perkins Jr., and the late Mr. Perkins of 240 Merriam Street, to Mr. Jefferson A. Small, son of Mrs. Dorothea A. Small of Shushan, N. Y., and Mr. Stillman W. Small of Millridge, Maine, has been announced by Miss Perkins' mother.

Mr. Small served for two years with the U. S. Army and is now a senior at the University of New Hampshire, where Miss Perkins is also a senior.

Scholarship Candidate

WESTON -- Richard Wigginton of 152 Newton Street is one of the applicants for the 1959 Boston Jazz Festival Scholarship Awards at the Berklee School of Music in Boston. Richard is a student at Weston High School and has been studying and playing bass and piano locally for the past five years. All finalists will perform at the Boston Jazz Festival to be held at Fenway Park on August 21, 22 and 23 under the co-sponsorship of the Sheraton Corporation of America and George Wein, Director of the Newport Jazz Festival.

WESTON -- The Tappert Agency of the Equitable Life Assurance Society announces the appointment of Sheldon W. Jenkins of 329 Merriam Street as assistant agency manager. Mr. Jenkins is in charge of recruiting and training in the metropolitan Boston area.

R.O.T.C. Cadet At Air Base

Robert S. Rowlings

WESTON -- Robert S. Rowlings, son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Rowlings of 37 School Street, a cadet in the Air Force R.O.T.C. at Tufts University, is undergoing Summer training at Otis Air Force Base.

Rowlings, who completed his junior year in advanced Air Force R.O.T.C., will be flying T-33 jet training planes. Following graduation at Tufts, he will be eligible for commissioning as a second lieutenant in the Air Force and for entry into flight training to win the silver wings of an Air Force pilot or aerial observer.

WAYLAND -- Midway through the "July Adventure" season, the hundred or so "Adventurers" taking part in the program sponsored by the Wayland Junior Town House have already achieved skills in a number of creative activities and nature work.

Because some of the youngsters will be going away on vacation, space will be opened up for a few new registrations during the last three weeks of the "Adventure." Fee for the sessions, which run from 9 to 12 on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings, through August 7, is $3.00 per week. Children who were in grades 1 through 6 last year may be enrolled at the (Please turn to Page 10)

21-day Notice Required On Zoning Board Hearings

WAYLAND -- The Board of Appeals (Zoning) makes the following announcement:

By reason of an amendment of the Massachusetts General Laws relating to requirements for giving notice of Zoning Board hearings, notice of the hearings must be published at least twenty-one days before the hearing, rather than seven days before the hearing as in the past. This new requirement will apply to all applications to the Board of Appeals filed after Monday, July 27.

Cabot Flies Jet Trainer

Dr. Garry To Head Study Of TV School Science Programs

WAYLAND -- Dr. Ralph J. Garry, professor of education at the Boston University School of Education, will direct the research program on the teaching of elementary school science through T.V. which is being made possible by an $82,000 grant to the University from the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare under the provisions of the National Defense Education Act.

Earlier this year, Dr. Garry had designed a possible research program based on natural science TV shows which might be produced by the Massachusetts Audubon Society and the grant was made on the basis of his prospectus. Approximately half of the $82,000 will be used by the Audubon Society to produce the programs and the other half will be used by Dr. Garry and his staff for research and evaluation of the effectiveness of the programs.

Ninety fifth-grade classrooms among those in the state now receiving WGBH-TV Channel 2's in-school television programs will be selected at random as subjects for the research. The 3000 or so children who will be involved will be tested for their response in the areas of achievement, interests, attitudes, and inductive reasoning.

Some of the things Dr. Garry hopes to find out are: how effective educational TV is as an initial stimulus, the effect of TV programs alone and in combination with science-trained teachers, and (Please turn to Page 10)

I. T. & T. Elects William Marx

WAYLAND -- William T. Marx, above, of Three Ponds Road has been named senior vice president, planning and organization and industrial relations, of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation. Mr. Marx has been director of organization planning and employee relations of the Raytheon Company since October, 1957.

"Sugar-On-Snow" Conference

WAYLAND -- Youngsters in the Maguire Road area enjoyed an unusual Fourth of July owing to the imagination of Mrs. James R. Henderson of 16 Maguire Road.

Local small fry were invited to come in costume for a patriotic parade and prizes were awarded for the most original get-ups. Then all of them were treated to a cooling collation of "sugar-on-snow," made of boiled-down maple syrup and buckets of snow which Mrs. Henderson had had the foresight to collect during the winter and store in her freezer for a unique Fourth-of-July celebration.

WESTON -- For a few days, recently, Concord Road had a row of telephone poles down its middle, as the work of widening a section of it neared completion. Photo above, taken from Boston Post Road looking north, shows rebuilt stone wall around the memorial park. (McCann Photo)

Weston Library Study Group Picks Chairman

WESTON -- The committee appointed by the moderator to study the facilities and plant of the Weston Library has organized with Rev. Brendon C. Connolly, chairman, and Mrs. A. Paul Hare, secretary. Other members are Mrs. Harry Corman, Mr. Henry DeRusha, Mr. Courtland Gilmore, Mr. Martin Marshall, and Mrs. James L. Whittenberger.

The committee welcomes ideas from citizens of Weston concerning the facilities and plant of the Library and hopes that citizens will communicate with members.

Part of the committee has attended a symposium on new library buildings at the recently completed Wellesley library. In addition to other reports, a professional study of the Weston Public Library made for the Library Trustees two years ago is being evaluated. An appraisal of the Weston Library is also being made for the Library Study Committee by the Division of Library Extension of the Commonwealth.

Fishing Contest Winner

Mark Brown

WAYLAND -- Mark Brown, aged 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Brown of 19 Park Ridge Road, won a first prize in the Boston Globe's eight annual Family Fishing Contest in the Junior Division of Trout fishermen. His trout, caught in Lake Cochituate, measured 17 1/2 by 8 inches.

Along with other contestants, Mark was scheduled to be entertained at the Globe's Champions' Party in Boston on July 16.

Alcaide - Hulsman

WESTON -- Miss Elizabeth Hulsman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Hulsman of 129 Ridgeway Road, was married to Theodore O. Alcaide, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto A. Alcaide of 206 Waban Avenue, Waban on June 14 at Union Church, Waban.

Mrs. Theodore O. Alcaide

Mrs. James Buffington III of Walpole was her sister's matron of honor. Best man was Ensign George Benway of Newton Center.

The bride wore a fitted bodice gown of Chantilly with cap sleeves, portrait neckline embroidered with sequins, full length, full skirt of nylon net over taffeta and long heirloom veil of Brussels lace.

Mrs. Alcaide is a member of the class of 1960 at Wells College, Aurora, N. Y. The bridegroom is a graduate of Rivers Country Day School and Amherst College, class of 1958.

Following a wedding trip to Puerto Rico, they plan to reside in Boston.

COCHITUATE -- Mrs. Mary LeBlanc of 81 Main Street was one of 38 finalists in contest to guess exact weight of Tempo Tom, a prize-winning Hereford beef steer. The contest, conducted by Henry Thayer Co. of Cambridge, offers a year's supply of meat to the winner. Tempo Tom's weight was 975 pounds.

Letters to the EDITOR

Please Return The Dog

To whom it may concern:

Will the person or persons in a
"bot rod" who were mean enough to steal a 4 1/2 year old boy's mongrel Beagle puppy from the Route 20 end of Highland Street on the night of July 2, 1959, at about 11 - 11:30 p.m. kindly return him. He is of value to no one except a small boy as he is of a mixed breed. You may return him just the way you took him.
We have no desire to know who you are.

Thank you
(Mrs. N. W.) Martha F.
Stockellburg.

T. John Daly

WAYLAND -- Funeral services were held at St. Zepherin's Church on July 9 for Mr. T. John Daly of 18 Lakeshore Drive.

A resident of the town for the past 36 years, Mr. Daly had been the town plumbing inspector for the last five years. He was employed at Wellesley College and was a member of the Master Plumbers Association and business agent for the Independent Maintenance and Service Employees Union of America.

Besides his wife, Florence, Mr.
Daly leaves three sons, Paul F.
and Michael F., both of Cochituate, and John L. of New York City, three daughters, Miss Deborah J.
Daly of Wayland, Mrs. William
Barry of Dorchester, and Mrs.
Joseph Lavash of Wilmington, Del., as well as a sister, Mrs.
Edwin Marston of Wayland, and a brother, Mr. William Daly of Natick.

The state bird of Massachusetts is the Chickadee.

On Naval Cruise To Hawaii

WAYLAND -- Andrew Kerr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kerr of
join his NROTC unit at Long Beach, California, for a five-week naval cruise to Hawaii.

"Andy," a graduate of Wayland
High School and an engineering major at Tufts University, is enrolled in the four-year NROTC program at college. The forthcoming cruise, set to get underway on July 11, is part of the Navy schedule for students who have completed their junior year.

Midshipman Kerr and two fellow shipmates drove out to California taking the direct route but plan to take a leisurely two-weeks on their return East, motoring to various points of scenic and historic interest.

Boy Scout Jamboree

WESTON -- The Norumbega Council, Boy Scouts of America, plans to give every eligible Scout and Explorer an opportunity to enroll for participation in the Fifth National Jamboree which will see 50,000 boys and leaders camping together at Colorado Springs,
Colorado, from July 22 to July 28, 1960.

"Each unit in the council," said
Mr. Albert Hegnauer, of Newton,
Chairman of the Council's Jamboree Committee, "is being sent information about the Jamboree and application forms. We are hopeful that every unit will be represented by at least one member. The National Jamboree is an important part of our 50th anniversary celebration."

WESTON -- A third child, first son, David Mitchell, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert I. Carney of 241 Glen Road on July 3 at the Richardson House, Boston.

At Nursery School Conference

WAYLAND -- Mrs. Wallace H.
Knowlton of East Plain Street, director of the Knowlcroft Nursery School, has returned home from California where she attended a five-day conference of the National Association for Nursery Education at the Statler Hilton Hotel in Los Angeles.

WAYLAND -- John A. White of Rice Spring Lane, has been appointed section chairman of the Commerce and Industry Department for the 1960 United Fund Campaign. He will serve in the large firms employees division.
Mr. White also served in last year's United Fund Campaign.

Cochituate Corvettes Split 2 Doubleheaders

COCHITUATE -- The Cochituate
Motor Corvettes softball team split two doubleheaders last weekend with Class A champions of the District of Columbia and Maryland.

On Friday they won their first game in Washington, D. C. by a score of 3 - 1, but bowed in the nightcap 8 - 0.

Following a four-hour tour of Washington Saturday, the Corvettes dropped the first game in Baltimore 2 - 0, but then went out and shutout the Maryland Class A state champions by the same score.

Seventeen states have two year terms for their governor.

July 4 and 5. Winners of the mixed doubles was the team of
Mrs. Albert Stohlman and Mr.
Robert McCann who defeated Mr. and Mrs. William L. Helm Jr. by a score of 6 - 2, 2 - 6, 6 - 4.

The men's doubles was won by Mr. Robert McCann and Mr. Jack
Crawford. They beat Mr. Hamish
Gravem and Mr. Albert Stohlman.

Medical Head and Family New Weston Residents

WESTON -- New residents are
Dr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Deterling
Jr. and their four sons, Ralph, 5,
William, 3, John, 2, and Paul, 1, who moved to their Dean Street residence in June.

Dr. Deterling, who has won world renown in the field of chest and blood vessel surgery, comes to New England to assume four different medical posts, those of professor and new chairman of the Department of Surgery at Tufts University School of Medicine, surgeon-in-chief of the New England Center Hospital and the Boston Dispensary, and Director of the First Surgical Service at Boston City Hospital.

Formerly director of the Surgical Research Laboratories and associate clinical professor of surgery at Columbia University,
Dr. Deterling was also associate attending surgeon at New York's Presbyterian Hospital where he instituted the revolutionary "open heart" surgery program three years ago.

Dignity Starts Getting Lost From The Day We're Born

It's Harder To Hang On To Than A Red Hot Dime

From the cradle to the grave man seeks security, but more than that, he seeks to preserve his dignity, with results which have led to coining of the phrase, "You can't win".

It starts in childhood, when parents keep on cutting down the child's personality. About the time he thinks he's pretty big and his ego is swelling, Pa or Ma calls him a little monster and maybe pats him in the traditional place with the flat of the hand.

Nobody can be dignified while being spanked.

This sort of thing continues into adolescence and even later. When Junior wants to take the automobile for the evening, there's likely to be a conversation about it, spiced with speculation as to whether he knows enough to slow down when he sees a police cruiser and why didn't he get better marks in school.

Nobody's dignity can stand up against this. It's really why boys and girls leave home.

The elder women of the family are dignity destroyers, too. Sonny boy has grown up and been elected Mayor, but his old grandmother keeps on chatting to company about how cute he was as a baby, and relating some of his more oafish baby pranks. If the voters could hear, Sonny boy would never get elected again.

This dignity is part of the ego, our dearest possession. As long as other people and circumstances permit us to keep on feeling big, we're happy. The minute somebody pokes a small pin hole in our balloon, we suffer.

Among the destroyers of dignity are, with the best of intentions, doctors, nurses and hospitals. What they do to the patient is simply indescribable. It's enough to take all the fun out of being sick.

The simplest little incidents serve to upset our equilibrium. Just running through a traffic light inadvertently and having a traffic officer ask for a look at the license, which happens to be at home at the moment, is enough to ruin a day.

The more prominent the character, the less privacy he has. Let a President have an upset and they broadcast his insides on the radio.

Or take the repair man, who is among the most influential citizens in his day of gadgets.

The fellow at the garage takes a look at the new car, its owner's pride and joy, and says:

"Hmm. Wheels are out of line."

The washing machine fixer takes a look and says, "What you been washing in it, rocks?"

The teller in the bank is also among the enemies of dignity. If money is being deposited, he's all right. He will treat the depositor with respect. But let the character try to withdraw some money, or cash a check, and the teller has to leave the window, consult with a vice president, check with the F.B.I. and run through the fingerprint file. Then he'll come back and, if the customer is lucky, all he'll say is, "How'll you have it, in nickels?"

By far the worst destroyers of man's dignity, of course, are girls and women. Let two girls giggle as a boy walks by, and he's done. They may be giggling because they can't think of any words to say, but he assumes it's because he is considered ridiculous, and he perishes on the spot. A wife, made of sterner stuff, has only to mention to her spouse that he certainly staged a fine performance at the cocktail party yesterday, and he's through for the day.

Some try to get rich, on the theory that affluence enhances and assures dignity, but that won't do it. The tall silk hat is the traditional target for snowballs.

Nor will living a noble and virtuous life guarantee one permanent possession of his dignity. Remember what happened to Lincoln? --- D.B.W.

Robb - Gradeski

WESTON -- Mr. and Mrs. William Robb, formerly of Weston and now of Savannah, Georgia, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Pamela, to Mr. A. John Gradeski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam J. Gradeski of Sandy Pond Road, Lincoln.

An October wedding is planned.

Bourinot-Mc Comiskey

WESTON -- Mr. and Mrs. David Bourinot of 29 Lexington Street, Weston, announce the engagement of their daughter Kathleen (above) to Steve McComiskey, son of Mrs. Helen McComiskey of 32 Lakefield Road, Cochrant. Miss Kathleen is a graduate of Weston High and is employed by B. L. Ogilvie and Sons. He is a graduate of Wayland High and is employed by DeCollibus Motors, Framingham.

Louis A. Bourette

WAYLAND -- Funeral services were held at Gibbs Memorial Funeral Home on July 9 for Mr. Louis A. Bourette of 14 Willard Street, a lifelong resident of the town.

He was a member of the Wayland Auxiliary Police, the Commandery Guard of Natick, and the Crafts Club of Watertown.

Besides his wife, Mary, he leaves a son, Richard L. of Wayland, and a daughter, Mrs. Ralph J. Buliung Jr., of Framingham.

The town of Telephone, Texas, has no telephones.

Twins In Navy Operation

WAYLAND -- Twin brothers, Fred and Gurney Profit, sons of Mrs. Addie Profit of Doran Road, were among the Navy personnel taking part in "Operation Inland Seas," the U. S. naval event celebrating the formal dedication of the St. Lawrence Seaway on June 26. They were with the 28-ship task force which sailed through the Seaway into the Great Lakes in the first mass inland naval movement in modern U. S. history.

The twins, who have been in the Navy only since last February, were graduated from Wayland High School and enlisted together. They received their basic training at Bainbridge, Maryland, and were recently assigned to the new destroyer escort, the flagship "Van Vorhis", where they are serving as radiomen.

Another brother, Ronald, is a specialist fourth class serving with the Quartermaster Corps at Fort Leonard Wood.

Doll Day At Hist. Soc.

WAYLAND -- A capacity audience thoroughly enjoyed the doll day at the Wayland Historical Society recently. Mrs. Victoria L. Fay, assisted by Mrs. Helen Felton, both of Marlboro, told the historical background of dolls. She showed 75 from her large collection; there were dolls made from all sorts of materials, all sizes, shapes and nationalities, some dating back to the 1700s.

Several members of the audience showed their dolls, and one, a rare "stump" doll formerly the property of Mrs. Emma Wellington and now owned by Mrs. Philip Richardson of Sudbury. Others were very old china dolls, a Navajo Indian and an Eskimo doll from Alaska. After the lecture the audience had opportunity to examine the collection and Mrs. Fay answered many questions. Mrs. Bruce Kingsbury and Mrs. Allen Morgan served sherbet punch, cakes and cookies.

WAYLAND -- Scott Carpenter, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood S. Carpenter of Red Barn Road, is recovering at Marlboro Hospital from head injuries received in a two-car collision at Pleasant and Felton Streets, Hudson on July 5. Miss Doris Clark of Hudson, driver of the second car, and Curtis T. Hoffman of Hudson, Carpenter's passenger were not hurt.

WESTON -- Mr. Douglas Nickerson of 199 North Avenue will continue to make his barn available as a receiving station for items to go into Morgan Memorial Goodwill Bags. Although the special drive has ended, the response was so great that Mr. Nickerson plans to use his barn as a permanent station for Goodwill Bag items.

Lincoln's tax rate is $83.

WESTON -- Commander William A. Merdintan of 41 Longmeadow Road, is among 88 members of Patrol Squadron VP-911, Navy Reserve undergoing training at the Naval Air Station in Brunswick, Me.

Weston, Wayland Classed As Evacuation Towns

With Weston's Civil Defense "Disaster Plan" recently approved and Wayland in the process of writing the plan for its town, people are beginning to ask questions about where Civil Defense stands today and what local residents should be expected to know about plans for their protection.

Wayland and Weston are both designated as "evacuation towns." Wayland residents are supposed to evacuate to Stowe and Weston residents to Harvard and Boxboro. These places are called "reception towns." In addition, Weston will use the Elementary School in Sudbury for a disposal point to which key town officials, town records, highway, fire and other such equipment will be removed. Chief Hartin, Civil Defense head for Wayland, recently requested permission from the State to retain Wayland's records, fire and police equipment, etc., in the Town Building instead of removing them to the dispersal point at the Sudbury elementary school as originally designated. Such permission was granted just last week.

Both Chief Hartin and Miss Florence Freeman of the Weston Civil Defense make the point that a good deal of responsibility must still be taken by individual citizens in insuring their own survival. The Weston Civil Defense Committee has a large supply of plans for a variety of home shelters. Literature is available at the Wayland Office of Civil Defense in the Town Building giving details on the effects of fall-out, how to make provisions for the care of water supplies and utilities, and ways in which to make a shelter of a home basement.

At present, the evacuation program is set up for a 3-stage warning system but it is left to the discretion of local officials whether they call for an evacuation or an immediate take-shelter. Evacuation is voluntary in any case.

Neither Wayland nor Weston have been classified as "reception towns" but both Miss Freeman and Chief Hartin state that it is always possible for "refugees" to wind up in either town.

helping people to survive a specific disaster, the most important responsibility for C.D. personnel is to try to survive themselves so that they can be on hand for the important job of getting things operating as fast as possible after any disaster, military or natural.

Miss Freeman says that ordinary civilians can best help by realizing that, regardless of how good a program is set up, survival is really a colossal do-it-yourself operation and that, until post-disaster organization is operating smoothly, most people will have to rely on their own food, clothing, blankets, etc., whether at home or in an evacuation area.

Chief Hartin adds that the constant progress in the weapons field calls for constant changes in the Civil Defense program but that no one can go wrong in providing the best possible shelter protection within the home.

Addressed Accountants

WESTON -- Arthur L. Coburn Jr. of 63 Winsor Way was the principal speaker at the May meeting of the Boston Chapter, National Association of Accountants, held May 13 at the Hotel Bradford in Boston. His topic was "The Investor and Generally Accepted Accounting Principles".

Mr. Coburn has been associated throughout his business career with The First National Bank of Boston and affiliates. He is currently Chairman of the Trust Investment Committee, Vice President of The First National Bank of Boston. He serves also as a Director of Boston Insurance Company and its three affiliated companies, Trustee of the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank and, for more than 20 years, advisor to General Electric Company with respect to its pension trust and other trust funds.

WAYLAND -- Robert Kenyon, who'll be a junior at Wayland High School next year, is one of a group of 14 boys and two counselors spending several weeks this Summer on canoe trips on such Maine rivers as the St. Croix and the Allégash, sleeping in the woods. His brother, Terry, 12, who'll be in the seventh grade, is at Medomak Camp, Washington, Me.

Build Nature Trail

Left to right: Posy Lombard, Mrs. Chester H. Graves, conservation chairman of the Country Garden Club; Keppler Stone, Richard Cutter and Irving C. Keene, faculty advisor to the Biology Club.

WESTON -- The Weston High School Biology Club was busy this Spring making signs to blaze a nature trail around the new elementary school. The trail will be a quarter-mile long. Trees, shrubs, wild flowers, and types of animals found in the area will be named.

It is hoped that the children with their teachers from the elementary and junior high will take advantage of the trail. The Biology Club members as well as the biology classes under the direction of their instructor, Irving C. Keene, have been clearing and marking the trail.

Their project is sponsored by the Country Garden Club, which gave $35 to buy materials.

All Is Not Waste In Post Office Wastebaskets

WAYLAND -- The wastebasket at the Center post office, for years as much of a treasure trove for kiddies as the dump has been for their parents, has recently been providing an unusually fine selection of medical goods and services.

Sample packets of aspirin, dextradrine, anti-angina tablets, and laxative gum, are only part of the loot to be dug out. For tots with a fair degree of reading skill, there is also a kind of pre-medical or pre-psychiatric education which may be gained from the literature.

Courses in how to avoid backache, marital unhappiness, painful ulcers and migraine headaches are to be had in quantity and four-color layouts. With tuition costs rising everyday, it should certainly be reassuring to know that there is still one place where an education can be had for nothing but a few moments' leisure, a complete lack of self-consciousness and a long arm.

WESTON -- A third son, John Trumbull Carr, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carr Jr., of 36 Meadowbrook Road, on June 30 at Wyman House, Cambridge.

Wayland Art In Natick

"Fish Fossil," a fish bone mobile by Roberta Nordbeck of Wayland is held by Mary Haigh of Natick at the Natick Art Association exhibit at the Industrial Park on Route 9, Natick, June 20 to 26. Miss Nordbeck is of the de Cordova Museum, Lincoln.

Recognition Certificate For Leonard Morse Hospital

The Leonard Morse Hospital in Natick has received a certificate of recognition from the American Hospital Association for being one of the 1211 hospitals in the United States to have worked "with devotion to our mutual ideal of service to the public through better hospital care" over a period of more than 25 years.

WESTON -- Mrs. Oliver M. Read of 39 Church Street attended the planning luncheon held at the Harvard Club by the Boston Committee on Alcoholism in preparation for the 10th Annual Conference on Alcoholism held at John Hancock Hall on May 6.

WAYLAND -- The Wayland Kiwanis heard Registrar of Motor Vehicles Clement A. Riley at a joint meeting with the Sudbury Kiwanis at the Wayside Inn, Sudbury, July 14.

pitality Committee of the Women's Community League. Mrs. E. K. Von Mertens and Mrs. William Lamb, co-chairmen for this event, were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Eric Reissner, Dr. and Mrs. James L. Whittenburger, Mrs. David Little, and Mrs. John Chipman Gray. After taking their guests for a walk, the party returned to the Girl Scout House for what was intended to be a cook-out but, because of rain, was moved indoors.

The Girl Scouts in charge of the supper were Nancy Callinan, Janice Cetrone, Harriet Hartwell, Priscilla McFarlin, Jennifer Robbins, Peggy Sloan, Anne Tenneson and Barbara Wyman and their leader, Mrs. Mead Hartwell.

Martens - Patterson

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Martens III

WESTON -- Reception for Mr. and Mrs. George H. Martens III was held at the home of the brides mother following their June 27 marriage at St. Peter's Church. The bride is the former Martha Kirkbride Patterson, daughter of Mrs. Kirkbride Patterson of Skating Pond Road, Weston and Mr. Theodore Patterson of Cambridge. Mr. Martens is son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Martens Jr. of Old Greenwich, Connecticut, formerly of Weston.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white silk taffeta, fashioned with basque bodice, a circlet neckline and short sleeves. The front of her gown was panelled with imported embroidered organdy petals. Her veil was a Belgian lace mantilla. She carried French crescent of white roses and stephanotis.

Attending the bride as bridesmaids were, Miss Anne Alford of Richmond, Va., formerly of Weston; Miss Valerie Hunt of Cambridge, Miss Sandra Martens of Old Greenwich, Conn. and Miss Emily McLeod of Weston.

The best man was Mr. John Coffin of Elko, Nev.

The bride graduated from Chatham Hall, Chatham, Va. and attended Skidmore College. She made her debut in the 1956-57 season and is a provisional member of the Junior League of Boston. Mr. Martens graduated in June from Williams College.

Three Little Kittens Safe

WAYLAND -- Thanks to Christopher Woodcock, aged 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan H. Woodcock of Brackett Road, three blue-eyed baby kittens are receiving excellent attention at the Grace Clifford Cat Home in Brookline instead of being consigned to a watery grave in the Mill Pond.

Young Christopher was walking home along the Pond on Friday afternoon, June 26, when he heard faint meowings coming out of the tree tops. He called his mother and older sister, Ann, and they located a pair of kittens about 40 feet up in an old oak which was leaning over the water. Mrs. Woodcock called the fire department but by the time they had arrived, and "very promptly," one of the kittens had fallen to the ground and the other one had fallen into the water, from which it was rescued.

When the Woodcocks arrived home with the damp, terrified kittens, neighbors suggested that they might be only two of an abandoned litter. A posse was formed and children and adults took off to the pond to search the area for more kittens.

A third kitten was found a little later, covered with mud, in a crevice under the falls. A fourth was finally located, drowned in a paper carton in the water.

The next day, the three fortunate kittens, dried out and looking very pretty, were transported to the luxurious home for cats in Cleveland Circle. Meanwhile, Mill Pond residents are hoping that anyone who wants to dispose of kittens in the future will make use of just such a home or call the Animal Rescue League which runs a regular service in picking up unwanted pets.

WAYLAND -- Their fifth child and third son, Brian Imbert, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon W. Fellows of 19 Oak Street, on June 7 at the Waltham Hospital.

the overall possibilities of this kind of program as a part of the school curriculum.

The study, which will take approximately 16 months to complete, is now in process with Dr. Garry and three assistants working out the research standards. The actual programs will be beamed to the selected fifth-grades during the next school year and the evaluation will be done next summer.

Prof. Garry, who says he has been extremely fortunate on the grant-receiving end lately, received another research grant of $2000 only a few weeks ago from the National Science Foundation. This was to help in the publishing of a doctoral dissertation being made by a Korean graduate student working under Dr. Garry's direction to develop an intelligence test for use in Korean schools.

Local Girl Scouts Get Home

WAYLAND -- On Thursday, July 16, Martha Collins, Edie Tarbell and Pauline Weiss arrived by special train in Framingham, after a ten-day encampment at the Girl Scout Senior Roundup at Colorado Springs, Colorado. There, at the foot of Pikes Peak, 8,500 girls from the United States, its possessions, and 27 foreign countries had an opportunity to acquaint themselves with the customs of the states and countries represented.

Martha Collins and Pauline Weiss were part of the Waynawal patrol, representing Wayland, Natick and Walpole. Two from Wayland, four from Natick and two from Walpole made the patrol of eight. Edie Tarbell went with the Tiolaroh patrol which had one girl from Wayland, three from Natick, two from Walpole, one from Sharon and one from Winthrop.

As part of this international experience, six girls who represented Prince Edward Island, Canada, are visiting in this locality. Eleanor Henry, a Canadian Sea Ranger Scout is staying in Wayland, as a house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Donald K. Tarbell.

As an assistant Camp Director, Mrs. John Simoni of Timber Lane, Cochituate, spent 19 days at the site, in which time, according to her pedometer, she walked 224 miles. Mrs. Simoni said that she and other members of our local council were very proud of the Waynawal Patrol's demonstration which was chosen, after preliminary try-outs to be given in the large arena for the benefit of one of the large sections of the encampment.

WESTON -- Miss Deborah Harnish, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor C. Harnish of 327 Boston Post Road, is attending the six weeks Summer School of French at Northampton School for Girls, Northampton. Last year Miss Harnish was a student at Weston High School.

WAYLAND -- Wayland Red Cross announces pre-school swimming classes at Lake Cochituate for those born in 1954 at 1:30 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays and for those born in 1955 at 2 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays. These classes are for these age groups exclusively.

Newcomers from All Over

WAYLAND -- Of seven new families in town visited recently by the Welcome Wagon, five came from outside New England, from such diverse regions as Mississippi, New Jersey, Illinois (two) and California. One came from Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Howell moved from 326 Highland Street in Weston to 12 Orchard Lane in Wayland.

New Disk Jockey

WESTON -- John Garabedian of 27 Ledge Wood Drive, who was graduated from Weston High School last June, is a weekend disk jockey this Summer at radio station WORC, Worcester, 1310 on the

"Johnny Gardner"

dial. He's on from 6 p.m. Saturday to 1 a.m. Sunday and from 3 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. and from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight on Sunday.

His professional name is "Johnny Gardner". In September he is going to the University of Miami, where he will major in broadcasting. He has already been asked for his autograph.

Cambridge School Graduate

WESTON -- Jonathan B. Skinner, above, a 1959 graduate of the Cambridge School, is among 20 entering freshmen at Carleton College, Minnesota, spending the summer on the Carleton campus, attending a special honors term for pre-freshmen.

He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. David Skinner of 116 Highland Street, West Newton. Both of his parents were graduated from Carleton.

Wayland Dancing Classes

WAYLAND -- The date for acceptances for the Wayland dancing classes, to be held this fall, has been extended from July 4 to Sept. 15, it has been announced. Invitations were sent to all boys and girls in town in the 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th grades. Classes are to be conducted by Mr. and Mrs. John Nott.

Walter P. Gleason Will Be Country School Principal

Walter P. Gleason

WESTON -- Walter P. Gleason, Jr., principal of the Lilja School, Natick, has been elected principal of the Country School, Weston, effective Sept. 1, 1959.

Mr. Gleason is perhaps best known for his leadership in establishing the Science Park at Natick. He has also been active in conservation and nature study movement.

A graduate of Winchester High School and the Holderness School, Plymouth, New Hampshire, Mr. Gleason obtained his bachelor's degree from Boston University. He has a master's degree from COCHITUATE - The heavy rains of July 19 and 20, measured at 3.27 inches at the M.D.C. station in Cochituate, did a bad job of washing sand from the municipal beach into the lake, and the Park Commissioners had to take emergency steps to put the beach back in condition.

Commissioners Frank S. Tarr and Thomas F. Murray went to the beach, and after inspecting the damage, called for a machine to dredge the part of the lake nearest the shore, and for more sand.

Mr. Tarr explains that the beach property, on the east side of the lake, is in a large natural basin. When there is a hard rain, all the water is funneled across the beach into the lake, filling up the bathing space.

Swimming classes at the beach had to be called off on July 21. Not only was the beach gouged, but the water was badly roiled.

Mr. Tarr says this problem not a new one, will continue to arise unless and until a drainage system, involving pipes and road surfacing, is installed. Price tag on such a job, he says, is $16,000.

Up to 8 a.m. on July 21, the M.D.C. reports rainfall for the month at Lake Cochituate amounted to 7.59 inches. In the corresponding period a year ago, it was only 1.57 inches.

This station at Cochituate is the only official measuring place for precipitation and temperature in either Wayland or Weston.

Wayland Police Station To Be Re-opened, With Cells

WAYLAND -- The Wayland Board of Selectmen has announced a reorganization of Fire and Police Department communications. The plan was developed by the cooperative effort of Police Chief Ernest H. Damon and Fire Chief Francis J. Hartin and approved by the Board of Selectmen at a meeting on Monday, July 13.

The Selectmen say:

Under the new arrangement the Police Station will be open 24 hours a day. The Police Department will handle all its own radio communications and emergency calls through men permanently assigned to communications and desk duty. The arrangement will also permit use of the Wayland lockup instead of carrying arrested persons to Framingham, a trip which wasted time and thereby reduced police protection.

The Fire Department will continue to handle all fire alarms, whether received by telephone or from an alarm box, mutual assistance calls from neighboring communities, and also all its own radio communications. Fire Department personnel will be on duty in Station 1 around the clock, seven days a week. The additional coverage is made possible by rearrangements of duty and a small increase in the use of call men on weekends.

The reorganization will not cause any increase in the budgeted costs of operating the Fire and Police Departments and communications system during 1959.

Letters to the EDITOR

About Hit And Run

I am writing this letter in hopes that whoever the "hit and run" driver was who hit and killed my 8-months-old dog on Old Connecticut Path on July 15 about 9 a.m. was seen by another motorist who can tell me who did this despicable thing. Any motorist who will hit a dog and run would do the same thing to a child. It is the law that when you hit a dog you are supposed to stop and see if the dog could be helped by a veterinarian, and if so take the dog there, and if the dog is dead to report it to the police. This motorist should know there is no fine for killing a dog, but there is one for "hit and running."

As a new resident of Cochrane Road I am thoroughly disgusted with the rate of speed cars are allowed to travel. I have watched cars go by my house doing at least 60 or 70 miles an hour and I think it is about time the residents petitioned Chief Damon for a more thorough patrolling of this road and the intersection of Route 126 and Route 27, for instead of dogs being hit, maimed and killed, ultimately it will be one of your children.

Very truly yours,
Edna E. Rubbico

Weston Campership Winners

WESTON -- Three Weston Girl Scouts who have won camperships for this Summer, shown above, left to right, are Mary White, Susan Derby and Susan Murphy. The first has finished grade 6, the second grade 9 and the third grade 7. They go to whatever Girl Scout camps they prefer. They won their camperships for their work in Scouting during the past year. Corvettes In Doubleheader At Cochrane On July 24

COCHRANE -- The Cochrane Motors Corvettes, girls' softball team, now leading the Central Massachusetts A. S. A. Softball League with a record of 10 wins and 1 loss, will play a two-night doubleheader at Cochrane ball park at 6:30 p.m. Friday, July 24, with the Conimicut Indians, Rhode Island state champions.

The Corvettes, sponsored by Cochrane Motors, have played 35 games so far this season and expect to play 60 in all. They have beaten the state champions of Connecticut, New Hampshire, Maryland and District of Columbia.

Earlier this season the Conimicut Indians beat the Corvettes, 10 to 4, and the Corvettes will be out to reverse things on Friday evening. A crowd is expected to attend.

Mrs. Albion Allen

WAYLAND -- Funeral services were held at the Trinitarian-Congregational Church on July 18 for Mrs. Albion (Madeleine McGonigle) Allen of Concord Road. The services were conducted by Rev. George Hodgkins of Auburn who had formerly been minister of the Church.

Mrs. Allen was a member of the Church's Fellowship Club and the Wayland's Woman's Club.

Besides her husband, she leaves her mother, Mrs. Edward McGonigle of Natick; a sister, Mrs. Donald Ide of Old Connecticut Path; and a brother, Mr. Harry McGonigle, of Hopedale.

William Manice Is In U.F. Advanced Gifts

WESTON -- William DeForest Manice Jr. has been appointed to the advance gifts department of the 1960 United Fund Campaign. He will be chairman of trusts & foundations.

Mr. Manice is connected with the insurance firm of Marsh & McLennan, Inc. He is a graduate of St. Mark's School and Yale University. He served with the Naval Reserve from 1941 to 1946.

He is an incorporator of the Provident Institution for Savings, a trustee of the Children's Hospital and a director of the Church Home Society and the Rogerson House, a Red Feather agency which benefits from the United Fund.

He and his wife, Olivia, have two children and live at 92 Orchard Avenue.

Weston beneficiaries of the Fund are the Weston Boy Scouts-Norumbega Council, and the Weston Visiting Nursing Association.

Storm Drawing Takes Prize

WESTON -- Howard Storm Jr., aged 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Storm of 25 Hubbard Road, won a cash prize in the Boston Herald Good Sports Drawing Contest on July 19. His entry was a picture of a sailboat navigating stormy seas. The boat was also named "Stormy."

Local Vacationist Gets A Look At A Dump Down East

Not So Big, It's Still A Real Little Plague Spot
On The Face Of Nature

Travel is broadening, they say, especially by modern means of transportation, around the hips and therefore imagine the delicate emotions of the local character who recently came across a town dump in a little place in Maine.

This was no big dump, like those to which we are accustomed around here, complete with stickers, fences, attendants and small talk.

It was just a wide spot in the road, but it fulfilled the two main requirements of the dump as we know it:

1. It provided a place to bury the past.

2. It thoroughly polluted what would otherwise have been a pretty, or at least a clean, place.

This dump in Maine is on a fairly well kept gravel road, two or three miles, maybe, from any house. It's a two-sided dump, too. On one side of the road and 30 feet down is a pond. The water of the pond looks clean and its further banks are covered with trees. On the other side, there is a swale or meadow, wet and grassy, and behind that again the woods.

A few trees grow up from the dump, their foliage well scorched by fires. The refuse is spilling into the pond, in which the eye notes that dear old mark of civilization, the discarded automobile tire.

Something different is added here, too. Garbage.

To be sure, this is a small dump, but our visitor, even though accustomed to bigger and finer dumps, had to admit that in its way it is a real little plague spot.

Moreover, a little sociological research revealed that in this comparatively remote small town the necessity for a dump has arisen only in the past few years. The backwoods are only now coming to the stage which these suburban towns reached quite a while ago.

In the good old days, Down East, as around here, there wasn't anything to throw away. Lard came in a pail, which would be saved for carrying water or berry picking. Other goods came in wooden boxes which could be burned in the stove. The garbage disposal unit was big and rectangular, with pigs in it.

Although they are surrounded by wood, the people now burn oil for heat and gas for cooking. No stove to burn old boxes in, and in fact, no old boxes. The cardboard carton has arrived even at the uttermost reaches of America, and there is nothing to be done with it except throw it away. Likewise the tin can, the paper package and even the plastic bag.

It's no wonder a child can't get a plastic bag off his head. An honest wrestler has all he can do to remove the bag from 20 cents worth of carrots. Indeed, some say there aren't enough carrots in the world to be worth 20 cents. Anyway, we also have the beer can, the non-returnable bottle, the paper skirt around the cleaned suit, the collection of old automobile registration plates, the accumulation of unwanted mail and the remains of the bamboo-wrapped porch furniture, which ravel like a long stocking in a thicket of fish hooks.

Only thing lacking on the modern dump, here or anywhere, is ashes, once the symbol of departed glory, as in ashes of love. Ashes buried ancient Pompeii, but as long as the oil holds out they'll never bury us. Just let 'em stop burning the dump and America will be covered with Alps of paper cartons and sardine cans. Come to think of it, what good does the paper around a sardine can do? It doesn't help to hold in the fish oil. . . . just imagine trying to hold fish oil in paper. All it does is provide one more piece of trash for the pile.

So in this matter of rubbish the rural towns and the sophisticated suburbs are as one. They find a pretty little valley, preferably with a pool, river or sparkling little stream, and designate it as the place to deposit the disposable. So America comes to be dotted with areas over which the low-flying crow, in his lumbering flight, has to hold his breath.

Sociability is wonderful. But some suggest it might be confined to the coffee or cocktail party, where the anaesthetic makes human society more attractive, and not allowed to run rampant on a rampart of crud. Is there an incinerator salesman in the house? D.B.W.

The bride was given away by her father. Maid of honor was her sister, Miss Rene Marie Haas. One of the bridesmaids was Mrs. Herbert Q. Horne of Pittsburg, Pa., a sister of the groom.

Best man was the groom's father. Among the ushers were Raymond Haas, a brother of the bride, and Mr. Horne, the groom's brother-in-law.

After a wedding trip to Bermuda Mr. and Mrs. Page will make their home in North Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Page went to Wellesley College and Mr. Page to Yale.

Thank You Note

WAYLAND -- Dorothy Ide, Al-bion Allen and Harold McGonigle wish to express a thank-you to all who were so kind and solicitous to them and their family.

WESTON -- Thomas W. Laffin of 246 Merriam Street, has been accepted for admittance to Wentworth Institute, Boston, for the 1959-60 academic year, it has been announced. Laffin, a graduate of Bridgton Academy in North Bridgton, Maine, enrolled in Electronics Engineering.

Mrs. Alice Harrington

WESTON -- Funeral services for Mrs. Alice (Bowers) Harrington of 86 Westland Road, widow of Mr. Webster F. Harrington, were held on July 13 at St. Anne's Church in Lincoln. Reverend Morris R. Robinson officiated and her daughter, Mrs. Ruth I. Wetherbee, also of Weston, played an organ program composed of her mother's favorite hymns.

Well-known throughout New England for her lectures on birds, gardens, and conservation, Mrs. Harrington had for many years been secretary to the State Ornithologist until her retirement in 1947. She was a former secretary of the Mass. State Grange Committee on Conservation and founder of the Boxborough Garden Club.

She leaves a son, Webster F. Harrington, Jr., of Jacksonville Beach, Florida; three daughters, Mrs. Eleanor F. Hayes, Mrs. Thomas P. Dee, and Mrs. Ruth Wetherbee; and a sister, Mrs. Emily B. Lowe of Westland Road, with whom she made her home.

Since July 1 the subscription price of the Crier has been $4 a year.

Country Evening Concert Series Season Preview

WESTON -- A noted concert manager once said that of the three main attractions before the public in the music world today, the most popular, as proved by box-office figures, was the piano. Second was the singer, while a poor third was the violin. Chamber music was mentioned, but only as having no appeal and to be avoided.

In Weston, as evidenced by Country Evening Concert Series records over the past eight years, quite a different order of popularity is to be observed. Easily first have been the chamber music groups. Second has been the piano, with the poor third the singer. No solo violinist has as yet been presented, but during the coming season, in answer to repeated requests, this lack is to be remedied by the Boston recital debut here of Christian Ferras. Labeled the greatest talent to come out of France since Ginette Neveu, Mr. Ferras' appearance here has already aroused interest in local music circles.

Hilde Gueden is to be the singer for this season, and judging by the number of enquiries already received concerning this brilliant Viennese soprano, it looks at this early date as if Weston might reverse its own trend, for so far she is the most popular of the three attractions scheduled. Completing the coming 9th season is pianist Jorge Bolet. Mr. Bolet, who recorded the sound track of the forthcoming film "The Franz Liszt Story", is one of the outstanding keyboard artists of the day and takes his place with Gueden and Ferras in what should be one of the best seasons yet offered in Weston.

WAYLAND -- New residents are Mrs. Julia Tapley and Miss Coralouise Lyford, both fifth-grade teachers, who recently moved into their new home at 389 E. Commonwealth Road. Mrs. Tapley teaches in Weston and Miss Lyford in Newton.

Their residence was formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth J. Johnson who have moved to Waltham.

During the War Mr. Gleason was a pilot in the Army Air Corps and after the war for a time was owner and production manager of the Eastern Timber Products Company in Maine and associated with Carrol Reed Enterprises Inc. in North Conway. Before becoming principal of the Lilja School he was principal of the Conway, New Hampshire, Grammar School.

Mr. Gleason is married and has two boys.

POLICE STATION

also announced that two permanent officers will be added to the police force raising the full complement from five to seven men, excluding communications officers. For about a year 12 part-time police officers shared assignments to the cruisers and traffic duty. The change will improve police protection by substituting full-time personnel selected for permanent duty and trained at the Police School. No additional cost is involved.

Fire and Police communications have been a source of controversy for more than a year. The Selectmen expressed warm appreciation of the cooperation between Chief Hartin and Chief Damon in working out what should prove to be both a lasting solution and an improvement in fire and police protection.

COCHITUATE -- Last Sunday, at a special quarterly conference, the members of the Community Methodist Church of Cochituate voted to purchase a new parsonage at 53 East Plain Street for the use of Rev. Robert E. Jones Jr., who has just been called to serve the church. This will permit the use of part of the present parsonage adjacent to the church for primary church school classes and help to alleviate the badly over-crowded condition of this growing institution.

These buildings will both require some redecoration and the long-range planning church property and parsonage committees are hoping to enlist the services of many volunteers in a "do-it-yourself" program of painting and other maintenance activities.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY, WESTON
439 Boston Post Road
10:45 a.m. Sunday Service. Sunday school at the same hour. A nursery is available. 8 p.m. Wednesday evening meeting.

The effectiveness of healing based on spiritual law will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday in the lesson-Sermon entitled "Truth."

Peter's healing of the "man lame from his mother's womb" will be featured in the Bible readings which include the passage.

"Then Peter said, Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee; in the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk. And he took him by the right hand, and lifted him up; and immediately his feet and ankle bones received strength. And he leaping up stood, and walked, and entered with them into the temple, walking, and leaping and praising God" (Acts 3:6-8).

Correlative selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include (183: 26-29): "Truth casts out all evils and materialistic methods with the actual spiritual law, -- the law which gives sight to the blind, hearing to the deaf, voice to the dumb, feet to the lame."

Oct. 3 Will Be Date For "Fall Weekend" In Weston

WESTON -- The Foreign Student Hospitality Committee of the Women's Community League has chosen Oct. 3 as the date for its annual Fall Weekend, when Weston residents are given an opportunity to meet and entertain students from other countries who are attending colleges in this vicinity. Co-chairmen for the weekend are Mrs. E. K. VonMertens, 44 Oak Street, and Mrs. John D. Mathews, 247 Glen Road.

This will mark the beginning of the committee's third year of activity, which in the past has proven to be extremely stimulating and rewarding to those who have participated in it.

West Area Vice Chairman

WAYLAND -- Edward C. Mendler Jr. of 59 Shaw Drive has been appointed to the South Division of the Metropolitan Department for the 1960 United Fund Campaign. He will serve as West Area Vice Chairman.

Member of the Boston Bar Association, Mr. Mendler is an attorney with the firm of Nutter McClennen & Fish. He is a graduate of the Lawrenceville School in New Jersey, Princeton University and the Harvard Law School. He was also in the Naval Reserve for two years.

He and his wife, Anne, have three children.

Biddle-Wolfe

WESTON -- Miss Betsy Ann Wolfe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Lehr Wolfe of Schenectady, N.Y., was married to Mr. Bruce Biddle, son of Mrs. Clinton Poston Biddle of 100 Orchard Avenue and the late Mr. Biddle, at the First Reformed Church in Schenectady on July 18. A garden reception followed at the home of the bride's parents.

A sister of the bride, Mrs. Andrew Kostavecki of New Canaan, Conn., was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Nancy Wolfe, another sister, Miss Susan Biddle, sister of the groom, and Miss Atheline Wilbur and Miss Helen Hubbard, both of Boston.

The best man was Mr. David Biddle, the groom's brother, and ushers were Ensign Clayton Freeman, Mr. John Benning, Mr. Sidney Eaton and Mr. Charles Trout.

Miss Wolfe was graduated from Connecticut College for Women and Mr. Biddle is a graduate of Noble and Greenough School and Amherst College. He has been a member of the teaching staff at the Cate School in Carpinteria, California, and is planning to attend the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration in the fall.

Following a wedding trip to Bermuda, the couple will make their home in Cambridge.

Robert E. White Wins $50

CLEVELAND -- A Weston high school student has been judged a regional cash winner in the Eighth Annual Science Achievement Awards program sponsored by the American Society for Metals.

Robert E. White of 414 Conant Road, receives a $50 savings bond, won in competition among junior and senior high school pupils throughout the nation, for an outstanding scholastic project based on "Stereophonic Photo Recording."

More than 4700 contest entries on technical subjects were received and a total of 220 students won cash awards. Another 1773 were given honorable mention.

The achievement program was designed by the American Society for Metals to arouse the interest of young students in the fields of science and mathematics, and is conducted by the Future Scientists of America Foundation and National Science Teachers Association.

Mullens - Callan

WAYLAND -- Miss Margaret Alice Callan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Callan of 11 Maguire Road, was married at St. Zepherin's Church on July 11 to Mr. Joseph L. Mullens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Angus J. Mullens of Framingham. The Reverend Otis M. Kelly celebrated the Nuptial Mass and, following the ceremony, a reception was held at The Meadows in Framingham.

Gowned in white organza with alencon lace and matching lace mantilla, the bride carried a cascade of white roses and stephanotis. She was attended by Miss Sally Hayden of Wellesley Hills as maid of honor with Miss Kathryn Mullens, sister of the groom, as junior bridesmaid.

Mrs. John Callan, brother of the bride, was best man and the ushers were Mr. Barry Dowling and Mr. John Alphonse.

Miss Callan, a graduate of Framingham State Teachers College, is a teacher in the Framingham Schools.

Mr. Mullens is a graduate of Framingham High School and the Stockbridge School of Agriculture.

Following a wedding trip through New England, the couple will live in Blandford, Mass.

Pennies can make you a man of the world

8 hours a day, let's face it, most men live in a pretty narrow groove. You're a banker, a bus driver or a barber. Your life is walled in by your work. But when you settle back with a Boston Globe in your hand, horizons broaden. You're a man of many worlds, free to explore other pastures and pastimes at your will. Quick as you can say "Fenway Park," out pops the pull-out sports section with up-to-the-inning news. Stock closings are complete from Abbott to Zenith. You'll find gift ideas for your wife's birthday, and see what's doing in Dogpatch. Anything decent on TV tonight? Anyone selling a skiff cheap? How about that Gromyko! You know, because The Globe prints the news as fast as it's made. Tomorrow — morning or evening — spend the pennies that can make you a man of the world. Keep in touch with The Globe.

22 New Weston Families, 38 Cars And 48 Children

WESTON -- In the June-July period, covering about a month, the Welcome Wagon reports visiting 22 new Weston families with a total of 48 children and 38 automobiles. Two or three of the "children" are beyond school age and several aren't up to it yet. The people come from Texas, Newton, Canada, Hingham, New York, Ohio, Chicago, New Jersey Sudbury, Wellesley, Lexington.

In Water - Skiing Event

WAYLAND -- Richard "Dick" Gerrie, son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Gerrie of Rich Valley Road was one of the performers in a water-skiing demonstration at the Lake Region Sportsmen's Show held in Gilford, New Hampshire, over the July 18 weekend. Dick, a winter-ski enthusiast, exhibited some spectacular water-skiing maneuvers, barely skimming the banks of the tiny pond on which the exhibition was held. He played tackle on Wayland High School's undefeated football team in 1956.

Former Wayland Coach Named Easton Principal

WAYLAND -- Mr. Samuel P. Strickland Jr., former teacher and athletic instructor at Wayland High School, has been appointed principal of the Junior High School in Easton, Mass. Mr. Strickland, who coached the Wayland basketball team from 1946 to 1956, has for the past three years been assistant principal of the Junior-Senior High School in Bridgewater.

It is expected that the apple crop will be larger than last year.

Wayland H. S. 1909 Class Holds Its 50th Reunion

WAYLAND -- The Wayland High School Class of 1909 reports it held its 50th reunion at Red Coach Grill, Middleboro, on July 19, with four of the nine graduates of the class present. Five are living and the fifth, not present, was in a hospital.

Members present were James O'Brien of Essex, Margaret Ward Kenney of Waltham and William Loker and Ernest Lawrence of Cochituate. Also present were two of the four regular teachers of the 1909 period, Abby Burns Kelley of Brockton and Louise Thacher of Yarmouthport, and Mrs. Loker and Dr. James Kelley, a Brockton dentist, husband of Abby.

This was the 13th annual reunion in succession for the class. This year Miss Thacher was hostess and next year, it is planned, Mrs. Kelley will be hostess.

Bumpy Landing No Joke

WESTON -- Mrs. Leonard Poe and her 7-year-old daughter, Barbara, of 217 Merriam Street, drove out to Logan Airport on July 20 to greet Mrs. Poe's mother, Mrs. Mildred Whitehouse, who was arriving for a visit from South Dakota. They were just in time to see Mrs. Whitehouse's plane, a big DC-6, take a nose-dive onto the landing strip as its landing gear collapsed only 10 seconds after touching ground.

Mrs. Poe and her young daughter experienced a few panicky moments worrying about a possible fire and explosion as the huge plane skidded heavily along the concrete. It was bought to a stop safely, however.

WESTON -- Indiana Technical College has accepted for enrollment the application of Douglas Paul Emery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Emery, of 65 Spruce Hill Road.

Falvey -- Houston

WAYLAND -- The wedding of Miss Catherine Houston and Mr. Robert Falvey was solemnized by Reverend William Castles at a nuptial mass at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, June 27, 1959 in St. Ann's Church, Wayland before a large gathering of friends and relatives. The double ring service was used.

Mrs. Joseph Falvey

The bridal couple was attended by Miss Agnes Charlotte Houston sister of the bride, as maid of honor; and Miss Bernadette Houston, sister of the bride, Miss Mary

WKOX-FM Station, Nov. 1

FRAMINGHAM -- If all goes along on schedule, General manager of WKOX, Incorporated, Richard E. Adams, announced that "WKOX FM" expects to inaugurate its broadcast schedule by Nov. 1. He says that construction work on the station will begin this week, "WKOX FM" will broadcast on a frequency of 105.7 megacycles.

Final grant for WKOX-FM was awarded in March by the Federal Communications Commission.

New Arrivals

The last month brought not only some record-breaking precipitation but a considerable deluge of new babies. The count was heaviest on July 9 (and a sunny day by anybody's standards, too) when five babies were born to Weston and Wayland parents.

Among the newcomers were: A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. C. Donald Zearfoss of 29 Davelin Road, Wayland, on June 15 at the Framingham Union Hospital.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. John H. Clark Jr., of 7 Goldenball Road, Weston, on June 17 at the Waltham Hospital.

A son to Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Sears of 231 Merriam Street, Weston, on June 18 at the Waltham Hospital.

A son to Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Hayes of State Road, Wayland, on July 2 at the Waltham Hospital.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Loynd of 135 Dudley Road Wayland, on July 6 at the Framingham Union Hospital.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Gerard McLaughlin of 21 Timber Lane, Wayland, on July 7 at the Leonard Morse Hospital.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Camarota of Brooks Road, Wayland, on July 9 at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Hand of 38 Rice Road, Wayland, on July 9 at the Waltham Hospital.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Alfred B. Edmunds of 58 River Road, Weston, on July 9 at the Waltham Hospital.

A son to Mr. and Mrs. Roswell Hubbard of 8 Davelin Road, Wayland, on July 9 at the Leonard Morse Hospital.

A son to Mr. and Mrs. Hardig Mix of 82 Hawthorne Road, Wayland, on July 9 at the Leonard Morse Hospital.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Johnson of 16 Davelin Road, Wayland, on July 12 at the Framingham Union Hospital.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Buel Ferguson of 77 Brook Road, Weston, on July 16 at the Waltham Hospital.

Lunt-Shepard

Susan Lunt

WAYLAND -- Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Lunt of Orchard Lane announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan, to George Shepard Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Shepard of Plain Road. Susan is a graduate of Wayland High School and George attended Northeastern University. A September wedding is planned.

Up to date directions for canning or freezing are available free from the Middlesex County Extension Service, 19 Everett Street, Concord.

Dr. Dammin Will Direct A Medical Research Project

WESTON -- Receipt of a $21,000 grant from the U.S. Army Medical Research and Development Command to continue a study seeking the relative roles of microbial agents and malnutrition in fatal intestinal disease in Guatemala children, is announced by the Harvard Medical School. The research also will include a general study of intestinal infections in man and experimental animals.

Dr. Dammin

The investigations are under the direction of Dr. Gustave J. Dammin, Professor of Pathology and Pathologist-in-Chief at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, of 102 Sudbury Road. The research concerned with the diarrheal disease in Guatemala has been a cooperative program with the Institute of Nutrition of Central America and Panama, the Roosevelt Hospital in Guatemala City, and the Miami Regional Laboratory of the Florida State Board of Health.

Dr. Dammin, who was recently named Director of the Commission on Parasitic Disease of the Armed Forces Epidemiological Board, also announced the receipt of a grant of $26,697 from the Army Medical Research and Development Command, for support of work primarily concerned with the survival of homografts in man and with research on tissue and organ transplantation being conducted in cooperation with the Departments of Medicine, Surgery and Radiology at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital.

Dr. Dammin is a native of New York City. He received the A.B. degree in 1934 and the M.D. degree in 1938 from Cornell University. He came to Harvard in 1953 from the Washington University School of Medicine where he had been Professor and Head of the Department of Pathology and Pathologist-in-Chief at Barnes Hospital.

Miss Devlin To Be Guest At Victor Borge's Castle

WAYLAND -- Miss Elizabeth Devlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Devlin of Lincoln Road, is one of a number of school and college girls to be visiting in Europe this summer as part of President Eisenhower's "people-to-people" program in which many distinguished families on the continent will open their historic homes to the young Americans. "Betsy", a student at Mt. Vernon Junior College in Washington, D.C., sailed for Denmark last week aboard the liner Oslofjord. On her arrival, she and two other girls from greater Boston will be "adopted daughters" at Victor Borge's castle, "Frydenlund."

Letters to the EDITOR

Letter From Cuba

To the Editor:

For the past year my family and I have been residing in Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. We are serving with the United States Navy here at the Naval Base. During this time, we have often felt very lonesome and some news from home would be just the thing to cheer us up. Very often our mail would be delayed, or during the recent revolution, held up for several weeks. But when the mail finally arrived our "Town Crier" would be there.

I think that it would be interesting to point out that through it we have met quite a few people from our home area. Either by having someone pick up the paper at work or see it as it passed through the mail system on the base. Thus you see the Crier has been very welcomed visitor in our home, plus being a very well read paper. I wish you could have seen the distribution it received. I doubt that any one of your papers gets passed along as much as this one copy we receive here in Cuba.

We wish to thank you for a wonderful paper. Through it we have kept ourselves informed on local happenings and personnel. However, we do have one request. We would like very much to hear from some of our classmates, Wayland High 1952. Thank you again, we are looking forward to hearing from you either personally or reading about you in the "Town Crier".

Sincerely,

About Wayland Police

To the Editor:

Although I no longer reside in Wayland, I have had the pleasure of being a resident for the past 12 years and look forward to my weekly issue of the Town Crier. I have left behind many good friends and happy associations.

It has been very gratifying to read in your recent issue of the reorganization of the Wayland Police and Fire Departments. Congratulations to the Selectmen, Chiefs Dammin and Martin, and all others responsible.

It is very rewarding to know that our present day public servants and "Town Fathers" "DO" have the best interests of the citizens and tax-payers of their town in mind when they have so successfully solved this problem which was such a source of controversy this time a year ago.

Miss Margit Mihaly

WAYLAND -- Funeral services were held at St. Ann's Church on July 18 for Miss Margit Mihaly of Plain Road. Rev. William P.
Castles officiated.

Miss Mihaly came to Wayland two years ago following her escape from Hungary during the Resistance uprising.

New Duties In California For Robert Dye Of Weston

Robert E. Dye

WESTON -- Crossing the continent with his family of four aboard the new Jet 707 a former Weston resident, Robert E. Dye, returned to his native California recently to assume new duties as superintendent of an enlarged Western Division of the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company. His office will be in San Francisco.
A graduate of the University of California, at Berkeley, Mr. Dye began his career in the Insurance business with New York Life in 1939, serving the company in Oakland, Hollywood, Los Angeles and San Francisco. He joined the John Hancock in 1956 as assistant superintendent of agencies in the company's home office in Boston, was made superintendent of agencies in charge of field service in the same year, and superintendent of agencies, eastern division, in 1958.

Mr. and Mrs. Dye and their three daughters Debbie, Tricia, and Tava, have been making their home at 29 Pond Brook Circle.

WAYLAND -- Mr. Joseph H.
Brown of 56 Loker Street was one of the employees at the Watertown Arsenal to have received commendation recently for valuable suggestions made to improve plant efficiency.

Wonderful T. V. Bums, Who Sit All Day In The Saloon

We Know Western Heroes And Bad Guys, But Who Are Those Loafers In The Background?

As the Western good guys and the bad guys shoot it out on the television screen 40 times a day, including Sundays, and one can hardly turn the knob without viewing a bare knuckle brawl in the barn, an economic puzzle is presented.

Anybody can see what the bad men are up to, and it's obvious that sooner or later our hero will straighten out the trouble.

The question is, what's the occupation of all those bums who sit there in the saloon all the time as innocent bystanders?

Pretty soon the kiddies are going to ask what's all this about the great West. They'll say that as far as they can see, every town was inhabited by six bandits, one hero and 300 whiskered barflies.

Every one of these Western towns is a crummy looking place, too. One of the things the residents don't do is sell paint.

One theory is that all the inhabitants sit around the bar all day drinking straight whiskey and playing poker, and the more they drink the worse they play poker, so by the time the kerosene lamps are lit they're all so far gone they all lose, and so everybody in town is too broke all the time to spruce the place up.

There's no industry in town, either. Not even a measly little electronics laboratory.

A few institutions they do have. The saloon, of course. The barber shop, which is probably in the hotel. The livery stable, where the hero keeps his horse and gets hit from behind with a pistol butt so hard his head would fly into three pieces if it weren't made of rock. Once in a while there's a newspaper shop run by the heroic editor, who deserves to be shot for setting up in business in such a hopeless place with such crumbs for subscribers. And a bank, of course, usually run by a sinister character whose real interest is in larceny and manslaughter.

That still doesn't tell us who are those unwashed men sitting around in the saloon all day.

Sophisticated characters around here know that anybody who puts his nose in the firewater in the morning and leaves it there all day is going to be in a spongy condition by dark.

But these habits never seem to suffer any ill effects from their potations. In the middle of the evening, when the lights get shot out, they are nimble as crickets, diving for cover when the battle begins.

Come to think of it, one of these bums is probably a carpenter. Every saloon has a little overhead balcony, just above the bar. Every night it gets broken in the fight, so this carpenter has a steady job repairing the balcony rail. It's no wonder the rail breaks so easily, because there's no lumber yard in town and thus no replacement material. The splinters get put

Pollock - Poirier
WESTON -- Miss Rose Marie Poirier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Poirier of Waltham, was married at St. Joseph's Church there on June 13 to Mr. David B. Pollock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Pollock of 31 Warren Avenue. The nuptial mass was celebrated by Reverend Charles E. Aubut. Reverend Frank M. Graf of St. Julia's Church, Weston, attended. Robert M. Pollock, brother of the groom, served the Mass. Following the ceremony, a reception and dinner were held at the French-American Victory Club in Waltham.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of chantilly lace and nylon tulle. Her fingertip illusion veil was caught to a crystal and lace tiara and she carried a lace-covered prayerbook with white orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Pauline Poirier of Waltham, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Diane DeLaney of Waltham; Miss Julie Ann Pollock of Weston, sister of the groom; Miss Claudette Bergerson and Miss Marvel O'Hare, both of Waltham.

Mr. Martin L. Pollock, the bridegroom's brother, was best man and the ushers were Mr. Thomas Barbeti, Mr. Mark Walker, and Mr. John Clark, all of Weston, and Mr. Kenneth Provost of Wal-back together 365 times a year with nails and flour paste.

And somebody must be a glazier, too, because it's a dull night when somebody doesn't put a bullet or a bottle into the mirror behind the bar. And somewhere there must be glass works, because the mirror is always perfect when the show begins.

In another way, however, these bleary bums have outdone the modern scientists. They make time stand still. They had no fathers, mothers, homes, pasts or futures. They just sit there in that saloon in some period which seems to be always August, 1868, and there they are, like bodies lost in the Alps and frozen in the ice forever.

Another thing they never tell us is the price of drinks in these honkytonks, nor the quality of the booze, which is presumably bad. What would happen if one of these bums should get tired of such a soft drink as old rye and ask for something snappier, such as a dry martini? What if he should be sissy enough to ask for a glass which had been washed in clean water? What if he should insist that the bartender get washed?

Why don't they forget the heroes and the bad men, some night, and give us a documentary explaining just who are those alcoholic wretches in the background, always so eager to join a lynch mob? -- tham.

Miss Poirier was graduated from St. Mary's High School in Waltham. Mr. Pollock, a graduate of Weston High School, served for three years in the Marine Corps.

Following a wedding trip to the Laurentians, the couple will reside in Weston.

Artists Asked To Submit Christmas Seal Designs

"A Call for Artists" in Weston and Wayland to submit designs for the 1961 Christmas Seal to fight tuberculosis is being asked for by the Middlesex Tuberculosis and Health Association.

All artists are invited to submit ideas on designs for the 1961 Christmas Seals. An award of $500 is offered to the artist whose design is selected.

The deadline to submit designs is Sept. 15, 1959. Those interested may contact the Middlesex Tuberculosis and Health Association, 385 Broadway, Somerville 45, Massachusetts. The telephone number is PROspect 6-3093.

COCHITUATE -- Mr. Charles T. Laughlin has been entered at East Coast Aero Technical School, Bedford Airport, Lexington, Mass., where he will prepare for his Civil Aeronautics Administration exam to become a licensed Aircraft Master Technician. He is the son of Mrs. Emily Florence Laughlin of 41 Pine Ridge Road.

Mrs. Graves Is Chosen To Head Camp Directors Assn.

WESTON -- Mrs. Gilbert L. Graves of 23 Old Road, Weston, and Camp Spruce Ledge, Temple, Maine, has been elected president of the Maine Camp Directors Association, to serve for the next two years. She has been secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Gilbert Graves was appointed to the State Junior Maine Guide Committee in 1957. Mr. and Mrs. Graves have run a boys' camp, specializing in outdoor living, since 1940. Read Langenbach of Meadowbrook Road received his Junior Maine Guide certificate while at Spruce Ledge, and this year Robert Hower of Concord Road is at the camp, working to qualify as a Maine Woodsman.

WESTON -- Mr. and Mrs. James W. Wilcock of 202 Winter Street recently returned from a vacation in Europe. After a brief visit with friends in London, they spent the balance of the trip traveling extensively in Norway, Sweden and Denmark.

Mr. Gutekunst Drops A Note From Westport, Ct.

COCHITUATE -- Rev. George C. Gutekunst, until recently minister of the Cochituate Community Methodist Church, writes from his new church in Westport, Connecticut, to report that he is happily settled and that:

"The people are very nice. They may even turn out to be as kind and personable as those in Cochituate and Wayland."

He says he met a man who had friends in Wayland, and he notes that a few miles from Westport there is a town of Weston, "which makes us feel at home." This is the town of Weston which also has a paper called the "Town Crier."

Mrs. Gutekunst and the children were on vacation in Maine when he wrote.

WAYLAND -- Major Warren T. Cronin of 14 Caulfield Road, is currently on a two week tour of active duty at Otis Air Force Base Falmouth, Massachusetts, with the 253D Communications Group, Massachusetts Air National Guard, Col. Joseph V. Connelly, Commanding. The Major has had 16 years of military experience. He is a veteran of World War II and has been awarded eight medals during his career.

WESTON -- Miss Heather Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Turner of 206 Conant Road, has been named to the dean's list for the second semester, 1958-59, at Connecticut College, the liberal arts college for women. Miss Turner is a graduate of the Cambridge School. She is a member of the class of 1962 at Connecticut College and a member of the College Choir.

May Party In Summer Heat

WAYLAND -- The first Camp Fire Girls May party ever held in town took place on May 20 at the home of Mrs. George D. Hamilton, Three Ponds Road, and it turned out to be the hottest day of the year so far. There were 120 on hand, including Blue Birds, Camp Fire Girls, Junior High Camp Fire Girls and hostesses. The girls enjoyed a grand march, with music by Beth Best, a Maypole dance, games and refreshments. Above, a scene at the party. (McCann Photo)

Taylor - Coburn

WESTON -- The engagement of Miss Alexandra Taylor to Mr. Lawrence H. Coburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Coburn, Jr., of Winsor Way, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Spear Taylor of Washington, D. C.

Miss Taylor was graduated from the Potomac School, the Madeira School in Greenway, Virginia, and from the Connecticut College for Women. She made her debut at the Washington Debutante Ball in 1953.

Mr. Coburn was graduated from Phillips Exeter Academy in 1952 and from Harvard College in 1956, where he was a member of the D.U. Club and the Hasty-Pudding Institute of 1770.

An autumn wedding is planned.

WESTON -- Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Abbott of 60 Byron Road will be among those interested in helping to launch the fund-raising drive of the "Citizens Participation Foundation" at the benefit performance of "Macbeth" at the new Metropolitan Arts Center Theatre in Boston on July 31. The Foundation, headed by Mrs. Foster Furcolo, is for the purpose of supplementing work now being done in public and mental health institutions in the Commonwealth.

Preceding the performance, Mr. and Mrs. Abbott will attend the dinner party being given by Judge and Mrs. J. J. Spiegel at Joseph's in Boston.

WESTON -- Nancy Jones, a sophomore at the University of Massachusetts, has been chosen a house counselor in Knowlton House for next year. Miss Jones, a business administration major, is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority. She was graduated from Weston High School in 1957. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen C. Jones, 626 Wellesley Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cameron, formerly of Weston and Wayland, have moved to Marlboro. Their new address is 8 West Main Street, Marlboro.

Fr. Louis E. Sullivan, S.J.

WESTON -- Funeral services were held at the Weston College Chapel of the Holy Spirit on July 27 for Reverend Louis E. Sullivan, S.J., professor of theology at the College and former assistant editor of the Catholic periodical, America.

A member of the Society of Jesus for 44 years, Father Sullivan was ordained to the priesthood in Weston in 1927. He came to Weston College in 1931 following his studies at the Gregorian University in Rome. He taught metaphysics there for three years and then was made professor of theology. Father Sullivan also taught in a number of Catholic institutions both before coming to Weston and later on loan from the College.

He leaves two sisters Mrs. Grace Phinney and Miss Margaret Sullivan, both of Winthrop.

WAYLAND -- Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kilburn of Old Connecticut Path were hosts to a large group of Wesleyan College alumni for an annual reunion on June 27. Invitations to alumni families were all-inclusive, pointing out that over 100 people had attended last year not including 88 children, 14 dogs, and one Tennessee walking horse.

Brotherhood will be a theme dealt with at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Love."

Paul's stand on brotherhood is emphasized in readings from the Bible including this passage from 1 Corinthians (1:10): "Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment."

Correlative citations from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include (467:9-13): "It should be thoroughly understood that all men have one Mind, one God and Father, one Life, Truth, and Love. Mankind will become perfect in proportion as this fact becomes apparent, war will cease and the true brotherhood of man will be established."

N. E. Conservatory Prep. Branch, Wellesley Hills

The New England Conservatory of Music will relocate the Wellesley Branch of its Preparatory Department. President James Aliferis has announced. The new and larger quarters of the branch, offering a comprehensive program of music training for young students, will open on Sept. 14 at 309 Washington Street, the Unitarian Church Building, in Wellesley Hills.

Mrs. Alicia Downer will continue to head the Conservatory's Wellesley activities.

The Wellesley Branch will offer private instruction in piano, voice, and orchestral instruments to students under college age. Classes have been planned in musicianship, ensemble playing and Dalcroze Eurhythmics, as well as special classes for very young children. Also, the Conservatory will again offer class piano, for students in groups of four. The new branches of the Preparatory Department have been instituted in response to requests for convenient instruction by Conservatory teachers for youngsters in suburban areas.

At present, the Conservatory serves the musical needs of about 400 children at its Boston headquarters and at the Wellesley Branch. Many of these youngsters eventually enter the Conservatory's full-time college and graduate degree courses.

For further information about the Wellesley Branch of the Conservatory's Preparatory Department, telephone the main office at Kenmore 6-8660 or, after Labor Day, Cedar 5-9721.

WSCS At Sterling

COCHITUATE -- On Thursday, July 30, a group of members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Community Methodist Church was scheduled to journey to the Sterling Camp Ground Sterling, to attend the Summer Meeting of The Worcester District WSCS.

During a program of worship, music and a special speaker, the Past President of the WSCS, Mrs. Herbert Schleicher, was to be honored by having a baby membership in the Society presented to her daughter, Kerry Ann, born during Mrs. Schleicher's service as President.

Concluding her two years service to the Worcester District WSCS at this meeting was Mrs. W. Henry Wormley, who has been the Recording Secretary of this group and now assumes the duties of Chairman of the Nominating Committee.

Old Beach Is Closed

WAYLAND -- As the sign above indicates, the Selectmen have ordered closed the old town bathing beach at the Western end of Dudley Pond. All the life guards and swimming recreation facilities are located at the new town beach at Lake Cochituate.

Chief Ernest H. Damon says that boat launching from this beach is also forbidden. Anybody may have an outboard on the pond, but he must first get a $1 permit for it. And there is no water skiing on the pond, where there is a speed limit of 8 miles an hour.

Swimming is permitted elsewhere on the pond. It's just the beach which is closed.

Finishes Basic Training

WAYLAND -- Air Force Cadet Paul E. Fuchs, son of Eric and Arline Fuchs of 54 Claypit Hill Road, has just completed his basic training at the Lackland Air Force Base in Texas. He is being transferred to Florida, but will make a detour by the way of Lake Winnepesaukee to spend a few days at the Summer residence of his parents in Meredith, N. H. Paul, 21 years old, above, attended University of New Hampshire.

Takes Post With New Firm

WAYLAND -- Mr. Karnig A. Berberian of Pequot Road has joined the newly-organized firm of Tang Industries, Inc., of Waltham, manufacturers of components for semi-conductors. Mr. Berberian, who took over as manager of materials on July 20, will be responsible for the firm's production of materials for the semiconductor industry and for keeping abreast of new developments in the field.

Mr. Berberian attended Massachusetts Institute of Technology and was graduated from the University of Vermont where he continued on as instructor in metallurgy. He has been with Raytheon, Inc., since 1951 where he was in charge of the Materials Pilot Plant for the engineering group in the semi-conductor division.

At Sorority Convention

WAYLAND -- Mrs. Frank H. Carter of River Road returned recently from the international convention of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority which was held in Victoria, British Columbia, from June 25 through July 1st.

Mrs. Carter, who was graduated from DePauw University in Indiana and did her graduate work at Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois, is president of the sorority's Boston Alumnae Chapter and was the official convention delegate from this section.

On her return from Victoria, Mrs. Carter took a boat trip to Seattle, Washington, and did some sight-seeing in Mt. Rainier National Park before flying back to Wayland.

NE Women's Championship Softball At Cochituate

COCHITUATE -- The Corvettes, girls' softball team sponsored by Cochituate Motors, lost a double-header last weekend to the Laureletes of Hartford, Connecticut State champs of 1958, then went to Lawrence to beat the Somersworth Lassies, 1958 New Hampshire champs, 6 - 5, before a crowd of 3000.

Scores of the games with the Laureletes were 1 - 0 and 6 - 1.

The New England Championship Women's Tournament will be held at Cochituate ball park Aug. 21-23, with the Corvettes as hostesses.

Food Sale At Beach

WAYLAND -- A food sale, proceeds to go towards purchase of prizes to be awarded at the annual Town Swimming Meet, will be held at the Town Beach on Lake Cochituate at 10 a.m. on Saturday, Aug. 8. Those who would like to contribute food are asked to call the beach house, OL 3-2101 and ask for Mrs. Murray or Mrs. McGrenia.

WAYLAND -- Dr. and Mrs. John Gordon Freymann of 18 Country Corners Road announce the birth of their fourth child, first son, Vance Gordon, on July 18 at the Richardson House.

Locked In Drugstore

WESTON -- An out-of-state visitor stopped in the drugstore the other night to telephone somebody to come and meet him, and while he was in the booth, unnoticed, they turned off the lights, locked up the place and went home.

Chief Frank Shaw says a Weston officer, passing in the cruiser an hour or so later, saw the man making frantic gestures in the window. He was rescued.

Chuck MacLeod, 10, Had A Daniel Boone Experience

WESTON -- "Chuck" MacLeod, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett MacLeod of 37 Willard Road, a pupil in the Weston 5th grade, had a rare adventure this Summer, a six-day encampment in a 60-acre island in Penobscot Lake, Maine, far in the woods on the Canadian border.

Chuck MacLeod, with trout, in front of lean-to.

The party included Chuck, his father, Bob Sevene of Waltham and Walter Eastman of Natick. They flew into the lake from Greenville, Me., in two seaplanes, carrying supplies and an 18-foot canoe.

They named the island "Chuck's Island". They build a lean-to for a camp and set up jungle hammocks and netting, for protection from the flies. For the six days they fished, canoed and hiked around the neighboring wilderness, even crossing the border into Canada several times. They estimated they travelled about 75 miles in the six days, before flying out again.

On their last night in camp a yowling wildcat made them several visits, causing excitement but no damage.

Weston Recreation Dept. Field Day On August 13

WESTON -- On August 13 the Weston Recreation Department will conduct its annual field day at the Junior High School Playground. This year there will be individual and team events with point values for the winners. Prizes of athletic equipment will be given to youngsters accumulating the highest number of points. There will be a boy and a girl winner in each of the following age groups:

8 and under; 9 and 10; 11 and 12, and 13 and 14.

The annual Bicycle Safety Contest will be held in the morning, and points awarded here will be added to the field events in the afternoon. A blueberry pie eating contest and free tonic and ice cream will highlight the afternoon session.

Armine Avakian Will Be Weston-Rombas Student

Françoise

Armine

WESTON -- Françoise Friedrich, 17, from Rombas, will arrive in Quebec on the Ascania on Sept. 7, it is announced, to be the sixth scholar from Rombas to spend a year at Weston High School under the auspices of the Weston-Rombas Affiliation committee.

This will be the 10th year of the affiliation.

Miss Susan Toner, who spent last year at Rombas as the second student from Weston, has arrived home.

Scheduled to leave Weston in a few weeks is Armine Avakian, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arra Avakian of 33 Ledgewood Drive, who has been a top student in Weston High for three years. She will spend most of her year at Rombas in the home of Françoise Friedrich.

Students at Weston High gave a farewell party, recently, for Françoise Cilly, Rombas student who spent the 1958-1959 year here.

20 Races At 10th Annual Wayland Swimming Meet

WAYLAND -- Twenty races, including a freestyle 220, 440, one mile and a novelty event, will be on the program at the 10th annual swimming meet of the town, to be held at the beach on Lake Cochituate at 1 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 15.

All boys and girls who wish to participate, it is announced, must fill out entry blanks and hand them in to John Starrett, beach director, by 8 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 13.

The 220, the 440 and the mile races will be open to Wayland residents through the age of 20. There will be six 25-yard races for boys and girls under the age of 10, and 10 50-yard and 100-yard events for boys and girls aged 11 - 14.

All contestants are to report at the life guard tower at 12:30 sharp on the day of the meet.

Named Assistant Secretary

WESTON -- Mr. Oliver W. Hayes of 61 Loring Road was recently elected assistant secretary of the National Research and NRC Equipment Corporation of Cambridge. He has been associated with the firm since 1949.

A graduate of Brown University with a B. S. degree in engineering Mr. Hayes obtained his law degree from George Washington University in 1941 and was admitted to the District of Columbia Bar. He is a member of the Weston Republican Town Committee and a former residential chairman of the Weston Community Fund.

He was married in 1942, while a naval officer in World War II, to the former Nancy Joy Bernard of Newtonville. They have two children.

Meymaris--Alsen

WAYLAND -- Miss Janet Alsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Alsen of 2 Grace Road and Gullford, Conn., formerly of Arlington, Mass. and Mr. Elias Meymaris of Natick, were married at a candlelight service at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, July 18, at the Arlington First Baptist Church, by the Rev. Donald D. Menzel.

The bride was attended by Miss Avis Keyes of Arlington, maid of honor, and Miss Karen Tudhope (cousin of the bride) of Madison, N. J., Miss Carol Xifaris of New Bedford, Miss Eleanor Wesslan of West Brookfield, and Mrs. Theodore Yanak of Pittsfield.

The best man was Mr. Richard Huleatt of Framingham, brother-in-law of the groom, and the four ushers were Mr. Robert Mortenson, Mr. Gary Hoyt and Mr. William Wilson of Natick, and Mr. Nathaniel Raymond of Cochituate.

The guest book was attended by Mrs. Richard Huleatt of Framingham, sister of the groom.

Mrs. Elias Meymaris

(Bradford Locke)

The bride's gown was a fitted basque bodice of Belgian lace over taffeta with long lace sleeves and portrait neckline. The bouffant skirt of nylon tulle over taffeta decorated with wide bands of lace, fell into a cathedral train. The half-hat of lace and seed pearls held in place the chapel veil of French illusion. The bride carried a bouquet of white orchids.

The church was lighted by candles and was decorated with white gladiolas, snap dragons and chrysanthemums.

Following the church reception, the guests were invited to the home of the bride's parents in Cochituate where they were received in the garden, festively decorated with lanterns, and refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Meymaris will make their home in Boston following a wedding trip through the White Mountains and a visit to Quebec.

About Air-Conditioner

To the Editor:

I feel sure that all those who contributed, as well as all Weston residents who would gladly have contributed had there been time to contact them, will be happy to know that the air conditioner for the office of our tax collector, Mrs. Helen E. Cutting, is installed, for which she is deeply grateful.

Both Stan Fabbri and myself want to thank sincerely all those we contacted for their wonderful moral and financial support. We are also very grateful to Dick Whelpley for his contribution as he supplied the Fedders machine and installation at his cost.

When you visit Mrs. Cutting's office ask to see the beautiful silver plaque which our townsman, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, made and presented. It's a work of art.

With best wishes to all, and thank you again.

Thank You Note

To the Editor:

The residents of Snake Brook Road at Daymon Farms wish to thank Chief Hartin and his men for their wonderful cooperation at their third "Fourth" wingding.

The day would not be complete without them and we all appreciate it very much.

Very truly yours,
G. R. Johnson

We're In The Middle Of An Accidental Reforestation

Out-Of-Town Motorists Think They're Riding In A Park
So They Throw Litter

Only a few years ago the croakers used to worry all the time, in print, lest the country be stripped of all its trees. They don't do that any more, and by looking around us in this community we can see why. The woods are coming back. In fact, have come back.

The first act of the first settlers, who had in mind farming, not realizing that electronics would be a better deal, was to get rid of trees as fast as they could. Unfortunately, they had no bulldozers, but they did a pretty fair job with ax and fire.

After 100 years or so they had cleared most of the suitable land for tillage and pasture, and piled most of the loose rocks into stone walls. Wherever there's a stone wall still standing, and that's along miles and miles of local roads, it's a safe bet there was a cleared field inside it.

Some woodlots were left, of course, and these were used. First the fireplaces and then the stoves needed wood for fuel, and wood cutting was one of the farmer's larger chores.

It was in the first half of the 1800s, some say, that farming around here began to decay. It was discovered that the fields in Ohio, for example, were more fertile and had no rocks, and that New England couldn't compete with the Middle West in the raising of grain.

Moreover, it finally occurred to the farmer's son and likewise the farmer's daughter that there must be an easier way to make a living than getting up at 4 a.m. and working until dark. So the young folks left home, and with them went the cheap labor which made farming possible here.

When the animals went, the pastures promptly proceeded to grow up to bushes, which, in the way of bushes, eventually became trees.

The plowed fields went next. Indeed, the process can be seen beginning in anybody's backyard garden. Unless the hoe is wielded diligently, the baby oak or maple, four inches tall, may be found sprouting under the beans in mid-Summer of any year. Nature is always crowding us.

And nobody, much, cuts wood for fuel any more. To be sure, every new home has a fireplace or two, but it's just for fun. There's plenty of fireplace wood, but it's expensive to cut, handle and transport.

So now, with practically no farming left, there are so many trees nobody can get rid of them. The new house on a one-acre lot has a certain amount of lawn around it, but out back the old oaks and the young pines grow wild.

It's amazing, too, how quickly the new houses seem to melt into the landscape, as though they had always been there. In five or six years, in most of the new developments, even the newly planted shade trees attain size.

By a happy arrangement, the hardwoods provide shade in Summer when it's needed, and none in Winter, when we want all the sun we can get.

The trees tend to arch over the town roads, too, to make cool green tubes. These roads are pleasant to drive on and that's probably why so many local residents like to flee the place in Summer and stay at beaches where there are no trees and the glare is frightful, or go travelling on superhighways where the heat is uncomfortable.

Along with this accidental reforestation comes poison ivy and wild life, the latter consisting largely of birds and small animals which have learned to mooch. Also has come a decline in street lighting, so that a stranger needs a seeing-eye dog to find the house which is having the cocktail party and hadn't better even try to find his way home again afterwards. Living around here is something like living in a park. This illusion is heightened by observing the amount of trash passing motorists throw on the roadsides. -- D.B.W.

Shoe Factories, Horse Cars And Modern Landmarks Are Visible

COCHITUATE — The picture-map above, recently unearthed in a local home and made available for reproduction in the Crier, shows with remarkable accuracy how Cochituate looked in 1887.

A great many of the houses and buildings, still standing, are recognizable and identifiable.

Mrs. Kenneth E. Morrell of 4 Main Street, one of the Town's authorities on historical matters, adds some information to what the map shows.

In Main Street, south of where the traffic lights now are, a horse car may be seen. That was part of the "Natick and Cochituate Street Railway", which was owned by James Hammond. Mr. Hammond used to have a livery stable and boarding house on the west side of Main Street, on the north side of Gerald's store. These buildings burned in the 90s, and there is a vacant lot where they used to stand.

Before 1834, when the horse cars were started, Mr. Hammond used to own the stage which ran to Natick. The stage was in use in the 1870s, and Mrs. Morrell has an old account of a ride to Natick in it. The ride was unpleasant because the coach was so crowded and so many were sitting on top it was feared they'd fall through.

Mrs. Morrell doesn't know what speed the horse cars made, but she thinks the horses walked. That might have made the Cochituate-to-Natick trip an hour long. And it is recorded that everything closed up on Sundays. No horse cars.

"Unoccupied Plain"

Just above the horse car in the picture, on the left, may be seen a big wooden factory. That was the shoe shop of William and James Madison Bent, brothers, who built the first shoe manufactory in Cochituate soon after 1835.

James Madison Bent was Mrs. Morrell's grandfather. His first factory was operated by windmill power. In 1862 he was the first in Town to use steam power. By 1875 there were 14 shoe factories in Cochituate.

Before Mr. Bent started his factory, in the 1830s, what is now Cochituate was practically unpopulated. The community center was known as Lokerville, centering around the present intersection of East Plain Street and Commonwealth Road East. There were the school, church and tavern, and nearby were the farms of the Lokers, Damons, Rices and others.

What's now Cochituate was known as Bentville. When James

In Detailed Picture Map Of Cochituate Published 72 Years Ago

Drawn and Published by George E. Norris, Brockton, Massachusetts

Madison Bent died at the age of 76, in 1888, his obituary writer gave this description of Bentville before the first shoe factory was built.

"An unoccupied plain, parching under the suns of Summer, a bleak and desolate waste in Winter, remote from great lines of travel and far from the marts of trade."

After the mills were built, however, many houses were constructed near them.

"German Hill"

The horse car barn, it may be noted, was located where the present Cochituate fire station and library now are. Across Main Street was Knights of Labor Hall, since burned, where Legion Hall now stands.

What's now Commonwealth Road East was known in 1887 as Lake Street and later as Pond Street.

Towards the left of the map is a street marked "German Hill Road". This received its name, says Mrs. Morrell, from families of German origin which once settled there. In World War I, when Germans were unpopular, the street was renamed Pemberton Road.

In general, the picture shows that Cochituate was more "open" than it is now. There were more fields and fewer shade trees. In the distance, however, may be seen the rather large forest which lay between Cochituate and Wayland Center. At the upper left of the picture the artist, with a little license, has shown Mansion Inn and even the mill chimneys of Saxonville.

At the top of the picture, where Main Street runs off the map, may be seen a cluster of farm houses, most of which belonged to members of the Dudley family.

What is marked "Dean's Pond" on the map has been filled in. "Moore's Pond", at the end of Willard Street, is now known as "The Granny", a hollow where children skate in Winter.

With a little study of the picture, many present residents will be able to pick out landmarks still in existence and, in some cases, to get an idea of how their dwellings looked 71 years ago.

Chisholm - Wilson

WESTON -- Miss Julia Carol Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wilson of Newton, was married recently to Mr. Walter Douglas Chisholm, son of Mrs. Daisy B. Chisholm of 227 North Avenue at Our Lady's Church in Newton. Rev. John E. Hartigan performed the double ring ceremony and a reception followed at the French-American Victory Club in Waltham.

Miss Lorraine Connelly of Newton was maid of honor and Mr. Donald Knowles of Weston, brother-in-law of the bride, was the best man. The ushers were Mr. William Chisholm of Somerville and Mr. Eugene MacGrath of Waltham.

Miss Wilson was graduated from Newton High School and Mr. Chisholm was graduated from Weston High School. He is presently associated with Chapin's Dairy in Waltham.

Following a wedding trip to Virginia, the couple will make their home in Waltham.

WESTON -- Northeastern University's Faculty Wives Club has announced its 1959-60 slate of elected officers. A local member elected to serve for the forthcoming academic year is Mrs. Gilbert C. Garland

WESTON -- Mr. Leslie C. Fitzgerald of 45 Chiltern Road was recently elected vice-president

Town Line Hardware Marks Store's 10th Anniversary

Phil and Bill Genna, father and son, of Town Line Hardware, announce that this month marks the 10th anniversary of their coming to Wayland-Sudbury to start their business.

Their first building was 15 feet by 30. As the business grew, they added to it four times, then built nearby their present building, 50 by 75.

They wish to express their appreciation to all who have helped make their venture a 10-year success.

One of the most popular books in the Wayland Library these days is "What Shall We Name The Baby?"

"This year's native corn crop can boast the best quality seen in the state in the last decade," says Cecil Thomson, extension specialist in vegetable crops at the University of Massachusetts. "The weather has been perfect for it."

How many worlds do you live in?

Try counting them now. There's the world of finance . . . and the world of fun. The world of suns and sons. The world of work and play. The world of laughs and tears. And all of them, these days especially, seem to be moving so fast. .

Things happen faster than they did when we were kids. Our worlds spin faster. 24 hours flash by like 8. Our lives are eaten up in big bites.

That's why you'll find The Globe so fascinating. All the worlds you live in are in The Globe. Made somehow simpler and easier to understand. Slowed down a bit so you can enjoy them more. Easier for a harried Homo-not-too-sapiens to handle in the time he has. News, halfway around the world, national news, next door news, news of what's happening inside you. All in The Globe. Every day. And Sunday, too. Get to know your worlds in The Globe.

Wayland Horsemen, 1905

WAYLAND -- This pair of equestrians turned out for a midwinter ride on Plain Road in 1905. Snow was four feet deep. At the left is Charles A. Phipps, breeder of "Silver Campine" hens, whose farm is now the home of George I. Emery. The other rider is Walter B. Henderson, father of the late Gerald Henderson. House in background was originally built as a summer house, and is now owned by Robert N. Elwell, owner of Arrowhead Gardens. Both Mr. Phipps and Mr. Henderson were members of the group which bought and gave to the town the land on which the Town Building was erected.

The CO-OP Will Be Host At 10th Anniversary Party

NATICK -- According to Dr. George Bowles, chairman of the CO-OPs 10th year celebration committee:

"This year's celebration on Aug. 22, will be the best yet. Nothing is too good for our members and friends as we celebrate 10 years of service to this community. We have over 5100 member-owners who will not want to miss this outstanding celebration."

Natick High School's grounds and eating facilities will be the site of the celebration, which begins at 2 in the afternoon. Present plans are to have games for all the family and a wide variety of entertainment. The chairman of the recreation portion of the program promises an outstanding array of games, races, sports and general recreation. There will be prizes for all the winners. If folks don't like the competition, there will be areas of relaxation and enjoyment especially for them. For the very young set, the CO-OP plans a supervised play area and children's stories.

The afternoon program will be followed by a chicken barbecue served up by Alan Williams and his committee. For those who purchased tickets at the CO-OP Courtesy Center, the dinner will be served from 5:30 'til 7:30. The cost of the dinner is only 99¢ which pays for the chicken. All other food for the meal which includes rolls and butter, smorgasbord salad, potato chips, coffee, milk, cookies and ice cream will be provided by the CO-OP. Tickets for dinner are reserved for CO-OP members only until after Wednesday, Aug. 19. After this date, the public is invited to purchase tickets until the final deadline, Friday the 21st.

For those who wish simply to bring a box lunch, the CO-OP will furnish coffee or milk and ice cream.

In the evening, one of Natick's favorite orchestras will provide dancing.

No admission fee being charged to anyone except for the 99¢ barbecue for the entire program. The public is invited to take part in any or all of the celebration. $200.00 in CO-OP services will be awarded

Weston Men In UF Posts

WESTON -- Nino Siracusa has been appointed to the Commerce and Industry Department for the 1960 United Fund Campaign. He will be a Section Chairman in the Central Division.

Mr. Siracusa, a graduate of Yale University, is the manager of the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Co. of Boston. From 1941 to 1945 he served with the Air Force and also with the Allied Military Government for Italy. He is a member of the Boston Rotary Club. He was active with Red Feather and United Fund Campaigns in 1956 and 1957.

He and his wife, Phyllis, have three children and live at 93 Woodchester Drive.

Weston agencies benefiting from the Fund are the Boy Scouts, Norumbega Council, and the Visiting Nursing Association.

Also, Richard Ely has been appointed a Section Chairman in the Commerce and Industry Department for the Campaign. He will serve in the Central Division.

Mr. Ely, a graduate of Williams College and Boston University Law School, is a partner in the law firm of Ely, Bartlett, Brown and Proctor. He is a Trustee of Dumaines and of the Edwards Scholarship Fund. He has been active in previous United Fund campaigns.

He and his wife, Louise, live at 60 Chiltern Road. They have three children.

Lucky Sweepstakes Winners

WAYLAND -- Two local residents were prize-winners in the drawing for the American Road Show Sweepstakes held recently at Shoppers World in Framingham.

Mr. John P. Crawley of 383 Commonwealth Road won a $25 cash award and Mr. Lawrence Langley of 9 Cole Road won a registered cocker spaniel puppy.

lucky citizens in attendance. Grand price is $100.00 in groceries or oil service. The event is purely social - no speakers or drawn-out program - just a day-long social affair where Natick's consumer cooperative plays host to its members and friends. Persons interested in attending the barbecue are urged to purchase their tickets early.

Gone 6 Years, Comes Back And Recognizes 2 Persons

COCHITUATE -- Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Perodeau of West Plain Street had a visit last week from Mr. Perodeau's brother, Camile, better known as "Scub", and the latter's wife, who have been living in Courtland, California, for the past six years.

Scub grew up in Cochituate and was graduated from Wayland High School about 30 years ago. But so much has the town changed that when he went down to church on Sunday morning, he recognized just two persons.

Mrs. Alice N. Alden

WAYLAND -- Private funeral services were held in the Newton Cemetery Chapel on Aug. 3 for Mrs. Alice N. Alden of Glezen Lane.

Mrs. Alden was the widow of Mr. John Alden, former assistant principal and head of the classical languages department at the Portland, Maine, High School. She had been living in Wayland with her sister, Miss Abbie Nichols, since 1952.

Besides Miss Nichols, she leaves a son, John, of Arlington, Virginia, and three daughters; Miss Mary Alden of Cambridge, Mrs. Edward S. Wallace of Millington Green, Connecticut, and Mrs. George H. Barrel 2nd, also of Wayland.

At Girl Scout Camp

WESTON -- Mrs. Horace P. Moulton, the former Gretta Sumner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franksford S. Sumner of 27 Silver Hill Road, national camp chairman of the Girl Scouts of the United States, was at the big Girl Scout encampment at Colorado Springs this Summer. Mrs. Moulton, above, was graduated from Weston High School and from the Winsor School. She was active in scouting in Weston and served on the board of the Massachusetts Girl Scouts as chairman of the Cedar Hill Committee before going to Staten Island, N. Y., to live.

Entertain Foreign Students

WAYLAND -- Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Parker Jr., of Old Connecticut Path were hosts on July 25 to a group of local residents and their foreign guests. They were joined for the occasion by two of the students, a German and an Egyptian, who are members of Dr. Henry Kissinger's International Seminar at Harvard this summer.

Playing host to Dr. Kissinger's students, many of whom hold positions of importance in their own countries and are here for specialized training, has become an especially rewarding custom among Wayland families.

July Rainfall Twice Normal In Sudbury Watershed Area

Despite nearly a week toward the end of July without so much as a sprinkle of rain, the month as a whole racked up something of a record for heavy precipitation in the Sudbury River Watershed. It was the sixth wettest July in the last 85 years.

The total rainfall, which measured 7.62 inches, was more than double the average of 3.55 inches.

Corvettes To Be Hostesses

COCHITUATE -- The Corvettes, girls' softball team sponsored by Cochituate Motors, will be hostesses for the New England championship tournament to be held at Cochituate on Aug. 21, 22 and 23, under the sponsorship of the Way-Co Recreation Program. Best girls' softball teams of the region will play.

The Corvettes finished second in the Massachusetts Amateur Softball Tournament, recently concluded.

L. C. Johnston Is Named Exclusive Agent In N.E.

WAYLAND -- ALCO Products, Inc. has announced the appointment of Laurence C. Johnston of 66 Claypit Hill Road as the Company's exclusive agent in New England for finned-tube heat exchangers and related equipment.

Johnston, president of the Johnston Engineering Sales Company of Wayland, will represent ALCO's petroleum industry equipment division in sales engineering of the company's heat-transfer equipment.

Laurence C. Johnston

Following his graduation from the University of Michigan in 1930 with a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering, Johnston was associated with the White Star Refining Company as a junior engineer. From 1932 to 1935 he served as a development engineer with Kimberly-Clark Company.

From 1935 to 1939 he was a mechanical design engineer with the Ross Heater and Manufacturing Company, and he then spent two years as supervisor of Thermodynamic design for The Lummus Company. In 1939 he was named chief engineer with Patterson-Kelley Company, Inc., and in 1946 he became eastern district sales manager for Process Engineering, Inc.

Johnston joined Brown Fintube in 1949 and was named vice president and acting sales manager in 1953 and vice president of sales in May, 1955.

Johnston is the author of several engineering and marketing articles published in the technical press. Following his graduation from Michigan, he completed graduate

"America The Beautiful" Manuscript Is On Display At Wellesley College

One hundred years ago, on August 12, 1859, was born Miss Katharine Lee Bates poet and professor long associated with Wellesley College, who is best known for her poem "America the Beautiful."

In commemoration of the centennial of Miss Bates' birth, the Wellesley College Library now is exhibiting material which traces the literary development of one of the College's most famous alumnae from her first little red-covered diary, kept when she was 9 or 10 years old, through her more than two dozen published books.

On a single sheet of yellowing paper, placed horizontally, is the only manuscript known to exist of "America the Beautiful." Bearing the author's signature, it is the final version of the poem first written in 1893 in Colorado Springs where Miss Bates was teaching summer school.

On view, also, is her personal scrap book with the clipping of the first publication of "America the Beautiful," in The Congregationalist for July 4, 1895. The poem had remained nearly forgotten in her notebook for the two years between its writing and the time she submitted it to the periodical.

A photograph of Miss Bates' room at old College Hall - crammed with books and with photos of family and friends, the Phi Sigma Society Song, which she wrote, and a manuscript in Latin of a "boating song" are other mementoes of her undergraduate days at Wellesley which the College now is exhibiting. Miss Bates entered Wellesley only a year after its first class was admitted.

Two-Year Nursing Course Will Open At Newton J. C.

The program for educating young women and men to become registered nurses beginning in September at Newton Junior College is one of the six in the nation to be selected this year for study and encouragement by a project of the National League for Nursing, Walter M. Taylor, Director of the College, announces.

This project, underwritten by a grant from the Sealantic Fund through a special gift of J. D. Rockefeller Jr., is concerned with providing services to junior colleges offering programs in nursing leading to an associate degree. Consultants from the project will spend time at the College and full-time personnel of the College staff and faculty will attend national workshops.

The College's two-year Nursing Program is the first of its kind in New England. It is designed in co-operation with the Nursing Council of the United Community Services to meet a regional need for "bedside nurses", the region embracing 19 cities and towns served by hospitals in Woburn, Concord, Arlington, Winchester, and Waltham.

Candidates residing in these areas are given preference as students and are still being interviewed by Virginia O. Allen, head of the Department of Nursing studies at the College. Upon graduation, a student will be awarded an Associate of Science degree and will then be eligible to take the examination necessary to become a registered nurse in Massachusetts.

Familiar Weston Buildings Were Built Many Years Ago

WESTON -- In early records of the Town Clerk of Weston is this item: "Captain George Washington Smith and Miss Clarissa Lamson, both of Weston, married August 7, 1810." Captain Smith was grandson of Mr. Josiah Smith of Tavern fame, and son of Joel, who inherited the Tavern, and became a successful and popular inn-keeper in his own right.

For a wedding gift, Joel gave to his son George the property adjacent to Meeting-house Common on the east side, now the estate of Mrs. Henry Endicott. The house in which Captain George and his bride lived stood in a grove of pines not far from the entrance gate to the present driveway.

One is tempted to write on about Clarissa. A popular beauty, she was an excellent wife and mother, and a devoted Parish worker. In 1814, she was active in organizing the Cent Society, a women's auxiliary of the Evangelical Missionary Society of Massachusetts, and in 1841 she sponsored the Ladies Benevolent Society of the First Parish; the latter flourished for over 100 years.

When the First Parish, in 1840, finally voted to take down the Colonial landmark built in 1722, Mrs. Clarissa Smith deeded "a certain tract and parcel of land," about 100 feet square), "to the members of said Parish and their successors and assigns, to them and their use and behoof forever, for the purpose of building a meeting-house thereon, and a Common about the same, and for Parish purposes and no other."

The Church of 1840 was thereon built; the place is approximately where the present Parish House stands, the "Common" being appropriated by the stone church.

In 1845, when Mr. David Lane, a wealthy Boston and New York importer of French goods, married Clarissa's young relative, Miss Caroline Lamson, he bought the Smith property and built the present Endicott residence, with many characteristics of a French country mansion. Mr. Benjamin Pierce Jr. bought the Smith house and moved it west along the Post Road to its present position, Number 436. At that time, just across the way was the attractive old Lamson house, unfortunately taken down in the 1920s.

In 1866, for a few months, this historic Smith house became the residence of Dr. Edmund Hamilton Sears, D.D. who lived there with his wife and their three sons, Francis, Edmund Jr. and Horace. Dr. Sears came to the First Parish in Weston from the First Parish in Wayland. It was during his pastorate in Wayland, for the Sunday School festival in 1850 that Dr. Sears wrote his famous Christmas hymn, "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear". Dr. Sears soon bought the house which now belongs to Dr. Van Nuys; then it stood across the road on the land adjacent to the David Lane estate.

The Trampoline Threw The Sleeper When He Sneezed

But Trampoline And Mass. Turnpike Provided Inspiration For Modern Mattress, Harder To Carry Around Than A Football Field.

An anchor can be hoisted. The Queen Mary will float. A ton of coal can be easily moved, a little at a time.

But the common household mattress is the most infernally awkward article to handle in common experience. Worse than that there are housewives who are obsessed with the idea that mattresses should be moved indoors and out, upstairs and down, at frequent intervals. And naturally, because the housewife seldom has arms six feet long, which are the kind needed to move a mattress, she calls on husband or other male relative to move the mattress, and thus shatters the comfort of the weekend.

It's not that the miserable mattress is so heavy. It's just that its handholds are inadequate and located in the wrong places.

Moreover, the mattress has more than its share of the cussedness which resides in all inanimate objects. It likes to wag its tail, lurch, bulge, hang back, collide catch on things, brush pictures off the wall.

Now a sensible person, on moving into a house, would set up a bed and perform, once and for all, the awkward task of placing a mattress on it.

Then he would leave the mattress alone for 10 or 25 or 50 years. Gradually it would accommodate itself to its user's frame and year by year it would become more comfortable. It might develop a few hills and hollows, but they would be dear old bumps and dips.

When one climbed into bed at night, after a day devoted to good deeds, uplifting thoughts, hard work and orthodox political attitudes, his body would fall into place like a penny in the parking meter or the six ball in the side pocket. In the modern phrase, mattress and sleeper would have a togetherness.

This sort of happy association the demon housekeeper - the same one who sets out ashtrays two inches in diameter - will not permit.

Her idea is that the mattress should be turned end for end or over and over frequently. Could she have her way, the average bedroom would be so full of whirling mattress it would look like the new paddlewheel satellite.

The idea of this kind of housewife is to have the mattress hard and smooth, like the Massachusetts Turnpike.

She also wants the mattress to be something like a trampoline. A fellow tried sleeping on a trampoline, once, just for the experience. He sneezed and the thing threw him 11 feet.

This kind of woman also has the notion that all the mattresses in the house need to be taken out of doors and aired in the sun at frequent intervals. This makes every bedroom look like the sack of Rome by the barbarians and it makes the premises outside look like a gypsy encampment. And over the whole day hangs the awareness that the mattresses will have to be tugged into the house again before dark.

Grandpa says it was better in the old days, when a mattress consisted of an oversized sack full of corn husks or feathers. This kind of mattress didn't need to be turned, because it was shapeless any way you looked at it. All it needed was to be shaken once in a while, when the suffing had become so disarranged that the sleeper's hip bone was rubbing on the slats. A feather bed was considered the limit in luxury and no wonder. This modern mattress, constructed of steel springs, ship's canvas and glass fiber stuffing, is not even for the birds. The latter, ornithologists have noted, make for themselves and their young downy little

Way-Co Junior All-Stars Play In "Octagon League"

WAYLAND -- The Way-Co Junior League All-Star team has been selected and is at present playing in the "Octagon League" tournament, which is comprised of teams from Upton, Hopkinton, Hopedale, Medway, Holliston, Northboro and Ashland.

Friday night, August at Co-chituate Field, a non-league game was played against Medway. Way-Co won, 12 to 4, with Joey Porrell pitching a strong three-hitter. Way-Co had nine hits, highlighted by a grand slam home run by Tommy White. Walenski was the big hitter for Medway.

Friday night, August 14, at 8, the Way-Co team will meet Natick in a three-game series, all games to be played at Co-chituate under the lights starting at 8. The public is invited to attend. All games will be catered by the Arnold-Pearce Caterers of Co-chituate. Proceeds will be used to further the Way-Co Recreation Program.

Dumaine - Wolff

WAYLAND -- Miss Nancy Ellen Wolff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard C. Wolff of Shaw Drive, and Mr. Peter T. Dumaine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Dumaine of Lincoln Road, were married on July 31 at the Martha Mary Chapel in Sudbury. The 5 o'clock ceremony was performed by Reverend Dan Huntington Fenn and a reception followed at the Wayside Inn.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a princess gown of white silk embroidered organza with a portrait neckline and a bell-shaped skirt which ended in a chapel-length train. Her short illu-couches, or nests, which never have to be moved.

For ease of handling, as the makers say, there are two little cloth straps on each long side of the mattress. For moving the mattress, those straps belong on the short ends. But that wouldn't make much difference, because the straps aren't heavy enough for the weight and they tear off anyway.

Mattresses are probably better than rocks for sleeping on. But why doesn't somebody invent a way to move them? -- D.B.W.

sion veil was held by a pearl circlet and she carried a cascade bouquet of small white orchids, stephanotis, and ivy.

Mrs. William S. Wolff of Guilford, Connecticut, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Nancy Post and Miss Maxine Thomas, both of Wayland, were bridesmaids.

The best man was Mr. Peter Ourossoff of Washington, D.C. and the ushers were Mr. H. Curtis Dietrich, brother-in-law of the groom, and Mr. William S. Wolff, brother of the bride.

Miss Wolff attended the Beaver Country Day School and was graduated from the Butera School. Mr. Dumaine is a graduate of the Cambridge School of Weston and is planning to attend the Stockbridge School of Agriculture in the fall.

Following a wedding trip to British Columbia, the couple will live in Amherst.

Much material in the display at the Library concerns the 40 years during which Miss Bates was a member of the faculty of the English Literature Department, where she served from 1885 until her retirement in 1925. There is her first passport, issued in the spring of 1890.

Selections from many letters to Miss Bates from other poets attest to her well-known friendship and encouragement of fellow-writers. W. B. Yeats, W. M. Rossetti, Edward Dowden and Walter De La Mare of England are represented in her correspondence, as well as the American authors Robert Frost, Bliss Carman, Sara Teasdale and others.

The Katharine Lee Bates centennial exhibition will continue on display at Wellesley through the month of September. Summer hours, during which visitors will be welcome at the Library, are from 2 to 4:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays. The exhibit has been arranged by Miss Hannah D. French, research librarian at the College.

Bell Mahoney
WESTON -- Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Bell of 669 South Avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Emilie Dubois Bell, to Dr. Morgan Francis Mahoney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Mahoney of Newtonville.
Miss Bell was graduated from Kenwood Academy of the Sacred Heart in Albany, N. Y., and from the Powelson Business Institute in Syracuse.

Dr. Mahoney was graduated from Harvard University and from the Tufts University School of Medicine. He is a member of the staffs of the Glover Memorial Hospital, the Newton-Wellesley Hospital, and the New England Center Hospital, and is a practicing physician in Needham.

Jones Boy's Field Day

WAYLAND -- Charlie Jones, 7-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence W. Jones of Bow Road, all but ran away with the children's track events at the Essex Country Club Field Day at Manchester-by-the-Sea on Aug. 1.

Charlie, who came in either first or second in five out of the six events he entered, won three blue ribbons (first prize) and two red ribbons (second prize). He missed out only on the swimming contest.

His older brother, Larry Jones, won one blue ribbon.

Dr. Lipton To Head $53,000 Grant On Schizophrenia

WAYLAND -- Dr. Herbert Lipton of Malden Lane has been named Program Director for a $53,000 study to be undertaken by the Worcester State Hospital and the Institute of Human Development at Clark University in Worcester under a two-year grant made by the U. S. Public Health Service for the purpose of studying role relations and rehabilitation in schizophrenia.

Dr. Lipton, a research psychologist at the Worcester State Hospital, will head a staff of research personnel in the evaluation of problems faced by married male schizophrenics in their post-hospital adjustment. Former patients and their wives will be subjects for the study Dr. Lipton is embarking on in the hope of finding some of the psychological and social variable which determine success or failure in post-hospital community adjustment.

A staff member of the Worcester State Hospital since 1957, Dr. Lipton received his B.S. degree in psychology from Rutgers University and took his Master's and PhD degrees from Clark University.

He has been on the faculty of the Psychology Department at Clark since 1956 and will be Assistant Professor of Psychology there, beginning in September.

Dr. Lipton and his family moved to Wayland from Bedford in 1957, following termination of his duties at the Veterans Administration Hospital there.

He and his wife, Lee, have three children.

WESTON -- Mr. Edgar M. Kelly has been appointed District Director, Commerce and Industry General Business Division, in the 1960 United Fund Campaign. Mr. Kelly works for the Prudential Insurance Company in Boston. He has served with the U. S. Marine Corps. He and his wife, Frances E. Kelly, live at 65 Woodchester Drive.

Hundreds Took Part In The Weston Recreation Events

WESTON -- Two hundred tanned youngsters took part in the races and entertainment at the annual Water Day at Memorial Pool on Aug. 12, and on Aug. 13 another 175 participated in the annual bicycle clinic and competition marking the end of the playground season.

Both events were highlights of Summer activity sponsored by the Weston Recreation Commission.

A water ballet, to the music of "Sleepwalk", was a feature of the Water Day. The girls, in shortie pajamas, were Jane Van Nostrand, Cris Van Nostrand, Jenny Robbins, Judy Saunders, Carolyn Sloan, Joyce Tenneson, Ginny Maloney, Martha Minihan and Linda Heywood.

In the swimming competitions there were two teams, and the final point score was 97 for the Snapping Turtles to 64 for the Water Snakes. Lifeguards Ernie Trowbridge and Tom Clarke put on a clown act, and the swimmers had a chance to retrieve floating watermelons, donated by the Rotary Club, for refreshments.

The Water Day was not the end of the swimming season. Lessons will continue through Sept. 5 and the pool will close after Labor Day.

The Annual Field Day, conducted in 90 degree heat by Mr. John Proctor, recreation director, and Mr. Henry DeRusha, playground director, marked the end of organized activity at the playgrounds. Free tonic and ice cream were supplied by the Boosters Club.

Winners in the swimming races:

Beginners

Can race: 1. Betsy Robbins, 2. Diane Leverett, 3. Larry McCann. Dog paddle: 1. Eric Duffy, 2. Diane Leverett, 3. Betsy Robbins.

Advanced Beginners

Free style, 10 yards: 1. Jim Pillsbury, 2. Devvie Shneider, 3. Celia Shneider.

Back kick glide: 1. Chris Swanson, 2. Joan Brodrick, 3. Debbie McMillan.

Intermediates, Group 1.

Free style: 1. Terry Fitzpatrick, 2. Ann Vinal, 3. Judy Showell.

Real Cheap Thieves Were Stealing Old Newspapers

WESTON -- A couple of Jamaica Plain characters, described by Police Chief Frank O. Shaw as candidates for meanest thief, were captured on Aug. 17 in the act of stealing 1000 pounds of waste paper which had been left for the Boy Scouts of Troop 52 at the old fire station on North Avenue.

People would leave their old newspapers outside the building for the Scouts, who would put the accumulation inside every few days. But complaints had been received that the paper was disappearing.

So Chief Shaw, Sgt. Harold Lingley and officer John Clark Jr. lay in hiding and caught the culprits, two brothers, one 17 and one 25. One got a year, suspended, and had to make restitution of $16, and the other got probation. On top of that, the police escorted them back to North Avenue and stood over them while they unloaded 1000 pounds of papers from their car, in the hot sun, and put it back. --

What The Householder Can Do About Mosquito Plague

Here's what householders can do to help themselves in the mosquito plague, says Robert Armstrong, director of the Eastern Middlesex Control Project:

Check all screens for openings, and paint screens with DDT mixture. Be careful about opening doors. Close fireplace flues.

Spray rooms with bug bombs. Best results come from closing the room during the spraying, then opening it up after a few minutes.

Check every place around the grounds where water may have accumulated. Check empty cans, plastic swimming pools, open refuse containers.

The control people don't try to work in back yards of private homes. But it is believed that it is in back yards that most of this Summer's small house mosquitoes have hatched.

breeds in small wet places in the back yard.

And the cause seems to have been the excessive rain early in the Summer.

The water, around houses, collected in all sorts of places, some of them apparently unlikely. The control men even found larvae in puddles in driveways. A swimming pool, left with two or three inches of water in it while the family went away on vacation, was crawling with larvae.

Moreover, the lush vegetation makes it more difficult to get at the mosquitoes in the swamps. On top of that, things are bad all over, even in New Jersey and New York, and all the spraying airplanes are busy. The Middlesex control men are working day and night, blowing poisoned fog and spraying catch basins, but Mr. Armstrong confesses to feeling "frustrated".

"It was bad enough," he says, "when people couldn't sit out of doors in the evening. But now they have mosquitoes in the houses, and people complain of having to kill 10, 20 or 30 before they can go to bed."

Things are as bad on Corey Hill in Brookline, he says, as they are here, and it shocks people living there because in normal

Wayland School Notice

WAYLAND -- Registration of transfer students entering Wayland Junior High School, Grades 7 and 8, and Wayland Senior High School, Grades 9 through 12, will be held at the Wayland Junior-Senior High School on Tuesday, Sept. 1 and Wednesday, Sept. 2, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon each day. No appointments are necessary.

A student should request that his record be sent from his former school directly to Mr. Robert Andreotti, Principal of the Wayland Junior High School for grades 7 and 8. Those entering the Senior High School, grades 9 - 12 should direct their records to Mr. William M. Griffin, principal of the Wayland Senior High School.

It is necessary that the academic record, transfer card and certification of age be available at the time of registration.

Sat Up To Watch Late TV, Discovered Fire At 2 A. M.

WAYLAND -- John F. O'Reilly of 6 Crest Road was up watching the late show on TV at 2 a.m. on Aug. 18, and just as he was about to go to bed he discovered a fire blazing merrily in the upholstery of the living room couch. He waked everybody up and got his wife and four small children, ranging in age from 3 to 9 years, out safely, and called the Wayland Fire Department.

The living room furniture was damaged and the heat singed clothing and furniture in other parts of the five-room house, but the fire was quickly stopped. No estimate of damage was given.

Capt. Richard Gladu of the Wayland department was in charge in the absence of Chief Francis J. Hartin, who left on Aug. 16 for his vacation.

William W. Cusumano

WESTON -- Funeral services were held on August 17 at the First Christian Church in Wolfeboro, New Hampshire, for William Worthington Cusumano, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Cusumano of Meadowbrook Road who was killed in an automobile accident in Tuftonboro, New Hampshire, on August 15. He was a student at Tabor Academy and had previously attended Weston schools.

Besides his parents, he leaves two sisters, Patricia, 18, and Susan, 17.

UN Celebration Committee

WESTON -- Members of the Weston UN Celebration Committee. Front row, left to right: Mrs. Arthur A. Nichols, Mrs. William A. Elliston, Mrs. George E. Bottjer, Mrs. L. Whitman Smith and Mrs. John C. Gray. Back row: Mr. Nicholas Nyary, Mr. George E. Buckminster, Mr. W. L. Rinehart and Mr. Rudolph L. Helgeson Jr.

Harry B. Jones Named Assistant Town Clerk

WESTON -- Mr. Edward M. Dickson, Town Clerk, has announced the appointment of Mr. Harry B. Jones as Assistant Town Clerk. Mr. Jones, a lifelong resident of Weston, lives at 454 Concord Road. Mr. Jones is on the administrative staff of Tufts University, serving as Assistant Treasurer.

He has been active in many of Weston's civic programs. He is Past President of Weston High School Alumni Association, Past Commander of Weston Post, No. 214, American Legion, Past Secretary of Boy Scout Troop 52 Committee and present committee member and President of the Men's Club of Weston.

Softball Hostesses

Best NE Girls Softball Teams To Play In Tourney At Cochituate Ball Park

COCHITUATE -- The best girls' softball teams in New England will play at the Cochetuate baseball field on Aug. 21, 22 and 23, in the New England Championship Tourney, which is expected to be one of the most spectacular sports events in the town's history.

Depending on how the victories occur, there may be 11 games. The girls wear bright uniforms and the action is fast and skillful. Some of the games will be played under the lights, which seem to add to the color.

Collections will be taken and all the proceeds will go to the Way-Co Recreation Program, which sponsors sports programs for local boys and girls.

Usually the tournament is held in an enclosed field. Cochetuate won the event this year because of the contribution it will make to the Way-Co program. In any event, the tournament will not be played in Massachusetts again until 1965, because it is rotated among the six New England states.

The show will begin under the lights at 8 p.m. Friday, after brief exercises. First game will be between the Quincy Raiderettes, defending champions, and Coggin's All Stars, Massachusetts state champions for the past four years. In the second game Friday evening,

The Cochetuate Motors Corvettes, Massachusetts runners-up this year, will play the Malden Collegiates, 1959 Metropolitan Boston champs.

At 11 a.m. Saturday the winners of the first game will play the Conimicut Indians, Rhode Island champs, and the winners of the second Friday game will play the Somersworth Lassies, New Hampshire champions, at 1 p.m.

Other games will be played Saturday afternoon and evening, with the finals on Sunday afternoon.

Marcia Says Thank You

WAYLAND -- Marcia Murphy, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Murphy of 22 Marshall Terrace, wants to say thank you to all the people who were so nice to her recently while she was a patient in St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

Marcia had a fractured skull and a fractured vertebra, received in an automobile collision in West Medway. She was in the hospital from Aug. 5 to Aug. 13, and she says she's fine now, except that she has to wear a collar on her neck and rest a good deal. She'll be able to go into the 8th grade in Wayland Junior High School next month.

She says people sent cards, gifts, money, flowers and chocolates, and did all sorts of generous services, and she is very grateful.

About 240 billion gallons of water are used daily in the U.S.

Letters to the EDITOR

Hemlock Thief

To the Editor:

I wish the thief who keeps removing my husband's hemlock trees from lower Webster Road (five in all) would consider the time, work and loving-care spent on these. Perhaps then he (or she) would be decent enough to acquire their trees honestly in future.

No Slowdown In Births

It may seem to most local residents as though everything has slowed down to a practical standstill during this Summer season but that is not the reaction of a number of Weston and Wayland parents who have been kept busy recently bringing home their new offspring and rearranging their family schedules.

Among the newcomers who have made the last month an exciting one for their families are:

A son to Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Sabean of School Street, Wayland, on July 19 at the Leonard Morse Hospital.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Brady of 10 Bayfield Road, Wayland, on July 20 at the Leonard Morse Hospital.

A son to Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Jones of 39 Rich Valley Road, Wayland, on July 23 at the Waltham Hospital.

A son to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Flieger of 21 French Street, Wayland, on July 24 at the Leonard Morse Hospital.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Daniel H. Rossborough of 33 Davelin Road, Wayland, on July 24 at the Waltham Hospital.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Richard V. Dilbarian of 14 Rich Valley Road, Wayland, on July 29 at the Waltham Hospital.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian Vincello on 36 Peck Avenue, Wayland, on July 29 at the Waltham Hospital.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Jones of 53 Dean Road, Wayland, on July 30 at the Framingham Hospital.

A son to Mr. and Mrs. Milton Theall of 235 South Avenue, Weston, on August 6 at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Brasco of 166 North Avenue Weston, on August 6 at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

A son to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew R. Cay of 9 Orchard Lane, Wayland, on August 7 at the Waltham Hospital.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. John O. Markward of 42 Pequot Road, Wayland, on August 8 at the Waltham Hospital.

A son to Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. Reiman of 313 North Avenue, Weston, on August 8 at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

A son to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Son of 51 Sherman Bridge Road, Wayland, on August 8 at the Waltham Hospital.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Tierney of 68 Warren Avenue, Weston, on August 9 at the Waltham Hospital.

WESTON -- According to an announcement by Frank Lyman Jr., president, Middlesex Broadcasting Corporation, William A. Queen has been appointed general manager of Radio Station W T A O and also of its associate classical music station, W X H R.

Mr. Queen, who resides at 15 Blossom Lane, comes to his new assignment from W H D H, Boston, where he has been serving as national sales manager.

Who Put The Eggshells In The Coffee Pot, And Why?

And Do We Drink Coffee Because We're Crazy About Hot Water, Cream And Sugar?

One rotten rich local citizen who is also a wife lover, probably, recently paid $40 for a coffee making contraption and presented it to his spouse.

It turned out the machine produced coffee indistinguishable from that made in a tin pot from the five and ten.

This disappointing development brings up for examination the whole subject of coffee drinking, and what did Brazil ever do for us.

Essentially, the cup of coffee consists of hot water in which have been washed ground-up particles of foreign matter, meaning hardened berries not produced in the United States.

With the hot water, one can find no fault. That's a noble native product. Around here, in fact, it comes direct from the local soil. It's practically a civic duty to drink it and also, in moderation, wash in it.

Being accustomed to the hot brew, or, in slackly run households, the tepid brew, we never stop to think why we drink it. Or even, for that matter, of various reasons why we shouldn't.

On the word of one who drinks six or eight cups of the stuff every day, it actually does not have a particularly pleasant taste. It's bitter, not better. That's why so many put cream and sugar in it. The cream kills the color and the sugar kills the taste.

Some take their coffee straight. A few of these do so because they'd like to be mistaken for connoisseurs. Some think it keeps off weight. Mostly, those who take it unrelieved by cream or sugar do so because they have mountainous hangovers and their systems refuse anything complicated. Yet the fact remains that coffee is no hangover cure. Drinking black coffee the morning after is just like putting hot water on a fire. It just causes a cloud of steam.

Cocoa or hot chocolate tastes much better than coffee or even tea. Everybody around here, in old days, used to drink tea. It was tea which helped to cause the American Revolution. We have bigger and better taxes now, and a tax on tea wouldn't raise enough money to buy stamps. Hot chocolate was also an old favorite. It may be noticed that children nowadays are given cocoa, partly because it's known that they'd turn up their noses at coffee.

Just what coffee does for one is a mystery, too. In some cases, it's just something to take with a cigarette. In the office, the coffee break is mostly an occasion for breaking the monotony of work, for sitting around hacking up the boss and fellow employees.

Coffee may provide a stimulus, and it certainly produces no hangover. But it's a mild stimulus. It's a question whether a tired and hungry traveler, say, wouldn't be just as much refreshed by a glass of milk, delicately spiced with Strontium 90. The lift, if any, from a cup of coffee, has been measured, at a maximum, at 2 1/2 inches, as compared with a quick boost, sometimes to outer space, from 2 1/2 dry martinis.

To be fair, it must be admitted that coffee is the fuel which powers the League of Women Voters. This is the organization whose members study town government. Then they tell their husbands how it should be different. Then comes town meeting when the husbands debate until the hall is knee deep in blood, while the members of the League just sit there, sinister and ladylike, knitting, knitting, knitting.

Then there's the question of who threw the first eggshell in the first coffee pot, and why and whether it does any good. Some claim the eggshell got there by mistake, when it was thrown towards the garbage pail, and the thing developed into a

Persson - Lyford

Bonnie Anne Persson

WAYLAND -- Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Persson of 10 Rich Valley Road have announced the engagement of their daughter, Bonnie Anne, to Mr. Howard Burton Lyford Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Burton Lyford of 155 Boston Post Road, Wayland.

Miss Persson is a graduate of Wayland High School, class of '59, and is continuing her studies at Mansfield Academy, Boston. Mr. Lyford attended Belmont Hill School, and is a graduate of Chauncy Hall. He served for four years in naval aviation, and is presently employed by the Raytheon Corp. at Bedford.

WAYLAND -- Deborah Ann Harris and Kit Harris, small daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Harris, formerly of Pequot Road, were featured recently in a front-page photograph in the "Weekly Tribune" published in Geneva, Switzerland. The little girls were riding a merry-go-round.

Mr. Harris, a former member of the Wayland Finance Committee, is abroad on a business assignment.

ritual, like voodoo devil rites. At the Harvard Medical School, they say putting eggshells in the coffee neither improves nor lessens the quality of the eggshells.

And on New Year's Eve the Registry exhorts revelers to make the last drink coffee. In this the Registry, a pretty unsophisticated organization, is barking up a funny tree. Let a roisterer start celebrating the New Year with strong waters at 5 p.m. and by 1 or 2 the next a.m. he'll be in such a state that one coffee will have about as much effect on him as one aspirin on a world war. What the reveler really needs is 12 hours sleep, after which coffee is optional. -- D.B.W.

Davis - Nilan

WESTON -- Miss Jane Elizabeth Nilan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Nilan of Meadowbrook Road, was married in St. Peter's Church on August 15 to Mr. M. Fletcher Davis, son of Mrs. C.M.S. Davis of Fredericksburg, Virginia, and Mr. Kenneth C. Davis of Minneapolis. Reverend Peter R. Blynn performed the four o'clock ceremony and a reception followed at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Nilan's gown was of antique white satin and appliqued Alencon lace with the skirt ending in a cathedral train. She wore a mantilla of heirloom Brussels lace and carried a semi-crescent of white roses and stephanotis.

Miss Judith Ann Nilan, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Nancy Thorpe of Lincoln and Miss Susan McKee of Pittsburg. Anne Torrey of Weston was flower girl.

Mr. Alan R. Weisbrod of Portland, Oregon, was best man and Mr. Frederick N. Nash, Mr. Joseph T. Leverick, and Mr. Charles S. Spear, all of Cambridge, were ushers.

Miss Nilan was graduated from Concord Academy and Mt. Holyoke College. Mr. Davis was graduated from Harvard College in 1958 and is a second year student at the Church Divinity School of the Pacific (Episcopal) in Berkeley, California.

Wayland's Earliest History Preserved On Microfilm

WAYLAND -- A good part of this town's early history is now on record in microfilm and stored safely away in the Sudbury Town Hall vault. The reason for this strange storage place for Wayland records is a simple one. The records, twenty-two microfilm reels of them are the official records of the town of Sudbury for the last 2 1/2 centuries. And, in the early days, Wayland was a part of Sudbury. It was set apart as "East Sudbury" in 1780 but did not assume its present name until the town of Wayland was officially established on March 11, 1835.

The Sudbury records, which constitute one of the most complete assortments of ancient records in New England, reaching back without omission since the town's settlement in 1638, were microfilmed last fall by the Genealogical Society of the Church of Christ Latter Day Saints for their large genealogical library in Salt Lake City. The film was only recently received in Sudbury after having been processed at the Mormon Society's headquarters in Utah.

Early military lists, vital statistics, town and church records, and valuable papers comprise the data included on microfilm.

4-H Fair At Westford

J. T. Brown, director of the Middlesex County Extensions Service, calls attention to the fact that the Middlesex County 4-H Fair is to be held at the Westford 4-H Center on Aug. 28, 29 and 30.

The Fair provides members an opportunity to show their achievements of the past year through exhibits, contests and other activities.

years they have no mosquitoes at all.

Are the mosquitoes developing a resistance to DDT?

He'd like to find out. He'd also like to find out whether the small mosquitoes get into houses through the screens.

He finds that mosquitoes get in through doors. But a woman in Newton kept her door taped around the edges, and still had mosquitoes. Relief?

The control people are doing their best, but Nature's control, the frost, will do the business.

To Be Dean At M.I.T. School

WESTON -- Professor Howard W. Johnson of 32 Shady Hill Road will be the new dean of M.I.T.'s School of Industrial Management on November 1, it has been announced by Dr. Julius A. Stratton, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

A native of Chicago, Professor Johnson received his A.B. degree in economics from Central College there and took his master's degree in economics from the University of Chicago. He also did graduate work at the University of Glasgow in Scotland.

Professor Johnson came to M.I.T. in 1955 to direct the Sloan Fellowship Program for young executives in business and industry. In 1956, he organized the Program for Senior Executives and, a year ago, was appointed associate dean of the School.

Before coming to M.I.T., Professor Johnson had served for seven years on the University of Chicago faculty and had held positions with private industry in the personnel and management consultant fields. He served with the U. S. Army during World War II and at the end of the war was deputy civil affairs representative for the city of Montpelier, France.

Weston Selectmen To Call Meeting On RR Situation

WESTON -- Because the proposed abandonment of local passenger service on the Boston & Albany Railroad affects a number of Weston (and Wayland) commuters, the Weston Selectmen announce that they plan to call an informal meeting of residents, early in September, to find out just how many local persons are concerned and what should be done.

Many Weston commuters have been using the Riverside and Wellesley Farms stations, but the Selectmen have no figures to show just how many. Purpose of the meeting is to try to find out just how seriously the ending of service would affect local persons, and what action may be taken, in cooperation with other cities and towns affected, to seek the continuance of some service.

Since the end of June, service on the Central Massachusetts Branch of the Boston & Maine, which runs through both Wayland and Weston, has been reduced to one train to Boston in the morning and one train out from Boston late in the afternoon.

WESTON -- Mr. and Mrs. Edward Edmunds of 36 River Street are attending the national convention of the Disabled American Veterans being held in Miami Beach during the week of August 16.

Advice On Grass Cutting

The heat of summer produces a certain lethargy in people - even gardeners. We tend to do only the very necessary tasks about the garden, putting off all jobs that require much energy. The lawn requires some attention if it is to continue green and smooth.

One lawn job which cannot be left 'til later is mowing. The lawn must be cut regularly when it reaches a height of from 2 - 3 inches. Cutting at 1 1/2 inches is recommended as the optimum for Massachusetts. This height will promote deep root penetration and help the lawn withstand dry weather. It will also help shade out crabgrass. Leave the clippings on the lawn to return nutrients to the soil unless they are so heavy as to exclude sunlight from the grass.

Weed control is a never ending battle in the lawn. Broad-leaved weeds such as plantain and dandelion should be hand-dug in midsummer. The selective herbicides or weed killers should not be used at this time because of the injury caused to other plants and the lack of growth in the weeds.

Crabgrass, the bane of many homeowners' lawns, should be controlled now. The new chemical, disodium methylarsonate, will give practically complete control of this lawn pest if properly applied. Read the directions on the package and follow them carefully. No material can be expected to give good results if not used properly.

ject to the social security tax. In the 1958 amendments Congress increased the earnings base to $4800 in order to reflect the increase in the level of wages.

"If you are an employee you should make sure that your employer keeps on withholding your social security taxes until you have paid $4800, the maximum creditable toward social security benefits," Mr. Keyes said. This is the time of year that many employees start reaching the $4200 to $4800 level and some employers might not be aware of the change. If an employee doesn't get credit for all his earnings, up to the maximum of $4800, his benefits will be correspondingly less.

The increase in earnings base means an increase in benefits.
"You'll pay more and you'll get more." The top retirement benefit payable on average earnings of $4200 ($350 a month) is $116.
Workers who retire in the future may qualify for the eventual maximum benefit of $127 a month based on average earnings of $4800 a year ($400 a month).

Pup Being Entertained

WAYLAND -- Mr. John R.
Breckenridge of 63 Stonebridge Road reports that his family is playing host to a fairly big pup, apparently about 6 months old, who walked into the premises on Aug. 13. He has no collar, but seems to have been well cared for.
And he seems to be part hound and part collie, perhaps among other strains.

Mr. Breckenridge says he's going to keep the dog for a while, to see whether somebody will claim him. His telephone number is OL 3-0421.

WESTON -- Jonathan P. Bartel, son of Mrs. William E. Bartel of 12 Robin Road, was graduated at the 138th Commencement of New Hampton School, New Hampton,
N.H., on May 30. Bartel was a member of the glee club.

WESTON -- Mr. Thomas D.
Cabot of 31 Farm Road has been appointed a member of the enlarged Boston University Development Council, a top-level advisory group whose responsibility it is to provide leadership in the development of new University building as well as in endowments for the improvement of scholarship and salaries.

Mr. Cabot is president and chairman of the board of directors of Godfrey L. Cabot, Inc., in Boston.

WESTON -- John P. Merrill Jr., of Noble & Greenough, is reported as one of the 208 participants in a wrestling clinic at Lehigh University.

Not only are most first heart attacks not fatal, but a large number of them go totally unsuspected.

WAYLAND -- Miss Virginia L.
Moulton of 80 Plain Road is enjoying a month's vacation at "Camp Merry Meeting" in Bath, Maine.

WAYLAND -- Mrs. Thomas
Wentworth of Plain Road is spending a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Leroy Houghton, and family, at their summer home in Eastham.

WAYLAND -- Rachael Doane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Doane of 73 Old Sudbury Road, a freshman at Earlham College, Richmond, Ind., was a member of the property crew in the Mask &
Mantle production of William Shakespeare's comedy, "The Taming of the Shrew", which was presented May 14 and 15 in Goddard Auditorium on the Earlham campus.

Guests In Weston

WESTON -- Members of the Harvard International Seminar were entertained in Weston on July 12 and again on Aug. 12 by Mrs. David N. Little, 99 South Avenue. On the latter occasion, the guests were taken to visit Concord Bridge. Left to right, standing: Stanko Grozdanich, Yugoslavia; Rosamond Bennett, Boston; Mrs. Stephen S. Fitzgerald, Weston; Mohamed El Dessuky, United Arab Republic; Adam Szunpar, Pólánd, and Miss Marianne Feuersenger, Germany. Front, Juan Echevarria, Spain.

Give Your Cat A Vacation

WAYLAND -- How much does it cost to take the family cats on a vacation? It may all depend, as one local family found out recently, on how interested the cats are in travelling. This cat-loving family had made all arrangements to take their two pets with them on a three weeks' visit to the New Hampshire hills, but, at the last minute, one of the cats - who was about to become a mother - was nowhere to be found. The family had to leave but was able, after a number of phone calls, to locate 1.) a neighbor who guaranteed to watch for the cat's return, 2.) a relative who would drive the cat to Boston and see that it got shipped by Railway Express, and 3.) a petshop which would deliver a travelling cage for the missing cat's journey. On their arrival in New Hampshire, however, the family found that the Railway Express station at which the cat was to have arrived had been discontinued. Another phone call was made, this time from New Hampshire to Wayland, giving the cat's new destination. They were informed that the cat, as expected, had come back home but that it had also given birth to a litter of still-born kittens and looked as though it might be happier staying at home with a neighbor's child, who had agreed to take over as cat-sitter. Meanwhile, back in New Hampshire the other kitten was having a fine time enjoying the scenery and had just left for a prolonged stroll when the family was obliged to vacate its cottage. More neighbors and the same relative, who had only just arrived for a vacation in the locality, were pressed into service. Only at this end, no travel cage was available and the shortest route back for the second wandering feline would involve a transfer of trains at Portland, Maine. A few hours later, back in Wayland, the distraught family received a call from New Hampshire assuring them that the kitten had turned up within minutes after their departure; that a farmer had rounded up a crate and some strong rope; and that the kitten had been sent off on the first leg of its journey to Portland. The only difficulty, as it turned out, was that the train on which the kitten had been deposited was a main trunk line to Montreal and another phone call (collect and in the middle of the night) alerted the waiting family that their small cat had crossed the Canadian border and was at Montreal for a few hours, but that it would surely be sent back to Boston and was due to arrive at the North Station at

Integration Finally Arrives

WAYLAND -- The new telephone books being delivered this week have achieved what many local people have been hoping for for years - more than a token attempt at integration. Instead of being grouped under the town in which their exchange happens to fall, all subscribers in the 11-town area covered by the book are listed alphabetically from A to Z, exactly as in the big Greater Boston book. The new directory will be especially satisfactory in the case of Wayland residents with Olympic numbers who were previously listed under the town of Natick. The change might cause a slight hardship to some of the Smith families, however, as they will now have to be sorted out from 2 1/2 columns of Smiths.

Popular Boating Spot

WAYLAND -- Not all the heavy traffic in town this year was on the highways. The waters of Lake Cochituate have been carrying quite a load, too, according to the Massachusetts Department of Natural Resources. A recent report by the Department showed that more than 242,000 people have visited the Lake Cochituate State Park during the past 12 months.

3:30 a.m. the following night. Repeated phone calls during the next evening failed to bring forth any information about which train was due when and whether the kitten was actually aboard. However, the next morning - just as the family was preparing to take off for Boston - a railway truck drove up to the house complete with cat and the crate in which it had been journeying about for the last two-and-a-half days. The kitten was happy and in excellent condition and the charge for delivery was only $6.34. When the kitten had been let loose and the family sat down to figure out the rest of its expenses, it appeared that the delivery charge had been a mere pittance. The total at this point - at least as far as anyone can figure - comes to about $28.64, including rail fare, phone calls, the stay-at-home cat's baby-sitter, presents for the neighbors, and funeral fees. And the long-suffering relative is still to be taken out for a bang-up thank-you dinner.

New Head Of B.C. Libraries

WESTON -- Reverend Brendan C. Connolly, S.J., librarian at Weston College since 1951, has been appointed director of libraries at Boston College. Father Connolly has served as a consultant in library planning for Jesuit libraries in Iraq, Venezuela, and the Philippines and is the only Jesuit in the United States to hold a Ph.D. in library science. He suggests six rules for using

Two Wayland Couples Have Reunion In Harrow, England

WAYLAND -- Mr. and Mrs. David A. Trageser of Concord Road were dining in a small inn in Harrow, outside London on their recent European trip, when they were unexpectedly joined by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Harris, formerly of Pequot Road, who moved abroad a year ago when Mr. Harris' company sent him to Italy as a representative.

The Tragesers report that although the Harris family hopes to return to Wayland some day, they are thoroughly enjoying their European life. They live in Geneva, Switzerland, where the older children attend the International School, and Mr. Harris commutes on week-ends from his office in Milan, Italy.

The reunion was only one of the high spots of their trip for the Tragesers. Mrs. Trageser flew to London in late June to join her husband, Dave, who had been travelling through the continent on business for the High Voltage Engineering Corporation. They spent a few days in London and Paris before leaving for a two-week vacation in Spain and Portugal.

The unusually hot weather they ran into in Spain didn't bother them too much, Mrs. Trageser says, although the thermometer did register 124 deg. Fahrenheit on one warm day in Seville. And, in spite of siestas which lasted from noon to 6 p.m., they managed to see everything they had planned to in Madrid and Seville and were always lucky enough to find a hotel with a swimming pool. Malaga, on the coast, was refreshingly cool and they enjoyed a few days' relaxation there before flying to Lisbon and from there back to Boston and Wayland.

Outside of the beauty and artistic delights which they had anticipated seeing in Spain, the Tragesers were most impressed by the unshakeable dignity of the people in the midst of oppressive poverty. The sight of 50 or 60 tall, modern apartment buildings standing unfinished in the middle of Madrid, obviously abandoned for lack of funds, is one of the shocks they still find it hard to get over.

Morton - Faunce

WESTON -- Miss Cynthia Arden Faunce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Augustus Faunce of Westfield, was married in the Grace Church, Amherst, on August 15 to Mr. Peter Sherburne Morton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace P. Morton of 72 Chestnut Street. Reverend James C. Crosson performed the ceremony and a reception followed at Bobbin Hollow Farm in Amherst.

Miss Deborah Jessop of Nashua, New York, was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Emily Margeson of Malden, Miss Lisa Collins of Barrington, Rhode Island, Miss Carol Hamann and Mrs. Richard Kelse, both of Westfield.

Mr. Frank Lee Hitchcock of Weston was best man and ushers were Mr. Jerome Fletcher of Brockton, Mr. David Olsen of Bronxville, New York, Mr. Donald Peoples of Natick, and Mr. Howard Faunce of Amherst.

Miss Faunce attended Westbrook Junior College and Mr. Morton attended Bowdoin College. Following a wedding trip to Bermuda, they will live in Weston.

Mrs. Martha Cook

WAYLAND -- A memorial service was held on August 14 at the Second Church in West Newton for Mrs. Martha (Stough) Cook of Claypit Hill Road. Reverend Dan Huntington Fenn, pastor of the First Parish Church in Wayland, and Reverend Ross Cannon, minister of the Second Church, conducted the service.

Mrs. Cook is survived by two sons; Dr. Hale H. Cook of West Newton, currently on leave from his duties as a medical missionary in India, and Mr. Robert P. Cook of Loring Road, Weston, and by two daughters; Mrs. John S. Jensen of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, and Mrs. L. William Bertelsen of Claypit Hill Road with whom Mrs. Cook had made her home for the past six years. She also leaves 10 grandchildren and a cousin, Mr. Donald B. Hyde of Woodridge Road.

Boys' First Camping Trip

WAYLAND -- First-time campers are Robert MacKnight, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. MacKnight of Maguire Road; David Landsberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Meyer I. Landsberg; and Gary and Jan Slickman, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Howard D. Slickman, all of Charles Road.

They returned recently, full of enthusiasm for the camper's life, from two weeks spent at Camp Ni-Te-Na in Alton, New Hampshire.

Cardinal Cushing To Be At Big Sudbury Barbecue

SUDBURY -- Our Lady of Fatima Parish, Concord Road, will run its 3rd Annual Mammoth Chicken Bar-B-Q. on Sunday, August 30, from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. His Eminence, Richard Cardinal Cushing, will be there to meet the parishioners and all his friends.

There will be pony rides and other games for the children, as well as amusements and games for the adults. The dinner will be prepared by master chef Mr. Pat Davis.

Mrs. Ella L. Mulock

WESTON -- Funeral services were held at the Freedom Wentworth and Sons Funeral Home in Waltham on August 17 for Mrs. Ella L. (Burns) Mulock, widow of Mr. Franklin C. Mulock, former Weston Fire Chief. Dr. E. F. Chauncey, rector-emeritus of St. Peter's Church in Weston, officiated.

Before moving to Jamaica Plain six years ago, Mrs. Mulock had lived for many years at 147 Newton Street and was a member of St. Peter's Church.

She leaves two sons, Mr. Arthur F. Mulock of Bradenton, Florida, and Mr. Harold O. Mulock of Auburndale, and a daughter, Mrs. Thomas L. Curtis of West Springfield.

On Camping Trip To Chicago

WAYLAND -- Mr. and Mrs. Foster Abbott and family of Parmenter Road left on August 16 for a 10-day camping trip to Chicago, where they will visit Mr. Abbott's parents.

The Abbotts, who have six children ranging in age from 3 to 13, packed a car full of gear including tents, sleeping bags, outdoor stoves and refrigerators for their stops at state parks along the way. They will spend some time in the Lake Erie region of Ohio on their way out and return by way of the Adirondacks and Niagara Falls.

Local Men Receive B.U. Faculty Promotions

WAYLAND -- Boston University announces the promotions of two local residents among the 62 members of its faculty to be so advanced.

Dr. Ralph J. Garry of Brook Trail Road has been named Professor of Education and Mr. George K. Lewis of Concord Road will be an Associate Professor of Geography.

In Hot Spell, Do Nothing, Health Ass'n. Suggests

Since June 1, the U. S. Weather Bureau has been helpfully announcing what it calls "the comfort index" in its weather forecasts. As most of us have learned by now, this figure combines the air's temperature and the amount of moisture in it. A comfort figure of 75 may mean 80 degrees temperature and 60% humidity, or 85 degrees temperature and 30% humidity, or 75 degrees temperature and 100% humidity.

People do not all react to such situations in the same way. When the index is 75, the Weather Bureau thinks, about half of the population feels uncomfortable. When it is down to 70, only 10 percent of us feel put out. At 80, everybody is miserable.

By now you have a pretty good idea what you comfort index is. The Middlesex Tuberculosis and Health Association suggests planning your day accordingly. If the morning forecast is poor and you're able to get away with it, do as little as possible. The less motion, the less misery.

At home do only what has to be done, dishes, beds, straightening up. Find a nice cool spot to sit. Indoors is generally better than outdoors on hot and humid days. Read, listen to music, write letters, do some mending. Wear as little as you need to be presentable and eat simple, wholesome food.

The same applies on the job. Where planning is possible, do lighter tasks, put off heavy work for a cooler day. Dress lightly in cottons (women) or the new washable synthetics (men and women).

When it snows, you usually call off meetings, keep the kids home from school and try to get home early yourself, mostly because of driving hazards. The same thinking should apply to the worst summer days, too. When the comfort index hits 80 or more it's equally a hazard. Besides, let's face it; nothing much gets done anyway!

In California On Visit

WAYLAND -- Miss Martha Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Smith Jr. of Parmenter Road, flew to California on July 30 to visit her brother, Tim, who is working for the Summer at a resort lodge in Squaw Valley, site of next year's Winter Olympics.

Martha, a sophomore at Wheelock College, returned recently from a two-months stay in Baltimore and has been visiting with her family at their Summer home in Annisquam.

COCHITUATE -- Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian J. Vincello of 36 Peck Avenue announce the birth of their third child, first daughter, July 29 in the new Nichols Wing of the Waltham Hospital. She was christened Laurie Ann by Rev. Frederick J. Hobbs of St. Zepherin's on Sunday, Aug. 9. Godparents are Mr. and Mrs. Alexander MacLean of Medford. The christening was followed by a family cook-out. She has two brothers, Mark, age 5, and Peter, age 4. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cormier and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vincello, all of Waltham.

WESTON -- Ninety per cent of Weston High School students elect to study science. National average of high school pupils choosing science is 40 per cent.

Wayland High School Is Taking Shape

WAYLAND -- The picture above, from Architects Collaborative of Cambridge, gives an idea of how the new Wayland High School will look when finished, a year from now. The domed building at the left is the field house. The view is, roughly, northward from Old Connecticut Path. Playing fields and the Sudbury River lie beyond the school buildings. Concrete slabs for the buildings shown have already been poured. Actually, picture does not give a true idea of the size of the site, which includes more than 90 acres.

This Is How Weston High Will Look

Architects' drawing gives an idea of how proposed new Weston High School should look. Entrance is from Wellesley Street, which was recently widened and resurfaced. Site covers 63 acres on southeast corner of Wellesley Street and South Avenue. Building is planned so that more classrooms can easily be added to it in the future.

Wayland Schools To Open On Sept. 8 And Sept. 10

WAYLAND -- Wayland schools will reopen on Sept. 8 and 10, says Supt. Edward J. Anderson, with an enrolment of more than 2300, the largest ever, as usual, up 12 per cent from last year.

All Junior and Senior High School students are to report at 7:50 a.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 8. Students in Grades 7 and 8 will report to their advisors. For their guidance, lists of students and their advisors will be posted at the school entrances and on all bulletin boards.

Students in grades 9 through 12 are to report to the auditorium for a meeting with the principal, Mr. William M. Griffin, and teachers. This first High School day will be a minimum school day, with the buses leaving for homes at 11 a.m.

School for elementary pupils will begin at 8:30 a.m. on Thursday, Sept. 10. School bus schedules are available at the Town Office Building and at other locations in town.

New principal of the Junior High will be Mr. Robert Andreotti. Mr. Griffin will continue as principal (Please turn to Page 7)

Weston Schools Will Open On Sept. 10 With 1965 Pupils, The Most Ever

WESTON -- Weston schools are to reopen on Wednesday, Sept. 10, says Supt. of Schools Anthony Brackett, with a total attendance from kindergarten through 12th grade, estimated in advance at 1965.

Last year's enrolment was 1816. The projection for the next few years shows 2101 in 1960, 2224 in 1961, 2349 in 1962 and 2441 in 1963. That's as far as the total projection is carried on the present chart.

The senior High School will have 453 pupils, as against 394 last year, and the figures say there will be 501 pupils a year from now. The projection says the senior High School (grades 9 through 12) will continue to grow in size by approximately 50 pupils a year, until in 1968 its enrolment will be 874.

The present High School building was built for 400 pupils. Last year, says Supt. Brackett, it was comfortably filled. This year it will be at capacity and next year it's going to be crowded. After that, when presumably the new High School on South Avenue will be opened, the pressure should be off.

The schedule for the opening of schools:

Enlists In Navy

WAYLAND -- John Edward Haynes, above, son of Mr. George E. Haynes and the late Mrs. Haynes of State Road, who used to play football and basketball for Wayland High School, enlisted in the U. S. Navy on Aug. 6 at Framingham. He was graduated from Wayland High in 1959 and he had been working at Collins Market. His brother, Richard Haynes, is an Airman 2d class.

New Weston Elementary School Opening Will Be Delayed For Some Weeks

WESTON -- Indications were that the new elementary school under construction would not be ready by the first day of classes, and Mr. Stephen H. Tyng, chairman of the Weston School Committee, says the problem will be solved by using what space is available.

The opening of kindergarten will be postponed, he says, and the three kindergarten rooms in the Case House will be used for elementary school pupils. Three extra rooms in Building B will be pressed into service and three or four more classes will be enlarged, by using more than one teacher to a room.

The Committee can't tell exactly how long it will be before the new school is ready, but it has in mind, roughly speaking, Oct. 15.

Eddie Collins Jr. Will Begin Teaching In Weston

WESTON -- Mr. Edward T. Collins Jr., son of the late famous Eddie Collins who played second base for the Philadelphia Athletics and was subsequently Red Sox general manager, is one of the interns who will teach social studies at the Junior High School this year.

Mr. Collins, a graduate of Yale, has played professional baseball, has been in the Navy and has had experience in business. A year ago he decided to become a teacher and he has been taking courses at Harvard.

When he was a boy he lived in Weston, in the house on Concord Road now occupied by Mr. Charles K. Cummings of the High School faculty. As a place to begin his teaching career, Weston was naturally his first choice.

WAYLAND -- Persons interested in doing substitute teaching in the Wayland elementary schools during the coming school year should call ELMwood 8-7401.

The World War II Babies Are In Junior High Now

Much has been heard recently about the wave of World War II babies due to hit the colleges before long, and the mathematics of it may be seen in this year's enrolment figures in local schools.

In Wayland, says Supt. Edward J. Anderson, there will be 120 pupils in the 9th grade this year, but 200 in the 8th grade. Those 200 8th graders will represent children born about 1945 or 1946, the first post-war babies. This shows a jump of something like 66 per cent in the size of the class, from one year to the next.

In Weston, the break seems to come between the 9th and 10th grades. In the 10th grade, this year, the figures show 109 pupils, but in the 9th, 153.

Larger classes are in prospect in all the succeeding lower age groups, too.

These children, born between 1945 and 1950, say, are the ones who will start swamping the colleges. (Please turn to Page 10)

Crowds Attended Softball Tournament

COCHITUATE -- Large crowds turned out at the Cochituate baseball field on Aug. 21, 22 and 23, for the New England Regional Softball Tournament, held in town for the last time in at least six years. The winner, after exciting competition, was Caggiano's All Stars of Lynn, which will enter the World Championship Tourney at Raybestos Field, Stratford, Conn., next month. The All Stars finally eliminated the Corvettes, Cochituate Motors team, 5 to 3, after Corvettes led until the fifth inning. Proceeds went to the Way-Co Recreation Program. Above, spectators. Thomas L. Phillips Is Named To Raytheon Post

WAYLAND -- Thomas L. Phillips of 28 Marshall Terrace has been named Assistant Manager of Raytheon Company's Missile Systems Division, it has been announced.

He succeeds T. C. Wisenbaker, who was appointed division manager in July. In addition to his new duties, Phillips will continue to serve as manager of the division's Bedford Laboratories, a post he has held since 1957.

Thomas L. Phillips

An 11-year veteran with the firm, Phillips was assistant laboratory manager from 1955 to 1957, manager of the Missile Systems Department from 1953 to 1955, and prior to that time held various positions designing servomechanisms, special radar circuits and systems.

Outstanding work on the Navy's Sparrow III missile system, for which Raytheon is prime contractor, won for him the Navy Meritorious Public Service Citation in 1958.

A Virginia Polytechnic Institute graduate, he received his B.S.E.E. there in 1946 and an M.S.E.E. in 1947. He is a former member of the Defense Department's National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics and the Research and Development Board's Committee on Guided Missiles.

Worry About Earthquakes?

WAYLAND -- Gail Benson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Benson of Lincoln Road, and Betsy
Tanger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
John Tanger of Rice Road, were within 26 miles of the sensational earthquake which shook Yellowstone Park recently. But, according to the girls, the rumble didn't sound any louder than the usual sonic boom that local residents have been accustomed to hear these days when another jet breaks the sound barrier. And they couldn't quite understand how the news of it had traveled all the way to Wayland.

The Benson and Tanger families, however, put in an anxious day after hearing the report of the quake, knowing that their daughters, who are working for the summer in the West Thumb section of Yellowstone, must be somewhere in the vicinity of the disaster.

Late in the day, after waiting to get some word through the Red Cross, they finally tried putting in a call direct to the camp where the girls were staying. The call went through in minutes but Betsy and Gail, who were told there was a person-to-person call waiting for them were scared stiff thinking something dreadful must have happened back home.

They had trouble convincing their parents that they had heard the quake the evening before but had gone right on with their cabin dance because it hadn't sounded like anything The parents, in turn, had trouble convincing the girls that the Boston papers had even heard about the earthquake so, just to prove they weren't being silly worrywarts, the Bensons and Tangers have dug up a collection of two-inch headlines from the local editions and shipped them off to Yellowstone.

Betsy and Gail, who have been working for the Summer as maids for the Yellowstone Park Company, have been enjoying the far West along with a large group of other schoolgirls who are employed at the camp site. They admit it means getting up pretty early and making an incredible number of beds each morning but they also find spare time for going to fishfries, climbing up mountains and sliding down glaciers.

Gail, who was graduated from Green Mountain Junior College in June, and Betsy, who will be a senior at Denison University in Ohio have, among a good many other new interests, acquired a real attachment for bears. They report that there are not only lots of brown bears which are common to the region but quite a collection of grizzlies as well. A small cub grizzly made his home on their doorstep just recently and they were also visited by one which weighed approximately 650 pounds and had only one eye.

Betsy, who is majoring in biology and has been chosen to do the illustrations for a book one of her professors is writing, is finding that life in Yellowstone offers plenty of material both for her sketch pad and for illustrated letters back home.

The Bustle Vanished Long Ago--Now The Hat's Gone

So Has The Hatpin,
Which, Grandma Boasted,
She Used To Stab Wolves

Within the grim memory of men now living is the recollection of the ordinary woman, urban or suburban, strolling daintily down the street peering into shop windows, wearing a three-decker hat, high button shoes, cotton stockings, a waist with a high collar and a long skirt with a bustle.

The bustle disappeared first. No reason was ever given, although perhaps there was a feeling that it was unnecessary to accentuate the positive.

Latest part of the standard costume to vanish is the hat.

Like many great revolutions, such as the adoption of canned vegetable juice, this disappearance has been a gradual affair. We look around us and everything seems the same, and then something happens, the scales fall from our eyes and we perceive that the trees have grown tall on Main Street.

The local woman of today still has a hat, to be sure, but she only wears it when she goes to church, and hardly that. A report comes in of a woman seen in church the other day wearing a paper napkin, held in place with bobby pins, on her head. It must be admitted that this seems like a more sanitary covering than the old fashioned hat, which had more crevices to catch dirt than an 1874 model cow barn.

In Summer weather, nowadays, no girl between the ages of 2 and 90 wears anything on her head.

This is partly because, the modern hair style being what it is, there's no place to stick a hatpin. In old days, when coiffures were high and elaborate, a hat could be fastened with a railroad spike. Now there's no place to shove a hatpin except into the skull, and there's no beauty in that.

The hatpin, Grandpa can remember, also used to be considered a necessary weapon for self defense. At least, that was the propaganda Grandma put out. Her story was that wolves were always following her in packs, and that it was a dull day when she didn't come home with a hatpin dripping blood.

Ah, Grandma was a sly old girl. The fact was, she wouldn't have taken a hatpin out of her bonnet, after spending an hour getting it in there just right, if six wolves had been gnawing on her wrist.

Anyway, modern woman seems to get along all right without hatpins. Maybe it's because she doesn't get as much attention as Grandma says she did. Maybe it's because she gets the same result by showing her membership card in the League of Women Voters, which proves she's strongminded. Possibly it's because it's known that she has field hockey muscles.

What's taken the place of the hat is the peasant scarf. This is an enlarged handkerchief, thin enough to strain grapejuice through, which is tied under the chin in bad weather. Besides making its wearer look like a Muscovite peasant who ought to be out driving a tractor, this scarf has a magic property. It keeps off rain and snow. How it does this is not known.

Some say it's a good thing the hat has vanished. It is suggested that the sight of a local matron in old sneakers, no socks, wrinkled

Bermuda shorts and withered jersey, crowned by an Easter-model hat eight inches tall by a foot in diameter, decked with flowers like a neglected garden, would be more than modern sensibilities could well endure.

In the South Sea islands, the movies tell us, girls wear sarongs and flowers in their hair. Around here the sarong hasn't become popular, attractive as it is, because it has no legs. Suburban woman insists on wearing trouser legs as a symbol of social dominance, no matter how they look.

Nor does she wear flowers in her hair, instead of a hat. She doesn't even carry a rose in her teeth. D.B.W.

Millions Have Been Spent On Wayland School System

Modern Miracle Scheduled At New Wayland High School

WAYLAND --A modern miracle will take place during the last week of August as the roof-raising will begin at the new Wayland High School and a field house and four main buildings will seem to appear overnight.

Mr. James Cazanans of Cochituate Road, general contractor for the school which is now under construction on Old Connecticut Path, expected the roof-raising to begin on Aug. 26 and to be completed in about a week, depending on the weather. The roofs, of poured slab, have already been built on the ground. They are complete, with pipes and electrical conduits laid inside the cement, and need only to be raised and placed on the buildings.

The field house, most advanced of the construction to date, is complete in its basic construction and needs only the placing of its dome-shaped roof.

The roof-raising, a unique procedure which is done by only one company in the country, the Slab Corporation of America, a Texas firm which will transport its equipment to Wayland, is expected to be attended by builders and architects from all over. If local people are interested, too, Mr. Cazanans says "We may end up with quite a crowd."

Mr. Cazanans reports that the project, particularly in some areas, is way ahead of schedule. Besides the nearly complete field house, all the other four buildings (the arts and science building, the language building, the little theatre building, and the cafeteria and administration building) have at least their foundations completed and some are in a more advanced state.

Get Acquainted Evening

WAYLAND -- A get-acquainted evening will be held by the Claypit Hill School for parents of children entering first grade this fall at 8 p.m., Thursday evening, Sept. 3, at the school.

The program will provide parents with an opportunity to become acquainted with the school, the first grade teachers and the first grade program and daily schedule. Coffee will be served at 7:30.

Practical jokes are the impractical, or dangerous, kind.

Let's Think About It

WITH THE OPENING of another school year just around the corner, it is fitting that we talk about college. Serious minded parents, whether their child is age one, or twenty-one, have it very much in mind.

First of all: THE NEED FOR COLLEGE. In 1900, there were only 250,000 students enrolled in American colleges. Today there are 3,200,000. In ten years it is estimated that this number will double. This means that the competition for the better jobs will grow constantly fiercer, and the boy or girl who is not academically equipped will fall back in the race. ($100,000 or more in lifetime earnings is the difference between the high school and college graduate.)

WHAT ABOUT COST? In the last twenty years the cost of a college education has more than doubled. In 1940 the average cost of a year at college was $1,060. Today this figure has risen to $2,309. This covers bare necessities, and does not include such items as travel costs or fraternity initiation fees.

What about paying college costs out of income? If a man earns $5,000, a year's typical college costs will consume 50.4% of his after-tax earnings. If he earns $10,000 it will take a 26.7% bite. And costs, which have increased by one-third in the last four years will increase by the same amount in the next four.

Is there any logical reason why the parent of today's child should not prepare immediately for the costs of that vitally necessary education—if his child is to be prepared to compete?

Weston Will Vote On New High School In October

WESTON -- Plans have been drawn for the new Senior High School, to be built on a 63-acre tract of level land at the corner of Wellesley Street and South Avenue, and Leo F. Glynn, chairman of the building committee, says a Special Town Meeting will be called for the first week in October to ask the town to vote the money for it.

The price tag isn't yet written exactly, but it looks as though it might be in the neighborhood of $2,200,000 or $2,300,000. (Last December, Wayland voted $2,275,000 for its new high school, now under construction.)

The proposed school is a big thing, of course, with a number of interesting features. A number of public discussion meetings will be held on it in September, with probably one big public meeting, before the Town Meeting. Mr. Glynn says the committee is still very much open to suggestions and ideas from the townspeople.

Some items:

Emphasis is on the educational. Marked changes in teaching procedures are in sight, and this building, while on the "conservative" side, is so planned that with minor changes it can be adapted to whatever new practices may seem to be desirable.

A swimming pool will be offered to the town as an alternate proposal. A pool 75 by 35, adjacent to the gymnasium, would cost something more than $150,000. But when the school gets its first addition, another multi-purpose gym room would be needed, costing perhaps $90,000, and perhaps the pool could take the place of this room. Thus the net cost of the pool might be $60,000 to $70,000, of which the State would pay 28 per cent.

But the pool, about which it is supposed there may be some differences of opinion, will not be tied in with the school proposal in one iron package. It will be offered as "optional equipment".

There will be a parking area for 200 vehicles.

The gym, 8800 square feet, will have bleachers of the pull-out type, capable of seating 1000 for a basketball game.

The playing field will cover 20 acres. Four working fields will be available for the physical education program every afternoon, two for boys and two for girls. There will be one baseball diamond, with portable bleachers, and one football field. The latter will have permanent stands on one side and portable bleachers on the other. Seating capacity, 4000 to 5000.

Part of the school lot will be left as it is, for nature study.

An auditorium with fixed seats, a sloping floor and a stage will hold 640, for school assemblies. It may be used for Town Meetings. If a really big Town Meeting has to be held, the gym will be available. The auditorium will be the largest in town and can double as a theatre, besides being used in dramatics and public speaking for students.

Many classrooms are so designed that partitions can be moved, as it may seem desirable to have rooms larger or smaller.

Students will use a covered bus loading platform.

The building is planned to be good for the next 60 to 80 years. When opened, in 1961, it will have 625 pupils and a capacity for 800. In three years it will have 800, and in five years it will need its first addition, bringing capacity to 1100. A second addition, later, would achieve maximum capacity of 1400 plus.

The gym will have a pitched roof. One classroom wing will be two stories high. The rest of the building will be one story.

The larger part of the cafeteria will seat 300. An alcove in the cafeteria, next to the student activities rooms, will seat another 150, and it is planned to make this alcove an attractive lounge.

Mr. Glynn, chairman of the committee, is a lawyer. Other members are Mrs. Nancy Stutz former president of the Weston League of Women Voters; Charles Applegate, electrical engineer, graduate of Carnegie Tech; Ward Doebler, construction engineer, graduate of M.I.T., and Russell Cox, graduate of M.I.T. and Harvard School of Business Administration, whose field is construction planning and cost control.

Educational consultant is Donald A. Mitchell of Parmenter Road, Wayland, who was also consultant for the new Wayland High School. Architects are Alderman & MacNeish of West Springfield.

A change is that the 6th grades will also be in the High School building this year. This will release eight classrooms in the elementary schools, which this year will have pupils in grades 1 through 5.

On account of the State Road traffic jam in the mornings, the schools hours will be the same as those of last year, set early to avoid the rush. Thirteen buses will be used. First they will start at the outskirts of town, picking up high school students and leaving them at the High School, in its central location, at 7:40 a.m. Then they will fan out towards the outskirts again, picking up the elementary school pupils and leaving them at Claypit Hill, Loker Street, Happy Hollow and Cochituate schools.

There will be some crowding in the elementary schools, says Mr.

Anderson, but the ratio of 25 pupils per teacher will be maintained.

A note on the growth of the schools: Last June the High School graduating class numbered 58. In September 300 children will enter the 1st grade, and next June's High School graduating class should number 100.

The rose is the most popular flower in America but the petunia is the most widely grown.

Waiting List For Junior Town House Kindergarten

WAYLAND -- Eighty youngsters will register at the Junior Town House Kindergarten on Monday, Sept. 21, but many more youngsters will still be on the waiting list. Classes open for the season on the next day, Sept. 22.

There will be 63 children in the three classes to be held in Wayland Center, two in the Trinitarian - Congregational Church building and one in Odd Fellows Hall. Seventeen children will attend the Town House kindergarten at the Cochituate Methodist Church. Last year, 20 children were enrolled in the Cochituate class but the room proved to be too small to accomodate them satisfactorily so this year the number has been limited to 17.

Mrs. Ethel Bamforth, Mrs. Bruce Kingsbury and Mrs. Lewis Lundberg will teach the Wayland Center classes and Mrs. Burton Clay will be the teacher of the Cochituate class.

Mrs. Alvin Volkman of Winthrop Terrace and Mrs. William Porter of Happy Hollow Road are the new directors of the kindergarten program, which is sponsored by the Wayland Junior Town House.

WESTON -- All school classrooms were thoroughly cleaned during the Summer and the corrective room at the High School was reconditioned. Trim and sash exterior at the Country School and Building B were painted. Corridors and some classrooms in the High School, Junior High School and Building A were painted.

WAR BABIES
leges within the next four or five years. And after they get through college they will start having babies, and the population will keep on zooming upwards.

When he came to Wayland four years ago, says Supt. Anderson, the total school population was 1498, with 974 in the elementary schools. This year the total is 2300, with 1412 in the elementary schools.

Within eight or nine years, says Mr. Anderson, he expects an enrollment of 4000 in the Wayland schools.

The Weston projection isn't carried that far, but for 1963-64 it shows a total, kindergarten through 12th grade, of 2441, as against 1816 this year. Experience with these projections has shown that they tend to be on the short side of the actual figures.

In the past four years Wayland has opened three new elementary schools; Happy Hollow, 12 rooms, 1955; Loker Street and Claypit Hill, 14 rooms each, in 1957. Each of these schools can be expanded by at least eight rooms by the mere addition of classroom space, because all were built with expansion provided for.

In Weston, the fine Country School was opened in 1954 and a new elementary school is scheduled for occupancy this fall. The new Weston High School, at the corner of Wellesley Street and South Avenue, is planned for use in September, 1961.

WESTON SCHOOLS

Registration has been taking place all Summer. Principals and guidance teachers will be in their offices, beginning Sept. 1, with offices closed, of course, on Labor Day.

New teachers will report on Sept. 8 for a work session. Old teachers will report on Sept. 9.

Two school buses have been added, to make the number 16 instead of 14. Routes will be approximately the same as last year.

However, to save waiting time, all the High School and Junior High School pupils will be taken to school first, with their first pick-up at 7:30 a.m. After they have been taken to school, the buses will go for the elementary school pupils, whose first pick up will be at 8:15 a.m.

The High Schools will end their sessions at 2 p.m. and buses will take their pupils home first, returning to take the elementary pupils, whose schools will close at 3 p.m.

The person with more work than he can handle may be disgusted but he won't be bored.

Christ Jesus' triumph over material laws of limitation established the supremacy of God's unchangeable law.

This is a theme to be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Christ Jesus." Included in the Bible references to be read is the account in John (6) of Jesus' feeding of five thousand men with five loaves and two fishes.

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following will be read (273:21-26): "God never ordained a material law to annul the spiritual law. If there were such a material law, it would oppose the supremacy of Spirit, God, and impugn the wisdom of the creator. Jesus walked on the waves, fed the multitude, healed the sick, and raised the dead in direct opposition to material laws."

The Golden Text is from John (3:16): "God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

Lassie League Was Active

WAYLAND -- Players in the Lassie League, made up of small girl softball teams under the Way-Co Recreation Program, had a busy season. On the bench at the Cochituate field, above, approximately left to right, are Mr. William Young, Paul Storey (standing) Mrs. Nick Statton, Mrs. John Rooney, Dotty Bowen, Emily Rizzo, Betty Statton, Donna Sherman, Elaine Gustafson, Kathy Young, June Tarr, Agnes McCann (standing), Janis LaPenta, Mrs. Joseph Paradis and Paula Athanas. Players' hats were issued to them by the Park Department (McCann Photo)

A Bulgarian In Weston

WESTON -- A student in the senior class at Weston High School this year will be Ivan Terzieff, a recently arrived refugee from Bulgaria, who will be preparing for college. He is staying with Mr. and Mrs. David M. Little of South Avenue, who met him in Istanbul this Spring.

Raymond P. Handrahan

WAYLAND -- Funeral services were held on Sept. 1 for Raymond P. Handrahan of State Road, well known member of the Kiwanis Club of Wayland, who died suddenly in Wayland on Aug. 29, at the William R. Miller Chapel, Spruce Street, Waltham.

Mr. Handrahan leaves his wife Mrs. Irene (Mansfield) Handrahan, and a brother, John W. Handrahan of 23 Lake Road, Cochituate. He was connected for many years with the Grover Cronin Store in Waltham.

First Come, Best Seats

Wayland and Weston residents, through no fault of their own, are being a source of irritation these days to Newton commuters on the new MTA branch line.

The complaint is that local people who get on at Riverside or Woodland take up the best, if not most, of the seats on the commuter-hour trolleys, leaving standing room only for the later-arriving Newtonites who also happen to be assessed for a share of the MTA costs.

Richard J. Lavin Is New Wayland School Assistant

WAYLAND -- The new School Department administrative assistant in charge of business and services, whose job was the subject of warm discussion at Town Meeting last March, has been chosen and will go to work here as of Sept. 1.

He is Richard J. Lavin, graduate of Holy Cross in 1952 with a master's degree in business administration from Babson Park. He was senior buyer for the dynamics division of the Eaton Manufacturing Company in Wisconsin and has been budget director for the Harvard athletic department. He served two years as gunnery officer aboard the U. S. destroyer George E. Davis. He was graduated from Leominster High School.

He will be assistant to Superintendent of Schools Edward J. Anderson. His job will be transportation, budget control, maintenance and repairs to buildings, supplies, specifications, bids and similar money work. Provision for his salary is in the current budget.

WESTON -- Professor and Mrs. James A. Fay of 36 Spruce Hill Road announce the birth of their sixth child and first daughter, Michele Marie, on Aug. 19, at Emerson Hospital, Concord.

Booboo Department

WESTON -- Weston schools are to reopen on THURSDAY, Sept. 10, and not Wednesday, Sept. 10, as the Crier inadvertently reported last week. The date, Sept. 10, is right, but it actually falls on a Thursday.

WAYLAND -- Sixth grade pupils will attend their own elementary schools this year and not, as last week's Crier had it, the High School. This year there is no room for them in the High School, but next year, after the new High School is finished, the plan is to put the 6th grades in the old High School to make room in the elementary schools. The piece in the Crier was off by one year.

Richard Carlson Was Among Winners In Fish Contest

WESTON -- Richard Carlson, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Carlson of 42 Golden Ball Road, was among the winners in the recent family fishing contest run by the Boston Globe. He had three flounders totalling 16 pounds. In the father-and-son photo above, Mr. Carlson is holding a 4-pound 4-ounce tautog, while Richard is holding two flounders, one 8 pounds and the other 4.

Donald B. Morris Becomes Minister Of First Baptist

WESTON -- Rev. Donald B. Morris, former pastor of the First Baptist Church of Exeter, New Hampshire, assumed his new duties as pastor of the First Baptist Church on Sept. 1. He was called on May 20.

Rev. Morris was born in Glenside, Pennsylvania, on Aug. 2, 1926. He was educated in the public schools of Abington Township, Penn., and later received his B.A. Degree from Alderson-Broaddus College in Phillipi West Virginia.

He attended the Andover Newton Theological School in Newton, Mass., where he was awarded his B. D. degree. He served as Assistant Pastor of the First Baptist Church in Needham from Sept. 1, 1951 to April 17, 1955. Since April 18, 1955, he has been pastor of the large First Baptist Church of Exeter, New Hampshire. While at Exeter the membership of the church increased. He has also been active in the camps conducted by the Baptists of New Hampshire.

Hawaiian Collector Visits Here, Finds Weather Bad

An interesting visitor here recently was Robert E. Van Dyke, 21 years old, from Honolulu, who has the world's largest collection of historical material about Hawaii.

He was visiting Mrs. George W. Bailey of Pigeon Hill Road, Weston, and Mrs. Bailey's granddaughter, Mrs. William G. Williams of 202 State Road East, Wayland.

With him Mr. Van Dyke carried the first 50-star flag to fly in Hawaii. It was brought to Honolulu last March, and, when the word came of Hawaii's admission as a State, it was hoisted over the Honolulu Advertiser. Later it was presented to Mr. Van Dyke for his collection.

He became interested in Hawaiian history when he was 9 years old, and has been actively collecting, by gift and purchase, since he was 14.

Some of his observations:

Humid August weather in New England is most unpleasant.

"Hawaii" is not pronounced as though it had a "v" in it. Nor is it pronounced to sound anything like "Howarya".

He plans to make collecting Hawaiian material a life job, and he hopes that some day he will be able to give the city of Honolulu a museum to house the vast amount of stuff he has collected.

Included in the collection are 80 steel filing cases containing old letters, diaries and similar printed and written matter.

Hawaii's first contact with the white world was in 1778, when Capt. Cook visited the islands. The natives, isolated for centuries, had no immunity from the white man's diseases, and died by hundreds of thousands in the next five years. Yet there are still some thousands of pure-blooded Hawaiians in the islands.

Hawaiians had no written language, so the written history of the islands begins around 1820, when the missionaries from Boston arrived.

Allen Metcalfe Receives B.S. At Maritime Academy

WESTON -- Allen G. Metcalfe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen B. Metcalfe of 65 Montvale Road, was one of 57 members of the graduating class at the 117th commencement exercises of the Massachusetts Maritime Academy held on Sunday, Aug. 23, at Buzzards Bay. The Hon. Richard Jackson, assistant secretary of the Navy, delivered the principal address to the graduates in exercises attended by state, Naval and Coast Guard officials.

Allen G. Metcalfe

Allen received a bachelor of science degree in marine and electrical engineering, an ensign's commission in the Naval Reserve, and a third assistant engineer's license in the Merchant Marine. He also received the Naval Science award in the engineering division. He was graduated from Weston High School in 1955, and now plans to enter the Merchant Marine as a third assistant engineer.

Letters to the EDITOR

For Civic Information

To the Editor:

In most cities and towns it is very difficult to keep abreast of even a small fraction of the municipal affairs. Ignorance of these affairs seems most acute around town meeting time, when it is necessary to express an opinion by voting. In the few hectic weeks before town meeting it is quite impossible to get any first hand information about either the candidates or the issues. Indeed, it is very difficult for any single person to become very well informed given many months.

However, it occurs to me that a small group (5 - 10) of interested citizens could, with proper organization, become collectively informed on both the candidates and the issues. This would be accomplished by scheduling a member of the group to attend each meeting of a town committee, and report and/or discuss the committee's business with the entire group. By the division of effort, it should be possible to become well informed about both the town officers and the town business.

Anyone interested in exploring the matter further, please call:
Fred Ward,
405 Concord Road
Weston, TW 4-6183.

From Utrecht Flower Mart

To the Editor:

UTRECHT, HOLLAND -- It is flower day at the market in Utrecht, and the sun is bathing the square in a flood of warmth. It would seem as though the whole town were out walking up and down the main thoroughfare, bargaining and trying to make a deal which is always at the expense of the poor farmer.

Oh, but he is plucky, that farmer - and most wonderful of all he is cheerful. Cheerful is hardly the word. There he stands in the midst of his wares, holding up splendid bunches of flowers, flowers unknown to an American, and smiling at anyone who would smile with him. Clad in rough corduroy trousers and the inevitable beret that must have been handed down for at least one generation he starts his day.

Splendid fellow, unworn from perhaps the whole night long cutting and tying up bunches of his merchandise, then at last in the break of dawn starting the long trek to town - often as not with the old horse and wagon, and the good wife and the children. Aye me, the man of him unbent from 50 years of toil and two wars - insulted as he had been by the brute invader - all but starved to death over those dreadful years. And now again he is out offering his flowers as his father before him.

In his low, guttural voice, and in the peculiar enunciation of his native tongue, he calls out:

"Won't you buy my flowers, see how fresh they are, right from my fields this very morning - come, this bunch I offer you, only a few pennies?" How his face brightens as someone comes forward to inspect them.

"Yes, yes, your family will like them on the Sunday dinner table. Take them in your hand, are they not lovely? Only for a penny - for half of what I am holding." Mystery of mysteries, as the possible purchaser turns away, his smile holds and he watches for another possible buyer, with never a suggestion of disappointment on his face. There you will find him the day long, his wife and children beside him, calling out with full hearts in their confidence that finally someone will buy.

As in all things in life, some are prosperous, some are not, but they will be out the next week-end to start again, rain or shine, as they have for generations.

Sometimes as I go out among these people I choke a bit at their pluck. One lovely old woman is as the sun itself as she watches me pass; I can't take it, I have no one to give them to nor any place in my room to put them, but I buy, yes, and I choke as she hands me her humble offering with a grace as though she were bestowing a benediction.

A little further on stands a man as though his features were carved in alabaster. His attitude is always:

"I love my flowers, they are all good. I am here to offer them to you. Take them, here, this bunch, they are my very best", and he holds them out. His expression is earnest, confident in what he offers. He believes in himself in his business, and the future. He has weathered the hardships of life and he has come out ahead. He is strong, splendid in his strength. There he stands with his wife beside him. As I watch him and consider his record, as beside mine, I feel as though I were not fit to black his shoes. I just cannot buy flowers from a man like that.

C. Mifflin Frothingham,
Weston

Applause Card

To the Editor:

Last week when my husband suffered a coronary attack and had to go quickly to the hospital for immediate treatment Dr. Reid called for the police cruiser. Officer Lazzari aided by Firefighter Sherburne, responded within 3 minutes and took a gravely ill man to Waltham Hospital. I realize it was only within their line of duty, but their efficiency and kindness made that deed an impressive one because they helped save my husband's life.

One reason Weston is such a pleasant town to live in is the courtesy, sympathy plus the "know how" of our public friends.

Very truly yours,
Helen P. Wheeler

Labor Day Makes Us Aware Of A Dreadful Civic Lack

Propaganda In Favor Of Work Has Been So Effective We Don't Have A Town Bum Any More

As a holiday, Labor Day was designated in an effort to upgrade work, which had been in disrepute since feudal times, when only peasants toiled and the lord of the manor spent his time in more agreeable pursuits, such as robbing the neighbors and kidnapping dancing girls.

And so well has this business of upgrading work been done, that in these two towns with which we are familiar there is no person who can honestly lay claim to the title of Town Bum.

Some residents there are, of course, who have distinctive characteristics, but they are not Town Bums in the classical American sense.

The Bum was not only idle, He was just totally idle. He never shaved. He wore old clothes. He slept in a corner of the livery stable. He never washed, paid taxes, went to church, town meeting or lawn parties.

He sat on a bench in the middle of town. Everybody saw him, everybody knew him, nobody paid any attention to him.

When ladies passed him, they drew their skirts aside. Of course, they couldn't do that nowadays, because they don't wear skirts.

The Town Bum nevertheless filled an important role in town society.

He was the horrible example.

The young were told that if they didn't wash their ears, study their lessons, do their chores, go to Sunday School, eat their green vegetables and be polite to old folks, they'd grow up to be like the Town Bum.

This propaganda must have worked, because what town has a Town Bum today?

That old bench he used to sit on is gone. By now it has passed through the hands of four antique dealers, and the last price on it was $395, which would surprise its maker a good deal.

In fact, there's no place around here for a bum or anybody else to sit down in public. There's hardly a park bench to be found, and certainly there's no sidewalk bench. Nor is there a livery stable to sleep in. Garages there are, but a garage is not nearly as homey as a barn.

The Bum enjoyed some advantages, nevertheless. When he had whiskey on his breath, nobody thought anything of it, except that it was natural. But let any other man in town have a fragrance about him in daylight and it became a Federal gossip case, and might be enough to cut off his credit at the bank.

He could go fishing when he wanted to. In those days there was always a fishing place within walking distance. The Bum could catch himself a string of fish, build a fire, cook them then and there, and lie down for a satisfying afternoon nap. He was the only person in town who could enjoy this privilege.

He had no responsibilities whatever. He was not consulted about town government, he had no taxes to pay, he ran no bills, he had no children to put through school, he didn't have to follow the fashions.

Not one single thing was expected of him. Therefore, on the occasions when he would get off a pointed comment about the community, he would be wildly applauded and quoted all over town. For a day, he would be a leading citizen.

Alas, this upgrading of work, this unseemly glorification of ambition and activity, has destroyed the Town Bum. But is it right to be smug about his passing? Shouldn't the position be revived? What is a town without a Town Bum, on whom all other residents can look down and thus feel happier?

Should there be candidates for the position, and an election? Could inducements be offered, or wouldn't any inducements be needed? Come to think of it, wouldn't it be about the best job in town? In a world where things are closing in on us all the time, where we daily expect the deduction end of the paycheck to get heavier than the payoff end, wouldn't the post of Town Bum provide a sweet freedom unattainable in any other office?

But perhaps the past is so dead it can't be revived. A Town Bum, really, wouldn't look much worse than an exurbanite on a week-end, and might only be distinguishable from a solvent citizen by the fact that he was motionless. -- D.B.W.

Youth Fellowship Members At Training Conferences

WESTON -- A number of young members of the Methodist Youth Fellowship spent part of their Summer vacations attending conferences and training sessions this year.

Robert E. White of 414 Conant Road and Roy MacArthur of 27 Valley View Road recently spent a week at the seventh National Methodist Youth Convocation at Purdue University in Indiana. Earlier in the Summer, both boys had attended the week-long Methodist Youth Fellowship Officers' Training Course at the Methodist Church Conference Center in North Andover. Linda Rudell of Merriam Road was also a participant in the Officers' Training Course at Purdue.

Robert is president of the Weston Methodist Youth Fellowship and Roy is vice-president.

Weston PTA Programs Are Scheduled For Early Fall

WESTON -- The "new" Weston Parent-Teacher Association is starting its year with a bang with three programs scheduled before November. Last March the membership voted to form three committees for the elementary, junior high, and senior high schools, coordinated by the central committee. These three new committees have been busy all summer making plans.

The Junior High School Committee is sponsoring the first program on Wednesday, Sept. 30, for 7th and 8th grade parents. It will introduce the new guidance counselor, and outline areas of study and extra-curricular activities, with teachers present to meet parents and answer questions.

A "Back to School Night" on Wednesday, Oct. 7, is the first offering of the High School Committee. Each parent will go to class and meet his child's teachers by going through an abbreviated school day, set up exactly as the regular daily schedule is.

The Massachusetts Commissioner of Education, Dr. Owen Kiernan, will speak on public school discipline on Wednesday, Oct. 28, at the first full meeting of the entire PTA.

The Elementary School Committee studied the results of last year's French program to help set up the one for this year. It will concentrate in early fall on the successful scheduling of parent-teacher conferences despite the temporary crowded conditions.

Members of the Elementary School Committee are Mrs. Robert Townsend, Mrs. James Kapteyn, Mrs. Philip Wye, Mrs. Frank Allen, Mrs. Lionel Jaffe, Mrs. Walter Farrell and Mrs. Robert Guest. The principals and a group of teachers will join the committee.

Junior High School Committee members are Mrs. Theodore

Bayles, Mrs. Paul Dippolito, Mrs. Stephen Tyng, Mrs. Evon Vogt and Mrs. James Banghart, plus Principal Philip Wye and three teachers who will represent various areas of study.

The High School Committee members are Mr. Putnam Flint, Mrs. George Bottjer, Mrs. Victor Harnish, Mrs. Charles Applegate, Mr. Harold Downing and Mr. Ronald Beamish, plus Principal Willard Smith and three teachers who will represent various areas of study.

Vassar Scholarship Worker

WESTON -- Mrs. John B. Paine Jr., of 140 Orchard Avenue is a member of the ticket committee for the Vassar Club of Boston's Scholarship Fund which is now busily engaged in mailing invitations to the benefit performance of Eugene Ormandy's Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra Concert to be held at Symphony Hall on Oct. 28.

Other Weston residents who are alumnae and friends of Vassar are helping Mrs. Paine with the addressing chore for concert invitations, the proceeds from which will help send a girl to Vassar.

Cat Makes Getaway

Mrs. Charles H. Wheelock Jr., of 230 Old Connecticut Path, Wayland, took her small tiger cat down to the office of Dr. Paul R. Granholm on the Post Road in Weston for a small operation on the afternoon of Sept. 1, but he leaped from the automobile and disappeared. Mrs. Wheelock's number is EL 8-2995.

Beach Has Been Restored

WAYLAND -- Although the municipal beach at Lake Cochituate was badly eroded by heavy rains a few weeks ago, quick and hard work by the Park Department and the beach personnel soon had it smoothed back into shape, as the photo above shows.

Raytheon Executive Is New Weston Resident

WESTON -- F. Swift Gibson has been appointed division purchasing agent for Raytheon Company's Industrial Apparatus Division. He had been sub-contract coordinator for the Government Equipment Division.

Prior to joining Raytheon last November Gibson served in a number of management capacities with General Electric Company's Gas Turbine Department in Schenectady. His most recent posts had been production manager and manager of materials.

Gibson is a 1937 graduate of the University of Virginia where he received his B. S. degree

The son of Mrs. Kathleen L. Gibson of Santa Barbara, California, he is married to the former Elizabeth Carlton of Schenectady. The Gibsons have three children, R. Carlton, 17, Cynthia K., 14, and Swift III, 7.

The Gibsons are establishing a permanent home at 326 Highland Street.

Kelley -- Bolton

Mrs. Robert F. Kelley (Theodore Roberts)

WAYLAND--At St. Ann's Church on Aug. 2, Miss Letitia Jane Bolton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Bolton Sr. of Morse Road, became the bride of Mr. Robert F. Kelley, son of Mrs. Matthew Kelley of Cambridge and the late Mr. Matthew Kelley.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Parisian length gown of white embroidered swiss organdy made with bateau neckline, short sleeves, fitted bodice and taffeta sash trimming the bouffant skirt. Her tiered chapel length veil of French tulle was caught to a wreath of unparted orange blossoms, and she carried a white prayer book covered with white roses, stephanotis, lily of the valley and ivy with seed pearls entwined.

Miss Sandra Bolton was the maid of honor and another sister, Mrs. Charles W. Lepine Jr. of Belmont, was bridesmaid. They both wore gowns of pink dotted swiss over taffeta, made with a fitted bodice. A bowed cummerbund of pink satin, matched the bow headpieces. They carried old fashioned bouquets of deep pink carnations and light pink baby's breath. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bolton wore a jacket dress of green and white silk and a matching flowered hat. Mrs. Kelley, mother of the groom wore a print dress and white flowered hat. Their corsages were pink roses.

Best man was Mr. George Duffey of Brighton. The ushers included Mr. William L. Bolton, brother of the bride, and Mr. Charles W. Lepine Jr., brother-in-law of the bride.

A reception followed the services at the home of the bride. After a wedding trip to Nantucket Island the couple are making their home in Belmont.

WESTON -- Mrs. Ruth Tobin of 473 Winter Street, near the Weston line, says her family's pet dog, "Tim", was last seen on West Street, Waltham, near the Weston line and headed towards Weston, on Sept. 1. He is part setter, with long white hair, brown and black ears. He's licensed but his collar has been lost. TW 3-7751.

WAYLAND -- Mrs. Howard Lyford of State Road East and her daughter, Judy, are on a camping trip in the Northwest. One of their stops was for two weeks on Whidby Island near Deception Pass State Park in Washington. They missed the earthquake.

114 Teachers In Wayland School System This Year

WAYLAND -- There will be 114 teachers, including 30 new ones, when the Wayland schools open, says Supt. Edward J. Anderson. The 30, he says, represent a normal turnover. Eleven will fill new positions.

Of those who have left the system, two or three have taken better jobs but most have resigned for personal and family reasons.

Mr. Anderson says the Wayland pay scale is not quite as high as Weston's but compares with that in most nearby communities. Salaries are up from $200 to $600 this year, averaging an increase of around $350.

A teacher with a bachelor's degree and no experience starts at $4000, and in four years may reach $4800. In the High School, a teacher with a master's degree and 15 years experience may reach a maximum of $7000.

In the past five years, this salary range has been increased from $3000 minimum and $5100 maximum.

Local People On Cape Cod

WAYLAND -- The weather forecasters may have had something to do with it, with their reiteration of heat for greater Boston and a forecast of "much cooler on Cape Cod and the Islands." In any case, Wayland residents have been taking to the Cape this year for weekends and parts or all of their vacations.

Among local families to have headed over the Cape Cod Canal in the last couple months are: Mr. and Mrs. Horace Gray of Shaw Drive and Mr. and Mrs. William Hodgkinson of Fox Meadow Lane, and their families, who vacationed in South Truro; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Benjamin of Concord Road and their sons, John and Marty, who spent a few days in Provincetown; Mr. and Mrs. L. William Bertelsen of Claypit Hill Road who spent two weeks in Eastham with their children, Karl and Joanne; Mr. and Mrs. John Howard of Concord Road who are spending the month of August in Wellfleet with their children, John Mrs. John Hyland and their daughter, Sally, of Plain Road, who spent a few days on Nantucket visiting their son, Bill, who has a summer job on the Island.

Local Teachers At Sudbury Co-operative Nursery School

Four local women will be on the teaching staff of the Sudbury Co-operative Nursery and Kindergarten School next year. Mrs. Parmelee Hill of Sedgemeadow Road, Wayland, will teach in the nursery school and Mrs. Harry Barrett of Plain Road and Mrs. John B. Tanger of Rice Road, both of Wayland, and Mrs. Hamish C. Gravem of 214 Boston Post Road, Weston, will teach in the kindergarten.

The Sudbury School, with a total enrolment of about 90 children, has had to limit registrations this year to children of Sudbury families only. The increase in the number of local children in the town has made it difficult to find room for all of them and children from other towns can no longer be accepted.

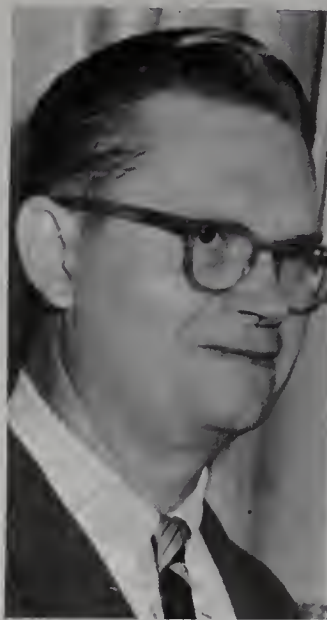

A moderate size apple tree absorbs four gallons of water from the soil every hour during a hot summer day.

David Fye Wins Award

WAYLAND -- David L. Fye, above, of 51 Woodridge Road, recently received an award for a suggestion entered in the Air Force Cambridge Research Center's civilian suggestion program. Mr. Fye's ingenuity is credited with making "an improvement in daily operations and an advancement of the research program of the Electronics Research Directorate." (Air Force Photo)

Parmenter Speech Classes

WAYLAND -- Weekly classes for preschool children with speech problems will be resumed at the Parmenter Health Center in September. Charlene Zand, M. A. speech therapist, will conduct the classes.

This service is available for children in Wayland and neighboring towns. A nominal fee of $1.75 per session will be charged to non-residents of Wayland. There is no charge to residents of Wayland.

Immediate application may be made for diagnosing speech problems, and for class attendance, by calling the Parmenter health Center Director at OLYmpic 3-5111.

WESTON -- Mr. Hamish C. Gravem of 214 Boston Post Road and his partner, William Goodman of Boston, won the Western Massachusetts doubles title when they defeated Rhode Island opponents in the Western Massachusetts Tennis Tournament held in Westfield, Mass., recently.

Suther A. Barry Jr.

WAYLAND -- Funeral services were held at the Gibbs Memorial Funeral Home on August 24 for Mr. Suther A. Barry Jr. of Shawmut Avenue.

A life-long resident of Wayland, Mr. Barry is survived by two brothers, Howard L. Barry of Shawmut Avenue with whom he had made his home, and Kenneth G. Barry of Natick and by a sister, Mrs. Elsie M. Legee of Glendora, California.

Prout -- Nichols

WAYLAND -- Dr. and Mrs. Curtis Prout of Dover announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Diana Prout, to Mr. Charles Seth Nichols, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Seth Nichols of Chestnut Hill, formerly of Glezen Lane.

Miss Prout was graduated from the Winsor School and attended Bradford Junior College. She made her debut in 1958 and is a member of the Vincent Club and the Junior League.

Mr. Nichols was graduated from Noble and Greenough School and is a 1959 graduate of Trinity College where he was a member of Alpha Chi Rho.

A September wedding is planned.

WESTON -- A fifth child, third daughter, Eleanor Lowell, was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Lowell (Eleanor Trumbull) of Nahant on August 15 at Richardson House, Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Trumbull of 185 Meadowbrook Road are grandparents.

Peter Russett Broadcasts From WSRO In Marlboro

WESTON -- Peter Alan Russett, son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Russett of 161 Winter Street, is employed in commercial broadcasting at radio station WSRO of Marlboro, Massachusetts. Pete has been with WSRO as assistant chief engineer since the station was geared into operation on Jan. 3, 1959. He usually is on duty Saturdays and Sundays, as well as some other days.

Peter Alan Russett

"Pete Alan", as he's known on the air, compiles and edits materials for his weather program, which is aired live every Saturday at 7:25 a.m. On week days, his weather programs are at 7:25 a.m. and at 12:25 p.m., depending upon the days he is on duty.

WSRO operates every day from sunrise to sunset on 1470 kilocycles, 1,000 watts.

Pete also owns and operates amateur radio station W1-LWK.

After graduating from Weston High in 1957, Pete also was graduated from two commercial broadcast schools and has attended Boston University as a special student in the School of Public Relations and Communications. At present, he is attending Boston University Summer school.

Appeal For Clothing

WESTON -- Mr. Ralph W. Child of 26 Valley View Road, president of the Weston Council of Churches, asks local residents to leave outgrown shoes and clothing in Goodwill bags at the barn of Douglas E. Nickerson, 199 North Avenue, to be picked up by the Morgan Memorial Goodwill Industries.

Such gifts will provide employment for handicapped workers, he says, and also warm clothing for needy children.

The saying about the missionaries: "They came to do good, and did well." In fact, says Mr. Van Dyke, the missionaries were not profit seekers. It was their descendants who saw the possibilities in pineapples and sugar cane.

His hostess, Mrs. Bailey, is the daughter of the late Henry E. Cooper, who was Minister of Foreign Affairs in the Republic of Hawaii, back in the 1890s, under President Sanford B. Dole. In 1898, Mr. Cooper sent to President McKinley a message announcing that Hawaii was an ally of the United States in its war with Spain. He was later appointed by the President to be the first secretary of the Territory of Hawaii. Mrs. Bailey, born in California, was five weeks old when she first arrived in Hawaii, and she has lived there many years.

The feather helmets of the Hawaiians are shaped like the metal helmets of the ancient Greeks and Romans. But archaeologists don't know exactly where they came from. Although they had no written language, the people had many legends, carefully transmitted through many generations by word of mouth.

Mr. Van Dyke has just returned from a trip to France and England, gathering material for his collection. He means to stay here a few weeks more before going home, where he is a student at the University of Hawaii, majoring in business administration.

WAYLAND -- Mrs. Haldon L. Smith of 16 Sedgemoor Road announces the fall opening of her piano studio.

Mrs. Smith studied at the University of Michigan School of Music and in Oxford, Ohio, under Jeanne Behrend.

Flight To England

'WELLESLEY -- Gilbert M. Davenport, Vice President of Crandall Hicks Co., has announced that 75 foreign car dealers from Boston and New England will fly to England with their wives and children for a 3-week business and pleasure stay. The group will leave on a chartered B.O.A.C. airliner Sept. 4 from Logan International Airport.

Many dealers will drive away from London Airport in their own recently ordered Austin, Morris, or MG cars, which will be shipped to Boston after they fly home.

The trip has been organized by the Crandall Hicks Co. of Wellesley Hills, New England distributors for the British Motor Corporation, with the assistance of the Raymond & Whitcomb Co. of Wellesley.

Man's God-given dominion over disease and enslavement will be stressed at Christian Science services this Sunday.
Accounts of spiritual dominion to be read from the Bible include Christ Jesus' healing of the "woman having an issue of blood twelve years" (Luke 8) and Paul's healing of Eutychus who "fell down from the third loft, and was taken up dead" (Acts 20). The Lesson-Sermon is entitled "Man."
From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read this passage: "The enslavement of man is not legitimate. It will cease when man enters into his heritage of freedom, his God-given dominion over the material senses" (228:11-13).
The Golden Text is from Genesis (1:26): "God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth."

Barbecue Party For 100

WESTON -- More than 100 persons were entertained at a barbecue dinner, followed by dancing, on Aug. 1 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Beldger, 76 Rolling Lane. Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Hill of Greenville, S.C. Mr. Beldger is vice president and treasurer of Hearthstone Insurance Company, 395 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, and Mrs. Beldger is also a vice president of the company. They moved to Weston last January. Above, left to right, Mr. Hill and Mrs. Vivian Beldger.

Cambridge School Sept. 23

WESTON -- 243 boys and girls will be in attendance when the Cambridge School begins its fall term on Wednesday, Sept. 23. Boarders at the school, who average about 40% of the total School population, will arrive when the residences open on Sept. 22. Faculty and students remain at about the same number as last year. Approximately 240 students were enrolled for the 1958-59 terms and, over the summer, one teacher has left and two more teachers have been added to the school's English department.

SUDBURY -- Atkins & Merrill Inc. have announced the appointment of Mr. Win Cobb to the position of sales manager for a recently opened West Coast facility, Atkins & Merrill West Inc. Atkins & Merrill models are commonly used in early planning stages of product development and plant construction to detect "bugs" and lay bare actualities in blueprints long before they happen in the full scale building.

COCHITUA IE -- William E. Irwin, Chairman of Finance of the Algonquin Council, Boy Scouts of America, has announced that David E. Zwick of Framingham will be the Campaign chairman for the 1960 Boy Scout Drive and that it will be held in 10 of the towns of the Algonquin Council on Oct. 16, 17 and 18.

WESTON -- Eric R. Elliston, son of Dr. and Mrs. William A. Elliston of 263 South Avenue, will be home soon, it is reported, after spending two Summer months in Austria in the Experiment In International Living.

The Natick Art Association's executive board met recently to discuss nomination of new officers and class schedule for the coming season.

An announcement as to the exact registration date for classes will be made next week. It is hoped registration will take place during the third week of September.

For information regarding membership and classes, Natick residents are asked to call Mrs. Jean Thompson at OL 3-2404 or Mrs. Janis Friedman at OL 3-1704. Non-residents please call Mrs. Alex Hayner, ELMwood 8-4821, or Mrs. Elaine Whitener, ELMwood 8-2681.

Country Concert News

WESTON -- Christian Ferras, young French violinist who will give a Country Evening Concert Series recital in Weston on Jan. 15, 1960, is reported in the August issue of Musical America to have been participating in several European festivals, particularly in Stockholm, Bergen, Holland and the Prades festival in France.

Other events listed for Weston during the coming Winter include the Viennese soprano Hilde Gueden and the Cuban-born pianist Jorge Bolet. The latter has just completed recording the soundtrack of the forthcoming movie "The Franz Liszt Story". Mr. Bolet is also mentioned enthusiastically in the above-mentioned issue of Musical America following his playing the Rachmaninoff Third Piano Concerto at the Robin Hood Dell Concerts in Philadelphia recently, the reviewer writing that he "has much pianistic grandeur, the seriousness of approach, the big line, the sure-fire technique".

WESTON -- Third place honors went to Robert Francis, age 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Francis of 50 Lexington Street, for his corn-eating prowess at the contest held at the Middlesex County 4-H Fair in Westford, on Aug. 28.

In the spirited event for younger 4-H members, the contestants gnawed, nibbled, and chewed their way through as many ears of corn as they could manage to consume without bursting.

WAYLAND -- Mr. Henry M. Doane of Lincoln Road is chairman of the building committee for the Framingham Union Hospital which recently signed a third-of-a-million dollars contract for the expansion and modernization of the Hospital.

Part of the work will include the addition of facilities for 54 beds and the construction of a two-story addition to the hospital's outpatient department.

WESTON -- Weston girls who will enter Regis College as freshmen this month are Mary Mallard of 85 Park Road and Fay Schuch of 25 Drabington Way.

Special Town Meeting In Weston Is Tentatively Set For Wednesday, Oct. 7

WESTON--The High School Building Committee is planning to devote the month of September to a series of meetings throughout Weston for the purpose of explaining the plans for the new building. These are the preliminary plans, on the basis of which the town will be asked to appropriate money for the completion of a new high school building.

Within a few days each household will receive a copy of a brochure which will contain drawings of the building, explanations of the planning and cost estimates. Copies of the plans will also be placed in the Library, Town Hall, Newton-Waltham Bank and the present high school.

On Sept. 23, the Building Committee will hold an open meeting for all residents at 8 p.m. in the Town Hall. A Special Town Meeting is tentatively set for Oct. 7.

Several organizations have arranged meetings to hear representatives of the Building Committee. The following is a list of times and places:

Sept. 10-High School Survey Group-Country School, 8 p.m.
League of Women Voters Unit Meetings:
Sept. 29-Mrs. Victor Harnish, 327 Boston Post Road, 10 a.m.
Sept. 29-Mrs. Putnam Flint, 34 North Avenue, 8 p.m.

Wayland High Has 849, Up 14 From Estimate

WAYLAND--Junior and Senior High School classes met on Sept. 8 for a short session, with 849 entered in grades 7 through 12, as against the estimate of 835. Elementary schools were scheduled to reopen on Sept. 10.

Supt. of Schools Edward J. Anderson says there were desks and seats for all.

WAYLAND -- A big Summer project was the construction of a 16-foot houseboat, "The Blump", by John and Martin Benjamin, aged 14 and 13, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Benjamin of Concord Road, and Henry Plump, 14, in the back yard of the Benjamin home.

The boat turned out to be seaworthy. But it was pretty heavy, and getting it to Sudbury River turned out to be a neighborhood job. Carl Emery lent his large boat trailer, and among those who helped with the lifting were Bob Paine, Bill Ryder, Allen Benjamin and Wallace Plump.

"The Blump" sleeps two, on foam-rubber bunks. She has electric lights, portable stove and ice chest. Motive power is a 7 1/2-horsepower outboard motor, and the steering wheel is in the cabin. First week-end cruise was a trip to Billerica, with Robbie Paine as cook.

The boys did all the designing and construction themselves, without adult help but with plenty of free adult advice.

240,000 Persons Used Lake Cochituate Park Facilities

COCHITUATE -- Under the direction of the Department of Natural Resources, the Lake Cochituate State Park has developed into one of the foremost recreational areas in the state.

As an example of the park's growing popularity, superintendent John Heseck of Natick states that the 240,000 total attendance record set last year will be broken this season.

Boasting one of the best launching ramps in the state, the park has more than 2500 boats registered for use in its waters, which are 5 1/2 miles long with 32 miles of shoreline. Picnicking facilities are plentiful, with 76 fireplaces and 140 tables spread amongst the pine trees.

The parking lot has space for 850 cars with 64 cars and trailers parked on the ramp, which had new styrofoam piers installed this year.

Jackson Turner Tells The Kiwanians How He Once Climbed The Matterhorn

WAYLAND -- Jackson Turner of Nob Hill, manager of the Wayland Branch of the West Newton Savings Bank, who may well be the only man in town who ever scaled the Matterhorn in Switzerland, told the Kiwanis Club of Wayland about his adventure at its Sept. 1 meeting.

He was talked into it, he says, by a bigmouthed friend, who boasted about having climbed the famous peak (14 800 feet high).

"If you can do it," said Jackson to him, "I can do it."

At the time he was 21 years old and not an athlete. So he found himself in Switzerland that Summer, where he was accosted by a Swiss guide. The latter offered to provide all the equipment needed, and the two went up and down the mountain in two days.

The climb featured blowing snow, narrow ledges above abysses 3000 feet deep, a couple of snow fields in which steps had to be cut and use of the conventional ropes and spikes. Points of interest also included bronze plaques, saying "Whoosis fell from here."

After the climb, Jackson had a hot bath and went to bed for a nap. When he woke up he was too stiff to move.

He made the climb on Aug. 13, 1931, and he hasn't climbed a mountain since.

James W. Wilcock Becomes Sturtevant Division Mgr.

WESTON -- James W. Wilcock has been appointed Division Manager of the Sturtevant Division of Westinghouse Electric Corporation. He succeeds H. E. Seim, veteran Westinghouse vice-president, who is retiring.

James W. Wilcock

In his new capacity, Mr. Wilcock will head one of the largest industrial manufacturing operations in the Boston area. In addition to the general offices and main plant in Hyde Park, the Division also operates branch factories in LaSalle, Ill. and Berkeley, California.

Mr. Wilcock joined the Division in January, 1956, and prior to his new appointment was manager of marketing, responsible for all sales operations. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan and Ohio Wesleyan University, class of 1940. He recently completed the three months' advanced management program at Harvard Business School. Co-Op Promises Store Opening In October

WAYLAND -- Manager Warren D. Brown of 21 Davelin Road, manager of The Co-Op Inc., announced this week that the store, located for the past 10 years in Natick, will open its new supermarket, first in Wayland's history, at The Village Shopper, Wayland Center, some time in October. Some of its features:

A market area of 14,000 square feet.

A children's play area, where youngsters may be left in safety during shopping time. A public meeting room for groups up to 35, furnished with tables, folding chairs and a complete kitchenette.

Complete air conditioning. Modern public toilets. A piped music system. A courtesy center for information, advice and check cashing. Speedy checkouts. Employee parking and service activities in the rear, out of the way of customers. An area for community bake sales and similar activities. (Please turn to Page 12)

WESTON--Gardner Tucker of 34 Silver Hill Road is back in town after a seven-weeks trip to the Pacific Coast in a 10-year-old half-ton truck with his 16-year-old cousin, Peter Lawrence of Woburn.

For adventure, they broke a fan belt in the hot Mojave Desert, camped in Yellowstone Park before the earthquake, cooked eggs in a hot spring and got lost on a desolate mountain road in California and boied away all their radiator water.

They saw the Grand Coulee dam, redwoods and sequoias and Yosemite Park in California and the Grand Canyon, and visited relatives in four states.

Mr. Tucker, lifelong resident of Weston, had two major operations last Winter. But this Spring he painted two houses, with help, and planted a big vegetable garden. After that, he fixed up his old truck with sleeping and traveling accommodations, picked up his cousin and took off on the 9000-mile trip. Both came home feeling fine.

Wayland Teachers Meet

WAYLAND--Thirty teachers attended the pre-school opening meeting of the Wayland Teachers Association at the Wayside Inn in Sudbury on Sept. 3. Among those present were the officers, shown above. Nobody Has Status Around Here Except The New Babes

On The Other Hand,
Everybody Bats High By Being Slobby But Nobby

Those who don't have much else to worry about are concerned, these days, about status, which is supposed to be possessed in some degree by all those who are not comfortably prostrate, which is the angle assumed by everybody for about eight hours out of every 24, which puts all on the same level except for 16 hours a day.

This rule excepts those who like to sleep with their feet higher than their heads, and those who like to sleep in chairs in front of the television screen with their mouths open. The open mouth, in such cases, often affords a fairer prospect that the images flickering across the screen.

But this matter of status bothers many who wonder how they're doing, and whether the neighbors approve of the kind of wash they hang on the line. It is serious to women who wonder whether clean fingernails will keep them out of the garden club, and men who'd really like to know whether a vice president of a corporation cuts ice in town or is just somebody else who disappears from home in the morning and reappears late for dinner with gin on his breath.

Some say that all anybody needs is a financial status, and that if he has that, unto him all other things shall be added, such as ulcers, roll-over foreign cars, divorce and problem children.

Some seek to establish status by their mode of dress, and that's pretty hard around here, where the male on the week-end looks like a refugee from a tennis court or a car wash emporium and the female looks the same all week long.

The big trick is to look slobby but nobby.

On that basis about 5000 families around here have it made.

In some communities, it may be, people dress up.

Around here, any woman who owns a mink coat and wants to wear it, carries it concealed in a paper bag until she reaches the front of the Boston Public Library. There she stops and puts it on, replacing it in the paper bag with the more conventional sweatshirt.

Another measure of status is the amount of forgiveness one can command for what he says and does at Saturday night kitchen sociables. This, of course, involves also the element of personal charm, with which so many local persons are so wonderfully endowed.

The matter of housing comes into status, too. In this department, the owner of the small house tends to look down upon the owner of the big one with the king-size mortgage. He pays less, therefore feels less pain and therefore tends to feel superior to those who feel more pain.

In the field of transportation, the rule is also slobby but nobby. Few dare to be seen in $7,000 automobiles. Instead, status requires that one ride around in a beat-up station wagon (nowadays known as a panel truck), a 1951 convertible, a World War II surplus jeep or an imported little heap which gives 80 miles to the gallon.

And nobody goes for expensive food, except as hors d'oeuvres. The feeling is that most people eat too much anyway, and that the hot dog is a good, nourishing, American item. Besides, while there are some good cooks around, they don't spend all day in the kitchen any more. Not their own kitchens, anyway. They may put in time in somebody else's kitchen, getting up the coffee for the League of Women Voters unit meeting, but they aren't starting at 2 p.m. to put together a 10-course dinner at which the children would probably turn up their noses anyway.

Public office doesn't confer much status, either, except where remarkable nimbleness is displayed in dodging complaints.

In fact, nobody has any status, except new born babies, which represent the forlorn hope that a new generation may be far superior to this one. This bright dream puts babies at the very top of the social scale, in spite of their deplorable personal habits. -- D.B.W.

Way-Co All-Stars, 6-4, Had Outstanding Players

WAYLAND--The Way-Co Junior Division baseball league closed its season on Aug. 31, beating the Wellesley All Stars 11-2. The Way-Co All Star team finished with a 6 and 4 record. Outstanding players were Jackie Frye, hitting .460 with 4 home runs, 1 triple and 4 doubles; Tommy White, batting .406 with 3 home runs, 1 triple and 2 doubles; and Bobby Benson, batting .354 and playing a fine defensive game at third base.

The All Stars were without the services of their outstanding first baseman, Bob Sampson, for several games, as he received a broken wrist while participating in another sport.

Wayland Aims At Fourth Straight Unbeaten Season

WAYLAND -- Under the tutelage of coaches Ralph Salvati and Bill Frary, 48 varsity hopefuls have been practicing at Wayland High School since Sept. 1. The team, which hopes to continue its three-year undefeated streak, is rapidly rounding into shape.

Leading last year's returning veterans are co-captains Jerry Whelchel and Dick Morris. Jerry runs the club at quarterback and Dick is a halfback. Other returning starters include tackles Dave Furst and John Wesley, center Ed Marsh, and ends Bruce Waldman and Roy Bradley.

Guard Joe DePaolo and fullback Jim Sullivan also saw service last year, and junior Pete Phylis has been working at guard position with the first squad.

Four transfer students are also making a determined bid to join the first team. Ed Johnsen is tying down the left half job while Ken Morrell and George Dreher are rivals of Sullivan for the fullback spot. Donaldson Moorhead from Winchester may take one of the open guard positions.

The candidates:

Seniors: David Carr, Joe DePaolo, Paul Donahue, Dave Furst, Ed Johnsen, Ed Marsh, Donaldson Moorhead, Ken Morrell, Dick Morris, Scott Bruce, Jim Sullivan, John Tanger, Bruce Waldman, John Wesley and Jerry Whelchel.

Weston Has 4 Veterans In A Rearranged Backfield

WESTON--Coach George Harris and his new assistant, Nathan Todor, have 46 candidates out for practice at Weston High School. The team, which will open its season against Westford Academy on Sept. 26, has eight lettermen back from last year's squad.

Weston's strongest point appears to be in the backfield, where all four men are veterans, Forbes McMullin, who was injured most of last season, has been switched to quarterback. Jay Adams and Mike McDonald are at the half-back positions while Curt Evans, who was also injured last season, is playing fullback.

Other players currently working with the first squad include letter-

For several years Mr. Wallace was principal of the grammar school in Damariscotta, Maine, and comes from a position as sixth grade teacher in Arlington.

Mr. Jeremiah J. Kellelt returns as a teacher of Mathematics at the high school after being absent for a year to obtain a master's degree at Pennsylvania State College.

There will be two intern positions, one in the Junior High School and one in the Elementary School.

Mr. Edward T. Collins Jr. will teach Social Studies in the Junior High School. He is a graduate of Yale and has had experience as a professional baseball player, has been in the Navy, and has had considerable experience in business.

Mr. James R. Sheffield will be the other intern teacher for the Junior High position. He also is a graduate of Yale where he took a prominent part in undergraduate activities.

Miss Mary E. Mancini will be one of the elementary intern teachers. She is a graduate of Cortland Teachers' College, New York, where she was an honor student and was active in extracurricular activities.

Miss Marilyn Talbot will be the other elementary intern teacher. She is a graduate of Wheaton College where she was prominent in undergraduate activity.

Loker School PTA Council Holds Year's 1st Meeting

WAYLAND -- A brisk opening meeting of the Loker School P.T.A. Executive Council produced, from a suggestion by Principal Royal Graves, one of the goals for the coming school year, "Better understanding of mutual parent-teacher problems through expanded means of school-home-communication." The meeting was held to acquaint new members of the council, who are chairmen of the various committees, with their duties and to undertake preliminary planning for the school year ahead, President George Freedman commented, "Our P.T.A. will attempt to function largely according to the dictates of the membership," and he expressed the hope that interested persons, whether parents of school children or not, would make themselves heard through the different committees now being formed. They are invited to contact Mr. Freedman at EL 8-2350 or Publicity Chairman Mrs. T. S. Pitcher at EL 8-7983.

Many Received Awards At Way-Co Recreation Program

WAYLAND--The Way-Co Recreation Baseball Program ended Wednesday, Sept. 2, when the annual Recognition Night was held at the Cochituate field. The Arnold-Pearce Caterers provided food for the members of the various "All Star" teams. The boys and girls were presented individual trophies. They also competed for prizes in the baseball throw for accuracy and distance, and speed in running the bases. Winners of the various events:

Archaeologist Ben Smith Will Tell Hist. Society Members

About Indian Dig

WAYLAND--Mr. Benjamin L. Smith of Sudbury Road, Concord, archaeologist who recovered many Indian relics at the Mansion Inn site last June, will be the speaker at the Nov. 5 meeting of the Wayland Historical Society at the Heard House.

Mrs. Mabel S. Draper, curator of the Society, says there will be no October meeting.

She says Mr. Smith has been asked to tell members of the Society and their guests just what happened at the dig, where the relics went to, what went wrong and what shouldn't be allowed to happen again.

Regular meetings of the Society are scheduled for November, December, February and April.

Red Barn Opens Kindergarten

WESTON -- The Red Barn Nursery School will add a kindergarten class to its three nursery school classes when it opens this fall on Monday, Sept. 28.

The school, which moved into its new building on the Post Road near the Wayland line only last year, still has a few openings for children of kindergarten age (those who will be 4 years, 9 months old in September) and can accommodate a few more girls of nursery school age (3 1/2 to 4 1/2 years) in order to maintain a balance of boys and girls of this age group.

The Red Barn School is the only local school to be fortunate enough to have its own building with all its equipment and built-in facilities scaled down to small-tot size. There are three classrooms and two indoor play areas for cold or rainy days when the outside playground cannot be used.

Red Barn is a cooperative school with parents helping the professional teachers in the nursery school and is administered by a board of parents elected by the other parents who make up the corporation. Student teachers from nearby Teachers Colleges also share in teaching duties as part of their intern experience.

The nursery school enrolls up to 45 children who are divided into three classes on the basis of age and maturity. The kindergarten is being limited to 10 children this year although it may be increased later. Mrs. Paul Green Jr., chairman of admissions, may be called at TW 3-5162 by any parent who would like to enroll a student in the kindergarten class or a 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 year old girl in the nursery school class.

Regis Enters 33rd Year

WESTON -- Regis College will embark on its 33rd year when it opens its dormitories on Sept. 20. Classes will resume on Sept. 24 with a record number of students, approximately 700 girls, in attendance.

Regis freshmen this year will number around 220, the highest enrollment in the College's history. Three new faculty members have also been added to the staffs in the English and Psychology departments.

Over the summer, a number of physical improvements have been made in the campus quarters. The residents' rooms in College Hall have been completely redecorated and refurbished and two administrative offices, the personnel and chaplain's offices, have also been redone.

Regis girls are largely from the greater Boston area although some members of the student body come from the other New England states, New York, New Jersey, and even a few from foreign countries.

EXECUTIVE Donald B. Stanbro, who recently celebrated his thirtieth anniversary as general manager of Boston's Statler Hilton Hotel, is civic-minded and music-loving. He's a past president of state and city hotel associations and, among other credits, was admitted to the bar in New York State. His Statler is equipped throughout with Steinways, and 'Bert' Stanbro's apartment in the hotel has his own Steinway.

SOLOIST Arthur MacKenzie has toured the U. S. and Europe as recitalist and soloist with many orchestras. He has made fourteen appearances with the Boston Pops. The lovely Mrs. MacKenzie is his admiring audience.

HOUSEWIFE Mrs. Edward Pauletti, whose husband operates a small custom tailor business, knows being a homemaker doesn't mean neglecting music. Recently she realized a "lifelong ambition to own a Steinway."

DEALERS The Murphys who guide the organization: son Paul, treasurer; father Jerome, president (known to the music trade as 'Uncle Jerome'); and son Jerome, vice president. Paul and Uncle Jerome are both past presidents of the National Association of Music Merchants. This team helps spread music's cultural impact.

Steinway contributes to a city's culture

In Boston, M. Steinert & Sons has built its reputation as a New England institution since 1860. Today a father and two sons share profit and personal satisfaction in helping others find fulfillment and joy in the finest music has to offer.

TEACHER—concert pianist Mrs. Minuetta Kessler has invented a new way to teach children music. Mrs. Kessler, a Steinway owner, telescoped the words staff and tone to christen it Staffonia. It's an imaginary town where the houses are big round notes and can be shuffled around. The picture, taken by the Christian Science Monitor, shows Mrs. Kessler coaching daughter Jeannie and other kiddies who think it's such fun!

IST Miklos Schwalb, soloist with the Boston Symphony and New York Philharmonic and recitalist at New York's Carnegie Hall and Town Hall, teaches at the England Conservatory of Music. He has made many appearances on TV, including a 39-week program recently filmed as 'Music for the Millions.' All, of course, on Steinway, the keyboard ingredient in his polished playing and "superior pianism."

of good music and love of the Steinway bring of many callings and ages together under one Steinert Hall. These pages show Steinway owners, of whom are famous names in music, and others who are famous, perhaps, but who experience with equal the inspiration of the Steinway. It is an experience the dealer, too—and the heritage only the way franchise offers.

RADIO PERSONALITY Carl Moore, a tradition at Boston's CBS, defies recorded radio by keeping two live shows going every day 5 days a week. 'Beantown Varieties' and 'Carl Moore Remembers'—with his Steinway.

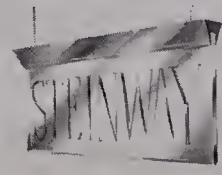

SWEETHEART Priscilla Howe is petite and glamorous and sings for radio, TV and supper clubs. She was elected Cranberry Sweetheart of 1959, a queen dear to the hearts of Cape Codders. Her Steinway Grand is her co-star.

Steinert Hall on Boston, Common, from the drawing by Charles Overly, houses the main offices of the Company and a score of warehouses for the display of 500 pianos and organs. In addition to Steinert Hall the firm has branches in Worcester and Springfield. Largest and finest music store in the East, it is New England representative for Steinway, Steinert, Chickering and Everett pianos, and Hammond and Allen organs.

THE FRANCHISE WITH A FUTURE

New School In Concord

WESTON--Mrs. Hamish C.F. Graven of 214 Boston Post Road will be in charge of teaching art at the new Nashoba Country Day School in Concord, which is to open Sept. 16 for the first time at 54 Main Street. Miss Ruth Tucker is headmistress.

The school, a non-profit institution, is for girls in grades 4, 5 and 6. Grades 7 and 8 will be added in 1960 and 1961. The school telephone number is EM9-4591.

New England was so named by Captain John Smith because of its resemblance to the English coast.

Bernard J. Warren Becomes Corporation Sales Manager

WESTON--Michael G. Stratton, president of Applied Dynamics Corporation, Natick, announces the appointment of Bernard J. Warren of 69 Pinecroft Road, above, as sales manager. This appointment coincides with the purchase by Applied Dynamics of the Vectron-Itek Microwave Spectrum Analyzers and related RF Heads with which Warren has been associated for many years at both Vectron and Itek. In his new capacity, Warren will be responsible for the sale of Applied Dynamics' complete product line.

Weston Methodist To Hold Church School Conference

WESTON -- On Sunday, Sept. 13, a family service, Church School registration, and teachers' planning conference will be held to mark the opening of regular Weston Methodist Church and Church School activities for the year 1959 - 1960. The family service will be held at 10 a.m. in the Parish House, conducted by Rev. Alan H. Moore. Registration of young people for the Church School will come immediately after the service.

From 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. the same day, a planning conference for all teachers and workers will be held in the Parish House. Featured as a speaker will be Rev. Douglas F. Dorchester, Director of Evangelism of the Southern New England Conference of the Methodist Church. Other participants in the day's program include Mrs. Raymond Harrington, Chairman of the Education Commission; John H. Kempster, Church School Superintendent; Mrs. Robert Loesel, and Mrs. Kenneth Wolfskill, members of the Education Commission.

The regular fall schedule of the Church, with Sunday services at 9:30 a.m. and 11 a.m., will begin Sept. 20.

Some trees grow 10 feet or more a year.

Former Wayland Man Will Head Hamilton Standard Electronics Department

WAYLAND--Walter R. Bush, formerly of this town, has been named manager of an autonomous electronics department established by Hamilton Standard, division of United Aircraft Corporation. The department will manufacture electronic units for Hamilton Standard products, and for other customers whose products require the control techniques possible through electronic principles. Above, Mr. Bush.

Longest driver in New England is the Connecticut.

On Naval Air Training Duty

Lieutenant Julian Demeo Jr., USNR, of 13 Leary Street, Wayland, mathematics teacher at the Wayland High School, completed a two-week tour of duty at the Naval Air Station in Brunswick, Maine, on Aug. 24.

Commander Henry V. Greene of 12 Hubbard Road, Weston, was in charge of the annual training operation, designed to increase the proficiency of personnel in the Naval Air Reserves Patrol Squadron, which is regularly attached to the South Weymouth Naval Air Station.

Red Tuna Bad For Cats, Says An MSPCA Warning

During the past two weeks four cats have been admitted to the Angell Memorial Hospital with a serious disease, steatitis, due to the feeding of red tuna. Dr. Gerry B. Schnelle, Chief of Staff of the Hospital, states that a previous warning had been given on the dangers of this food, but the problem has arisen again. A canned food for cats, a large part of which is "red" or so-called dark meat tuna, and now bearing a notation on the label that vitamin E has been added, is not safe to feed to cats as a major portion of the diet. It will produce a serious illness manifest by loss of appetite, soreness over the body, and fever. Cats so afflicted will sometimes eat nothing but the dark meat tuna, and thus intensify their illness and increase its seriousness. This food is safe if fed as a treat or as a very small portion of the diet; but otherwise it is not.

This warning is issued by the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Dr. Eric H. Hansen, President.

Meet our Global thinkers

The Globe has a world of them. Start with columnists like Walter Lippmann, John Harriman, Harold Kaese. Or political correspondents like Robert Healy in Washington. There's Dorothy Crandall to help you explore the woman's world, and Josephine Lowman to give you hints on health. Frances Burns tells you what's new in the world of medicine. Ian Forman and Ian Menzies show you what's happening in education and science. And don't forget the wonderful world of funnies. Of course, there's Uncle Dudley, too, with his uncolored, uncluttered editorial discussion. The Globe has so many, many more topnotch men and women; all of them with but one thought in mind: to bring Globe readers the whole world in all its breadth and scope. Daily and Sunday, get to meet our Global thinkers. Take a good look at your Globe.

Social Security News

Disability insurance benefits under the Social Security Act are payable to persons who were in work under that program for five years out of the 10 years immediately preceding the onset of disability. These benefits are payable at age 50 to individuals who are unable to engage in further substantial gainful activity. The condition, either mental or physical, must be one which is expected to be of long continued or indefinite duration.

Disabled people whose social security disability payments were reduced or not paid at all because they received disability payments from other Federal programs or State Workmen's Compensation, can now receive full payments under social security.

Many disabled people throughout the country have not applied for these benefits because of the offset mentioned above.

Every person who has collected or is collecting a periodic benefit because of injury or illness, other than the social security disability benefit, and who has at least five years of employment or self-employment under social security, should contact his nearest social security office for full information and assistance. These benefits are not paid automatically. An application must be filed.

Huygens And Chapman To Be Architects For Rivers School

WESTON -- Rivers Country Day School, which will open in its new Weston location by the 1960 fall term, has engaged two young architects who will be moving to Weston shortly to design and supervise the construction of its new buildings.

Mr. Remmert Huygens, originally from Holland and until recently a member of the architectural firm of Wiener and Sert in New York, and Mr. Allan Chapman, a Harvard graduate who worked for a time with the Gropius architectural firm and has recently been associated with the firm of Marcel Bruyer in New York, will be partners in the firm of Huygens and Chapman and will undertake the design of the Rivers School as their first joint enterprise in this area.

The major playing fields are already in existence and ground-breaking is expected to begin in the early fall. Two large buildings, one to house 12 classrooms, administration offices and a study hall, and the other to be a gym and dining hall, will be constructed first. Plans are to add at least two more buildings and to expand the classrooms to 18.

The site, 31 acres of rolling farm land, has a low rise on which the buildings will be placed and the lower level land will be used for playing fields and skating rink. The farmhouse and old barn on the property are now being used as homes for the headmaster and a faculty member although the barn may be remodeled later to house a dining room and assembly hall.

The buildings and campus are being designed with a view to creating a rural country dayschool with an open air, 'country atmosphere.

Rhode Island is the most densely inhabited of the 50 states.

Homer R. Oldfield Becomes Raytheon Group Vice-Pres.

WESTON -- Homer R. Oldfield of 92 Beaver Road, above, vice president and manager of Raytheon's government equipment division, has been elected to the newly created post of group vice-president, electronics and devices.

He came to Raytheon in 1958 after holding various management positions with General Electric for 13 years. He has a bachelor of science degree from M.I.T., 1938, and master's degree, 1939. He is a senior member of the Institute of Radio Engineers, an associate member of the Institute of Aeronautical Science and a member of the Army Ordnance Association.

Skulls In Wayland

WAYLAND -- Mr. and Mrs. Christos G. Stergis of Country Corners Road have a pair of skulls around the house, and they aren't quite sure what they are.

In the photo above, Robin Stergis, 8, left, is shown with a big skull, believed to be that of a moose, found last Summer on Madame Island, Nova Scotia. At the right, Anne Mavor, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Mavor, also of Country Corners Road, is seated just above what is believed to be the skull of a sea turtle, found by Robin Stergis on Sanibel Island, Florida, last Summer.

The Stergis family made a camping trip to Florida and later, with the Mavors, made another to Nova Scotia.

They just wonder whether anyone can tell them just what creatures the skulls belonged to. (McCann Photo)

Committee Seeks Housing For Teachers In Weston

WESTON -- The Weston Teachers Housing Committee, which is wrestling with the problem of finding places in town for teachers to live, says it needs particularly a two or three-room housekeeping apartment in the $65-$75 range.

It would also like to know of any other apartments up to $125 a month and also about houses in the $15,000 - $20,000 range.

Anyone who can help may call Miss Florence Freeman, secretary of the committee, at TW 3-7149, or Mr. Victor C. Harnish, chairman, at TW 3-4600, business, or TW 3-1246, home.

A Summer Full of Labor

WAYLAND -- Mr. Archibald Cox of Glen Lane has had a busy summer acting as chief legal consultant for Senator John Kennedy during the long and stormy progress of the Kennedy Labor Reform Bill.

Mr. Cox, a professor of law at Harvard University, has worked closely with Senator Kennedy for the last two years in the writing and re-writing of a labor reform bill and was in the Senate when the compromise bill was finally passed by a 95 to 2 vote on Sept. 3.

A former member of the National Labor Relations Board, Mr. Cox has been given much credit for his latest achievement in helping to frame acceptable legislation in the intricate and difficult field of labor law.

WESTON -- Miss Sally Perkins Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Murphy of 46 Old Colony Road, will begin her first week at Centenary College for Women, Hackettstown, N. J., on Sept. 21, and begin classes Sept. 28. She is a graduate of Weston High School.

Definite--Village Shopper Will Open On October 28

WAYLAND -- Grand opening for The Village Shopper, first shopping center ever to be built in the town, has been definitely set for 9 a.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 28, it has been announced.

Details of the activities to precede the opening will be given later.

Meeting On Weston Cong. Church Called For Sept. 23

WESTON -- All persons interested in the formation of a new Congregational Church in Weston are invited to attend a meeting at the Lower Town Hall at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 23. Reports will be given on inquiries carried on since the last open meetings in May and June.

Special guests will be Dr. Albert J. Penner, minister and president of the Massachusetts Congregational Christian Conference, and Rev. Baldwin W. Callahan, minister of missions and stewardship.

W-W 4-H Dog Club

WESTON -- A 4-H Dog Club to be formed for the Weston-Wayland area will be open to any boy or girl aged from 10 to 21 years who either owns a dog or has care and responsibility for a dog. The dog may be a puppy but must not be more than 10 years old.

The object will be to learn the care and handling of dogs. Activities will include discussion and lecture meetings, field trips (to dog shows, animal hospitals, kennels) and basic obedience training.

Those interested may call Miss Dorothy Brewer, 42 Hilltop Road, TW 3-1240, before Oct. 1.

WAYLAND -- Glasses in a brown leather case have been found in the woods in the Draper Road - Sears Road area. They are at the Crier office.

Weston Board Hears About Plans For Building 40-45 Houses Off Merriam Street

WESTON -- A hearing held by the Weston Planning Board on Sept. 8, was well attended by abutters and residents from various parts of the town, to hear the plans of the Weston Highlands Corporation for development of some 100 acres of land west of Merriam Street, including property recently sold by Mrs. William Renwick through the Davenport Boyd Realty office.

Mr. Henry Wheeler was voted to the chair, and gave an account of the Planning Board's functions with regard to such a development. He described the work done in preliminary conferences with the developers and visits to the site in question, leading up to the present hearing, at which the developer would have opportunity to describe his plans, and the residents of the town have opportunity to discuss them, before approval or disapproval was voted by the Board.

Mr. Allan R. Finlay of Wayland, well known for his interest in civic affairs in Wayland and his part in the development of the Woodridge area, gave an account of the Corporation's plans for building, over a period, some 40 - 45 houses of colonial type, of the kind recently built in the Claypit Hill area in Wayland. He introduced his associate, Mr. Edward Swiedler, who would handle the building of the houses.

Wayland Woman's Club Sets Full Program For 1959-60

WAYLAND -- The Wayland Woman's Club, headed by Mrs. Harold E. Belles, president, is planning a full program of stimulating and informative meetings for its 1959-60 season, highlighted by the fashion and hobby show to be put on by members with many local women modelling their own creations.

Mrs. Harold E. Belles

The ways and means committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Sanford W. Tallmon, will be making a special effort to build up the Scholarship Fund. The first project to this end will be the Annual Food Sale on Saturday.

Town Crier Announces New Lincoln-Sudbury Weekly

Beginning this week, a new weekly newspaper, The Fence Viewer, will be published for the towns of Lincoln and Sudbury. Although it will be a completely new paper, with a new editorial staff of Lincoln and Sudbury residents, it will be under Town Crier management and will be produced by the Town Crier Press at Weston.

Publisher of both the Town Crier and the Fence Viewer will be Donald B. Willard of Old Connecticut Path, Wayland, who has been editor of the Crier since its beginning. Mr. Henry G. Pearson of Old Connecticut Path, Wayland, who has been publisher of the Crier, will remain president of Town Crier, Inc., the publishing company.

Business manager of both papers will be Alexander Monroe, who will become a resident of Sudbury soon. Mr. Monroe, who has been business manager of the Crier, is also publisher of "The Bride's Dutch Uncle", a successful quarterly magazine.

Editor of the Fence Viewer will be Fortunato C. Rosa, better known as "Nye", of Christopher Lane, Sudbury. Lincoln editor will be Mrs. Gerard C. Henderson Jr. of Beaver Pond Road, Lincoln, and a Lincoln correspondent with a long and wide knowledge of the town will be Mrs. Ethel Davis of Lincoln Road, Lincoln.

WESTON -- Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Stockmayer of 20 Pigeon Hill Road drove to Quebec on the Labor Day week-end and met Francoise Friedrich, this year's Rombas scholar, when she landed from the boat on Sept. 7.

They gave her the carriage trip around Quebec, the Frenchness of which intrigued Francoise, and then brought her back to Weston, where she is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Storm of 25 Hubbard Road. Francoise was 17 last May. Part of Mrs. Stockmayer's recommendation of her:

"Petite. . . very blonde. . . English is marvelous. . . good sense of humor . . . interested in everything . . . a doll."

She is already enrolled at Weston High. There was a party for her on Sept. 15 at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Arra Steve Avakian of 33 Ledgewood Road, whose daughter, Armine, will soon go to Rombas to be this year's Weston student abroad.

QUARTER CENTURY CALENDAR

WAYLAND -- Those who would like their names on the calendar to be issued by the Quarter Century Club of the Trinitarian Congregational Church are being told that closing time is almost at hand, and that those who'd like to be included should call either Myrtle Osmond, EL 8-4357, or Madelyn Dermott, HI 3-2303.

$6000 Fire In Cochituate

COCHITUATE -- Damage estimated by Fire Chief Francis J. Hartin at $6,000 was done by a fire of undetermined origin in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Sloper, 196 East Commonwealth Road, at 5:50 p.m., Sept. 14. A passerby called Natick by mistake, and one truck stood by while Wayland put out the fire. All-out was sounded at 9:30 p.m.

Wayland firefighter George Johnson received a cut on his hand, but returned to the blaze after treatment at Leonard Morse Hospital. In the photo above, Bill Patton is on the roof and Arthur Flieger and Capt. Richard Gladu are up front. (McCann Photo)

Letters to the EDITOR

Wayland LWV Fund

To the Editor:

At this time last year, the League of Women Voters of Wayland embarked on its first town-wide finance drive - an enterprise which was particularly pleasing to the League because of the interest and support received from the citizens approached.

This year, the League fund raising drive will begin Saturday, Sept.
19. During the coming week, a number of local League members will call on people who share the League's concern for good government, to ask for their financial help in sponsoring the many services which the League offers to the town.

The League - a non-partisan organization - is dedicated to the promotion of citizen interest in political affairs on local, state and national levels. This year, the League will again sponsor the town-wide "Meet the Candidates" and "Discuss the Warrant" meetings, encourage registration and tribute objective information on important public issues.

Mr. Howard S. Russell for 20 years town moderator, has said of the League handbook, which has been distributed free to all residents:

"An eminently useful public service was volunteered by the Wayland League of Women Voters in preparing and publishing its unique 'Handbook for Town Meeting', now in its second edition. Not only is this manual especially helpful to persons previously unaccustomed to the conduct of a New England town meeting but its clarity and concise outline of accepted procedure commend the booklet to even the most experienced citizen."

Unlike other fund-raising drives, the League's is not a house to-house campaign. Persons not contacted who wish to contribute, may mail checks to the treasurer,

WAYLAND -- Mr. Gregory B.
Wolfe of Country Corners Road was a speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Harvard Business School Association in Boston on Sept. 17.

Mr. Wolfe, who is director of the Greater Boston Economic Study Committee, has been serving as executive director of a study sponsored by the Harvard Business School Association dealing with the habits and preferences of graduates of Boston's leading business schools.

Puppy Was Killed

Dear Conscience:

Each year the Labor Day weekend death toll is extremely large.
The tabulation commences at 6 p.m. on Friday evening. Our puppy was one of the first this year.

On the night of Friday Sept. 4, 1959, around 6:15 p.m., incidentally it was the day the puppy was 3 months old, a large mass of steel weighing several thousand pounds confronted our pup head on. What chance did she have?

Actually it was probably unavoidable. However, what kind of an individual could you possibly be? How could you leave the pup lying in the middle of the road without stopping or even slowing down?

If you have never had a pet you probably don't realize that a person can love and become as attached to it as he can to anyone or anything else. If you feel so moved, and we certainly hope that you do, please give us a call (anonymously if you wish) to fill us in on the details of the accident. ELMwood 8-2998.

I appeal to all of you who are reading this letter never, never to leave an accident of this sort without stopping and doing whatever you can, even if it's already too late and all you can do is talk. That in itself will help relieve the heartache. Furthermore, if you ever observe this type of accident, stop and do what you can, for it will be greatly appreciated.

New Low Advertising Rate Set For Non-Profit Groups

Beginning with this issue, the Town Crier is setting a new low rate for local non-profit organizations which may wish to advertise their programs or fundraising events.

Where the basic rate for commercial advertisers is $1.60 an inch, the rate for church, social and philanthropic groups will be $.95 an inch.

There will be, of course, no change in the editorial coverage such events or organizations will receive, whether they advertise or not.

WAYLAND -- Mrs. Angus Wilson of 3 Richard Road was one of the hostesses at the first meeting of the season of the American Association of University Women, held Sept. 9 at the Unitarian Church in Natick. Among the guests was Mrs. William Rockett of 17 Leary Street.

Skunks Never Bang Garbage Pail Covers In The Cities

Trend Towards Suburbs Continues, On Account Of Better Wild Life,
New Schools And Electronic Air

People are already beginning to leave the suburbs and go back to the city to live, said somebody the other day, but he was probably drawing a wrong conclusion on account of a new dodge thought up by suburban builders.

Around here, they don't throw up new houses in rows, like barracks. Such construction makes all the taxpayers nervous, thinking about the cost of new schools. So the local builders hide the new houses behind trees, so that only a helicopter pilot can see where they are.

This keeps new construction from being apparent to the passer-by, and keeps down public apprehension. The observer may think the rate of suburban increase is falling off, but it isn't, as the passenger count on school buses reveals.

To be sure, some have thought about going back to the city, where, as people like to say, everything is within walking distance. But in fact there's nothing much in the city left to walk to, except maybe a few restaurants and the Boston Public Library and out here people are in the habit of eating and reading at home.

In fact, the rush to the suburbs has had an odd effect, the obliteration of the native. After the population of a town has doubled or tripled, it's hard to find anybody who was born in the place. There is, instead, a group known as the old residents, consisting of persons who have been around for as much as five years.

The new resident is somebody who has just been transferred here from Kansas City by some big organization. He'll stay four years and then be shifted to California, where he'll have tall tales to tell his new neighbors about what goes on in town meetings.

The natives of these parts have long since fled to Kansas City and California and Florida, to get away from the climate and the mosquitoes.

The newcomers, first carpet-baggers in history to live in $40,000 split levels and take an active interest in education, are often electronic men, who crackle when they walk. Their working conversation is unintelligible to English-speaking residents, but they get around this in social contacts by means of the backyard barbecue the hot dog, the dry martini and sign language.

Another unusual development is that people in the suburbs have got into the habit of staying at home a good deal except of course in Summer, the only season when life is really pleasant around here. One reason is that one can't walk anywhere because there are no sidewalks, and can't drive anywhere on account of the Raytheon traffic.

Many of the housewives in the countryside haven't been in Boston for a year, because the moths have eaten up their skirts and they'd feel queer walking around Copley Square in shorts or dungarees.

And once upon a time parents stayed in the city because they didn't want their children to attend inadequate rural schools. Nowadays the city school is a ramshackle building 75 or 80 years old, while the suburban school, with gold knobs, has its curriculum guided by civic committees of A.K.C. registered geniuses in science and the arts.

Nor does the city offer much to nature lovers who like to watch birds, shoo woodchucks out of their gardens and listen to the gay evening noise of coons and skunks banging the cover of the outside garbage container.

The trend to the country is still on, all right, but the cause of its possible reversal is already in sight. That's the foreign sports car, which rips along the quiet streets on Sunday morning with a noise like a banshee with a sore throat. This infernal racket may yet drive everybody back to the city and the peace of an apartment four stories up and on the back of the building. --- D.B.W.

Thumbnail Sketches Of 10 Weston LWV Board Members

WESTON -- Ten Weston women were appointed to Board positions of the Weston League of Women Voters at a meeting held Sept. 9. Eight of the 10, who were appointed directors, are:

Mrs. Gordon L. Brownell, Hospitality Chairman. Mrs. Brownell is a graduate of Bucknell University, where she majored in English. Originally from New Jersey, she has lived in Massachusetts for 15 years, and been a leaguer for eight.

Mrs. Allen E. Cole, Voters' Service Chairman. Mrs. Cole was graduated from New York University, where she majored in Art, and from Parson's School of Design. Before coming to Massachusetts, the Coles lived for five years in Lisbon, Portugal. In addition to her League duties, Mrs. Cole finds time to teach art one day a week at the Charles River School in Dover.

Mrs. Dudley B. Hartung, Editor of the League Bulletin. Originally from Scarsdale, New York, Mrs. Hartung came to Massachusetts by way of Radcliffe, where she majored in English. She has lived in Weston for 11 years, and is currently secretary of the Weston Parent Teachers Association, is on the School Liaison Committee, and is working on "Our Schools."

Mrs. Harry C. King, Chairman of the League's study committee on Civil Service in Massachusetts. Born in Quebec, Mrs. King grew up in California, and attended both Radcliffe and the University of California at Berkeley, where she majored in Business Administration.

Mrs. Frank M. Lewis, Chairman of the League's committee on Water Resources, has long made a study of conservation. She is a member of the Conservation Committee of the Appalachian Mountain Club, and a member and past President of the Weston Forest and Trail Association.

Mrs. Nicholas Nyary, Chairman of the study committee on Foreign Policy, came to Weston two years ago from Germany, where her husband had a research job interviewing Hungarian refugees. She is a native of Michigan and a graduate of Bennington.

Mrs. Frank Vinal, Chairman of the Committee on League Publications. Mrs. Vinal was graduated from Florida State University with a degree in chemistry, and after graduation was associated with Harvard for one year, doing research in her field. In addition to the League, she has been active in Brownie organizational work, and was on the Citizen's Committee for planning Weston's new high school.

Mrs. Sherrerd B. Welles, Public Relations. A native of California and a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley, Mrs. Welles came to Massachusetts in 1950 by way of London, England, where she held a U. S. Embassy job for two years. She has been a Leaguer for eight years.

Two other appointments were:

Mrs. Mahlon Hoagland, who will publish the League Bulletin. Mrs. Hoagland, born in Brookline, attended Middlebury College and Katherine Gibbs School. She spent a year in Denmark in 1951, and a year in England in 1957, where her husband, a biological chemist, did research.

Mrs. Harry A. Low, Assistant Treasurer. A Leaguer for 18 years, Mrs. Low has done every kind of job for the League, and while in Akron, Ohio, used to drive the jeep which was used to broadcast Voters' Service information. She is a native of Hartford, Connecticut, and lived in Ohio before coming to Weston.

Early fall is an ideal time to seed or reseed the lawn.

Migrant Farm Workers Are Subject At Coch. Church

COCHITUATE -- The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Community Methodist Church in Cochituate planned an outstanding program for its meeting on Thursday, Sept. 17 at 8 o'clock in the church vestry. Their guest was to be Mrs. Edwin Anderson of Medford, speaking on work with migrant farm workers in Massachusetts, carried out by the United Church Women of Massachusetts, of which Mrs. Anderson is president.

Mrs. Anderson has been president of Lynn District and New England Conference Woman's Society of Christian Service and in her current position is responsible for the work being carried out by chaplains with the agricultural workers who help harvest the crops in the Cape Area and also in the vicinity of Sudbury and Concord.

WAYLAND -- The Kiwanis Club of Wayland will be represented at the 1959 convention of the New England Kiwanis District at Swampscott, Sept. 16 - 20.

4-H Town Night

WAYLAND -- The annual Wayland 4-H Town Night will be held at the Cochituate Community Methodist Church, Cochituate, Friday, Sept. 25, from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

There will be exhibits of the 4-H Club activities, as well as pictures of the new National 4-H Center in Washington, D. C. These will be shown by Mr. David Beisel, Middlesex County 4-H Club Agent. Mr. Beisel will also be the speaker of the evening.

All 4-H Club members and their parents and friends are invited.

Boy Scouts Open Fall

Season On September 26

WAYLAND -- The first meeting of the season for Wayland Boy Scouts will be held at the High School Gym at 7 p.m. on Thursday, September 24. All boys who have reached the age of 11 are invited to join the group.

Troop 1 Scouts will miss their former Assistant Scoutmaster, Mr. G. Lloyd Martin of Claypit Hill Road, who has accepted a professorship in chemistry at the University of Alabama and will no longer be a resident of the town. The good wishes of all the boys go with him to Alabama.

About 35 members of the Troop attended Camp Resolute for two weeks this summer where they concentrated in learning a lot about the Indian way of life, their costumes, language, dances, etc. Earning their merit badges in Indian lore were the following boys from the Troop: Bob Barker, Don Frye, Sam Martin, Charles Floyd, Bill McNally, Bruce and Gregg Keary, Bill Shannon, and Bruce Frederickson.

Natick Art Association

NATICK -- At a meeting of the Executive Board of the Natick Art Association, a new slate of officers was presented. The following are the Executive Board of '59 - '60:

Chairman, Harold Clark; recording secretary, Ruth Rodman; corresponding secretary, Elaine Whitener; treasurer, Mary Haigh; membership chairman, Chris Stuart; workshop (temporary) chairman, Jean Thompson; exhibits, Janis Friedman, Clara Lipka, co-chairmen; publicity, Jean Thompson, Jane Hayner, co-chairmen; program, Harold Clark; studio manager, Harriett Schultz; hospitality, Zelma Schwartz; members-at-large, George Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schultz and Goldie Korenberg.

Classes will be offered in oil painting, watercolors and dance techniques. One day a week, the studio will be available to members for painting or graphic arts with occasional instruction or critiques. There will be children's painting class on Saturday mornings.

Registration for all classes will be Monday, Oct. 5, from 1 - 4 p.m. at the Studio (Rt. 126) Old Conn. Path, Cochituate. Classes will begin the week of Oct. 12. For information, call Mrs. Thompson, OL 3-2404.

Adult Education Center

The Cambridge Center for Adult Education, 42 Brattle Street, announces "At Home Week," Sept. 21 - 24. The public is invited to drop in to discuss fall courses, to meet the faculty, and to enjoy an exhibition of arts and crafts. Course booklets will be gladly mailed to those who phone the Center at KI 7-6789, or who write to The Cambridge Center for Adult Education, 42 Brattle Street, Cambridge. The 10-week program for fall begins September 28.

Woman's Alliance To Hold
Thursday Morning Classes
In Variety of Activities

WAYLAND -- The Woman's Alliance of the First Parish Church is once again sponsoring a series of 10 Thursday morning classes to be held at the Church and the Parish House beginning on Thursday, Sept. 24.

Classroom sessions will be held from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and women in the community who are interested in any of the activities being offered are welcome to join. There are still a few vacancies in the following classes: ceramics, tray painting, bridge, rug hooking, oil painting, watercolor painting, Spanish, and sewing techniques.

Fee for the 10 weeks course is $12.00. A baby-sitting service is provided and those women wishing to take advantage of it may do so for an extra two dollars or a total of $14.00 for the course and baby-sitting combined.

Anyone interested in registering may call either Mrs. Edwin Schneider at EL 8-4391 or Mrs. John Gregory at EL 8-4596.

Regional Planning Will Be Topic At Wayland L.W.V. Tea

WAYLAND -- Regional planning is the subject to be discussed at the Fall tea of the Wayland League of Women Voters, to be held at the Happy Hollow School, Sept. 23, at 2:45 p.m.

Mr. Alan McClellan of Lincoln will speak to the members and prospective members on problems of regional planning from the urban and suburban points of view. The subject is of particular interest as it relates to the League's projected town-wide Survey on Regional Planning.

Mr. McClellan is presently Planning Director for Cambridge, and was Chief of Development Planning for the Department of Commerce of Massachusetts.

Arrangements for the tea have been handled by Mrs. Kenneth LeBaron, membership chairman, and her committee, and Mrs. Robert Page, director of regional planning.

WAYLAND -- The nominating committee of the Kiwanis Club appointed to bring in a slate of officers for the coming year includes George Devereil, Joe Kelly, Ed Thorburn, Ed Veno and Bill Vose, and is due to report Oct. 6. Fern Taylor has been elected to serve as a director for the balance of this year.

"Ethan Allen Festival"

NATICK -- During the week of Sept. 21, Windsor Furniture Shops on the Worcester Turnpike will be the scene of a colorful "Ethan Allen Festival," held in conjunction with the presentation of the Ethan Allen collection of early American furniture, manufactured in the Green Mountains of Vermont.

Shown continuously throughout the week will be the 26-minute sound movie, "Journey of a Tree," describing in detail the entire process of furniture manufacture from the original growth of the tree through all the stages of drying lumber, cabinet work, finishing, etc. to the finished product.

Medical Auxiliary Meeting

The Charles River Medical Auxiliary will hold its first meeting with a membership tea at The Gore Place, Waltham, on Sept. 29.

The guest of honor will be Mrs. George L. Ross, President, Massachusetts Medical Auxiliary, who will come from Holyoke to meet the old and new members.

Members and guests will be taken on a guided tour of the old mansion by Mrs. Laurence W. Polson, curator.

Pack 1 Cub Scout Dates

COCHITUATE -- Cub Scouts of Pack 1, (George Brown, Cubmaster, and Theodore R. Magoun, Pack chairman) announce their opening dates:

Friday, Sept. 18: registration for new boys, ages 8 - 11, at 7:30 p.m. at Legion Hall. Boys should be accompanied by parents.

Monday, Sept. 28: Pack 1 meeting, 7:15 p.m., Loker School.

Saturday, Oct. 3: "Cub Scout Country Store", Cochituate ball field, 1 to 5 p.m., open to the public. Things to do, eat, buy and take home.

Raytheon Company's sales in 1959 will approach half a billion dollars, Charles F. Adams, President, has announced.

St. Julia's Committee Busy

Planning festival for St. Julia's. Left to right: Mrs. Harlan Berry, Mrs. Jack Leonhardt, Mrs. Allen Metcalfe and Mrs. Richard Spofford. (McCann Photo)

WESTON -- The parishioners of St. Julia's are working energetically for the success of their festival which will be held Saturday, Sept. 26, from 11 a.m. to dark, on the church grounds. The affair will have a carnival atmosphere with many rides for the kiddies, a balloon man and plenty of cotton candy. The snack bar will be open all day and coffee, doughnuts, hot franks, popcorn and tonic will be sold.

A ham and bean supper for .99¢ will be served continuously from 4:30 p.m.

The officers of St. Julia's Sodality who are directing this project are Mrs. Ruth Jones, prefect; Mrs. Evelyn Spofford, vice-president; Mrs. Alisca Czarnowski, recording secretary; Mrs. Mary Metcalfe, treasurer and Mrs. Kay Callinan, liaison officer.

Country Garden Club Will Hold 1st Meeting Sept. 23

WESTON -- The Country Garden Club of Weston's first meeting of the season will take place on Wednesday, Sept. 23, at the home of its president Mrs. Lewis Mustard, III.

Speakers of the morning will be Mrs. Charles H. Abbott and Mrs. Joseph P. Maloney, whose subject will be magnolia and pine trees. They have been given an able assist by posters illustrating the fruits, seeds and general tree structure, created by Mrs. Charles B. Wheeler.

Some of the Club's committee chairmen will discuss briefly their plans for the year. These include Mrs. Robert E. Sullivan, civic chairman; Mrs. Chester Graves, conservation; Mrs. Frank V. Best, flower arrangements; Mrs. Arthur S. Reid, program, and Mrs. Alfred L. Backstrom, hospital service.

Mrs. Eben Wallace, exhibits chairman, has planned arrangements for each meeting to enhance and blend with the program for the day, and Mrs. Daniel H. Coakley, hospitality chairman, will aid the various hostesses each month with the help of her committee: Mrs. Weston Howland Jr., Mrs. William D. Manice Jr., Mrs. Thomas J. Scott and Mrs. Robert A. Townsend.

Mrs. Edward W. Perkins Is Asst. Children's Librarian

WESTON -- The Trustees of the Weston Public Library have appointed Mrs. Edward W. Perkins of 240 Merriam Street as assistant children's librarian. Mrs. Perkins has been on the staff as a part-time employee since May of 1958.

Plans for the proposed High School building may be viewed at

Weston Ballroom Dancing

WESTON -- Mrs. Grace M. Coolbrith will resume ballroom dancing instructions on Oct. 22 at the Weston Town Hall. These classes will be held on Thursday afternoons. All children in grades 4 through 7 will be invited. Parents who wish to visit the classes are most welcome. For further information call Mrs. George C. Terkelsen, TW 3-1250.

Cub Scout Registration

WESTON -- Rudolph L. Helgeson Jr., neighborhood commissioner for Cub Scouts, announces that Cub Scout registration will be held at 7:15 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 18, at these locations:

Pack 51, First Parish Church; Pack 52, Weston Methodist Church; Pack 53, St. Peter's Church, and Pack 54, Weston Baptist Church.

WESTON -- Adult education classes are starting this week at Drumlin Farm, the Massachusetts Audubon Society's Sanctuary in South Lincoln, at the Hatheway School of Conservation. Weston residents attending these classes are Miss Charlotte J. Paine, Mrs. Brenton H. Dickson, Mrs. Kimball A. McMullin, Mrs. James L. Whittenberger and Mrs. Hoyt Ecker.

Registration For Weston Girl Scouts

WESTON -- Mothers of Brownies in Grade 4 and of girls in Grade 3 who wish to become Brownies are invited to come with their daughters to tea and to register them in a troop at 3:30 o'clock on Monday, Sept. 21, at the Scout House.

There will be registration for Girl Scouts in Grades 7 and 8 at 2:15 to 5 p.m., and for grades 5 and 6 at 3:30 o'clock on Tuesday, Sept. 22, at the Scout House.

Girl Scouts in Grades 9, 10, 11 and 12 will register on Monday, Sept. 21, at 7:30 p.m., at the Scout House.

The registration fee is $2. Brownies should, in addition, have $1 for project materials.

At the Monday night and Tuesday afternoon registrations there will be an opportunity for uniform exchange.

Children's Exchange Will Reopen On September 22

WESTON -- The Children's Exchange will reopen for business at the Jones House on Tuesday, Sept. 22, and each Tuesday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. for entering and selling good used clothing for children, teenagers and adults. Clothing, to be acceptable, must be up to date, clean and in good condition.

In view of the ever growing number of accounts with the Exchange, and the very limited space to accommodate this volume, entries will be limited to eight articles at one time by each account.

Delicious home-baked goods by Weston residents are also on sale each Tuesday and special orders may be placed at the food counter. All profits made by the Exchange go into the Community Service and Scholarship Fund of the Women's Community League.

Giurleo - Fabbri

LINCOLN -- Arrangements of gladioli decorated the altar of St. Julia's Church, Weston, Saturday morning for the wedding of Miss Rosemary Elizabeth Fabbri, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley
Fabbri of Weston to Mr. Daniel
John Giurleo, son of Mr. and Mrs.
James Giurleo of Lincoln.

Rev. James Graf of St. Julia's Church performed the double ring ceremony at 10 o'clock and was the celebrant of the Nuptial Mass which followed. Mrs. David Kelly of Weston played the wedding music, and Thomas Healey, also of Weston, was the soloist. A reception followed at the Maugus Club in Wellesley Hills.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was gowned in white organza, fashioned with an embroidered bodice with sabrina neckline and long sleeves, and a very full skirt of four tiers terminating in a chapel length train.
Her finger-tip veil of illusion was held by a crown of pearls, and she carried white orchids and white carnations.

Miss Carol Ann Olson of Natick was the maid of honor and the bridesmaids included Miss Mary

Benotti of Braintree, a cousin of the bride; Miss Nancy Migliorini, also of Braintree and another cousin of the bride; Miss Eleanor Barbetti of Weston and Miss Jeanne Giurleo of Reading, a cousin of the bridegroom, Miss Kathleen Lelievre of Newton was the junior bridesmaid, and the flower girl was Donna DiNapoli of Arlington, a niece of the bridegroom. Joseph Lelievre of Newton was the ring bearer.

The maid of honor and the bridesmaids all were gowned in nylon chiffon dresses, each of a different rainbow hue. They wore matching crowns and carried baskets of fall flowers.

The junior bridesmaid and the flower girl were attired in long gowns of yellow chiffon with matching crowns, and also carried baskets of flowers.

The mother of the bride wore a white orchid corsage on her avocado satin gown with matching accessories. The mother of the bridegroom was attired in a shrimp-colored gown with matching accessories, and her corsage was also of white orchids.

Salvator Giurleo of Reading was his cousin's best man, and the ushers included James Giurleo of Lincoln, brother of the bridegroom, Robert Polimeni of Medford, Robert McCart of Lincoln and Frank Campobasso of Arlington.

The bride is a graduate of Weston
High School and the bridegroom was graduated from Concord High School and the Ritters School of Floral Design, Boston.

Following a wedding trip to the Pocono Mountains and Washington, D.C., Mr. and Mrs. Giurleo will make their home on North Great Road, Lincoln.

Among new boys at the Belmont
Hill School are Christopher R.
Brooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. John
G. Brooks, 178 Boston Post Road,
Weston; William D. Elwell, son of
Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Elwell, 111
Plain Road, Wayland; Richard W.
G. Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wyman B. Shaw, 26 Hubbard Road, Weston and Daniel F. Viles Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel F. Viles, 34 Partridge Hill Road, Weston.

Iranians Feed Rotarians

WESTON -- Last year the Rotary Club of Weston entertained members of the Iranian Club of Boston at a cookout and this year the Iranians returned the compliment, coming out to the home of Richard Robinson, 161 Boston Post Road, and cooking Iranian food. Feature of the meal was kebab, lamb aged over night in onion and broiled on a spit, served with rice and seasoning. Above, some of the crowd around the Robinson swimming pool.

Woman Doctor, Born In Log Cabin, Is Weston Visitor

WESTON--One of the oldest practicing physicians in the U.S. is visiting the Robert J. Mac-Millan family of 132 Wellesley street, for three weeks. Dr.
Mary L. Cook of Waynesville,
Ohio, will soon be 90 years old,
but still maintains her practice, seeing several patients each day at her home.

Dr. Cook's visit here is a reunion of doctors, since she is staying with her niece, Mrs. Mac-Millan, a pathologist, and Dr.
MacMillan, an internist. She came
East especially to see the Mac-Millan girls, Mary and Janet, ride in the Middlesex County 4-H Horse Show.

"Dr. Mary," as her patients call her, was born in a log cabin in Warren County, Ohio, in 1869.
Medicine was not her first calling. After graduating in the first class of three girls from Harveysburg High School, she went to college to become a teacher.

She taught in Ohio for a year, and when her family moved to Orgeon she went along. The family became homesick and returned to Ohio almost immediately but she was too proud to do so, and stayed on to teach for three years.

Then she remembered a close friend's advice, and decided to become a doctor. Working days, she took an evening medical course for four years, spending a fifth year at the University of Illinois to get her degree, and returning to Ohio to win a top grade in the State Board examinations.

She settled down in Waynesville, which today has a population of 1000, to become the area's only doctor, literally a horse and buggy doctor, for many years.

Last year the American Medical Association awarded her a certificate for 50 years of medical practice.

Along with her practice, Dr.
Cook has managed to be president of the Waynesville Library board since 1916, and was president and treasurer of the Warren County Medical Society.

Residents of Wayland and Weston are invited to the gala festivities of "Hawaiian Holiday", annual fall open house at the Boston YWCA, 140 Clarendon Street on Wednesday, Sept. 23, from 7 - 11 p.m.

Weston -- Delegates to the big Red Cross convention at Atlantic City last June, representing the Weston Junior Red Cross, were Carter Bottjer, left, above, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Bottjer of 4 Hidden Road, and Beverly Eaton, right, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Eaton of 29 Sunset Road. Carter is a junior at Weston High this year and Beverly is a senior.

Weston Methodist Meeting Sets Plans For The Year

WESTON -- A capacity audience filled the Parish House of the Weston Methodist Church at the Family Service Sunday morning, Sept. 13, as the introduction to the year's program of Christian Education. "Parents are Teachers Too" was the topic of the sermon preached by the pastor, Rev. Alan H. Moore.

Mr. John Kempster, Superintendent of the Church School, presented the revised curriculum and the objectives of the Church School for the year. Then followed the registration of pupils and a fellowship and coffee hour.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon the church school teachers met for their first workers conference of the season. After a devotional period led by the pastor, the keynote address on the theme of the conference, "What Makes an Effective Church School Teacher", was presented by the Rev. Douglas Dorchester, Executive Secretary of the Board of Education of the New England Southern Conference of the Methodist Church.

Departmental workshops were held at 5 o'clock. Mrs. Robert J. Spicer, kindergarten teacher in the Weston Schools, spoke to the pre-school group of which Mrs. Douglas E. Nickerson is the superintendent. Mrs. J. Sumner Viles, superintendent of the Primary Department, presented the film strip "The Primary Child and the Church" to teachers of the 1st, 2nd and 3rd grades and led the discussion on this.

The Junior and Senior High School teachers met under the leadership of Mrs. Kenneth Wolf-skill and Miss Florence Freeman to work on their new courses of study for the year. A supper and a question and answer period followed the workshops. Mrs. Raymond Harrington, Chairman of the Commission on Education, presided. The evening closed with a service of consecration and communion conducted by Rev. Alan Moore in the Sanctuary.

Regular sessions of the church school begin next Sunday at 9:30 a.m. Parents who have not yet enrolled their children are invited to do so this Sunday. Families who do not have church affiliations in the community are cordially invited to register their children in the Weston Methodist Church School.

This group also sponsors the Protestant chaplain at Massachusetts General Hospital.

Mrs. Robert Earl, president, will lead the meeting with devotions by spiritual life secretary Mrs. Warren Hayes and Mrs. Herbert Brannen, serving as hostess chairman. The vice president, Mrs. Hallock Boutwell, will have available at this meeting program books for the 1959-1960 season outlining the various events planned and listing all members.

This organization is open to all women in the church.

WAYLAND -- Among the local prize winners at the 10th anniversary sale of the Town Line Hardware Company, held recently, were Francis J. Cassidy, electric clock; Mrs. H. W. Plumb, door mirror; Will S. Brown, a sander; L. W. Furbush, electric hedge trimmer, and Sue Cannistraro, a Sunbeam mixer.

WESTON -- Their first child, a son, Maynard Sinclair Haslett, was born to Mr. and Mrs. John R. Haslett (Ann Elwell) of Belfast, North Ireland, on August 28. Mr. and Mrs. Reginald B. Elwell of Ripley Lane are grandparents.

Alward Post Installation

COCHITUATE -- New Commander of the Charles H. Alward Post 133, American Legion, is Joseph Strafuss who, with other new officers and Auxiliary officers, was installed at exercises held in Legion Hall on Sept. 12.

New president of the Auxiliary is Mrs. Joseph Strafuss, who is beginning her second term. Other officers of the Auxiliary:

Mrs. Blanche Fitzgibbons, senior vice commander; Muriel Hallowell, junior vice-commander; Mrs. Evelyn Hibbert, treasurer; Mrs. Marie Barberger, chaplain; Mrs. Quo V. Heggen, secretary; Mrs. Rose Lizotte, historian, and Mrs. Leon Richardson, sergeant-at-arms. On the executive board are Mrs. Sally Potvin, Mrs. Edith Blomgren and Mrs. Hazel Taylor.

Ceremonies were conducted by Mrs. Katherine Nedza, Middlesex County Junior District Director. Guests were the Wayland delegate to Girls State, Miss Marion Bova, and past District Director of Middlesex, Miss Ann Mellogy.

WESTON -- Mr. and Mrs. Roy McCanne (Lorraine Johnson) of Denver, Colorado, announce the birth of a first child, a son, Terry McCanne, at Presbyterian Hospital, Denver, on Aug. 16. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Burdette A. Johnson of Weston and Mr. and Mrs. Lee McCanne of Naples and Rochester, New York. Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond D. Richardson of St. Petersburg, Florida, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Austin Johnson of Pictou, Nova Scotia. Great-grandmothers are Mrs. Charles H. Wanzer of Seneca Point, New York and Coral Gables, Florida, and Mrs. Benjamin Proctor Jr., of Rochester, New York.

WESTON DEVELOPMENT

It had been decided to give no special name to the area, he said, because of a feeling that in this way the new houses and their occupants would tend to blend more naturally with the adjacent communities. In this respect the developers had been in contact with the Weston Forest and Trail Association, and it was planned to include easements to provide connection with neighboring trail systems.

Mr. Finlay also drew attention to the Greenbelt Report for Weston, now available from the Planning Board for study. He pointed out that he had no doubt as to the value of retaining marginal land, as for example along brooks and streams, in its natural state, having had personal experience of the work being carried out in Wayland by the Sudbury Valley Trustees.

Various questions were raised from the floor. Mr. Richard Rice of Wildwood Lane requested that measures be taken to avoid dumping rocks and tree stumps into the neighborhoods ponds. Mr. F. E. Vinal advocated deed restriction against the cutting of trees along lot lines and boundary strips, as was provided for in his development on the opposite side of Merriam Street. Mr. Fred Ward of Concord Road sought information with regard to the adjoining recreation area that had recently been purchased by the Town. Mr. Wheeler brought the hearing to a close, pointing out that following the decision of the Planning Board as to its approval of the plans, there was required a 20-day period during which appeal could be filed with the courts. The Board would be glad to notify anyone as to its decision, if they would register their name with the Board's secretary.

WOMAN'S CLUB

Oct. 3, to be held on the green at Wayland Center. The Club awards annually two separate scholarships to graduates of Wayland High School.

Mrs. Richard M. Verrill, membership chairman, is making plans for a series of coffee hours to introduce the club officers to new residents who are interested in becoming members of the Wayland Woman's Club.

Officers assisting Mrs. Belles this year will be Mrs. Angus Wilson, vice president; Mrs. Horace Megathlin Jr., recording secretary; Mrs. Whitman Hall, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ralph W. Conard, treasurer; and Mrs. Burton R. Clay, Mrs. Fred J. Christensen Jr., Mrs. Richard M. Verrill, directors.

Committee chairmen: Ways and means, Mrs. Sanford W. Tallmon; membership, Mrs. Richard M. Verrill; scholarship, Mrs. Parmelee C. Hill; program, Mrs. Granville Trow; publicity, Mrs. W. Robert Kenyon; hospitality, Mrs. Clarence Stickney and Mrs. Frank Kilburn; transportation, Mrs. Harold J. Lundy.

Meetings take place on the first Tuesday of each month in Fellowship Hall of the Trinitarian Congregational Church at 2:30 p.m. Transportation to and from meetings may be arranged by calling Mrs. Harold J. Lundy at EL 8-4361. Baby-sitting service is available at the church.

The schedule of programs: Nov. 3, 1959: "Taste of the Wild" The Misses Donna Niles and Catherine White, ex-Wacs. Dec. 1, 1959: "Mr. Epicure" Mr. Leslie Browning, S. S. Pierce Co.

Jan. 5, 1960: "Antiques on a Shoestring", Miss Helen Wiedemann.

Feb. 2, 1960: "Government Should be Everybody's Business" Senator John F. Parker, Taunton.

March 1, 1960: "Decoy" Lt. Mary Kirkpatrick, State policeman.

April 5, 1960: Fashion and Hobby Show, The Wayland Woman's Club.

May 3, 1960: Annual meeting and luncheon. "Jewels for Beauty", Miss Ethel Jackson, Thomas Long Corp.

Nichols - Prout

WAYLAND -- Miss Diana Prout, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Prout of Dover, was married on Saturday, Sept. 12, to Mr. Charles Seth Nichols, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Seth Nichols of Chestnut Hill, formerly of Glezen Lane, at Dover Church with Reverend Walter Kraft performing the ceremony.

Miss Daphne W. Prout, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Miss Mary Trelawney Nichols, sister of the groom was bridesmaid.

Mr. James J. Doty of Wayland was best man and the ushers were Mr. Warren W. Cowles of Ridge-wood, N. J., and Mr. Timothy P. Horne of Bolton. Mr. P. A. Newell of Brookline was honorary usher.

Miss Prout was graduated from the Winsor School in 1958 and has been attending Bradford Junior College. She is a member of the Junior League and the Vincent Club.

Mr. Nichols was graduated from Noble and Greenough in 1955 and from Trinity College in 1959.

First Community Chorus
Rehearsal Date, Sept. 21

Mr. Albert D. Hughes, president of the Community Chorus has announced the first meeting of the Chorus will be held promptly at 8 p.m., Sept. 21, at the Wayland High School, Wayland Center.

Directing the Chorus this year will be Mr. Kalman Novak of Lincoln, who became director of the chorus last Spring. Mr. Novak is assistant director of the Longy School of Music in Cambridge and is a choral conductor of wide experience. Mrs. William Moyer of Wayland will serve as assistant director of the Chorus as well as accompanist.

Mr. Hughes has further announced that the music committee has completed its selection of the works to be presented by the Chorus at its forthcoming Christmas concert. The major work for this concert will be "The Childhood of Christ" by Johann Christoph Bach. The concert will also include "Fantasy on Christmas Carols" by Ralph Vaughan Williams, Sweetlinck's "Hodie Christus Natus Est," "Lullaby" by William Bird and finally a selection of foreign and relatively unknown Christmas carols.

Plans are also near completion for the annual Spring concert. One interesting item concerning the Spring concert is the strong possibility of presenting the recently found Hydn work, "The St. Nicholas Mass."

A membership committee, under the direction of Mrs. Walter H. Stockmayer, is hard at work trying to contact all old and new friends who would like to share with the Chorus this stimulating year. Members of the Chorus extend to all those interested in good choral music a warm invitation to join them for their first rehearsal on the 21st. Tryouts are not required nor is the membership restricted to persons living in the immediate Wayland-Weston-Sudbury area.

WAYLAND -- Anna Young of 41 Concord Road, who has a 25-year service record with H. P. Hood and Sons, was among some 70 Hood employees honored recently at a special dinner in Boston. She entered the employ of the company in 1934.

At present she is employed as a production clerk at the company's headquarters plant in Boston.

Mrs. Young was presented with a gold service emblem by Gilbert H. Hood Jr., vice-president.

Cambridge School Prepares For Opening On Sept. 23

WESTON -- Although classes at the Cambridge School will start on Wednesday, Sept. 23, members of the faculty have been holding a series of meetings and conferences this week. At the opening session, Mr. M. Adolphus Cheek Jr., headmaster, announced that the school will open with the largest enrollment in its history with 256 students from 18 states, the District of Columbia, Bermuda, and Canada.

Mr. Cheek also announces with regret the resignation of Mrs. Roslyn Henning, a member of the faculty for the last eight years. Mrs. Henning has accepted an appointment as assistant professor of music at the Boston University School of Fine and Applied Arts.

Replacing Mrs. Henning, will be Mr. James Kapteyn who has recently been teaching in the Weston Junior High School. Mr. Kapteyn, who received his A. B. and M. A. degrees from Trinity College, was formerly on the faculty of Boston University and earlier was an editor in the D. C. Heath Co. College Department. Mr. and Mrs. Kapteyn, with their four daughters, will be residents in one of the dormitories.

Among the new Weston students entering the Cambridge School are Carl Brotman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Brotman of Ellis Road; Louise Dailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Dailey Jr., of Ripley Lane; Christopher St. John, son of Mr. and Mrs. George St. John, of Fairhope Road; Hugh Stockmayer, son of Prof. and Mrs. Walter Stockmayer of Pigeon Hill Road; and John Whittenberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Whittenberger of Gun Club Lane.

ROBERT MORGAN SPEAKS

WAYLAND -- Mr. Robert M. Morgan of Old Sudbury Road will be a participant in a panel discussion on current developments in the mortgage market at the Sept. 18 meeting of the Savings Bank Association of Massachusetts which is holding its three-day annual convention at Wentworth-By-The-Sea in Portsmouth, N. H., from Sept. 17 through 19. Mr. Morgan is vice-president and treasurer of The Boston Five Cents Saving Bank and a long-time member of the Wayland Finance Board.

Audubon Society Offers Adult Education Courses

LINCOLN -- Seven adult education courses have already begun at the Massachusetts Audubon Society's Hatheway School at Drumlin Farm. Other courses are due in October and interested persons are urged to apply early.

The first two classes began on September 15. They are Introductory Bird Identification by Frances Sherborne, assistant director of education for the society. This is a morning course. The evening course is in Animal Behavior by Dr. Andrew J. Meyerriecks, assistant director of the Hatheway School.

The two classes which began on September 16 at 8 p.m. were: Natural History of Insects with Dr. William L. Brown Jr. of Harvard's Museum of Comparative Zoology, and Introductory Bedrock Geology with Mr. Robert Novotny of the U. S. Geological Survey.

Today (Sept. 17) three Bird Identification courses will begin. The evening introductory course will be by Miss Sherburne and two intermediate classes will be conducted by Mr. Richard Stackpole of Wayland in the morning, and in the evening by Mr. Allen Morgan, executive vice-president of the society, and Dr. William H. Drury Jr., director of the Hatheway School.

Two other courses to be given by Mrs. Lidback of the Audubon staff will be Youth Leaders' Training, and Lichens and Mosses, to start in October.

Drumlin Farm, now the headquarters for the society since its move from Boston, was the estate of Mrs. Conrad P. Hatheway and was a gift to the society three years ago. Besides the large mansion there are 175 acres of land with ponds, walks, thickets for birds and an active farm.

The Hatheway School of Conservation, founded in 1956, is unique among educational institutions in this country.

In 1896 this oldest of Audubon Societies made its start in the basement of what is now Bonwit Teller's at the corner of Boylston and Berkeley Streets, Boston. Expanding programs and membership forced a move to roomier quarters at Audubon House at 155 Newbury Street.

The move to Drumlin Farm now consolidates all the society's offices under one roof.

Local girls entering Smith College as freshmen this year are Ainslee Baldwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Baldwin of 74 Moore Road, Wayland, and Doris Kirk Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice K. Brown of 6 Bradyl Road, Weston, and Caroline Tingey Craven, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas T. Craven of 187 Newton Street, Weston.

WESTON -- A sixth child, second daughter, Caroline Haskell Shaw, was born to Dr. and Mrs. Robert Stetson Shaw of 15 Conant Road on August 5 at Richardson House, Boston.

Reading Room, Monday, Wednesday, Friday 12 - 3 p.m.

The vital importance of trust in spiritual power and substance will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

Bible readings will include this verse from Psalms (56:4) "In God I will praise his word, in God I have put my trust; I will not fear what flesh can do unto me."

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Matter" will include the following (278:29-32): "We define matter as error, because it is the opposite of life, substance, and intelligence. Matter, with its mortality, cannot be substantial if Spirit is substantial and eternal."

The Golden Text is also from Psalms (81: 9, 10): "There shall no strange god be in thee; neither shalt thou worship any strange god. I am the Lord thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt."

Frank A. Libby Becomes Red Cap General Manager

WAYLAND -- Promotion of Frank A. Libby to general manager of Carling's Red Cap Distributors, Inc., of Cambridge, has been announced by Henry E. Russell, Carling executive vice president. The firm is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Carling Brewing Company.

Mr. Libby has been connected with the malt beverage industry for the past 13 years and for the last five and one-half years has been with Carling. In 1956 he was named sales manager. A graduate of Boston High School of Commerce, he attended Boston University's School of Business Administration. He is a member of the board of directors of the Wine and Spirits Club of Massachusetts.

He and Mrs. Libby and their seven children live on Marshall Terrace.

Spooner - Donaldson

LINCOLN -- Eponymus, white chrysanthemums and gladiolas combined with candelabra holding white candles to form the setting in the White Church in Lincoln for the wedding on Saturday, Aug. 29, of Miss Elizabeth Ann Donaldson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Donaldson Jr., of Trapelo Road, Lincoln, and Stephen Spooner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic M. Spooner of Lincoln Road. The 4 o'clock, double ring ceremony was performed by Dr. William D. Davies, and a reception followed at the home of the bride's parents.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of white taffeta with appliques of Alencon lace, fashioned on princess lines with boat neckline, short sleeves and chapel train. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion was caught to a crown of orange blossoms, and she carried a cascade bouquet of pink sweetheart roses and ivy.

Miss Priscilla Lloyd Donaldson was maid of honor for her sister, and Miss Ann Donaldson, a cousin, was the bridesmaid.

Parker Spooner of Lincoln was his brother's best man, and the ushers were Thomas Kimball of Waban and Conrad Todd of South Lincoln.

The bride attended Syracuse University, Northwestern University and the Hickok Secretarial School in Boston. Mr. Spooner was graduated from Weston High School and from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Following a honeymoon at Isle au Haut, Maine, Mr. and Mrs. Spooner will live at 24 Kelton Street in Allston.

What Happens When Kids Go To Nursery School

People who wonder what constructive learning processes can possibly be taught to a 3 or 4-year-old in a nursery school and whether the whole idea isn't just some kind of group baby-sitting operation might be interested to know what goes on for the approximately three hours in the morning at the typical well-run nursery school.

Children arrive at about 9 o'clock and hang up and put away their outside apparel. They then participate in a period of creative play, using materials of their choice. These may be modelling clay, play dough, fingerpaint, easel or tempera paints, crayons, paper and sissors, or carpentry and building blocks.

Or they may engage in dramatic play in the doll corner. In any of these activities, however, the emphasis is on individual expression and the satisfaction of the child's creative urge rather than on the perfection of the finished product. In other words, a painting or building which satisfies the child and does something for him emotionally is the aim rather than a product which attempts to meet adult standards of beauty or precision.

Following the period of creative activity, the children tidy up, use the bathroom, and then relax with a snack of juice and crackers. They then take a short rest period to a background of peaceful and soothing music.

Group activities come next with stories, nature or science talks, or group music. The children use rhythm instruments such as triangles, bells, drums and maracas to create their own music or they may dance to a piano or records or join in group singing of simple tunes.

Outdoor play usually follows although any part of the schedule may be rearranged to suit better the weather or the tempers of the group on a certain day and, obviously, each school would have set up its own basic pattern of activities.

Real science study begins as early as nursery school. Specimens of plant life, fish, small caged animals and pictures serve as the basis for instruction and children are encouraged to bring in their own collections of shells, stones, insect life, pets and the like. In every case, the science subject is related by stories, play and illustrations to other areas of a child's experience, much as social studies in today's elementary and secondary schools weave together heretofore unrelated subjects.

Falls cause the greatest number of injuries among school children going back and forth to school.

Missing — Volume Four Of The Wayland Story

WAYLAND—Missing from the vault at the new Town Hall is Volume 4 of the Town records of Sudbury (Wayland), covering the years 1760 to 1780, and Town Clerk Leila Sears wishes it could be returned, if it happens to be reposing in anybody's home.

If the volume is missing, however, the loss is apparently not irremediable.

Town Clerk Lawrence B. Tighe of Sudbury says that the Wayland volumes are only copies of the originals, dating back to 1638, which are in a fireproof vault in Sudbury.

The three remaining volumes are so thick and the writing needs so much deciphering that they are slow reading. However, an historian with plenty of time could have a picnic with them. The first entry contains the names of the first settlers. Not far along is the notation that it was on Sept. 4, 1639, that the General Court settled the name of Sudbury on the "plantation on the Concord". Then there are many records of Town Meetings, and many records of the allocations of land, with mention of familiar names.

Around 1742 there is mention of "Samuel Parris", whose father or grandfather may have been the witchcraft king of Salem, and of "Ephraim Curtis", of the same name as the Indian fighter in whose memory a plaque has recently been placed on Glezen Lane.

The early history of the Town of Wayland has been, to many residents, a complete blank. The trouble is that the first settlement, made here in 1638, was known as Sudbury. But the first settlement was actually in Wayland, along Bow Road. So for Sudbury, in early stories, one may read Wayland.

After the Revolution, the two parts of Sudbury were separated, with Wayland becoming known as East Sudbury. Later still, East Sudbury became Wayland. The "Wayland" came, it is generally believed, although not proved, from Rev. Francis Wayland, one-time president of Brown University, who gave money to found the Wayland free public library. He was a regular Summer visitor in Wayland.

The name Wayland is now noted on a square and on a building at Brown University.

These Sudbury records, says Miss Sears, were copied in long-hand in 1855 by Miss Mary Heard, who lived out on "the island", on Pelham Island Road, and lived to be 96 years old.

Miss Heard, with vast patience, copied the ancient records in big leather covered books, each about 12 inches by 15 inches by 1½ inches thick.

WESTON—Ralph Woodworth Jr. announces a series of 12 Friday Mornings at his music studio, 51 Church Street, beginning at 11 a.m. Sept. 18. The program will include talks on music, illustrated by organ and piano. Those interested should write Clifford D. Bryan, 88 Allston Street, Medford.

WAYLAND—Their second child, a son, Stephan John, was born to Mr. and Mrs. John J. DeVincent Jr., of Waltham on August 20 at the Waltham Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Crocker of Spring Hill Road are grandparents.

WESTON -- Lt. Arthur L. Perry, son of Mrs. Alice L. Perry of 142 Wellesley Street, was recently promoted to first lieutenant at Fort Hood, Texas, where he is a member of the Second Armored Division. Lt. Perry is a graduate of Weston High School and of Bowdoin College.

WHY IS THE CO-OP INC. COMING TO THE WAYLAND VILLAGE SHOPPER?

the CO-OP is a people's business, owned and controlled by and for the people, and it has the faith in the future greater Wayland area as a good place for people to live and work in;

we feel that competition is the life of trade, and that the addition of a large, modern efficient consumer-owned supermarket will be a keenly competitive addition to the food retailing of our area thus drawing trade into our shops and enterprises;

now if ever, in the present economic squeeze of soaring prices and less employment, a big market owned by its local customers is needed in EVERY city!

For these, and many other reasons which we will explain to you as time goes on, we are occupying the market space in the Wayland Village Shopper. No other supermarket in this area ever had so much to offer the customer!

Rev. D. B. Morris Installed As Weston Baptist Pastor

Among those present at the installation were, back row, left to right: Rev. Howard T. Joslyn, Rev. Sargis Matson, Rev. Philip S. Krug, Rev. Donald B. Morris, Rev. Alan H. Moore, Rev. Louis R. Beckwith, Weston Selectman Edward M. Dickson and Wallace W. Sawyer. Front row: Dr. James P. Berkeley, Rev. Joseph E. O'Donnell Jr. and Dr. John W. Brush. (McCann Photo)

WESTON -- Rev. Donald B. Morris, new pastor of the First Baptist Church of Weston, was officially installed as minister on Sept. 20, with exercises attended by church and town leaders and many parishioners.

Invocation was given by Rev. Alan H. Moore of the Weston Methodist Church and the scripture reading was given by Rev. Philip S. Krug of St. Peter's Church. The sermon of installation was delivered by Rev. John W. Brush of Andover Newton Theological Seminary. The charge to Rev. Mr. Morris was given by Rev. Sargis Matson of the Massachusetts Baptist Convention, and the charge to the church by Rev. Joseph E. O'Donnell, former pastor of the church.

The prayer of installation was given by Professor Emeritus James P. Berkeley of Andover Newton, and Clarence H. Markle, chairman of the pastoral committee, officially installed the new minister.

The regular choir sang a special anthem with Mrs. William Vail at (Please turn to Page 8)

Whiteside Family Moves To Farm In Virginia

WAYLAND -- The town will miss two of its most interested and active citizens, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Whiteside of Rice Road, when they move south to Woodstock Farm in Scottsville, Virginia on Sept. 28.

The Whitesides, long-time residents of the town, have served in a number of local civic and governmental positions over the past years. Mr. Whiteside is a former member of the Planning Board and the Finance Committee. Mrs. Whiteside was the first president of the Wayland League of Women Voters and has been a member of the Town Government Committee, a trustee of the Parmenter Health Center, a member of the Republican Town Committee and the Cochituate Garden Club. They were both members of the Junior Town House and the Vokes Players, among other organizations.

Car Engine Where Trunk Should Be--Fire Starts

WESTON -- Because nobody can tell, nowadays, whether an automobile's engine is in the front or the rear, there was a fire and a flurry of excitement in the middle of Weston on Saturday morning, Sept. 19.

According to the report, somebody flipped open what he thought was the trunk of a small foreign sedan, parked in front of Carver's store, and tossed in a hunting jacket. When the car was started, the coat got hot and a fire started.

The Weston Fire Department extinguished the blaze, which didn't do the car's wiring system any good.

Sunday School Classes Are Held In Parked School Bus

Douglas Surgenor, standing at rear, surveys the unusual classroom. (McCann Photo)

Because their new quarters indoors were not finished by Sunday, Sept. 20, two groups of Sunday School pupils at the Trinitarian Congregational Church in Wayland held their classes in two school buses, driven to the church parking lot for the occasion.

So far as anybody knew, it was the first time school buses had been put to such a use.

Credit for having the idea was given to Mrs. Robert G. Bleakney Jr. of 16 Butler Road, Sudbury, wife of the Sunday School Superintendent.

One of the classes was a high school age group, taught by Douglas M. Surgenor of Millbrook Road, Wayland, and the other, an 8th grade group, was taught by Allen H. Smith of 623 Concord Road, Sudbury.

It was a beautiful morning, classes were held with the bus doors open and the experiment seemed to work. The indoor quarters are expected to be ready before long.

5 Deer Seen In Weston

WESTON -- Officer John Clark Jr. of the Weston Police Department saw five deer together recently on Ash Street, near the reservoir, Chief Frank O. Shaw reports.

Cheer Leaders Sell Food

Fall Comes Before Fall

WAYLAND -- Sept. 14 marked the turn of the year, so far as temperatures go, a whole week before the official entrance of the fall season. The Lake Cochituate weather station reported an early morning reading of only 38 degrees on that date, the lowest temperature recorded since way back last Spring.

Local persons attending a recent dinner meeting of area chairmen in the 1960 United Fund campaign were Mrs. Bernard T. McGuire of 882 Boston Post Road, Sudbury, whose husband is Sudbury chairman, and Mr. Edward C. Mendler of Shaw Drive, Wayland, who is vice chairman of the South Metropolitan Division.

Committees For Girl Scout Rummage Sale Are Assigned

On the Girl Scout rummage sale committee:

Front row, left to right: Mrs. J. Milton Kilgore, Ronald McKay, Mrs. Lovell C. Rawson, Mrs. W. B. Leatherbee, Mrs. Philip McLean, Mrs. Richard Bassett.

Middle row: Mrs. Edward A. Mooers, Mrs. Eric Reissner, Mrs. John Callinan, Mrs. Ralph Alexander, Mrs. Edward B. Havey, Mrs. Julius Mueller.

Top row: Mrs. Ronald McKay, Mrs. Joseph L. Crowe, Mrs. Dexter Hill, Mrs. Allen Sawyer, Mrs. Arthur E. Grannis Jr., Mrs. Wm. B. Gowell, Mrs. Alden Henderson.

Missing from the picture are Mrs. Franksford G. Sumner, Mrs. Howard Rogers and Mrs. Ernest Hamill.

30 Families, 45 Cars, 66 Children, Move To Weston

WESTON -- Another note on newcomers to Weston in August and the first part of September, as discovered by the Welcome Wagon:

Thirty new families, 45 automobiles and 66 children (about two more school rooms). One family has seven children, including sets of twin boys.

Nobody Killed--Yet

WESTON -- Knocking on wood, Police Chief Frank O. Shaw notes that there have been no fatal automobile accidents in Weston so far in 1959.

Help For Teachers Wanted

To the Editor:

In the elementary school program, which is not departmentalized, the teacher is responsible for teaching nearly all subjects to her pupils. This means that on many days the teacher has her class under her direct supervision constantly from the beginning until the close of the school day.

It is felt that a one half-hour break from the pupils in the middle of the day for the purpose of relaxation would help the teacher and actually increase her instructional effectiveness. For this reason a program of paid teacher helpers is being established.

If you would like to be considered as a person who could help the teachers in this way, please call Mr. Thomas H. McFarlin at: TW 3-6712.

Reply To Mr Ward

To the Editor:

Recently Mr. Fred Ward, 405 Concord Road, Weston, wrote in this column of the difficulty for citizens to "keep abreast of even a small fraction of municipal affairs". He suggested that a small group organize themselves to become informed on candidates and issues well in advance of "the few hectic weeks before Town Meeting". This is an excellent idea.

Fortunately, in Weston many years ago a group of women organized the League of Women Voters of Weston to do just this. We carry out our program by holding candidates' meetings; by distributing printed material to give facts on the background of candidates and issues; and by holding neighborhood discussion units. In addition, this year we'll be sending observers to all Town Committee meetings.

Our meetings are open to non-members and we extend to Mr. Ward a special invitation.

Mrs. Hoyt Ecker
Pres. League of Women Voters of Weston
1 Spruce Hill Road,
Weston.

Thank You Note

To the Editor:

With but a few days remaining of Carousel Theatre's second season, I would like to take this opportunity to thank you on behalf of everyone at Carousel, and myself personally, for the many courtesies which you have extended to us during the summer.

Your interest in Carousel has been one of the most vital contributions to its success, and we very much appreciate the support that you have given to this newest of summer theatre ventures.

Again, our sincere thanks.

CO-OP SUPERMARKET
AT WAYLAND SHOPPING CENTER

Here's a successful business that doesn't make a penny

The success of The CO-OP Inc's Wayland market will be measured by how much it can save its customers . . . and how much service it will give. Those who own it want it that way . . . because they are the customers. This is the co-operative way of doing business. The co-operative is organized by customers to fill a particular need. They control its operation and determine what types of goods and services the co-operative shall provide. There is no other way of doing business where management is more responsive and accountable to the people it serves. There are many kinds of co-operatives . . . organized to meet many different needs. But the principles remain the same . . . and not the least important is customer ownership and control.

Why Not A Throw-It-Down-The-Sudbury-Drain Plan ?

Mr. K's Disarmament Proposal Is Impossible, Unless We Can Think Of Some Other Way To Spend All That Money

When Mr. K made that preposterous suggestion that everybody disarm by abolishing armies, navies and air forces, not to mention atomic bombs, he sent a quiver through the whole economic system of America.

Just accept the wild possibility that Uncle Sam might stop spending $40 billions or so a year on arms, and think what kind of fix the country would be in.

But something might be worked out. In peace time, of course, the idea is to keep on making weapons and then, after they have become obsolete, which is pretty quick, put them on the junk heap.

This keeps the wheels of industry turning, provides employment and keeps money in circulation.

Suppose the money weren't to be spent on arms, it would have to be spent on something else, and this causes big thinkers to start wondering how, in the remote case of disarmament setting in, enough money could be diverted to non-productive uses to keep prosperity blooming.

Now right at hand here is a project on which the Government could probably spend money about as uselessly as on anything. It's not as simple as the obvious procedure, which would be to keep on producing war planes and sinking them in the ocean as fast as they come off the line, but it would be more fun.

Let's take the Sudbury River, a natural stream five or six feet deep, flowing through marshes which are the most prominent topographical feature of this part of the country. At present the Sudbury River is good only for muskrats, fish, mosquitoes and algae, the latter not to be confused with the nickname for Algernon.

But by throwing billions into it, Sudbury River could be made into a spectacular production.

It might, for example, be dredged to be about 120 feet deep, all the way from Saxonville to the ocean, and widened to about a quarter of a mile. This work, involving also the Concord and the Merrimack Rivers, might take 10 to 15 years and cost maybe a billion dollars. It would rival in extravagance the construction of guided missiles which explode after traveling two miles of a planned 6500-mile course.

And building this new river would be only a start.

It would be so deep it would be full of salt water, which would start to breed salt water mosquitoes, and millions more could be spent to wipe these out.

The recreation program would require the construction of miles of salt water beaches, with bath houses, roller coasters, hot dog stands and parking spaces for 1,000,000 automobiles.

The channel would also become a route for shipping, of course, and this would involve the construction of wharves and waterfront dives. Later, of course, could come the expensive job of wiping out the waterfront dives and replacing them with schools, hospitals, churches and jails.

It could be renamed the "Canaveral Canal", in memory of that place where everybody counts backwards.

Forty or fifty bridges would have to be rebuilt, each one about as high as the Mystic River Bridge, to accomodate the ships. This would give Middlesex County an amazing and satisfactorily expensive skyline. Those bridges would be made plenty high and big, naturally, because each would be expected to be as costly as an aircraft carrier or an atomic submarine.

With a little ingenuity, the Throw It Down The Sudbury River Drain project might be made to cost $15 or $20 billions. And in other parts of this great country there are opportunities for 10,000 similar projects.

It wouldn't be easy, but we just might be able to find appropriate ways to get rid of all that armament money. -- D.B.W.

John P. Lawton Will Be Co-Op Operations Manager

WAYLAND -- It has been announced today by Warren D. Brown, General Manager of The Co-Op, Inc., that John P. Lawton has been named as operationa manager.

Mr. Lawton comes to the Co-Op after being sales manager with the S. M. Flickinger Company of Elmira, New York for nine years. After he began work with Flickinger, a voluntary Co-Op food organization, Lawton personally managed the opening of 27 stores similar to those included in present and future operations of The Co-Op, Inc.

With the Co-Op, Mr. Lawton will have over-all supervision of present and future supermarket units with special interests and responsibilities in the sales and personnel departments. While residing in Elmira, Lawton was a member of the Holy Name Society, a Boy Scout Committee member, and was publicity director for the Elmira Men's Chorus, an organization of 41 voices which appears frequently in radio and TV broadcasts on local and national shows. Mrs. Lawton was active in the League of Women Voters, the American Red Cross, and was a Republican Ward Committee Woman.

The Lawtons, who now live at 294 Concord Street, Framingham, have three children: Jeannine, a freshman at Buffalo University School of Nursing, David 13, and John Jr., 8.

WESTON -- Tickets are on sale now for a series of World Event Lectures presented by the Women's Community League of Weston to be held at the Parish House of the Unitarian Church. The series which is open to the public, will include four Friday morning lectures preceded by coffee from 10 to 10:30.

On Oct. 16, Mr. Nate White, Business and Financial Editor of The Christian Science Monitor, will speak on "Business Horizons Unlimited".

The second lecture, Nov. 20, will be given by Mr. Ernest Kehr, member of the editorial staff, New York Herald-Tribune, on "U. S. Foreign Policy at Work". Mr. Robert R. Brunn, American news editor of The Christian Science Monitor, will have as his subject on Jan. 15, "Politics is Your Business".

Finally, on Feb. 19, Miss Jean-Alli Quatermain, executive member of the Asian-African Organization at the United Nations, will close the series speaking on "Rise of Nationalism in Africa".

Only 200 series tickets will be sold for these World Events Lectures. Tickets will not be sold separately. Advance sale only, totaling $3.96 for the four. Lecture chairman is Mrs. L. Sterling McKittrick Jr.; hospitality, Mrs. Martin V. Marshall; publicity, Mrs. Richard S. Alles. Purchase of tickets may be made through the above pictured committee, at the Weston Pharmacy, or by calling TW 4-6669.

Wayland Kiwanians Win Softball Pitcher's Duel

WAYLAND -- The Wayland Kiwanis Club played host to the Sudbury Kiwanis in a softball game under the lights at Cochituate ball-field recently, and won the seven-inning slugfest by a score of 29-11.

Although pestered by the bugs and the unusual playing conditions, both teams appeared to enjoy themselves. With a low fog blanketing the outfield, almost every ball hit went for extra bases.

Wayland's scoring was paced by home runs by Schofield, Crofts and Bova, with Schofield's blast coming with the bases loaded. Sudbury went ahead in the top of the first by a 4-0 score, but Wayland gained the lead with a five-run outburst in their half of the inning.

Mr. William L. Rinehart, of 99 Love Lane, Weston, is Chairman of the 1959 Fund Drive for Retarded Children in the Weston Area. The Greater Waltham Area Association for Retarded Children, which serves Waltham, Weston, Lexington and Lincoln, has been carrying on its Fund Drive since September 12 and will continue through Oct. 30. Funds will be used to help finance the Happy Hollow Summer Camp in Waltham and to sponsor a Nursery School. The association also contributes funds for research, designed to seek the causes and possible cure of retardation.

All retarded children in Weston and other towns served by the Waltham Association are welcome to participate in these programs, with little or no expense to the parents.

Any parent interested in enrolling a child at the camp for next year is asked to contact Mr. A. E. Gallinaro, 119 Bright Street, Waltham. Above, a scene at the Summer camp.

"Adventures In Music"

To Provide Local Children

With Live Symphony

WAYLAND -- "Adventures in Music" Association, a non-profit organization, is planning a series of live symphony performances to be presented to the young people of Weston, Wayland, Lincoln, Sudbury, Bedford, Lexington and Concord during the coming year. The concerts will be given by a symphony orchestra composed of some 40 professional musicians accompanied by a commentator who will explain the music to the children.

Members of the planning group, including Mrs. John Gregory, Mrs. Henry Pearson and Mrs. Walter B. Parker Jr., all of Wayland, and Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Locke of Weston, met at the DeCordova Museum on Sept. 18 to make plans for the coming concerts.

The first concert will probably be held on Dec. 12 in Carey Hall, Lexington, for children in the 4th, 5th, and 6th grades. A later concert will be held for students in the first three grades and hopefully, arrangements can be made for at least two more concerts during the year aimed at these age groups.

The organization will work through the schools both in the handling of tickets and in arranging with the school music departments for pre-concert recording sessions so that the children will have a chance to hear the music before the actual performance.

An effort will be made to raise approximately $2500 to help with expenses so that the cost of the tickets may be kept as low as possible.

People in the Wayland area who are interested in hearing more about this unique project are invited to attend a meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hughes of Glezen Lane on Wednesday, Sept. 30, at 8 p.m. Mr. Fred Walkey, president of the Association and director of the DeCordova Museum, and Mr. Kalman Novak, Music Director of the association and supervisor of the Preparatory and Junior Department at the Longy School of Music in Cambridge, will speak.

Officers of the Association who have been named to date are: Mr. Walkey, president; Mr. Arthur Katz of Lexington, financial chairman; and Mr. Laurence Locke of Weston, production chairman.

WESTON -- Heidi Mann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic S. Mann of 41 Pembroke Road, has entered the University of North Carolina School of Nursing in Chapel Hill.

Wayland Clothing Exchange

WAYLAND -- The Wayland Clothing Exchange opens for business at the Trinitarian Congregational Church (rear entrance), Cochituate Road, for entering and selling, Thursday, Sept. 24 and will be open each Thursday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Evenings from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Clothing, to be acceptable, must be clean, in good condition, in style and seasonal (fall and winter). Clothing for children, teenagers and adults is accepted and sold.

Light lunches will be served in the Church parlor every Thursday, 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Wayland 4-H Horse Club

WAYLAND -- The first meeting of the 1959-1960 season for the Wayland 4-H Horse Club will take place on Friday evening, Oct. 2, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. John P. Sibley, Glezen Lane. Plans for the Annual Fall Gymkhana will be discussed.

Any boy or girl between the ages of 10-21 who has the care of a horse or pony and who would like to belong to the Club should get in touch with Mrs. Sibley at EL 8-2053 for further information.

Mrs. Seley Heads Campaign

WAYLAND -- Mrs. Lyman O. Seley of 13 Old Farm Road has been appointed Wayland fund drive chairman for the South Middlesex Association for Retarded Children Fund Campaign to be conducted during the "Day for Donnie" period with special emphasis on Oct. 4 as the "D" Day for Wayland. It has been announced by John G. Fetting, salesman of the Continental Can Company, who will be acting as general campaign chairman for the Association.

Marshall's Signs Lease

WAYLAND -- Roger Marshall of Marshall Terrace has signed the lease for quarters for the bakery and coffee shop which he is to operate in the Village Shopper. He already operates similar shops in Lexington and Concord.

Smith College Club Meets

WAYLAND -- The first meeting of the Sudbury Valley Smith College Club will be a casserole supper to be held at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 29, at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Clappitt on Sears Road, Wayland. Mrs. Charles A. Crumm Jr., of 277 Old Sudbury Road, Sudbury, is program chairman and will announce plans for future meetings.

Anyone in the area who has attended Smith College is welcome to attend and should notify Mrs. Clappitt, at EL 8-2248, that she is coming.

Wayland Dancing Classes

WAYLAND -- A series of 12 Wayland Dancing Classes, under the direction of Mr. John C. Nott, will be held on Tuesday evenings in the vestry of the First Parish Church beginning on Tuesday, Oct. 27.

Classes for 5th and 6th grade pupils will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. and those for 7th and 8th grade students from 8 to 9 p.m.

Invitations have been sent to all students who were enrolled in grades 4 through 7 as of last fall but anyone who is interested and who may not yet have been contacted is urged to call Mrs. H. D. Gray of 26 Shaw Drive at EL 8-4885.

There are vacancies for 10 or more students in each class and Mr. Nott announces that a few scholarships will be available.

New Village Barber Shop

WAYLAND -- Richard Formisani of Fitchburg announces that he will open "The Village Barber Shop" in the Village Shopper on Oct. 1, before the Shopper's official grand opening. He will have three barbers, he said, with the latest equipment, air conditioning and television.

One chair will be for those who make appointments, and haircuts will be given to men, women and children.

Mr. Formisani, who has worked in Wellesley, Newton and Natick, says he plans to move to Wayland.

Hours at the new shop will be 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

WESTON -- Larry Forman of South Avenue, who was graduated from Weston High School last June, is attending Wentworth Institute in Boston.

Mr. Marshall's company made the half-ton birthday cake for the 150th anniversary of the Park Street Church in Boston, last Winter. In the picture of the cake, left, are Greet Patch, 3, and Jarlie Marshall, 5, both of Wayland.

W. F. Randolph To Speak

WESTON -- A discussion of advertising and marketing methods will be part of the Oct. 5 annual meeting of Smaller Business Association of New England, at which the principal speaker will be Warren F. Randolph, of Randolph Associates, Wellesley.

Subjects to be covered in the talk, and then discussed from the floor, include introducing new products, finding new markets for present products, identifying and reaching prospective customers. The avoiding of sales resistance will be a large part of Mr. Randolph's discussion.

Mr. Randolph lives at 3 Driftwood Lane.

Foreign Students To Be Entertained In Weston

WESTON -- Foreign students attending the local colleges will be guests in Weston homes the weekend of Oct. 3 and 4. The students are coming to Weston through the cooperation of the International Student Association of Cambridge, with arrangements being made by the Foreign Student Hospitality Committee of the Women's Community League. Mrs. John D. Mathews and Mrs. Ernest K. Von Mertens are co-chairmen.

The students will attend small supper parties Saturday evening and on Sunday afternoon will join the Forest and Trail Association members for a walk, ending with tea at the Forge, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley G. French, 136 Ridgeway Road.

Weston's exchange student from Rombas, Francoise Friedrich, will also be included in the weekend activities with her hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Storm and their daughter, Marilyn. Among the hosts and hostesses will be Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Baron, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. David M. Little, Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Downing, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Stewart, Dr. and Mrs. Eric Reissner, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Murkland, Dr. and Mrs. William Elliston, Mr. and Mrs. Elie J. Baghdady, Mr. and Mrs. L. Everett Johnson and Dr. and Mrs. A. Paul Hare. Anyone else interested in entertaining a guest for the weekend may call Mrs. Von Mertens, TW 4-4865 or Mrs. Mathews, CE 5-5138.

October Bible Lectures

WESTON -- Miss Emily Gage, religious education director of the Church of Our Redeemer in Lexington, will give the October series of Bible lectures, sponsored by the First Parish Church, on Thursday mornings at 10:30.

Miss Seal Thompson, who has given the lectures in previous years, has retired.

Miss Gage, who was born and brought up in China, received her A.B. from Wellesley College in 1930 and 1955 was graduated from Harvard Divinity School. She is a former pupil of Miss Thompson.

She says she plans to take "some mountain peaks of Old Testament literature" and relate them to our daily lives. Tickets will be obtainable at the door.

WESTON -- The second quarterly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Middlesex Tuberculosis and Health Association will be held at 12 noon on September 29, at Fresh Pond Restaurant, Cambridge. Board member from Weston is Mrs. Gerald C. Wilson.

Weston LWV Members Will Hear About School Plans

WESTON -- The League of Women Voters of Weston will hold a special series of five meetings throughout Weston to give Weston voters the opportunity of discussing with members of the High School Building Committee the proposed plans for the new high school.

Both morning and evening meetings will be held, and Mrs. Hoyt Ecker, President of the Weston League, urges all voters to attend. A member of the High School Building Committee will be present at each meeting.

The plans to be discussed are preliminary ones, on the basis of which the town will be asked to appropriate money to build the new school. Final plans will not be drawn until after the town has voted the necessary funds. A special Town Meeting will be held Oct. 7 at 8 p.m.

The following Leaguers will open their homes to meetings:

On Tuesday, September 29, at 10 a.m., Mrs. Victor Harnish, 327 Boston Post Road.

At 8 p.m., the same day (Sept. 29) Mrs. Putnam Flint, 34 North Avenue.

On Wednesday, Sept. 30, at 10 a.m., Mrs. Lawrence Davis, 97 Meadowbrook Road.

At 8 p.m., the same day (Sept. 30), Mrs. Gustav Fleischmann, 7 Irving Road.

Friday morning, Oct. 2, at 10 a.m., Miss Muriel Haynes, 46 Hilltop Road.

Child Institute Speaker

WESTON Mrs. Frances Perkins, director of the Red Barn Nursery School, will be one of the sixteen nursery and kindergarten leaders to lecture at the two-month "Institute of Early Childhood" to be held on Monday and Wednesday evenings at Green Acres Country Day School in Waltham beginning on Sept. 28.

Mrs. Perkins will be the final speaker for the Monday series which will emphasize recent developments in teaching programs and problems.

Tantamous Troop

Scout Executive Ralph B. Johnson of Norumbega Council Inc., Boy Scouts of America, has announced that the Tantamous Troop, the Scoutleader training course of Norumbega Council, will begin operation with Tantamous Troop #11 on Wednesday, Sept. 30.

The Tantamous Troop is designed to give a man the knowledge and skills necessary to run a Boy Scout troop.

The meetings will be held in the Norumbega Council Office and will start at 8 p.m.

Rombas Benefit Film

WESTON "Ski Time--U.S.A." a film produced and narrated by the world-renowned skier, Sverre Engen, will be shown at the Weston Town Hall on Saturday, Oct. 24, at 8:30 p.m. for the benefit of the Weston Rombas Affiliation.

Tickets are available at $1.60 each.

Dance Class Hours Changed

WESTON -- Because of the recent change in the dismissal hour for the elementary schools, all dancing classes for grades 5 through 7 will begin half an hour later than previously announced in the invitations. The Correct schedule:

Grade 5, 3:45 to 4:45 p.m.

Grade 6, 4:50 to 5:50 p.m.

Grade 7, 6 to 7 p.m.

First class will be held Oct. 14.

St. Julia's Festival

WESTON -- The Fall festival and baked bean supper of St. Julia's will be held Saturday, Sept. 26, on the Church Grounds from 11 a.m. to dark. The home-baked goods table will feature cakes, pies, fudge candies and preserves.

Mrs. John J. Duffy says the White Elephant Table will include costume jewelry, dishes, knick-knacks and hats. Mrs. Pauline Chibaro and her committee will serve coffee, doughnuts, hot-dogs and tonic at the snack-bar, which will open at 11 a.m.

The home-baked ham and bean supper, with a tossed salad, rolls, apple pie and coffee, for 99 cents, will be served beginning at 4:30 p.m. There will be rides for the kiddies, cotton candy and a balloon man. In case of rain, the affair will be held in the Town Hall.

WCL Cooking School

WESTON -- The International Cooking School sponsored by the Foreign Student Hospitality Committee of the Women's Community League will begin on Thursday, Oct. 1, with the demonstration of a complete Indian meal prepared by Mrs. Carl E. Taylor, 279 Winter Street.

Mrs. Taylor lived in India for six and a half years while her husband was working there in the fields of preventive medicine and public health so she is well skilled in Indian cookery. Her menu will include curried chicken, or for a meatless dinner, a vegetable curry; a vegetable pilau; a salad made with yogurt and called Dhali, and for dessert, carrot candy.

Samples will be distributed and at all sessions, recipes are to be available. Mrs. Taylor hopes to have an Indian assisting her, and will also have for display and use, a complete set of Indian brassware cooking utensils.

Sessions will be conducted each Thursday morning through Nov. 5, from 9:45 to noon in the Lower Town Hall. Other menus to be presented will be French, Italian, Mexican, Armenian and Hawaiian.

The complete cost of the lessons will be $10, and enrollment will be limited. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. James E. Forbes, 211 Newton Street, TW 4-4251, or other committee members, Mrs. William A. Elliston, Mrs. John Stewart, Mrs. Eric Reissner, Mrs. Robert Miller, Mrs. David Little, Mrs. Harold Downing, Mrs. Raymond Coburn, Mrs. Robert Murkland, Mrs. William Lam, Mrs. L. Everett Johnson, Mrs. John Mathews and Mrs. Ernest Von Mertens. For further information, one may call Mrs. Robert Murkland, TW 3-0787.

Bloodmobile In Weston

WESTON -- The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in Weston on Thursday, Oct. 8, from 12:45 to 6:45 p.m., although it is necessary to obtain an appointment in advance. Appointments may be made with Mrs. Henry Wheeler (TW 3-3512) or Mrs. John Paine (TW 4-4079). These should be made as soon as possible in order to permit proper scheduling of donors.

As in past years, the facilities of the First Parish Church will be made available for this use. Weston residents have always given wholehearted support to the annual Red Cross appeal for blood, but the number of actual donors, when compared to that of the eligible persons who could give, is surprisingly small. Since the Red Cross blood bank is the main source of whole blood for hospitals in the greater Boston area, it is hoped that the response to this year's Bloodmobile will exceed all past records.

Whitesides will expand their former interest in farming with the raising of Black Angus cattle and Hampshire hogs. Mr. Whiteside, however, will continue to maintain his Boston office, the Frederick Whiteside Corporation at 10 High Street, and, with two sons at Harvard, the family does plan to get back to New England occasionally. Their two daughters are closer to their new home, one in Ohio and Henrietta, the youngest of the family, entering her freshman year at Westhampton College at the University of Richmond. Duncan Whiteside, who was one of the members of the American youth personnel to serve as guides at the U. S. Exhibit at the Moscow fair, returned recently with some 8:20 P.M. Application of John Simoni for authority to build a house on Lot C abutting the former location of Concord Road off Plain Road, having less than the required area frontage. (59-53)

BOARD OF APPEALS
TOWN OF WAYLAND
Planning Board
A public hearing will be held on October 5, 1959 at 8:00 P.M. in the Hearing Room of the Town Office Building, Wayland, Mass., to consider the petition of Patrick Roche for approval of a subdivision of land on Arney Road, containing 65,000 sq. ft. more or less, bounded: North by lands of Whitman, Hayes, Keilling, Huston, Graves and Gagnon; East by Clausen; South by lands of Whelchel, Flanders and Miller; West by Roche.

interesting impressions of Russia and the Russian people. His job at the fair was to demonstrate the U.S.-invented polaroid camera and he reports that it was one of the most popular exhibits at the fair. A couple thousand people lined up every day, starting early in the morning, to have their pictures taken singly or in groups and to receive the photos which were returned to them as souvenirs. He found a chance to meet and visit with many Russian families and to learn a good deal about their attitudes and their way of life. Two things which struck him particularly as not having been widely recognized here were the people's complete identification with their leader (who is not thought of simply as "our leader - or our president" but as "My Kruschchev"). Duncan brought home a fork which, he says, is the one fork you will find in every Russian home. If you are poor, you may have only two forks. If you are rich, you may have several dozen. But they are still the same kind of fork. Although the reason for such a lack of variety may seem to us like a simple economic fact of easier, cheaper mass production, the impact, he feels, is very important. All the people know and like to feel that they and their leaders have identical possessions.

Houston - Lange

Mrs. David J. Houston
(Bradford Bachrach)

WAYLAND--Miss Patricia Jane Lange, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Lange of Pittsburgh, Pa., was married on Sept. 19 at St. Peter's Church in Peterborough, N.H., to Mr. David Joseph Houston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Houston of Plain Road, Rev. Philip Kenney officiated and a reception was held following the ceremony at the Peterborough Golf Club.

The bride, gowned in white taffeta and Chantilly lace, carried a bouquet of phallanopsis and stephanotis. She was attended by Miss Bernadette Houston, sister of the groom, as maid of honor and by Mrs. Andrew Norton of Peterborough as matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Patricia Roberts of Annapolis, Md.; Miss Lorraine Atkin of Cranston, R.I., and Miss Aroxy Basmajian of Arlington, Mass.

The best man was Mr. Daniel G. Houston, brother of the groom, and the ushers were Mr. Robert Falvey of Fort Lee, N.J., Mr. Ernest Henley of Stonebridge Road, Mr.

Philip E. Lange and Mr. Joseph M. Lange, both of Pittsburgh.

Miss Nancy Norton of Peterborough was flower girl.

Miss Lange attended Boston University and Tufts University and Mr. Houston attended Boston College and is now a field representative for the Columbian National Westford has been chosen as the site for the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Town Forest Committees, to be held on part of a 13-acre tract at the junction of Cold Spring and Forge Village Roads, west of Westford Center, on Saturday, Oct. 3.

Elementary School French Teaching Will Be Studied

WESTON -- The Weston PTA has appointed a committee to make a survey of the interest in the community for teaching foreign languages in the elementary schools. The committee includes Mrs. Lionel Jaffe, Mrs. Philip Wye and Mrs. Frank Allen. They have prepared a questionnaire which will be distributed soon to the parents of children in the elementary grades.

Selected literature has been placed in the Weston Public Library for anyone who would like to have more information on foreign language programs in elementary schools.

The results of the survey are expected to provide information for the School Committee and the school administration. The response should indicate whether parents want a more intensive program for their children, and it may help to determine whether the present program is expanded.

Last January the Weston Elementary School introduced experimentally a course in conversational French, which was offered to fourth graders on a voluntary basis.

Reading Room, Monday, Wednesday, Friday 12 - 3 p.m.

Cod's infinite wisdom and goodness will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Reality" is the Golden Text from Psalms (52:1): "The goodness of God endureth continually."

Citations to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include (2:75:14): "All substance, intelligence, wisdom, being, immortality, cause, and effect belong to God. These are His attributes, the eternal manifestations of the infinite divine Principle. Love, No wisdom is wise but His wisdom; no truth is true, no love is lovely, no life is Life but the divine; no good is, but the good Cod bestows."

From the Bible will be read (Ecclesiastes 2:26): "For Cod giveth to a man that is good in his sight wisdom, and knowledge, and joy."

IMMEDIATE DELIVERY

Defensively, end Bruce Waldman has looked good along with guard Joe DePaolo and tackle John Wesley.

The team should be in good shape for its opener on Saturday with Notre Dame of Fitchburg. Notre Dame is a class C school as opposed to the "D" rating of Wayland, but coach Ralph Salvati has been having trouble scheduling "D" teams because of Wayland's impressive record of three straight undefeated seasons.

The football team will have brand new uniforms for their opening encounter, and will be supported by a uniformed band for the first time in the school's history.

Observers Say Weston May

Spring Some Surprises

WESTON -- The Weston High football team could surprise many of its opponents this season.

Although relatively inexperienced, the squad has been working hard under Coach George Harris and his assistant, Nathan Todaro. The club should be speedy with a varied offense directed by Forbes McMullin.

McMullin fakes well and can throw a good hard pass. He will be able to keep the defense honest with the chance of springing his backs free for long gains.

Weston opens its schedule on Sept. 26 with Westford Academy.

Jonathan R. Powell

WESTON -- Funeral services were held in Camdenton, Missouri, on Sept. 7, for Mr. Jonathan Rider Powell, formerly of Webster Hill.

Mr. Powell, who attended Weston public schools and was a graduate of Oak Grove School in Maine and the Suffolk Law School, had been living in Missouri, where he owned and operated a resort on the Lake-of-the-Ozarks. An ensign in the U. S. Navy in World War I, he was a member of the Weston Post of the American Legion.

He is survived by his wife, Louise Plegge Powell, and a stepson, Richard, both of Osage Beach, Missouri.

Gift Box From School #1, Moscow, Opened In Weston

Gifts from the Moscow school are piled on the Weston schoolroom table. Standing, left center, is Mrs. Pike, 6th grade teacher. Seated at the right is Mrs. Ronald Abate, a visiting parent.

WESTON -- Twenty-seven out of 29 members of last year's 6th grade at the elementary school came back for an after-school party one day recently for the opening of a friendship gift box from School Number One in Moscow.

The box arrived last July, after school had closed, so the opening was postponed until September.

The local 6th grade, of which Mrs. Marcia Pike is teacher, entered into correspondence with a class of 11 - 12 year-olds in the Moscow school last year, after getting an OK from Weston school authorities and clearing the Russian censorship. The Weston group sent a box to Moscow last Spring.

In the package from Moscow were animals carved from wood, sample pens and pencils, books in both languages, small prizes for both boys and girls, a chess set, an album of pictures of class activities and other gifts.

Mrs. Pike says she doesn't know of any other American school class holding such correspondence with a Russian class. This year's 6th grade is continuing the project.

Weston's Total Enrollment In Schools Will Be 1900

WESTON -- Enrollment in the Weston schools this year is not quite up to that of 1958, but only because the opening of the kindergarten has been delayed pending completion of the new elementary school.

The total enrollment, so far, is 1747, as against 1826 a year ago, says Superintendent of Schools Dr.

Sad Story Of Louie The Shaggy Hen, Deceased

WAYLAND -- The tragic story of "Louis, the shaggy hen", is being told around the Plain Road neighborhood.

Louis was really a rooster, of a fancy variety described as silver crested Cochon China. Louis was a favorite of the children who spent a good part of the Summer hanging around the place of Walter Harrington on Plain Road.

On one of the Summer's cool nights, they say, Louis the shaggy hen wandered into a stall to keep warm, and a cow lay on him, with fatal results.

"It was sad about Louis the shaggy hen," said the children.

Louis is survived by a brother, known only as "Louis' brother".

By-Pass Not Dead Yet

WAYLAND -- Hopes for a speedy construction of a new Wayland-Sudbury by-pass dimmed but were not completely extinguished at the end of the last legislative session.

The bill, which had had a favorable journey through its early days of the year was held up for months - as had been expected - by the Senate Ways and Means Committee, and then was killed.

However, all is not lost, according to Representative James De-Normandie. The Department of Public Works has nearly completed a layout of possible work at the Wayland end and negotiation with the Department itself may prove to be more fruitful than trying to get a "special interests" bill through the legislature.

Anyway, according to Mr. De-Normandie, if anyone thinks Wayland traffic is bad now, it will be worse once Raytheon's new Sudbury plant is completed, and the Public Works Department is favorably disposed to do something, under its own power and without a legislative mandate, to remedy the situation.

Marinella, From Salvador, Is Guest Of Hare Family

WESTON -- A guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Paul Hare, 360 Highland Street, is Miss Marinella Barrios, 17, from El Salvador, who is attending Weston High School this year as a junior. Mr. and Mrs. Hare met Marinella's parents two years ago, when they were in Central America, and one purpose of Marinella's visit here is to learn English. A special school program has been arranged for her and she is making progress in the language.

Dr. Davies, 58, Wins Ph. D. After 10 Years Of Study

COCHITUATE - A Doctor of Philosophy degree, 25 years in the making, has been awarded by Temple University, Philadelphia, to John M. Davies of 1 Maguire Road.

Dr. Davies, chief of the Radiation Physics Laboratory, Quartermaster Research and Engineering Center, Natick, has played a leading role in planning the design and operation of the Quartermaster Research and Engineering Center, Natick, has played a leading role in planning the design and operation of the Quartermaster solar furnace, largest in the western hemisphere.

At 58 years of age, Dr. Davies was the senior member of the student body at Temple. He began studying for his doctorate 10 years ago when he was first employed by the Quartermaster Corps in Philadelphia where he was able to attend night classes. Dr. Davies received his B.S. in 1922 and M.S. in 1924 from the University of Akron (Ohio) where he was an instructor for two years.

His recently completed thesis "The Effect of Intense Thermal Radiation on Animal Skin" led to the award of his doctorate.

Dr. Davies is a Fellow of the American Physical Society and a member of the American Nuclear Society.

Dr. Davies is married to the former Margaret A. Eckert of Bradner, Ohio. They have three sons, John, William, and Kenneth.

WESTON -- A special Town Meeting to vote on appropriating money for construction of the proposed new High School will be held in the High School gymnasium at 8 p.m. Oct. 7. Total appropriations to be considered, under seven Articles, will be something like $2,635,600, probably the biggest amount ever to come up at a single Meeting in the town's history.

The High School appropriations come in two parts. Article 1 calls for voting $2,435,000 for building the new school, without a swimming pool. Article 2 provides for an additional $152,000 to build the swimming pool in the school.

(The price tag on the new Wayland High School, now under construction, is $2,300,000, without a swimming pool.)

Article 3 calls for extending a water main under South Avenue for four-fifths of a mile from Oak Street, to serve the new building, at an estimated cost of $40,000. Another motion under Article 3 calls for additional Water Department money for extensions, to be reimbursed by developers.

Article 4 is for an additional, (Please turn to Page 10)

Shepard--Lunt

Mrs. George W. Shepard Jr.
(Theodore Roberts)

WAYLAND -- Susan Eleanor Lunt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Lunt of 26 Orchard Lane, was married at the Martha Mary Chapel, Sudbury, on Sept. 12, to George W. Shepard Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Shepard of Old Concord Road.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Donald S. Ewing, minister of the Trinitarian Congregational Church in Wayland.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Chapel flowers were white gladioli, carnations and snapdragons. A reception was held at the Wayside Inn.

Best man was Mr. Clifford Fenton of Marlboro and Mrs. Fenton was matron of honor. Ushers were Mr. Alden Wheelock of Wayland, Mr. Harrison Woodworth of Framingham and Mr. Jerry Lunt of Wayland, brother of the bride.

Bridesmaids were Miss Linda Benson, Miss Ann Marie Casella and Miss Sharon Shepard, sister of the bridegroom, all of Wayland.

After a wedding trip to the White Mountains, the couple will reside in Marlboro. Mr. Shepard attended Northeastern University and Mrs. Shepard was graduated from Wayland High School.

The bride wore a princess gown of pure silk organza fashioned with scalloped Sabrina neckline and bodice of chantilly lace. Beaded matching applique of lace formed the bouffant skirt of organza ending in a sweep train. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was attached to a circlet of imported orange blossoms and tulle. Her bridal bouquet consisted of white roses, stephanotis and pink cymbidiums.

Big Thinkers Haven't Yet Set Exurban Social Rules

Authors Are Secretly Watching Our Behavior, But Not Telling Us What To Do

All the big sociological thinkers are writing about the suburbs or exurbs, to which they think people are moving in significant numbers, which they certainly are, but one thing they don't seem able to do.

That's to lay down rules of behavior for people in a new kind of society, one in which the old inhabitants have been outnumbered by transfers from St. Louis and Newton.

This is too bad, because this sudden assemblage of total strangers in an atmosphere of old stone walls, newschools, gray squirrels, skunks and do-it-yourself trash disposal raises serious questions of propriety.

How long, for instance, should one wait before letting the new people next door become aware that a gin cocktail is often taken in one's home before dinner? How is one to tell whether the new neighbors abhor alcohol, or whether maybe they are lushes? In all the books, not a word on this problem.

And what attitude should a resident take towards those with the merry villager complex, who want to set up a Maypole on the town green and maybe have an old English bear baiting on Sunday afternoon? Should one go along with this gay observance of customs of the olden time, or should one try to behave like a big city guy even if he is out in the bushes?

Some rules for juvenile delinquency need to be established, too. The kind which prevails out here has consisted, in the past, of boys throwing empty beer cans on porches, minor Halloween hoodlums and a certain amount of malicious damaging of property on Spring nights, when the sap rises in the young sprout. It's a question whether this sort of thing will be sufficient to keep a suburb in style. Should switch knives and garrison bets and ducktail haircuts be introduced out here?

Of course, there was a youth, a while ago, who started wearing a ducktail to a local high school, but the girls wouldn't speak to him and the crew cuts rubbed him out.

There's also the matter of going away for the Summer, a custom which is probably a survival of the bad old days when people lived in hot, smelly cities and felt they had to get away. Houses in these suburbs, as of now, are more comfortable than the quarters one finds by going away, and the heat and mosquitoes are no worse than one finds at the beach. Besides, there's no sand to get tracked into the house. And staying here costs just as much.

Question: If the suburbs are good enough to live in in Winter, when conditions are dreadful, why aren't they all right in Summer?

There is also the matter of beatniks, noticeable by their absence. To be sure, every once in a while some dismayed housewife finds under her roof a whiskered young man with a guitar, but he never knows enough music to keep people up late. Should suburban beatniks be cultivated? As it is, the young are either in school or working because life around here is so expensive nobody can afford to loaf or the payments will engulf him. But does a big league exurb really need beatniks and an espresso machine?

What about the use of first names, especially by women? Should married women use their husbands' names, or, since the husbands are away all day, does anybody know who they are and do they count?

And what about rules for entertaining? To be sure, in some circles the hostess just clears the furniture from the room, puts a table covered with a white cloth along one wall, covers the cloth with bottles and lets Nature take its course. But really, is this refined? Should hostesses serve 10-course dinners, with food, and if so, who's going to wash the dishes?

And this isn't the worst of it. Among us, boring away quietly, are some who are listening to every word that's said and accumulating every statistic in sight, getting ready to write another book about suburbia. Those who wish not to be embalmed in a volume of sociological research would do well to be careful what they say in company. Residents of a $23,500 split-level would feel pretty funny, impaled on literary pins like South Sea islanders with peculiar family customs. -- D.B.W.

EVENTS AND PEOPLE TO BE FEATURED IN THE NEAR FUTURE

Campaign On For Funds To Help Retarded Children

WAYLAND -- Mrs. Lyman Seley of Old Farm Road is chairman of the Wayland Fund Drive now being conducted for retarded children. Checks may be sent to her at her home or to the South Middlesex Association for Retarded Children, Inc., Room 12, 12 Main Street, Natick. In the picture above is Lynn Fettinger of Natick, who's helping in the campaign, standing beside a campaign poster.

Green Thumb Garden Club

WAYLAND -- The first meeting of the season for the Green Thumb Garden Club was held on Sept. 19 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Bartholomew on Sherman Bridge Road. According to tradition, the first meeting was a fun one, with husbands and wives enjoying a chicken barbecue supper and dancing in the Bartholomew's big barn. The next meeting, strictly business, will be held at 8:15 p.m. on Oct. 12 at the home of the new president, Mrs. Kenneth Scott of Concord Road. Mr. Alexander Heimlich will show a colored film on "Landscaping The Small Home Property."

St. Ann's Guild Meeting

WAYLAND -- St. Ann's Guild will hold its monthly meeting in the Guild Hall on Tuesday evening, Oct. 6, at 8 p.m. Mr. Aaron Cook will lecture on wood carving, after which some members of the Guild will talk about and display their hobbies. Refreshments will be served by the following committee: Mrs. Anthony LaPenta, Mrs. Edward Duggan, Jr., Mrs. Anthony Vova, Mrs. Donald Rider, Mrs. William Reardon and Mrs. William Dickson.

Wayside Inn Chapter

WAYLAND -- Mrs. Walter E. Holden, chairman of the State genealogical records committee, will be speaker at the Oct. 3 meeting of the Wayside Inn Chapter, D.A.R., to be held at 1 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Paul Shapter, 23 Woodridge Road. The first in a series of lectures, sponsored by the Industry Aids to Education program of the New England Council, will be given by Dr. Hudson Hoagland of the Worcester Foundation for Experimental Biology at Natick High on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 7. Superintendents, and science and mathematics teachers in schools within a 20-mile radius of Natick have been invited to attend the 16-week series which will be given by leading industrial scientists of the region. The October meeting of the Framingham-Wellesley Branch of the American Association of University Women will be held in the Unitarian Church House in Natick, Oct. 7 at 8 o'clock.

St. Ann's Annual Fair

WAYLAND -- St. Ann's Church will hold its Annual Fair on Saturday, Nov. 7, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the High School Gymnasium. Home baked goods, attic treasures and a large selection of aprons, knit products, doll-clothes, etc., will be for sale. The snack bar will be open all day and a variety of fun activities will be provided for the children.

Cubs' "Country Store"

COCHITUATE -- Saturday, Oct. 3, is family fun day on the Cochituate Playground when Pack 1 Cub Scouts will present their "Country Store." Starting promptly at 1 p.m. the annual fund raising affair for Pack 1 will feature a parade for prizes, a midway of games, white elephant table, refreshment stand and a food sale, all in one handy location on the Bradford Street side. Again this year, the popular parade for prizes will be featured as the opening event. Boys and girls 11 years of age or under, excepting Pack 1 Cubs, are eligible to compete. There will be prizes for the best boy's and best girl's decorated bicycle, also tricycle; and for girls only, best decorated doll carriage. Parade forms at 12:45 p.m. behind the fire station on East Plain Street side, proceeding down Main Street and to the Playground at 1 p.m. Cubmaster George Brown and Pack Chairman Theodore R. Magoun wish to thank the Wayland Park Department, Wayland Police Department, and Wayland Board of Health for their cooperation in this important affair as well as the many parents and Cubs who have worked to insure fun for all.

Lion Club Campaign

Official kick-off of the 1959 Eye Research Fund Campaign of the Sudbury-Wayland Lions Club came recently at a weekly meeting of the Club, attended by 27 Lions, presided over by Harold Neelon, president. The Club will seek to raise $5000, its share of the $250,000 needed by the Lions Eye Research Fund Committee to support projects in Massachusetts by the selling of light bulbs. This is the seventh consecutive year that the Massachusetts Lions have chosen eye research as the chief fund-raising activity.

Anyone For Badminton?

WAYLAND -- Badminton evenings will begin on Tuesday, Oct. 6, and continue every Tuesday evening throughout the season from 8 to 10 p.m. at the High School Gym. Everyone is welcome to join the fun. Three courts will be set up and play - interchangeable - will continue all evening. Players are requested to bring their own rackets and to wear sneakers (for the sake of the gym floor). The fee is 10¢ per person per evening and the birds are provided. Although this is strictly an adult group, it is not necessarily a couples group. Anyone who likes badminton but happens to be married to a non-athletic wife or husband is invited to come along. There will be plenty of other people who are in the same situation and there are even athletic couples who like to sit out a set or two, not always together. For any further information, people may call Mrs. William Wightman, Rich Valley Road, at EL 8-2208.

Claypit Hill Dance Course Will Be Started On Oct. 8

WAYLAND -- The dance education program of the Claypit Hill School P.T.A., which made a profit of $464.13 last year, will be started on Thursday, Oct. 8, at the school gymnasium, with Mrs. Margaret Gill-Bresnahan of Framingham the dance director again. There will be a Fall and a Spring session this year, each of 12 classes, at 50 cents a class. Courses will cover ballet, tap and ballroom dancing. The money made last year was used to buy playground equipment, soon to be installed, for the school. Those interested in the program may call Mrs. D. L. Bartholomew, EL 8-2087; Mrs. B. R. Clay, EL 8-2389, or Mrs. G. H. Trow, EL 8-2076.

Legion Rummage Sale

WAYLAND -- The American Legion Auxiliary Post No. 133 will hold a Rummage Sale on Saturday, Oct. 17, at the Legion Hall in Cochituate from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. All kinds of useful and decorative items will be for sale. The Legion is also reminding citizens that Oct. 7 has been designated by President Eisenhower as national day of prayer.

Woman's Club Food Sale

WAYLAND -- Wayland residents will have an opportunity to sample the products of some of the town's best cooks and to contribute to the Wayland Woman's Club Scholarship Fund at the same time on Saturday, Oct. 3, when the club will hold its annual food sale on the green at Wayland center at 10 a.m. The Wayland Woman's Club has for many years awarded a scholarship to a graduate of Wayland High School each June. Last year the fund was increased and two separate scholarships were awarded. The food sale will be the first of several projects by the club aimed at further increasing the two scholarships. In case of rain, the sale will take place in the vestry of the First Parish Church. The committee in charge is Mrs. Sanford W. Tallmon, chairman, Mrs. Richard A. Osborne and Mrs. Leslie Wellman.

"Business Horizons Unlimited" First Topic For Community League Speakers Session

WESTON -- "Business Horizons Unlimited" will be the topic of the first lecture in the W of the first lecture in the Women's Community League of Weston's World Event Series to be held at the Unitarian Parish House on Oct. 16.

Mr. Nate White, business and financial editor of the Christian Science Monitor, will be the speaker. As a business, political, and general assignment correspondent for the Monitor, Mr. White has travelled all over the U.S. and has also served as consultant to the top 150 American business leaders. He is an information officer for President Eisenhower's Committee for Economic Development and has organized worldwide coverage of stock markets in every country of the free world. Future Community League lectures will be held in November, January and February. Tickets for the series, including Mr. White's October lecture, may be purchased for $3.96 at the Weston Pharmacy or by calling Mrs. Sterling McKittick Jr., at TW 4-6669.

Forest And Trail

WESTON -- The Weston Forest and Trail Association will hold its first monthly walk of the season on Sunday, Oct. 4, at 2:30 p.m.

As in previous years, this walk is being held in conjunction with the program for foreign students who are being entertained in the town by the Women's Community League, and gives opportunity for members to make acquaintance with these visitors.

The start will be at the entrance to the Town Forest on Wellesley Street, near the junction with South Avenue.

Tea afterwards will be at the Forge, Ridgeway Road, by invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley G. French. Guests will be welcome.

French Cooking, Oct. 8

WESTON -- The second session of the International Cooking School sponsored by the Foreign Student Hospitality Committee of the Women's Community League will feature a French meal prepared by Jacqueline Veen Spaulding, with Mrs. Robert Miller and Mrs. Walter Stockmayer assisting.

During the war years, Mrs. Spaulding was one of six women who founded the Restaurant Francais on Newbury Street, which earned $50,000 in four years for General De Gaulle. She is now connected with the French Center in Boston, working in cultural relations, and also prepares a dinner for the members of the Center once each month.

This session will be on Oct. 8, at 9:45 in the Lower Town Hall. Contact Mrs. Robert Murkland, TW 3-0787, for further details.

1st Congregational Service

WESTON -- The first Congregational service in Weston in almost 100 years will be held Sunday, Oct. 4. The Family Vespers Service will take place in the Jones House at 4 p.m., led by Dr. Albert Penner, President and Minister of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference as guest speaker.

According to Gilbert C. Garland, temporary Moderator of the group, this announcement brings to fruition the plans of some 50 Weston families who have been working for several months to bring this about. This vespers service will be followed by a social hour, and all are cordially invited. Care will be provided for those too young to enjoy the service.

Local Wellesley Alumnae Will Seek College Funds

Twenty Wellesley graduates living in Wayland and Weston will make personal calls in their respective towns on 70 fellow alumnae during the two weeks between Oct. 5 and Oct. 19. The calls are being made to bring alumnae up-to-date on the latest developments at the college and to highlight the need for long-term substantial and steady financial support by alumnae and friends in order to realize $15,000,000 for the improvement of faculty salaries.

In Wayland, Mrs. Loring H. Raymond is chairman of the Personal Call Program and will be assisted by Mrs. Emerson B. Hovey, Mrs. Joseph E. Manion, Jr., Mrs. Kemp B. Reade and Mrs. Garret F. Ziffer. Weston's chairman is Mrs. John R. Lenox, whose co-workers are Mmes. Howard Gambrell, Rearick Byrne, Robert McMullin, Philip Wye, Ward Carter, John Eichorn, Richard Coons, Peter Mansfield, William Queen, Robert Townsend, M. Kirkbride, Patterson, Dick Silverman and Alfred Wypler.

Visitors To VA Hospital

WESTON -- Through the cooperation of the women's organizations of the churches of Weston, Sunday afternoons at the West Roxbury VA Hospital this month will be made more pleasant. Coffee and home the patients during the afternoon by hostess groups from Weston, assisted by Red Cross Gray Ladies on duty at the hospital.

On Oct. 4 a group from the First Baptist Church under the chairmanship of Mrs. Stephen L. Colpitts will spend the afternoon at the hospital; on Oct. 11, St. Peter's Church will be represented, Mrs. B. Howard Dean, chairman; on Oct. 18, St. Julia's Church, Mrs. Anthony Capoccia, chairman; and on the 25th, the First Parish Church, Mrs. Raymond Coburn, chairman.

These traditional Sunday Coffee Hours are possible only through the kindness of these men and women who find this visit to the West Roxbury hospital once a year most rewarding. The Weston Chapter, American Red Cross, and the patients themselves at the veterans' hospital, are most grateful to these church groups.

WESTON -- Adults are invited to attend the Westwell Cub Scout training course at the Hunnewell School, Cameron Street, Wellesley, on Wednesday, Oct. 7, from 7:30 to 10 p.m.

WESTON -- Among those taking courses at Drumlin Farm in Lincoln are Mrs. Ralph M. Hower, Mr. and Mrs. Peter L. Albrecht and MR. Royce C. Kahler.

Meadowbrook Country Fair Will Be Held On Oct. 17

WESTON -- Plans are being made for the annual Meadowbrook Country Fair, to be held at the school, Farm Road, on Saturday, Oct. 17, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., rain or shine.

There will be a midway, a place where only children may shop, a white elephant sale and an arts and crafts display. Also on sale will be books, records, plants and home baked foods. Hot dogs and hamburgers will be cooked on the grill by Dr. Benjamin Ferris.

Mrs. Donald Klein is chairman of the committee, which includes Mrs. John Wells, Mrs. Thomas Barrows, Mrs. Weston Howland Jr., Mrs. Philip Gordon, Mrs. Jerome Hunsaker, Mrs. Philip Trumbull, Mrs. Belle Wilson, Mr. Theodore R. Magoun, Mrs. Francis Brooks, Mrs. Sheldon Fisher and Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin Ferris.

Weston Junior Horse Show

WESTON -- Weston is to have its first American Horse Shows Association horse show this month, to be called "1747 Farm Junior Horse Show."

This Junior Show, to be held Saturday, Oct. 17, will be one of only two or three shows of its type to be held around Boston this year. Classes have been chosen to meet with the tastes of the children under 18 for whom the show is run. Winners in four of the classes could find themselves riding in Madison Square Garden within a month after the show.

Mr. Lloyd Marks of Peabody will judge Morgan, Western palomino, saddle and stock equitation. Mr. Norman Hall of Norfolk will judge hunters, jumpers, hunt seat equitation, and miscellaneous classes.

The Women's Guild of the Weston Baptist Church is taking care of the refreshments as it does at the Spring 4-H show. All net proceeds are being turned over to the Weston Forest and Trail Association for the purpose of obtaining land suitable for a new ring. Information and class lists may be obtained by calling TWInbrook 3-8213. Stewart C. Woodworth Jr. is show manager.

Dancing Lessons

WESTON -- Weston students (Grades 8-9-10) who can't dance are offered an opportunity to correct this difficulty. An informal modern dancing class is being organized under the direction of an enthusiastic and experienced teacher. The fee is moderate. Places for 15 girls and 15 boys.

For further information call TW 3-3783.

The Wellesley Branch of the New England Conservatory Preparatory Department will begin its third season on Oct. 5. This year the Branch will occupy new and larger quarters in the Unitarian Church building, 309 Washington Street, Wellesley Hills. Mrs. Alicia Downer, head of the Wellesley Branch, will be available for interviews and registration Oct. 1 and 2 from 3 to 5 p.m. She may be reached by telephone at CE 5-9721.

Weston Gray Lady Course

WESTON -- The Weston Chapter of the American Red Cross announces that the Fall course for training Red Cross hospital volunteers will begin on Oct. 20. Volunteers for one day a week Gray Lady Service are urgently needed at the three hospitals served by the Red Cross in this area: West Roxbury and Boston VA Hospital and the U.S. Naval Hospital at Chelsea. For more information, please call Mrs. Hugh Willis, TW 4-6248

4-H Rabbit At Cochrutuate

WAYLAND -- Karen-Freeman's rabbit attracted much attention at the annual Achievement Night of the 4-H Club, held Sept. 25 at the Cochrutuate Methodist Church. Children were given awards for the year's work. Left to right, above: Karen Freeman, Sally Surgenor, Pam Lewis, a guest, and Edward Juliano. In the center is the live rabbit. (McCann Photo)

New Compulsory Auto Rates Benefit Wayland - Weston

Car owners in both Wayland and Weston will benefit from the changes in the compulsory automobile insurance rates if the suggested schedule announced by State Insurance Commissioner Otis M. Whitney goes through.

The biggest saving will be for Wayland car owners who must insure for drivers under 25 who do not have driver training certificates. The rate for this category drops from $62 per thousand for Wayland residents in 1959 to only $49 in 1960.

Last year, the rates in all the categories differed between Weston and Wayland owners with Weston residents paying lower rates all along the line. The proposed schedule fixes the rates for the two towns at exactly the same figures for each category which means that Weston residents will get something of a decrease and that Wayland insurers will get an even bigger one.

A public hearing will be held

Washek--Regan

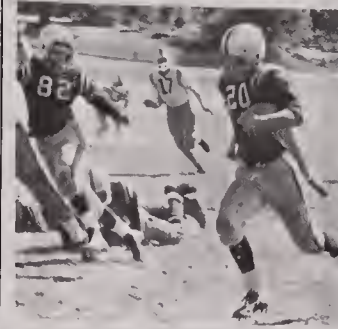

COCHRUTUATE -- Grace Catherine Regan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Regan of 18 Willard Street, was married by Rev. Otis F. Kelly in St. Zepherin's Church on Sept. 26 to John B. Washek, son of Mrs. Marie M. Washek of 26 Plain Road.

Mrs. John B. Washek The bride, wearing white lace over satin, was given in marriage by her father. Maid of honor was Miss Barbara A. Regan, a sister of the bride, and bridesmaids were Miss Katherine R. O'Connor of Somerville, Miss Jane Washek, sister of the groom, and Miss Mary E. Regan, a sister of the bride.

Best man was Robert C. Regan, a brother of the bride, and ushers were Thomas J. Regan, John F. Regan Jr. and Edward Regan, also brothers of the bride.

WESTON -- Weston High opened its football season on a good note last Saturday as quarterback Forbes McMullin led his team to a 22-0 win over Westford Academy. McMullin opened the scoring in the first period with a 27-yard run around right end. He passed for one and ran 10 yards for his second touchdown of the day in the third quarters.

Mike McDonald was on the receiving end of a 15-yard pass from McMullin and scored when he dove the remaining three yards to the goal line.

Dave Evans and Jay Adams

After the nuptial mass a reception was held in Eagles Hall, Framingham. The couple left for a wedding trip to Bar Harbor.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Washek were graduated from Wayland High School, where Mr. Washek starred in basketball and baseball. He is employed at Red Coach Grill in Wayland.

picked up two points apiece in the winning cause when they rushed for points following the second and third touchdowns.

Outstanding players on the Weston team were tackle Roger Perry and guards Doug Tyler and Tony D'Antonio. McMullin gave evidence Saturday that he is a good field general and will be a deciding factor in many games.

Weston lineup:

Wayland 40, Notre Dame 14

WAYLAND -- The High School football team extended its undefeated streak to 26 games last Saturday, beating Notre Dame of Fitchburg, 40-14, for its 13th win in a row.

Led by Dick Morris, who scored four touchdowns, the team went ahead 16-0 in the first period and added six more points to lead 22-0 at the half. Morris scored two touchdowns in the first period and a third in the second.

Whelchel added two points on a rush after the first touchdown, and passed to Johnson for two more after the second.

Notre Dame came to life at the start of the third period as Auger caught a 12-yard pass on the 30 and raced the distance to score.

Bruce Waldman, Wayland end, number 84, seems to be saying "Don't do that" to a Notre Dame player. (McCann Photo)

Gunnette scored the points after on a rush.

Later in the period, Barnicle took a partially blocked punt on the 18 and scored to make it 22-14.

Wayland again came to life in the last period as Whelchel scored once himself and passed for two more. Morris was on the receiving end of a 21-yard pass play and Waldman took the other from about seven yards out.

Outstanding players for Wayland included fullback George Dreher, guard Joe DePaolo and end Bruce Waldman. Morris and Whelchel showed evidence of countinuing as two of the best backs in the area.

Wayland lineup:

le, Roy Bradley, David Carr; lt, Dave Furst, Bob Bullock; lg, Joe DePaolo, Pete Phyllis; c, Ed

Dr. Powell Promoted

WAYLAND -- Dr. Arnet L. Powell of 65 Woodridge Road has been appointed chief scientist of the Office of Naval Research, Boston Branch, it has been announced.

He obtained degrees of B. S. and M. S. at Worcester Polytechnic Institute and his Ph. D. in physical chemistry at Clark University. He has been with Dow Chemical Company and Sylvania Electric Products Inc., and he joined the Boston Branch in 1947 as a chemist. He became assistant chief scientist in 1948. He is active in many scientific organizations.

Dr. Powell is vice-president of the Kiwanis Club of Wayland, president of the Framingham area Council of Churches and public relations committee chairman for the United Fund in Wayland.

WAYLAND -- Spencer C. Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Richardson of 396 Old Connecticut Path, has registered for his senior year at Dean Junior College, Franklin. He is enrolled in the general education program.

WAYLAND -- Local residents taking courses at Drumlin Farm in Lincoln are Mrs. Frances H. Brown and Miss Carolyn F. Woodbury.

New Real Estate Office
 WESTON -- Mrs. Cecilia Cleary of 392 North Avenue announces that she has become local representative of Strout Realty, large real estate firm, to serve Weston, Waltham and other communities within a 15-mile radius. She will handle the business from her home.

WAYLAND -- Mrs. Charles Gillespie of Woodridge Road recently won $50 worth of groceries for her entry in the "Name The Salad Contest" sponsored by the H.P. Hood Company. She is now eligible for the grand prize judging which will pay off in $1300 worth of groceries.

WAYLAND--Mr. and Mrs. Keith
 S. Wood of Draper Road are entertaining Mr. Wood's parents who arrived recently from England.
 The elder Mr. Wood, a former purchasing agent for the Guinness Stout firm, retired a short while ago and he and his wife are staying in Wayland until they locate a permanent residence.

Vokes Players Offering

WAYLAND -- Vokes Players' fall production will be "The Third Best Sport," Eleanor and Leo Bayer's comedy about business men, their wives and their foibles, it was announced by Harry Barrett of Plain Road, chairman of the Vokes Play Committee, at the membership meeting held at the Theatre on Sept. 26.

Tryouts were scheduled for Sept. 30 and performance dates are set for the Nov. 13 and Nov. 20 weekends. Eric Erickson of Old Farm Road will direct and casting is in charge of the play committee, which includes Harry Barrett, Jo Bertelsen, Aline Hulbert and Win

Naylor, all of Wayland, and Phil Bassett of Weston.

Dan Kennedy reported that the construction of the new addition which it had been hoped could be completed by the fall performance, will not begin until after the Spring production next year. However, a Work Sunday is scheduled for Oct. 18 and members are invited to help in painting and refurbishing.

Betty Ann Peters of Highgate Road announced plans for a series of workshops to be held during the winter and the Dan Kennedys teamed up to recreate for the members of the life, times, and brilliant career of Beatrice Herford, who had lived in Wayland since the turn of the century and who was the founder and patroness of the Vokes Theatre.

John S. Keir

LINCOLN -- A memorial service was held at the Cookson Chapel in Framingham on September 24 for Mr. John S. Keir of Lexington Road, formerly of Glezen Lane, Wayland. Reverend Edward W. Hale, pastor emeritus of the Plymouth Congregational Church, conducted the service which was attended by a large number of Mr. Keir's business and civic associates.

Recently retired chairman of the Board and former president of the Dennison Manufacturing Company, Mr. Keir had been active in many civic, educational, and business associations. He had been listed in Who's Who in America since 1922.

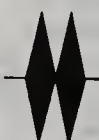

Business organizations to which he devoted a good deal of time included the Chamber of Commerce, the National Association of Manufacturers, and the Associated Industries of Massachusetts.

Mr. Keir was married to the former Helen Harris Fraim of Philadelphia and had made his home in Framingham and Wayland until four months ago when the family moved to a new home in Lincoln.

Besides his wife, he leaves a son, David Warren Keir, and two daughters, Mrs. Frederick H. Newton of Wayland, and Mrs. John Carley of Lincoln.

TOWN MEETING

$7,000, more or less, for the Water Department, for repairs at the Kendal Green pumping station, where a pipe broke last Summer and did damage.

Article 5 is for fire and boiler insurance of $1600 for three years at the elementary school which is now being completed.

Article 6 would authorize the Selectmen to grant an easement in Town Forest land near the Central Massachusetts Railroad tracks to the Shell Oil Company for construction of "cathodic protection facilities". In brief, this is a device which drains off static electricity from the pipe line, carrying petroleum products, which runs through the town. The static, it is represented, causes pitting of the pipe. Everything would be below ground, it is said, except one pole.

Article 7 calls for a change in the by-laws covering Town Meeting hours.

is being done in conjunction with the League's Regional Planning Survey.

The survey, originally planned for local unit purposes, has received such encouragement from professional planners that the League hopes to be able to accumulate information that may be of considerable value to the town planning board.

In the past the pre-school census has been made by a team of women hired for the purpose. As this group is unavailable this year, the census will be taken by the League surveyors at the same time as the Regional Planning Survey, as a service to the town.

Anthony Brackett. But there were 146 kindergarten children a year ago and if they, with a normal increase in their numbers, were to be counted, this year's total would be somewhere around 1900.

In 1957 the total was 1696 and in 1956 it was 1551.

The enrollment in the Senior High School, grades 9 through 12, is 453, up from 404 last year.

Each year nowadays, of course, the town has the biggest school population ever.

By-Law Change In Weston Would Wipe Out Horse And Buggy Town Meeting Hours

WESTON -- Article 7 at the special Town Meeting of Oct. 8 will be something of historical interest, a proposal to alter a town by-law which seems to reflect a practice of horse-and-buggy days, when Town Meetings were held in the daytime.

The present by-law, the Selectmen have found, gives them authority to call a regular Town Meeting for 2 p.m., a time most inconvenient for most modern residents. The proposal is to change the by-laws to specify that the meeting shall not be opened earlier than 7:30 p.m.

Another proposed change is in the rule which permits the polls to open no earlier than 12 noon for the town election. For convenience of the voters, it is proposed to have the polls open in the morning.

Although it's difficult to determine exactly when the 2 p.m. by-law came on the books, Executive Secretary Ward Carter finds that the March Town Meeting of 1901 was called for 1 p.m. In old days, when work on the farm was slack in early March, the farmers could come to meeting early and get home early.

The proposed change, Mr. Carter points out, just emphasizes the difference between an old rural community and the kind of modern suburb Weston has become.

WESTON -- Miss Iris Ann Hubbard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Hubbard of Sunset

Road, was one of the eight students at Russell Sage College in Troy, N.Y., to be a guest at the luncheon held at the College on Sept. 20 for Princess Beatrix, heir presumptive to the throne of the Netherlands. Miss Hubbard, a junior, is majoring in French and is a co-vince-president of the Student Government Association.

Permits for 153 dwellings were issued in Sudbury in 1958.

Community Chorus Holds First Meeting Of Season

The Community Chorus held its first meeting of the 1959-60 season on Monday evening, Sept. 21. Thirty new members were greeted by the President and Chorus members. Under the direction of Mr. Kalman Novak of Lincoln, rehearsals were begun on the Johann Christoph Bach's "The Childhood of Christ" and "Lullaby" by William Bird, two of the works to be presented at the forthcoming Christmas concert. Mrs. Walter H. Stockmayer of Weston, chairman of the Membership Committee, and members of her committee are anxious to be of service to anyone who is interested in joining the Chorus, in need of transportation to rehearsals, or just to obtain more information concerning the Chorus.

ATTENTION!! CLASSIFIED ADVERTISERS

Beginning October 15, all classified advertisements accepted for publication by The Town Crier will also be published in The Fence Viewer. This will give the advertiser a coverage of twice as much area, Sudbury and Lincoln as well as Wayland and Weston.

A study of the classifieds which have been running in The Town Crier shows that practically all are for purposes which would be better served by an appeal to an even wider audience.

People tell us that everybody reads these classified ads closely. It seems to us that the more there are of them, with the widest possible interest, the more people will look at them and the better the results for the advertisers.

At the present, the classified ad rate is a minimum of 75 cents for 10 words in each paper, with 5 cents for each additional word.

The new rate will be $1.50 for a minimum of 15 words, with 10 cents for each additional word.

Mansion Inn Relics On Display At Framingham

FRAMINGHAM -- Two hundred persons visited the Framingham Historical Society building in Framingham Center on Oct. 4 to inspect a display of many Indian objects dug up at the Mansion Inn site in Wayland last June. Leslie Longworth, left, and Everett Blois, both of Framingham, students of Indian lore, were on hand to answer questions.

On the table in the photo above are many stone blades and tools taken from the Wayland site. One of the curiosities shown by Mr. Longworth was a copper adz which he said he found in one of the graves. It was the only metal object reported found at the Mansion Inn site. (McCann Photo)

Dr. Reissner Chosen

WESTON -- Dr. Eric Reissner of 15 Dogwood Road has been named to the Committee on School Science of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, for a term of three years.

The committee concerns itself with new developments in the field of secondary school science education and also administers the well known Elizabeth Thompson Awards for excellence in high school science teaching.

First Cong. Service Held

WESTON -- The first of regular Sunday afternoon Family Vesper services was held at 4 p.m. on Oct. 4 at the Jones House. One hundred persons met for the first Congregational church service held in the town of Weston in many years.

Dr. Albert J. Penner, Minister and President of the Massachusetts Congregational Christian Conference preached the sermon on Local Resident Files His Christmas List Early

A local resident has already filed with his family a preliminary list, which he thinks modest, of what he'd like for Christmas. Items:

"1. I want the hole in the pocket of one of the two pairs of pants of my dark gray suit sewed up. I've lost tons of change.

"2. I want the record, 'I'm Looking Over a Four-Leaf Clover'.

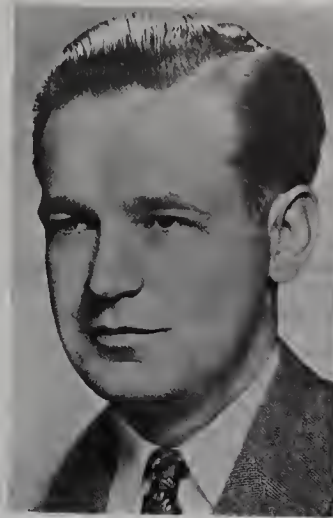

"3. I want a small mirror to use for shaving in the bath tub.

"4. I want the bathroom light fixed.

"5. I want a box containing 20 or 30 cards of matches always kept on the bureau."

Henry Lehne Head Of Big Sylvania Division

WESTON -- The election of Henry Lehne of 36 Pinecroft Road, as a senior vice president of Sylvania Electric Products Inc. was announced Oct. 1. Sylvania is a subsidiary of General Telephone & Electronics Corporation.

Henry Lehne

Mr. Lehne assumes his new duties immediately and will have over-all responsibility for Sylvania Electronic Systems, a major division of the company. Mr. Lehne, who has been vice president and general manager of the division, will continue to make his headquarters in Waltham.

Mr. Lehne joined Sylvania in January, 1953, as director of its newly-formed Electronic Defense Laboratory in Mountain View, Calif. He was appointed general manager of the electronic systems division when it was formed in 1955, and was named divisional vice president and general manager last year. Before joining Sylvania, Mr. Lehne served 14 years in various engineering and sales

Wins The Grand Prize, Chooses A Dishwasher

WAYLAND -- Mrs. Norman B. King of 61 Cochituate Road was the grand prize winner at the Old Time Value Days shopping carnival in Sudbury on Oct. 3. Given her choice of a portable air conditioner, an automatic dishwasher or a snow blower, she chose the dishwasher.

Other Wayland winners: Milton W. Mix, 25 High Rock Road, door prize, Pokonoket Kennels; Mrs. Ralph Earl, Orchard Lane, door prize, Sudbury Supermarket; Adolph Dickey, 6 Adams Lane, door prize, Walt's Barber Shop, and Mrs. H. R. Zayotti, 16 Orchard Lane, door prize, Town Line Hardware.

Route 495, Encircling 128, Will Affect Towns Between

A report to Gov. Foster Furcolo from the Massachusetts Department of Public Works, a thick booklet now being distributed, shows the line of Interstate Route 495, now under construction, which may be expected to have an effect on this area like that of another 128.

Route 495, says the report, will be another great belt around Boston, about 17 miles outside 128. It will be 85.1 miles long, a super-highway costing more than $100,000,000, sweeping in a great arc from Mansfield to Salisbury.

Near here, it will run through Southboro, Marlboro, Berlin, Bolton, Harvard, Littleton, Westford, Chelmsford and Lowell.

Says the report:

"New land use will be created in communities not only traversed by the new highway but also in other communities within a broad area which will be influenced by the road."

Anybody who wants to peek in the crystal ball may imagine Route 495 coming to be lined with industries, like 128. Maybe more so, because it is longer.

And anybody who wants to do a

Where the new road is going.

little dreaming may wonder what will happen to towns like Weston, Wayland, Lincoln, Sudbury, and a few dozen others, in between 128 and 495, easily accessible from both.

More people? More building? More schools?

Sections of 495 in Chelmsford, Westford and Littleton are already under construction. Other sections are under design or are being surveyed and mapped.

40-Inch Eel Is Caught

COCHITUATE -- Alex Marussa, 13, of Willow Lane, and Nils Aunes, also 13, of 6 Melville Place, fishing from the shore near the dam on the western side of Lake Cochituate on Sept. 30, hauled out the granddaddy of all eels, 40 inches long and 5 pounds 1 ounce in weight. Left to right, above, are Alex, eel and Nils.

"State Road" Should Be Renamed "Boston Post Road", It Is Suggested

WAYLAND -- As a result of requests received by the Planning Board, the matter of renaming State Road East and State Road West (Route 20) as "Boston Post Road" is under consideration, says Mr. L. William Berlesen of the Board, and a hearing on the subject will be held before long.

As a matter of fact, it is said, what is now Route 20, between Red Coach Grill and the Sudbury line, was laid out only within the memory of people now living, and never was part of the ancient Post Road. But Route 20 in both Weston and Sudbury is known as WAYLAND -- Dr. and Mrs. James P. Burke of Wayside Road announce the birth of their 4th child, first son, Carey James, on Sept. 17. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Alden Burke of Barre, Vt., and Mr. and Mrs. John Carey of Greenwich, Conn.

New St. Zepherin's Church

COCHITUATE -- Construction of the new St. Zepherin's church, which was begun in the early summer, is progressing very rapidly, according to Father Otis F. Kelly, pastor. Although originally scheduled for completion next spring, Father Kelly says that, if all goes well, it may be ready by Christmas.

The colonial style building, which faces Main Street and adjoins the rectory on the corner of Willard and Main Streets, is being constructed by the James Griffin Company of Boston. The exterior is nearing completion. Seating capacity will be 850.

Everybody Could Toss His Own Bottles In The Fire

And Future Taxpayers Now Living In Coon Rapids Would Pay For The Incinerator

Some years ago, on the morning after a special town meeting had voted a big sum for a new school, there was a bit of dialogue on the train to the city. This was in the days when trains still ran, but it was nevertheless modern times. Said one citizen to another, "How are we going to pay for this?" "Why," returned the other, "we're going to get a lot of new people in here and tax hell out of 'em."

It was so done, and this brings us to today's proposition, that public works are really painless. Take the $1,000,000 school appropriation. It sounds big. But it involves a bond issue (that's the financial term for the instalment plan) with 20 years to pay, which certainly beats what they'll allow on a new low-priced automobile. So at 20 years this comes down to a measly $50,000 a year, and $50,000 is chicken feed which wouldn't buy a bucket of atoms for a tricycle reactor.

Moreover, as life expectancy is around 70 years now, we may figure that, statistically speaking, everybody past the age of 50 will be dead before the 20 years are up. Thus we have two-sevenths of the taxpayers who won't be around to finish paying for this school.

Also, another 20-year crop of taxpayers, now too young to have any vote in this town meeting, will grow up before the school is paid for, and they'll have to assume the burden. It won't hurt them because they'll be used to it, not knowing anything different.

This leaves only three-sevenths of the population to pay the bill.

But this isn't right, either. Some recent figures reveal that 20 per cent of all American families move every year. This means that in five years everybody moves at least once. And therefore, in 20 years, everybody will have moved four times.

Thus, by the time those bonds are paid up, nobody who voted the original appropriation is around. The final $10 is paid by a resident just transferred here from Coon Rapids, Iowa, and he doesn't even know it because he can't understand those tables of figures in the back of the town report.

DOES YOUR PIGGY-BANK RATTLE?

Did you save as much as you anticipated during the past year?

How much have you saved in the last ten years?

If your savings plan is bogging down you need a systematic method—something along the lines of an endowment policy of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada.

Start saving this sure way today.

Sun Life of Canada

The moral of this is that a growing town, like a growing child, should have the best of everything.

There's a precedent for it. Nobody can remember what was the bill for building the Great Pyramid, but we know who's paying it. The tourists, even after 5000 years.

Residents around here, also, stay such a short time they're practically tourists.

So the town might as well have schools with platinum plumbing, hand-trimmed roadside shrubbery, a municipal incinerator (with every householder allowed, for kicks, to throw his own stuff into the fire and hear the bottles explode), a town hall eight stories tall with an auditorium seating 40,000 and a pension plan for any resident who can prove he has stuck it out in the place for 10 years.

The expense won't matter, because somebody else is going to pay. On the good side, the temporary residents may enjoy the best in education, recreation and municipal services, not to mention the smug feeling that they have, like Columbus, figured the thing out for the first time. "Nothing too good" might well be the slogan.

Obviously, all this is possible without a nickel in aid from Uncle Sackfull.

In various places, across this broad land, now live uncounted thousands who never dream that they will some day move here and pay for our civic improvements. And if we can keep the League of Women Voters from investigating and exposing this Utopian arrangement, they'll be just as happy as though they had never been robbed.

All that's needed to make this scheme work is a rapid turnover of population and a Planning Board with imagination enough to keep planning up big projects. -- D.B.W.

Wayland PTA Officers

WAYLAND -- This season's officers for the PTA Council are: Mrs. Kenneth C. Stevens, president; George A. Douglas Jr., vice-president; George A. C. Keller Jr., secretary, and Mrs. Edward Lynn, treasurer.

The Council meets the second Tuesday of each month.

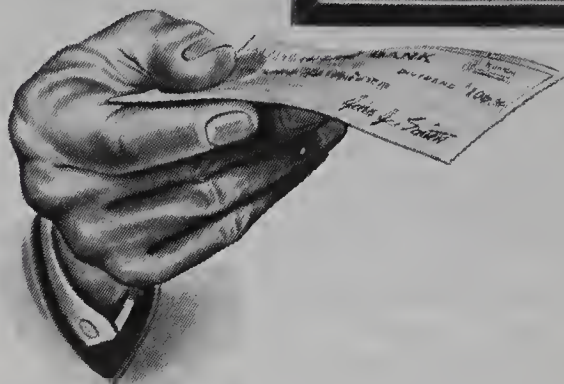

PTA presidents for the coming year are James E. Sullivan, Junior-Senior high school; George Freedman, Loker School; John F. Regan, Cochituate School; George A. Douglas Jr., Happy Hollow School and Louis S. Sergio, Claypit Hill School. The PTA presidents also act as representatives on the PTA Council.

This year's crop of McIntosh apples shows the most brilliant, red color that has been experienced for years.

THIS IS WHY CO-OPS GROW!

Here's another of the basic principles behind co-op progress

SAVINGS ARE DISTRIBUTED ON BASIS OF PATRONAGE

Co-ops are organized to serve their patrons with goods and services at lowest possible cost! Any savings made by the co-op during the year, therefore, belong to patrons.

At the end of the business year, after all expenses have been paid, these savings are distributed to patrons in proportion to their purchases.

WCL Morning Coffee

WESTON -- On the morning of Wednesday, Oct. 14, at 9:45, committee chairmen of the Women's Community League and all those working with them, including officers and directors of the League, are invited for morning coffee at the home of Mrs. John G. Brooks, 178 Boston Post Road.

Those assisting Mrs. Brooks are Mrs. Wilfrid N. Derby, Mrs. Arthur S. Spangler, Mrs. Paul F. Gryska and Mrs. L. Sterling McKittrick Jr. Pourers at the coffee table will be Mrs. Arthur A. Nichols and Mrs. Weston Blake.

WESTON -- Mrs. A. Bertrand Warren of 49 Woodchester Drive is chairman of the hospitality committee for the first fall meeting of the Northeastern Faculty Wives Club on Oct. 9, and Mrs. Gilbert C. Garland of 75 Woodchester Drive is one of the hostesses for the day.

WCL Cooking School

WESTON -- The Oct. 15 session of the Women's Community League International Cooking School will feature Italian cooking. Among the foods to be prepared will be eggplant parmesan, baked macaroni a la calabrese, stuffed peppers and zucchini, antipasto and Italian pastry.

This demonstration will be done by Mrs. Arthur L. Rossi, 40 Dean Road, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Domenic Barberio of West Newton, who has just recently returned from eight months abroad with many new ideas on cooking.

The school will be held from 9:45 to noon in the Lower Town Hall. Contact Mrs. Robert Murkland, TW 3-0787, or Mrs. Raymond Coburn, TW 3-3060, for further details.

Organ Club Entertainment

WESTON -- The Weston-Metropolitan Hammond Organ Club will present Ralph Woodworth Jr., in a musical entertainment on Friday evening, Oct. 16 and again -- in a change of program -- on Oct. 23.

Last year's presentation at the Country School Auditorium was played to capacity houses and an Organ Scholarship Award of $1,000 was presented to the New England Conservatory of Music.

Full information and ticket telephone reservations: Weston Twinbrook 3-1683; Wayland ELmwood 8-7737; Sudbury Hilltop 3-2303, or telephone Mrs. Bryan at Medford EXport 5-8934. All seats are reserved by row and number and should be ordered in advance.

WESTON -- Robert Wilkes Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilkes of 107 Loring Road, a graduate of Weston High School, is a freshman at Colgate University.

WCL Children's Theatre

WESTON -- Registration for girls in the 4th, 5th and 6th grades for Children's Theatre Workshop will be held Thursday, Oct. 15, in Building A Auditorium, Weston Elementary School, starting at 3 p.m. Registration fee is $2.00.

Children's Theatre Workshop is sponsored by the Women's Community League of Weston. Under the supervision of Mrs. Robert L. Woodbury the girls will meet each Thursday at 3 p.m. learning and practicing dramatics and stagecraft. In April they stage a major dramatic production.

Fifth and 6th grade girls will be given preference, although a limited number of 4th graders will be accepted. A name on the waiting list assures the 4th grader a place in Workshop next year.

Weston Methodist Men

WESTON -- Weston Methodist Men will hold their first supper meeting of the season at the Parish House at 6:45 p.m. Oct. 15, with new men members of the Weston High School faculty as guests. Supper will be served by Mrs. Flo Harrington's group of the Women's Society of Christian Service.

There will be a special entertainment feature by John Rudell and the speaker will be Prof. Joseph Bourett of Dean Junior College.

World Events Lecture

WESTON -- The first world events lecture sponsored by the Women's Community League will be held Friday, Oct. 16, when Mr. Nate White of the Christian Science Monitor will speak on "Business Horizons Unlimited" at the Unitarian Parish House. Coffee will be served from 10 to 10:30 a.m. For tickets, TW 4-6669.

Antiques Group, WCL

WESTON -- The Antiques Group of the Women's Community League of Weston announces that the first meeting of the season will be held on Monday, Oct. 19, at 2:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Ray E. Palmer, chairman, 35 Hubbard Road. Tea will be served.

Program for the coming year will include discussions, field trips and guest speakers, covering different topics of interest relating to antiques. Dues to cover cost of mailing notices, $1 per year. Any one interested in antiques is invited to attend the first meeting.

WESTON -- The first square dance for children of 5th and 6th grades on Oct. 30, previously scheduled for the Country School gymnasium, will be moved to the Building "C" gymnasium. Many materials for the new elementary school are now stored in the Country School gymnasium, making this change necessary.

Food Sale, Harvest Supper

WESTON -- The Women's Guild of the First Baptist Church will hold a food sale Friday, Oct. 9, from 10 a.m. - 1 p.m. If the weather is good, it will be held on the Town Green, if not, at the Weston Cleaners. Mrs. N. Hugh MacDonald and Mrs. Guy Akers will be co-chairmen, assisted by Mrs. Harold Downing, Mrs. J. Wesley Jones and Mrs. Elmer Clark.

On Wednesday, Oct. 21, the Guild will sponsor its annual harvest supper, with two seating times, 5:30 and 7 p.m. with seating by reservations only. Reservations may be obtained by calling Mrs. Carlton Allen at TW 3-1308. The cost for a turkey dinner with all the fixings is $1.25 for adults and $.75 for children. The supper will be followed by entertainment under the direction of Mr. Robert Stuart.

There will be a variety table, which will feature plants, gifts, handmade things and some 'White Elephants'.

The supper chairman is Mrs. Stephen L. Colpitts, assisted by Mrs. N. Hugh MacDonald, Mrs. Elmer Clark, Mrs. Leslie B. Reid, Mrs. Gordon Littlehale, Mrs. Allan P. Stockellburg and Mrs. Norman W. Stockellburg. The dining room and ticket chairman is Mrs. Carlton Allen, and the variety table is under the guidance of Mrs. Dick Simms and Mrs. Harold Mosher.

Garden Interest Group

WESTON -- The Garden Interest Group of the Women's Community League will hold its first meeting of the season at the home of Mrs. George N. Chamberlain Jr., Orchard Avenue, on Thursday, Oct. 15. Refreshments will be served from 12:45. Meeting at 1:30.

Mr. John H. Millican Sr., president of Lexington Gardens, Inc. will speak on "House Plants". The Millican family have been growers of choice and unusual plants for more than 20 years. On the day of the meeting Mr. Millican will have some of his plants on sale.

The chairmen for the day are Mrs. Carl Bergstedt and Mrs. William Karal. Mrs. Henry Merrill and Mrs. Frank Lewis will pour. Guests are welcome. Fee, 50 cents.

WESTON -- Mr. Gerald W. Blakeley Jr. of 479 North Avenue served as moderator for the panel on "Financing as the Key to Industrial Growth" sponsored by the combined New England and Connecticut Chapters of the Society of Industrial Realtors at a dinner meeting held at Hotel 128 in Dedham on Oct. 6. Mr. Blakeley is president of Cabot, Cabot, and Forbes Company.

WESTON -- Peter A. Hanson of 23 Pinecroft Road and Robert S. Hurd of 22 Byron Road have been appointed temporary cadet sergeants in the ROTC Senior Division at Bowdoin College.

Rombas Presents "Ski Time"

WESTON -- The Weston Rombas Affiliation will present "Ski Time USA" on Saturday, Oct. 24, at 8:30 p.m. at the Weston Town Hall for the benefit of their scholarship fund. Tickets may be purchased at the Weston Hardware Store.

Commentary by Sverre Engen.

Door prizes will be given during intermission. There will be a free January weekend for one at the Clarks at Mad River Glen, Vermont; eight half-day lessons at Arthur Doucette's Ski School, Jackson, N. H.; and a $10 gift certificate from Olken's Sporting Goods Store in Wellesley.

"Ski Time USA" shows top racers, jumping greats and top coaches. Also included are the North American Championships at Squaw Valley.

The committee for this event includes Mr. and Mrs. Moulton Kellogg, Mr. and Mrs. John Underhill, Mr. and Mrs. David Dodsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Avery and Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot Whitney Jr., chairmen.

Pottery At Meadowbrook

WESTON -- "Pot-throwing" for those who'd like to try it will be a feature of the Meadowbrook Country Fair, to be held at Meadowbrook School, Farm Road, on Oct. 17 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Above, a lesson in the art is being given to Janet Noonan of 4 Irving Road by Mrs. Beale Wilson of 41 Loring Road, who teaches pottery making at the school.

PTA Back To School Night

WESTON -- Weston High School parents are cordially invited to attend a Back-to-School Night at the school on Wednesday evening, Oct. 14 at 8 o'clock.

The High School Section Committee of the P.T.A. consists of Mr. Ronald Beamish, chairman; Mrs. Charles Applegate, Mrs. George Bottjer, Mrs. Victor Harnish, Mr. Henry DeRusha, Mr. Harold Downing, Mr. Putnam Flint, secretary, and Principal Willard Smith. At the Section meeting in September Mrs. Harnish was elected to be the parent member from this group to serve on the P.T.A. Executive Committee.

Wayland Football Movies

Will Be Shown On Oct. 14

WAYLAND -- The Wayland High Association announces that it will show movies of the first two Wayland High School football games of this season at its next meeting, Oct. 14, in room 13 at the High School. Parents and all others interested in local athletics are welcome.

The Association is the organization which gives a dinner each year for Wayland High boys and girls in athletics, and awards jackets to juniors and seniors who qualify.

The movies, made by professionals under sponsorship of the Association, will show the Wayland-Notre Dame of Fitchburg game and the Wayland-Westboro game. With time-outs eliminated, the movie can be shown in a good deal less time than is taken by the game itself.

The Association holds its meetings regularly on the second Wednesday of each month at 8 p.m. at the school, and welcomes the widest participation by residents.

WAYLAND -- Allen Barker of Draper Road, who is expected home around Oct. 18 after a recital tour of France, Germany and Holland, is to give a piano recital in Jordan Hall, Boston, at 8:30 p.m. Oct. 27.

Junior Town House Meeting

WAYLAND -- The annual meeting of the Junior Town House Association will be held at the High School Library on Oct. 13 at 8:30 p.m.

Refreshments will be served at 8 p.m. and, following a business meeting at which there will be brief reports from the Directors and an election of officers, the new student members of the Youth Center Committee will present an account of their popular program of last year and their plans for this year.

The Youth Center for High School students is held at the Happy Hollow School with Mr. John Teger as Town House chairman and Mr. Nate Raymond as the paid director. The opening of the Center is expected to take place on Oct. 16 this year.

Natick Art Association

*WAYLAND -- Those who would like to register for Natick Art Association classes may do so from 7 to 9 p.m. on Oct. 13 at the studio on Old Connecticut Path, near Stonebridge Road, or may call Jean Thompson at OL 3-2404.

Courses, to begin Oct. 19, include dance techniques, drawing, water colors, oils and children's art. Among the instructors are Neta Barker, Barbara Willis, Edward Movitz, Esther Geller and Mary Haigh.

RIVERS SCHOOL EVENTS

WESTON -- "Miniature School", where teachers teach parents, will be held at Rivers Country Day School on the evenings of Oct. 13, 20 and 27. The first session will be for boys in classes 6 and 7; the second for those in classes 4 and 5 and the third for those in classes 1, 2 and 3. Among Weston parents planning to attend are Mrs. Mary deGuzman, Mr. and Mrs. Putnam P. Flint and Mr. and Mrs. William D. Manice Jr.

WESTON -- Theodore P. Cutler has been appointed a lieutenant in the Army ROTC unit AT Boston University.

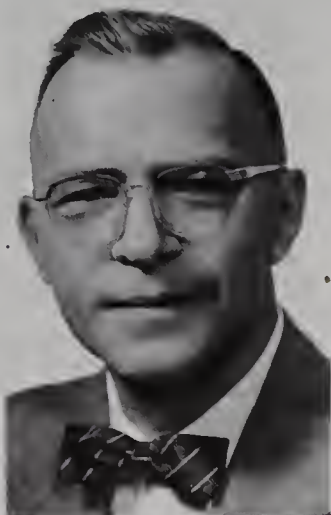

Newcomers For H.S. Faculty

WAYLAND -- Two additions were made to the families of High School faculty members on Sept. 27, when a son was born to Principal Max Griffin and Mrs. Griffin and a daughter was born to Coach Charles "Buzz" Bowers and Mrs. Bowers.

Both babies arrived on Sunday, within a few hours of each other, at the Waltham Hospital.

For the Griffins, it was a fourth son, James Benjamin, and for the Bowers it was a fourth daughter, Linda Susan.

Fritz Gross Promoted

WESTON -- Fritz A. Gross, above, of 71 Westland Road, has been named assistant manager of the Government Equipment Division of the Raytheon Company, it has been announced. He has completed 25 years of service with Raytheon. During World War II he was instrumental in developing Raytheon's shipboard radar for the Allies. Earlier this year he was promoted from manager of the Wayland Laboratory to manager of the heavy electronic equipment subdivision of the Government Equipment Division.

Wolf - Stewart

WAYLAND -- The engagement of Miss Nancy Elizabeth Wolf to Mr. Ralph A. Stewart Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Stewart of Old Sudbury Road, has been announced by Miss Wolf's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dean C. Wolf of Dedham.

Miss Wolf was graduated from Rogers Hall in Lowell and from the Katharine Gibbs School of Boston.

Mr. Stewart attended Wayland Center School and was graduated from St. Mark's School. He is in the class of 1961 at Harvard College where he is a member of the Hasty Pudding - Institute of 1770.

In old times, the antiquarians say, the road to the West divided at what's now Red Coach. The way to Sudbury was down Plain Road to Concord Road, thence through what is now the front yard of Mr. and Mrs. Roger P. Stokey to Bow Road and then out Old Sudbury Road to Sudbury Center.

The other fork of the road was Old Connecticut Path, leading by approximately its present course to Connecticut and New York.

The Planning Board is consulting the Selectmen and the Historical Society and is preparing to ask residents living on State Road what they think of the proposed change.

Wayland 34, Westboro 0

WAYLAND -- Dick Morris went through the line for 64 yards to score on the first play of scrimmage last Saturday to start things rolling toward a 34-0 win over Westboro High.

Before Dick was through for the day, he scored three more times, one on a 45-yard pass from Jerry Whelchel, intercepted two passes, and played a good defensive game overall.

Wayland's second team played almost the entire fourth quarter, with Dwight Perodeau directing the almost all sophomore club. With Kruse, Houghton and Bruce carrying, the team moved to the 3, where Houghton went over to score.
Bruce rushed the points after to make the score 34-0.

Wayland players included:

ing season.

Weston 34, Lynnfield 14

WESTON -- Weston High won its second game of the young season last Saturday, trouncing Lynnfield
High, 34 - 14.

Led by Jay Adams and Mike
MacDonald with two touchdowns apiece, Weston came from behind in the second quarter to continue undefeated this year.

Quarterback Forbes McMullin, who scored twice and passed for another last week, continued to run the team well as he scored on a 9-yard keep play and passed 35 yards to MacDonald for another touchdown.

Weston players:

Dr. Janeway Will Tell UN Group About Kwashiorkor

Dr. Charles A. Janeway (Cushing)

WESTON -- Dr. Charles Janeway of 445 Concord Road, who heads the Medical Department of the world-famous Children's Hospital in Boston, will discuss kwashiorkor, probably the commonest serious disease affecting children throughout most of the world today, at the program following the U.N.-Rombas casserole supper on Oct. 20.

This ailment with the strange name is one of the great scourges which is being combatted through the work of the World Health Organization, one of the specialized agencies under the United Nations.

Dr. Janeway is especially fitted to speak on this subject since he spent six months in the Middle East and Southeast Asia three years ago, and in 1958 was a member of the United States delegation to the World Health Association, the annual meeting of the World Health Organization.

Mr. Douglas Mercer, town Selectman, will be chairman.

The entire town of Weston is invited to the supper and the short program which follows. Organizations are being allotted tables, but anyone may make up a table of 10 and reserve it with Mrs. L. Whitman Smith (TW 3-0247). Groups who wish may have one of a considerable number of invited foreign students sitting at their table. Please call Mrs. Smith also for information.

Wayland LWV Is Running An Honest Quiz Program

WAYLAND -- The Wayland League of Women Voters has embarked on a town-wide door-to-door Regional Planning Survey, which they hope will supply important information as to the trends and needs of the town.

Beginning Oct. 12, and continuing through the month, upward of 150 members will be out ringing door bells and asking residents pertinent questions about their living patterns.

The survey is designed to explore such areas as commuting needs, shopping patterns in town and out, migratory trends and recreation patterns. A general information section is aimed at attitudes toward such questions as industry in town, the need for sidewalks, and purchase of land for recreation use.

The surveyors, under the leadership of Mrs. Robert Page, the league's regional planning director, will at the same time take the town's annual pre-school census, to eliminate the need for two parallel door-to-door operations.

Some sample questions:

Why did you come to Wayland? If you had to move, where would look for a home? Should there be more sidewalks in town? Would you like to see apartment housing in town? If you were in New Hampshire and someone asked where you were from, what would you answer? How many cars in the family?

Results will be tabulated.

Dr. Van Nuys Honored

WESTON -- Boston newspapers on Oct. 9 reported that Dr. Fresenius Van Nuys of 338 Boston Post Road had been named General Practitioner of the Year by the Massachusetts Medical Society, and that he will be the Massachusetts nominee for national General Practitioner at the American Medical Association meeting at Dallas in December.

Dr. Van Nuys, 83, was born in Strasburg, Alsace-Lorraine, in 1876. He began medical practice in Weston in 1907 and continued until he retired in 1951 to take on

Blighted Look Of Oaks Is Due To Leaf Miners

The blighted foliage of so many oak trees, apparent for the past few months, is due to a leaf miner, says Fern A. Taylor of Edgewood Road, Cochituate, who is in the tree business, and it is not likely to be fatal.

The first brood of these miners hatches around June 1, he says, and a second brood in the first part of July. They later turn into little moths.

Although the miner has been known in New England for 30 years, he says, this year's infestation is the worst ever. The trouble may have been due to weather conditions last Winter, which perhaps killed off the miner's natural enemies. And next year, it is thought, will be another bad year for the miners.

The leaves attacked turn a dirty brown and shrivel. Many oaks have lost practically all of their green.

Spraying gives control, says Mr. Taylor, and he has talked with Town of Wayland authorities about having roadsides sprayed next year. The miners like white oak best, he says, but they will attack any oak. Defoliation over a period of years may cause dead wood on the trees, he says.

French For The Young

WESTON -- Elementary conversational French will be offered to fifth grade students in Weston, beginning Monday, Oct. 19, after school, on a voluntary basis. Under the instruction of Mrs. Joyce Brecht, third grade teacher, the group will hold its meetings one afternoon each week.

Weston grade four students, also being introduced to French, are participating in "Parlons Francais," the Channel 2 educational television presentation.

other work. He was chairman of the Weston Board of Health for many years and was physician to the Weston schools for many years.

Wayland Police, Fast In An Emergency, Win Applause From Citizen

WAYLAND -- George T. Krinopolis of 17 Pequot Road is a man with a keen appreciation of the Wayland Police Department.

His mother-in-law, Mrs. Helen Whalen of Chelsea, was visiting at his home. Between 8:40 and 8:45 p.m. on Oct. 10 she slipped in the bathroom and gashed her arm really badly.

While he attempted to put on a tourniquet, Mrs. Krinopolis called police.

Thomas F. Murray, Wayland dispatcher, received the call. Officer John Brady, who was in the station at the time, took off at once. Murray also called officer Frederick Perry, in a cruiser in Cochituate.

Both officers arrived in three minutes flat. The three men carried Mrs. Whalen out to the cruiser on a stretcher, and at 9 p.m. she was in the emergency room at the Leonard Morse Hospital in Natick. The doctors fixed her up all right.

Mr. Krinopolis has been calling up the Wayland police to say thank you, and he called the Town Crier office to tell the story.

In The Coast Guard

WESTON -- Coast Guard Recruiting officials announce that James D. Rennie, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Rennie of 50 Pinecroft Road has enlisted in the United States Coast Guard as a seaman recruit.

James D. Rennie

He is at the Coast Guard Recruiting Center, Cape May, N.J. for 13 weeks of basic training.

Prior to his entrance into the Coast Guard, he attended Lawrence Academy Preparatory school in Groton, where he was on the varsity soccer and wrestling teams. After graduation, he attended the University of Vermont for one year, where he qualified as a swimming instructor. He is a member of the Lambda Iota fraternity there.

$925 So Far Given To Lawrence Collins Fund

WAYLAND -- Members of The Lawrence F. Collins memorial Fund Committee announce that the sum of $925 has been donated thus far by 140 friends of the late Mr. Collins.

The Fund will be used to purchase a globe of the world which will be located in a special corner of the library of the new Wayland High School. The globe will be identical to that which stands in President Eisenhower's study; it (Please turn to Page 9)

Ann Woodcock.

WAYLAND -- Miss Ann Woodcock, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Alan Woodcock of Bracket Road, has been elected to membership in the Wheaton College Choir for the second year. She is a sophomore.

Miss Woodcock is a graduate of the Dana Hall School. Last year she was a member of the freshman hockey team at Wheaton.

WESTON -- The town voted $2,406,500 for a new high school, 416 to 28, but nixed $152,000 for a swimming pool to go with it, 303 to 119, at a special town meeting held Oct. 7 in the High School gym.

Mr. Leo F. Glynn, chairman of the Special High School Plant Committee, says the timetable calls for the new school to open its doors in September, 1961.

From now, it will take the architects some time to draw their plans, and some more time for competitive bids from contractors to be submitted. Mr. Glynn hopes for actual ground breaking around March 1, which would allow 19 months for construction. This, he thinks, should be a good, comfortable period of time for the job.

The State School Building Assistance Commission will pay 30 per cent of the cost.

The gymnasium will be somewhat larger than the present one. For basketball, it will seat 1000 in the bleachers. For a big town meeting, with chairs on the floor, the gym might accomodate 2000 persons.

Taylor - Wilson

Jane Taylor.

WAYLAND -- Mr. and Mrs. Fern A. Taylor of 73 Edgewood Road announce the engagement of their daughter, Jane, to Mr. David C. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl O. Wilson of Natick.

Miss Taylor was graduated in June from Wayland High School. No date has been set for the wedding.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Alden, wore a silk organza gown with a bodice of chantilly lace. She carried a bou-quet of white roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Joan Panetta was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Evelyn Wheelock, sister of the bride, and Miss Dprothy Johansen and Miss Carol Dyer.

Mr. Gustave Heim Jr., brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Pat Panetta, Joseph Murray and Robert Jaust.

A garden reception was held at the home of the groom's parents.
After a wedding trip to Maine and
New Hampshire, Mr. and Mrs.
Heim will live in Waltham.

WAYLAND -- Joseph Manton Bradley of 33 Sudbury Road, chairman of the camping and activities committee for Norumbega Council, Boy Scouts of America, assisted in negotiating the big deal by which Norumbega Council has just acquired a 2,000-acre tract of hilly woodland, including a 50-acre lake, in Gilmanton Iron Works, N. H.

The site will afford facilities for 4,000 Boy Scouts of the Council. Plans are being made to have the camp ready for full use in the Summer of 1961.

Let's Be Honest Week Set Off Some Social Disasters

And That's Why There's No Law Against Telling Lies, Large Or Small

Once upon a time, when it was seen that Truth was taking a terrible beating and it seemed too bad, a large number of the better people got behind a project for a Let's Be Honest Week.

They enlisted great support for this occasion, much more than one gets nowadays for Apple Week or Old Shoe String Week, and the public got into the swing of the thing at once, aided of course by a few such Madison Avenue dodges as fixed commercials in which confirmed liars took dives and told the truth.

This Week began on Sunday morning and a preacher, fired up by what he deemed a golden opportunity, promptly told his congregation what he thought of people who spent $4.95 for a fifth on Saturday night and then came to Church with a hangover and contributed a quarter.

Following this, a married couple went home to have dinner and the husband said, on sniffing the kitchen odors, "I'm tired of chicken." Whereupon the wife replied, "I'm sick of having football on the television every Saturday and Sunday", and a fight started.

On Monday, a filling station attendant was asked, "Is this gasoline as good as the blurbs say it is?"

Smitten by the prevailing honest bug, the fellow replied: "I haven't the faintest idea. It may be maple sirup for all I know. I take no chances myself. I get my gas across the street."

At the college admission desk, the timid young man asked, "What will I get out of my $10,000 education?"

The president of the institution, who happened to be passing by, scratched his head and said:

"Buster, you've got me. Probably it's worth it, but I've often wondered."

The organizer for the League of Political Perfection, soliciting a new member, suddenly stopped in his tracks and muttered, "I don't think we'll ever make it."

The chairman of the board, writing a report to his stockholders, threw away the prepared script and penned instead, "Get out while you have a nickel left."

The diplomat, phrasing a stiff note to the prime minister of a hostile nation, broke down in tears and dictated these words to his confidential secretary:

"We have so many rascals in my country I can only be sorry for you, with the rascals you have in your country. Good bye." So he stepped from the window, which happened to be high up.

A matron, arriving at a party given by a dear friend, said:

"Why, dolling! You are so pallid! Is your illness curable?"

A son turned on his mother and said, "Ma, your cooking is terrible." An office boy said to the boss, "Boss, your jokes are flat." A yes man said No. A girl said, "Yes, I wanted to go to the Junior Prom, but I hated to have to go with you, Pimples." A dentist said, "This will hurt like the dickens." A merchant said, "This is guaranteed for six months but I wouldn't trust it six minutes."

All these incidents were multiplied by millions, as everybody got into the act. By Thursday, business was at a standstill and blood was flowing in the gutters, except where the gutters were choked with bodies. Anarchy, hatred and discord were abroad in the land, and it was obvious that Let's Be Honest Week was a dismal failure.

Teaching In India

WESTON -- Miss Anne A. Janeway, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles A. Janeway of 445 Concord Road, has been teaching since June in a small school connected with the Christian Medical College in a small town in India, and she will be there until January.

The school is run for English, American and Indian children. Miss Janeway attended elementary school in Weston and the Winsor School, and was graduated from Smith College in 1958. She has had a chance to travel in India and see a good deal of village life there.

WESTON -- A fourth child, second son, Stratton Cole French, was born to Mr. and Mrs. John B. French (Charlotte D. Cole) of Lincoln on Sept. 29 at the Richardson House, Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace W. Cole of 81 Webster Road and Mr. and Mrs. Alden French of Concord are grandparents. The great-grandmother is Mrs. Maud B. Brand of Concord.

THIS IS WHY CO-OPS GROW!

Here's another of the basic principles behind co-op progress

EACH
HAS ONE VOTE

Co-ops are organized to serve; not to make a profit. Control should, therefore, remain in the hands of all those who need and use the co-op's goods and services.

Each member has an equal voice in co-op affairs regardless of how many shares he owns.

There is no method of owning and operating a business that is more democratic than co-op organization.

WESTON -- Mr. Hamish C. F. Gravem of 214 Boston Post Road won the town men's tennis championship and Mrs. Anthony Morse Jr. of Saddle Hill Road won the women's title, at the finals of the town tournament held on Oct. 12. Mr. Gravem won over Robert W. McCann of 42 Aberdeen Road, 6-3 and 8-6, and Mrs. Morse won over Mrs. William L. Helm Jr. of 256 Boston Post Road, 3-6, 7-5 and 6-3. Lyman Hayes of Gypsy Trail, noted tennis official, umpired both matches.

WESTON -- Mrs. Edward P. Ripley of Webster Road and Mrs. William V. Schevill of 156 Wellesley Street represented their respective classes at Smith College on Oct. 15 at the inauguration of Dr. Thomas C. Mendenhall as president of the institution.

Mrs. Tourville Wins Grant

Mrs. Tourville
SUDBURY -- Mrs. Leslie Tourville, wife of Dr. Leslie Tourville, principal of the Regional High School, is completing her master's program at Boston University under

Weston 26, Ashland 6

WESTON -- The Weston High football team won its third game without a defeat on Oct. 10, beating Ashland, 26-6, at the Weston field.

Probably one of the strongest teams in recent years at the school, Weston went ahead in the first minute of play and led 12-6 at the half on the way to the victory.

Jay Adams scored two touchdowns for the second week in a row, while Forbes McMullin added his fourth touchdown of the year and Curt Evans scored his first. Adams went 66 yards on the first play from scrimmage to open the scoring. Ashland's Paul Irwin tied the score at 6 all, but from then on Weston was in charge.

Dave Colter recovered a fumble on the Ashland 5-yard line, and Evans scored on the next play around right end. Later in the game, Adams scored again, going 44 yards through the center of the line, and McMullin scored from the 24 when he ran after finding his receivers covered.

Weston players included: Ie, Duffy, Butcher; It, LaTucky, Stockmayer, Leonhart; Ig, Tyler, Gates; c, Colter, Rizzo; rg, D'Antonio, McIntosh, French; rt, Perry, Reider; re, Mahoney, Ruland; rhh, Adams J., Powers, Foster; lhb, Evans, McDonald; fb, Rizzo, Parlee, D. Adams; qb, McMullin, White.

Wayland At Maynard

WAYLAND -- After winning its two opening games by lopsided scores, Wayland High had an open date Oct. 10.

The team will be favored to stretch its undefeated streak to 29 on Oct. 17 when it journeys to Maynard. Maynard lost to Notre Dame of Fitchburg, 26-15, last week, and earlier in the season Wayland topped Notre Dame by a 40-14 score.

Wayland has scored 74 points in its two games this season with Dick Morris accounting for 48 of the points with eight touchdowns. Jerry Wheelchel has scored 10, Bruce Waldman and Ken Houghton six apiece, and Scott Bruce and Ed Johnsen two apiece.

Waldman injured his leg in the Westboro game but should be ready for at least limited action against Maynard.

Tibbot-Noonan

WESTON -- Mrs. Sarah Nichols Noonan of Irving Road, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Boylston

Nichols Jr. of Taunton, was married to Mr. David Watts Tibbott Jr. of West Newton at 4:30 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 3, at the home of her parents.

Only immediate relatives and close friends were present.

Mr. Tibbott, son of David W. Tibbott, also of West Newton, and the late Mrs. Dorothy B. Tibbott, has as his best man his brother-in-law, Mr. William A. Swartz of Framingham Center. Miss Julianne Noonan was her mother's only attendant.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Richardson Reid, minister of the First Parish Church, Unitarian, in Taunton.

The Wellesley Hills Market, in Wellesley Hills Square, has just had the finishing touches put on their building by AlSCO New England, Inc. which has just done a tremendous job of putting on and covering the side of the building with aluminum clapboard siding, with special "Bak-A-Foam" insulation which keeps heat in, and cold out. Facial boards, sills and headers which will keep the owner free from paint worry were also installed along with five all control weather awnings, which let light come in and keep rain out. Hundred and seventy foot commercial awning which will add immensely to the appearance of the store was installed to keep the ice and snow in the winter, and the hot summer sun off the building and the sidewalk. Any home owner or retail store owner interested in improving the appearance and maintenance ease of a building can contact Mr. Bruce Mansfield, Wellesley Branch manager of AlSCO New England, Inc. at Cedar 5-7440, or come down to the office at 544 Washington street, Wellesley, where he will be able to talk over your particular problem. Any of these aluminum products can be had in any color of the rainbow, and will be installed by AlSCO men, trained to do the job.

WESTON

UN Square Dance

On the square dance committee. Front, left to right: Mrs. Gonzalo, Leon and Mrs. Paul Gryska. Back row: Mrs. Richard Van Tubergen, Mrs. Maury Soltes, Mrs. Seth Heywood and Mrs. Martin Marshall.

WESTON -- Highlight of Weston's observance of the United Nations birthday will be a square dance sponsored by the Women's Community League of Weston. On Friday, Oct. 23, the Gymnasium of the Weston High School will resound to the calls of Ralph Page, who promises fun for all, beginners and experts. Foreign Students from nearby colleges and universities and the International House in Cambridge have been invited.

Many dinner parties are being planned before this dance. Among those who will entertain the visiting students are Mr. and Mrs. Burton Phinney, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Gryska, Mr. and Mrs. William Helm Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Leopold Gruener, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hubbard, Mr. and Mrs. W. Harrison Faulkner, Mr. and Mrs. John Birch, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Chapman and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Starmer.

Everyone is invited. Sneakers are required. Tickets will be sold at the door for 90¢.

Theatre Party

WESTON -- Members of St. Julia's Sodality are planning a theater party to take place at the Donnelly Memorial Theater in the Back Bay on Thursday, Oct. 22. Anyone wishing reservations should call Mrs. John Duffy at TW 3-4498.

A Christmas gift table of hand made articles, such as mittens, aprons etc., will be included in the November program. Articles may be left with Mrs. Bruce Nickerson, 67 Brook Road, or Mrs. David Kelley, 64 Oxbow Road.

WESTON -- The Weston Senior Sociables will be held at the Town House on the evenings of Nov. 27, Dec. 18, and March 18. Every Weston boy or girl in grades 10, 11 and 12, in public or private school, is invited to attend. Any one eligible who has not received an invitation is requested to call TW 3-7977 or TW 3-3728.

WESTON -- A rummage sale to provide funds for activities of children who are patients at the Metropolitan State Hospital is to be held in Arlington on Oct. 24, and those with material to contribute to the sale may leave it at Mrs. Helen McKenney's barn, 11 Newton Street, at the garage at 18 Conant Road or at Mrs. Robert Hutchinson's, before the 23d.

Chest X-Ray Program

Chest X-ray programs are offered to industrial firms in Weston and Wayland by the Middlesex Tuberculosis and Health Association.

The Association makes arrangements for the mobile X-ray unit, health education services and X-ray cards, and also assists in the follow-up procedure.

Any industry in Middlesex County desiring a chest X-ray program as a regular part of their health program, may contact the Middlesex Tuberculosis and Health Association at 385 Broadway, Somerville, or call PRospect 6-3093.

Halloween Parties

WAYLAND -- The Kiwanis Club is making plans for its two annual free Halloween parties, one for teen-agers at the High School and the other for youngsters at Happy Hollow School. Volunteers are needed to help at each place, and those who can serve are asked to call Frank Tomasello, EL 87044.

LWV Unit Meetings

WAYLAND -- "The Northeastern Water Compact--What it means to Massachusetts", will be the subject for discussion at the Wayland League of Women Voters' unit meetings on Oct. 19, 20, 21 and 22.

As this will be the conclusion of the Water Item, consensus will be taken at the meetings, to enable the National Board to take action on pending water legislation.

Resource information to be used in the discussion has been gathered by Mrs. Herbert Lipton, Water Resource Chairman, and her committee, Mrs. Seymour Blum, Mrs. Norman Cochran, Mrs. Malcolm Davis, Mrs. John Donner and Mrs. Bernard Krasnick.

In accordance with the needs of the membership, the unit meeting schedule this year will consist of two morning units, one each on Tuesday and Wednesday, and four evening units, on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, respectively.

Hostesses at the units are:

Mornings, Tuesday, Mrs. Kemp Reade, Juniper Lane, and Wednesday, Mrs. Lewis Billig, 15 Highgate Road, Evenings, Monday, Mrs. Harry Letaw Jr., 7 Winthrop Road, Tuesday, Mrs. Warren Eriksen, Old Farm Circle, Wednesday, Mrs. Wallace Knowlton, 84 East Plain Street, and Thursday, Mrs. Charles Tewksbury, 17 Adams Lane.

Wayland High PTA

WAYLAND -- The first meeting of the Wayland Junior-Senior P.T.A. will be held at the high school on Monday, Oct. 19. There will be a general meeting in the Library from 7:30 to 8 o'clock, presided over by Mr. James Sullivan, president.

The Program Committee, under the chairmanship of Miss Helen A. Glynn and assisted by Mrs. Harold H. Woollard Jr. and Mr. Julian Demeo, have arranged a program that will provide parents with an opportunity to participate in a typical school day. They will follow their own child's schedule for Tuesday. Each teacher will conduct a 15-minute session during which time he will discuss the objectives of his course and to some extent its content. There will be on the teacher's desk a paper which the parent may sign if he wishes to arrange for a conference at a later date.

Coffee will be served at 7:30 and during the study periods in the Library. Mrs. Laurence Peterson will be in charge of this part of the Program.

Parents are reminded to obtain from their son or daughter a copy of his or her Tuesday schedule of classes. It is hoped that many parents will plan to attend.

Other P.T.A. meetings for which programs have not as yet been completed will take place on Dec. 7, Feb. 8, and May 9.

Heggen, secretary; Mrs. Rose Lizotte, historian; and Mrs. Leo Richards, sergeant-at-arms. Mrs. Edith Blomgren and Mrs. Hazel Taylor are members of the executive board.

WAYLAND -- The scholarship fund will benefit when the Wayland Woman's Club holds its annual fall dance on Friday, Oct. 23, at the Marlboro Country Club. This will be the second project this year in the Club's campaign to augment the scholarship fund in the hope that the amount of the two scholarships may be increased in the future.

Dancing will be from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. with music by Mike Belson's orchestra. Dress is informal and the dance is open to the public. Tickets are $3 per couple and may be obtained from any member of the dance committee.

The committee is Mrs. Sanford Tallmon, Mrs. William T. Welch, Mrs. Robert A. Watt and Mrs. Paul Maxwell.

Garden Club Luncheon

WAYLAND -- The annual Fall Luncheon of the Wayland Garden Club will be held at the Trinitarian-Congregational Church on Tuesday, Oct. 27 at 12:15 p.m. Mrs. Carl W. Kearsley of Concord Road and Mrs. William J. Hammond of Training Field Road are in charge of the luncheon arrangements.

There will be a business meeting and a skit produced by Club members.

Light Bulb Sale

WAYLAND -- Dr. Jere LaVine, eye research, chairman for the Sudbury Wayland Lions Club, announces that the club will sell light bulbs on Oct. 17 for eye research. Each package of bulbs will cost $2, the regular price, and eye research will get 75 cents from each $2.

Church Cornerstone To Be Laid On October 18

WAYLAND -- The cornerstone of the enlarged Trinitarian Congregational Church building will be laid with simple exercises at 2 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 18. In the box will be the contents of the original church cornerstone, dated 1926, plus new material to bring the church story up to date.

Dedication of the structure, with more elaborate exercises, will be held in December, says Rev. Donald S. Ewing.

WAYLAND -- Mr. Gregory B. Wolfe of Country Corners Road will be one of the speakers at this year's series of eight conferences for Wellesley College students titled "Opportunities After College." Mr. Wolfe is Executive Director of the Greater Boston Economic Council.

Walther-Mohler

Mrs. Peter G. Walther
(Korday)

WAYLAND -- In a candlelight setting of white chrysanthemums and English ivy, Miss Sharon Sue Mohler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dale Mohler, 9 Greenwood Road, Natick, was married to Mr. Peter Goentner Walther, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick P. Walther Jr., 194 Cochituate Road on Sunday, Oct. 11.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Paul D. Tiller in the First Congregational Church in Natick and a reception followed in the church vestry.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of ivory bouquet taffeta fashioned with a portrait neckline edged with re-embroidered Alencon lace, seed pearls and iridescent sequins, long sleeves, and a fitted bodice accented with a flat tailored bow at the waistline.

Serving as maid of honor was her sister, Miss Barbara Mohler. Bridesmaids were Miss Cornelia Ockers of Brockton and Miss Sally Marsh of Egypt.

Mr. John Reynolds of Weston was best man. The ushers were Mr. Thomas Walther, brother of the groom, Mr. James Andrews of Wayland, and Mr. Leo Amendola and Mr. George Shepard Jr., both of Marlboro.

The bride was graduated from the School of Dental Hygiene at the University of Vermont and is a dental hygienist in Wellesley Hills. Mr. Walther attended the Wayland schools, Cambridge School in Weston and St. Lawrence University. He is associated with the Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada. After a wedding trip to New York, they will live in Natick.

Named Vice-President

WESTON -- Mr. John E. Cain Jr. of 21 Lantern Lane has been appointed vice-president of the John E. Cain Company of Cambridge.

Son of the founder of the company which manufactures mayonnaise and other food products, Mr. Cain attended Governor Dummer Academy and Harvard College. He served in the U.S. Navy during World War II and was graduated from the first "middle management program" of the Harvard University School of Business Administration in 1955.

LAYMEN'S LEAGUE

WAYLAND -- James DeNormandie, state representative from Wayland and Lincoln, will be the speaker at the first meeting of the Laymen's League of the First Parish Church on Wednesday, Oct. 21 at 8:15 p.m. All Wayland men regardless of religious affiliation are cordially invited to attend the supper preceding the talk at 6:30 p.m. Call Ralph Garry, EL 8-2687 for reservations.

Mr. DeNormandie will discuss the role of the Commonwealth in higher education.

Mrs. Maude T. Williams

WAYLAND -- Funeral services were held at the Gibbs Memorial Funeral Home on Oct. 9 for Mrs. Maude (Thing) Williams, widow of the late Mr. Willard Williams, of Main Street. Reverend Robert Jones, pastor of the Cochituate Methodist Church, officiated.

A long-time resident of the town, Mrs. Williams is survived by a sister, Mrs. George Danforth, and a niece, Miss Marian R. Bent, both of Cochituate.

WESTON -- Thomas K. Graham, a sophomore at Dartmouth College, recently joined the pledge class at the Alpha Chi Rho fraternity. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Graham of 2 Bryden Road. Mr. Graham is a member of the Dartmouth Class of 1938.

Young Graham was graduated from Hebron Academy.

Among local semi-finalists in the merit scholarship competition, recently announced, are Armine Avakian, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Arra S. Avakian of Ledge-wood Road, Weston; James E. Sullivan Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Sullivan of Orchard Lane, Wayland, and John Chipman Gray Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Chipman Gray of 19 Fairhope Road, Weston.

Miss Avakian, who would have been in the senior class at Weston High School this year, is the Weston student at Rombas this year. James Sullivan, who wants to study law, is one of the backfield defensive stars on the Wayland High football team. "Chip" Gray is president of the senior class at Noble and Greenough and president of the Student Council.

The playing fields will probably be seeded in the Spring, so that the grass may have a year's growth before the fields go into use. About a third of the 60-acre site will be devoted to building, roads and parking lot and about a third to playing fields. A good-sized piece, towards the south end of the site, will be left untouched, for nature study.

Opposition to the school appro-

AIRLINE HOSTESS

WESTON -- Miss Harriette Adams, above, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kari Adams of 28 Byron Road was recently graduated from the new American Airlines Stewardess College in Fort Worth, Texas, where she won the silver wings of a stewardess.

Miss Adams, a graduate of Rogers Hall in Lowell and Lasell College in Auburndale, has been assigned to Amon Carter Field, Texas, and is now flying from Dallas and Fort Worth.

priation came most earnestly from Mr. Hillard W. Welch of 145 Lexington Street, who said that the town had embarked on "uncontrolled spending". While he wasn't against a high school, he said, he was against the "excessive cost" of building this one.

Mr. Welch was strongly opposed by a number of speakers, and he was finally asked to put a motion before the meeting. He said he would, and there was a five-minute recess while he huddled with town officials on the wording of a motion.

During the recess the affair was ironed out. Mr. Welch told the meeting he was not interested in making a motion which "would destroy", and that while he could have made a motion decreasing the appropriation to $1 he wouldn't do it. He said he merely asked that the article be voted down, so the matter would be returned to the committee, which could then bring in several alternative plans to the annual town meeting.

The vote was taken at 10:15 p.m. Article 2 was the swimming pool issue. Frank Hitchcock, chairman of the recreation commission, spoke against it. So did Selectman Douglas Mercer, who said that a three-year capital outlay program would be submitted to the town in March. The program, he said, reflects need for additions to library, police and fire quarters and more office room in the Town Hall, and would require substantial appropriations. So the swimming pool was voted down.

The other five articles on the warrant went through without much discussion and the meeting adjourned at 11:04 p.m., having voted the biggest single appropriation in the town's history.

When first built, the building will accommodate 800 pupils. It will have built-in facilities, however, to provide for an enrollment of up to 1400, by the addition, at some later time, of more classrooms.

will carry a plaque so that the students of the High School and the people of Wayland may be reminded that the globe is a memorial to Lawrence Collins whose special interest was the youth of this town.

It is the hope of the Committee that further contributions will make it possible to purchase additional maps and atlases for the library, the facilities of which will be enjoyed by adults as well as by the High School students.

Raytheon Company plans to make substantial additional investments in Europe.

Apples should not be stored at a temperature below 32 degrees.

Prof. Mavor Completes Work On "Imp" Generator

WAYLAND -- James W. Mavor Jr. of 6 Country Corners Road, Northeastern University Associate Professor of Mechanical Engineering, as a member of a four-man research team, has completed work on the development of the "Imp" or Impulse Generator, designed at the Underwater Sound Laboratory of the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institute.

Prof. Mavor is responsible for the mechanical designing of the "Imp", having been working at Woods Hole on a part-time basis since 1957.

The "Imp" is capable of producing wave shocks, which when analyzed, provide records on currents and other oceanographic and meteorological data.

A graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where he majored in Naval Architecture and Marine Engineering, Mavor also holds a master of science degree in Naval Architecture from M.I.T.

In 1953 he joined the staff of Northeastern University as an assistant professor of mechanical engineering. Since promoted to associate professor, he also holds the title of research associate in applied physics at Woods Hole.

He is a member of the Society of Naval Architecture and Marine Engineering, the American Society of Electrical Engineers and the Society of Naval Engineers and is Rear Commodore of the Woods Hole Yacht Club.

JUNIOR HIGH PTA

WESTON -- The Country School auditorium was the scene of the Sept. 30 meeting of the Weston Junior High School P.T.A. More than 200 attended. Mrs. John D. Grover presided.

Principal Philip H. Wye explained the changes being offered in the school curriculum.

This year all eighth grade students are studying French three periods a week. A full year course in algebra is being offered at this grade level also. English periods for seventh grade students have been increased from five to seven sessions each week. The social studies schedule for the younger class has been enlarged to include a unit on Asia. Clubs are being expanded and are included on each student's weekly schedule. The school orchestra will now meet twice weekly.

Formulating plans for the P.T.A. meeting were members of the Junior High School Steering Committee, Mrs. Evon Vogt, chairman. Other committee members include Mrs. James Banghart, Mrs. Theodore Bayles, Mrs. Paul Dippolito, Mrs. Lawrence Pexton and Mrs. Stephen Tyng.

Rev. John Wight, Wayland Minister Of Long Ago, Once Bowed Politely To A Cow

WAYLAND -- John Burt Wight, early minister of the First Parish Church of Wayland, was featured in the Believe It Or Not Column of the Boston Daily Record and no one knows how many other papers from coast to coast recently as having been minister of the Wayland church "for 68 years."

According to the Wayland Historical Society, the column was off about 43 years for his term of service and completely neglected to mention his real claim to fame --that he founded the Wayland Public Library. It was Mr. Wight's collection of books, kept at home and formally known as "The East Sudbury Charitable Library," which served as Wayland's first public library.

In those days, Wayland was known as East Sudbury and there was no regular public library in the town. The Reverend Wight, who was not so much interested in philosophy as in social betterment, felt that public libraries should be supported in all communities and, in 1851 he introduced a bill in the Massachusetts legislature enabling cities and towns to establish libraries at public expense.

He campaigned widely for his idea and it is a matter of record that some of his mail campaign was directed as far west as Wisconsin.

Reverend Wight came to Wayland as a very young man. He entered Brown University at the age of 14 and was graduated, at the head of his class in 1808, only seven years before he assumed the ministership of the First Parish Church. He took his master's degree from Harvard in 1816, a year after his arrival in Wayland.

His personal demeanor seems to have been exceedingly mild and he is described in an historical address delivered in 1911 as being "of amiable disposition, meek and quiet temper, and truly catholic spirit--a representative of the best type of New England character. His figure was erect, his bearing noble and dignified, his manner kindly and courteous."

An anecdote, told by his descendants--which they admit may be more fiction than fact--is one that illustrates his infallible courtesy. Reverend Wight had a habit of walking downtown and bowing and taking off his hat to everyone he met. One day, deep in meditation, he felt something brush by him. He immediately took off his hat and bowed--and found the object of his courtesy to be a cow.

When Reverend Wight left Wayland, he served as a minister in Castine, Maine, Amherst and Milford, N. H., and North Dennis, Mass., before returning to Wayland in 1842. He lived in town for the rest of his life, dying in 1883 at the age of 93.

Sally Derby, supposed to have had a concussion and been buried in a garage, was "dug up" and lifted by a crew of women supposed to have been passersby.

WESTON--Weston Civil Defense had a surprise problem one Saturday morning recently, a "tornado" in the Sears Road area. Some persons were out of town but 50 or so showed up, and the exercise was said to have been instructive. It was a good day to be out in the open air, anyway.

Sixth in Construction

WAYLAND -- The new high school shot Wayland into sixth place in the state for the value of new construction according to a recent report, issued by the State Department of Labor and Industries Division of Statistics. Based on building permit applications filed in August, the high school value of $1,203,000 made up most of Wayland's total new building value of $1,309,000.

Teacher Relief Needed

WESTON -- About 15 mothers of elementary school children in Weston have indicated a willingness to relieve teachers of supervisory responsibility for a short time during the noon recess period. This number does not meet the entire need of the elementary schools. Other interested Weston mothers are requested to call Mr. Thomas H. McFarlin at TWInbrook 3-6716.

10-CENT BRACELET (Continued from Page 1)

year. They include Mrs. Arthur Grannis, Mrs. Ralph Hower, Mrs. Mead Hartwell, Mrs. David Kellogg, Mrs. O. A. Schlaikjer, Mrs. Thomas Batey, Mrs. Harold Van Heest, Mrs. Paul Sargent, Mrs.

Francis Whittemore, Mrs. Harold Stevens, Mrs. Frank Sumner, Mrs. Roger Woodman, Mrs. Everett Schwartz and Mrs. Alan Wheeler. Some of the men have been helping throughout the years too, particularly Mr. Bidwell, who is well known as the star salesman of the men's clothing section.

That first sale netted about $365 and through the 20 years since, the idea has snowballed to where the amount now realized is three to four times that amount. The sale last year attracted 750 people, many from all the surrounding towns, and one year, from as far away as Rhode Island. Some out-of-towners have come for years, and look forward to the sale so much that they request they be notified of the date each year. It has become a tradition with Weston residents too, and many housewives keep filling rummage boxes all year long. Some have donated furniture or other items to simplify their moving process.

The purpose of the sale has remained the same throughout the years. The money is used for the maintenance of the Scout House on School Street, and anything above the amount needed for that purpose if used for the general work of all Scouts of Weston.

About 100 people worked on the first sale, while 1958's list of helpers was up to 160. Most of these are Weston residents, but a few are so devoted to the Scouts and the sale that they come back to help even after moving away from Weston.

The workers report that they were extremely ignorant and inexperienced the day of the first sale and many customers walked out with pockets stuffed with unpaid-for items.

Details of that sort have been solved with a check-out system, but there are other problems. Workers are advised to hide their coats because anything lying around loose might be sold. Once some small children set aside their brand new school shoes to try on some fancy high heels on the shoe table, and had to go home in stocking feet. One donor vainly tried to reclaim a ring after she reconsidered its value, but it was beyond tracing.

This year's sale is scheduled for Oct. 17.

WESTON -- The first meeting of the Ladies Sodality of St. Julia's Church took place Thursday evening, Oct. 8, at 8 p.m. at the church, with a mass by Father Graf. Then the members adjourned to the Jones House for a business meeting and social hour. The hostess for the evening was Mrs. Arthur Jones of Warren Avenue.

Heavy supplies of local fall crops are now available at roadside markets and nearby farms.

Local Republicans Hear Party View on Tax Issues

WAYLAND -- A number of local Republicans attended a chicken supper and panel discussion held on Oct. 7 in Lower Dennison Hall, Framingham. Senator Charles Olsen and Representative James DeNormandie from this district shared the platform with other Republican legislators to discuss various aspects of last sessions's tax legislation from their party's point of view.

Wayland residents attending were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gannett, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Loker, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Stokely, Mr. and Mrs. Kemp Reade, Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Howard, Mrs. Nathaniel Cannistraro, and Mr. George Deverell. Mrs. Arthur E. Grannis attended from Sudbury.

WESTON -- Andrew Gyorgy of 343 North Avenue, professor of government Boston University, was scheduled to speak to the student body at Babson Institute on Oct. 15.

A native of Hungary, Gyorgy obtained a Doctor of Jurisprudence degree from the University of Budapest. He received a Ph.D in International Relations from the University of California in 1941.

Gyorgy has just returned from an extended tour of Europe where he spent two weeks in Berlin, and made several visits to the Russian Sector and East Germany. He gave several lectures on the Russian situation to American soldiers in Germany.

One of the highlights of his trip was a side excursion to Israel where he was the guest of the Israeli government.

The author of several books in the field of international relations, Gyorgy taught at the University of New Hampshire and Yale before coming to Boston University.

Village Shopper, First Store Center In Wayland, Will Be Open On Oct. 28

WAYLAND -- The Village Shopper, the town's first big shopping center, including the town's first supermarket, a store of The CO-OP, Inc., will be opened with simple ceremonies around 9:30 a.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 28.

The Shopper, on more than five acres of land reclaimed from the Sudbury marshes, near Wayland Center, but above any recorded high water mark, is the result of many months of work and planning. Part of its history is a vote by town meeting to alter the zoning laws to permit its existence.

The stores will be opened on Wednesday morning, with Selectman Frank S. Tarr cutting a separate ribbon for each.

The Wayland Post Office is to move into new and bigger quarters in the Shopper, but, says Postmaster Thomas E. Hynes, not until some time in the middle or latter part of November.

Promoter of the Village Shopper, the biggest business enterprise in town after the Raytheon laboratory, is Edward A. Veno, well known local real estate man.

The story of the Shopper is contained in a 12-page flyer, "The Village Shopper", made up by the Town Crier Press for all the merchants in the new center. This tabloid paper, containing sketches and advertisements of the new businesses, is being mailed to 8,000 families in Wayland, Weston, Lincoln and Sudbury.

Head of the CO-OP store will be Noble J. Morton, assisted by Ted Matson of Norwood, George Palmer of Wayland and Harry Adams and Peter Culcasi of Natick. Department assistants and part-time employees will be from the nearby community.

The home economist will be Mrs. Jerri Smith of Sudbury, who will be known professionally as "Carol Ives".

939 Paid 10 Cents Each To Attend Scout Rummage Sale

Scene at the rummage sale. Standing in the center is Mrs. Franksford G. Sumner, who helped with the first sale, 20 years ago. (Forman Photo)

WESTON -- The Scout rummage sale held at Weston Town Hall on Oct. 17 was a "mammoth success", says Mrs. John Callinan, co-chairman with Mrs. Eric Reisner, and it had the biggest attendance ever.

The figures showed that 939 persons paid 10 cents each to get in. The weather was ideal and motor vehicles were parked the length of Town House Road and in nearby places.

The amount of money raised still had to be checked with the bank, but it was believed it was the most ever, in 20 years of Scout rummage sales.

Winter Birds Arrive

WESTON -- Winter bird visitors are beginning to appear. Juncos and white throated sparrows have arrived; fox sparrows are due any time; sapsuckers have been reported in good numbers; two large flocks of Canada geese were heard flying over on the nights of Oct. 13 - 14 (Foote and Fales); a white-crowned sparrow and an adult male dickcissel have been seen by the Bissetts; the Hills have a pair of Carolina wrens in their yard (they will probably stay the winter).

Two interesting events of the past Summer were: a scissor-tailed flycatcher seen on Conant Road at the railroad crossing on July 9 by Miss Frances Billings - without doubt the same bird seen in Wayland in June; and a successful breeding season for the two pairs of pileated woodpeckers in town, as one young was seen on Webster Hill (Foster), and one in the Golden Ball Road area (Davidson and Newell). -- C.E.S.

Wayland Man Receives The Record He Wanted

WESTON -- The Wayland resident whose simple wants for Christmas, reported recently, included a record of "I'm Looking Over a Four-Leaf Clover", has this wish granted, thanks to Mrs. George F. Amadon of Whelpley's TV in Weston.

On the other side of this record as an added gift, is another old agricultural opera selection, "I'll Be With You In Apple Blossom Time."

The man also wanted his trousers pockets sewed up, because they were leaking change, but so far nothing has been heard about satisfaction of this wish.

Mrs. Amadon obtained this record out of the kindness of her heart, which was touched by what seemed to her the utter reasonableness of the wants on the list.

Fair Housing Committee Holds Its 2nd Meeting

WAYLAND--The Wayland Committee on Fair Housing Practices held its second meeting for members at the Claypit Hill School last week.

It was announced that the Advisory Board now consists of the following: John W. Arnold, Rabbi Jerome S. Bass, Rev. William P. Castles, Rev. Dan Huntington Fenn, Dr. John G. Freymann, Dunbar Holmes, Rev. Robert K. Jones Jr., Joseph J. Joyce, Rev. Otis F. Kelly, Rev. Philip S. Krug, Mrs. James E. Sullivan and Gregory B. Wolfe.

Harold J. Hoge, vice-chairman, explained that there are similar fair housing committees in nine other Boston communities. Henry G. Pearson, chairman, answered questions about the new state law which protects from discrimination an individual looking for a house in a development of ten or more units.

Plans are being made to discuss the aims of the committee at meetings this winter with various church groups.

Other members of the Executive Board are Mrs. Anthony L. Alesi, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Benjamin E. Gary Jr., secretary-li-

WESTON -- Raccoons are more numerous in Weston than they ever were, says John H. Clark of 9 Golden Ball Road, because they aren't hunted much and because they have a constant garbage-pail food supply.

Mr. Clark, born and brought up in Weston, owns Red, the only coon dog in town. He says he likes to hunt in the biggest patch of woods with a brook through it he can find, because the coons like the water. The dog chases the coon and trees it. Sometimes the animal is treed in somebody's back yard, in which case the night's hunt is over.

In spite of the fact that Weston is a part of Greater Boston, with 2,500,000 people, there seems to be plenty of wild life in the town. Mr. Clark says he has been hunting coons here for 20 years. He used to get as much as $18 for each pelt, but now nothing.

The three coons in the picture were shot one night recently. The hunters obtained permission from a landowner near Highland Street and South Avenue. The dog treed "a" coon, and the hunters were surprised to find three up there. They were shot down with .22 caliber pistols.

Pumpkins Go And Come

Lucy Stokey and gift pumpkins. (Forman Photo)

WAYLAND -- Mr. and Mrs. Roger P. Stokey of Concord Road have recently been through a famine-and feast pumpkin cycle.

One Saturday night a couple of weeks ago, they report, the big pumpkin which rested on the front porch as a decoration vanished. Their youngest child, Lucy, was sad about it.

The grapevine story is that news of this bit of larceny reached into Wayland High School, where it was deplored.

A few nights ago the Stokeys heard a knock on the front door. They went out and found there a big pumpkin with a smaller one on top of it. No person in sight.

An hour later there was another knock. This time there were nine more big pumpkins on the porch, making a total of 11.

Whence came the pumpkins is not stated.

Kerr-Muhlberg

Mr. and Mrs. Muhlberg

COCHITUATE -- Miss Irene Muhlberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kurt F. Muhlberg of 20 Oak Street, was married on Sept. 26 at St. Bernard's Church, West Newton, to Lawrence A. Kerr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence H. Kerr of 417 Albermarle Road, Newtonville.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Jerome Gallagher.

The bride carried carnations and stephanotis, centered with a corsage of white roses. She wore a gown of white peau de soie and chantilly lace, with a basque waist, sabrina neckline of scalloped lace, bouffant skirt and chapel train.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Maid of honor was Elizabeth Muhlberg. Bridesmaids were Mrs. George Gledhill, Miss Nancy Kerr, Mrs. Henry Berube, Miss Marie Caouette and Mrs. Roland Whelchel.

George Kerr was best man and ushers were Joseph Grillo, Dominic Anzivino, William Sheehan, Henry Berube, Donald Champagne and George Muhlberg. Daniel Maz-eika played the wedding march.

After a wedding trip the couple will live at 4 Paul Street, Natick. Mr. Kerr is with W. A. Emery Company in Waltham and Mrs. Kerr, a graduate of Wayland High School, is employed by the Newton-Waltham Bank in Cohituate.

WESTON -- Peter VanKeuren Parsons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Parsons of 29 Webster Road, is enrolled as a member of the freshman class at Berkshire School in Sheffield, Massachusetts. He is a member of the junior varsity soccer squad.

Vokes Cast In Rehearsal

WAYLAND -- Rehearsals are underway for the Vokes Players' forthcoming production, "The Third Best Sport," in which a number of local businessmen will assume the roles of businessmen and a number of local wives will undertake to play the parts of businessmen's wives.

The cast for the rollicking comedy, to be performed at the Vokes Theatre on November 13, 14, 20 and 21, includes Bob Sander and Nancy Stedfast as a newlywed couple, Lee Covington, John Vennett, Peter Salvucci and Geroge Mayberry as experienced businessmen and Betsy Sweidler, Jean Clampitt, and Jane Hodgkinson as the well-adjusted businessmen's wives. Greg Wolfe plays a professor of philosophy.

The action, set against a business convention in Miami, exposes some of the ridiculous as well as

They Joined Every Civic Group Which Asked Them

And Then They Beat The Game By Never Going To A Single Meeting

Already related has been the sad fate of the new resident, pure in heart and eager in intention, who joined every committee he was asked to. He wound up, naturally, a nervous wreck, empty of pocket, bereft of family and home, but president of 11 organizations, chairman of 31 committees, member of seven churches and a probable candidate for public office.

Somewhat later another new resident, forewarned by a gipsy grandmother, also arrived in town. But this character, also pure in heart, attacked the problem of civic activity in a different way.

The fellow and his wife received, naturally, the usual number of visits, and they were invited to join everything, as usual.

The man thought he knew how to handle the situation. The only trouble was, his wife was rather conscientious. So he and she had a pretty warm conversation one night, in which it was made plain to the lady that if she didn't want to be signing her letters Deserted Mother Of Five she'd do as he said, and she finally said she'd do as he said, because there's no percentage in being the deserted mother of five, even if they are five little polecats.

The new resident and wife then set their living room up as a stage, carefully covering the spots in the rose beige rug with pieces of furniture or copies of the Readers Digest, to show they could read, and they had their older children hold the younger ones' heads under water every time the doorbell rang, to preserve quiet. So there was a procession of suburban slickers into the home, each with a big message. Will you collect for this? Will you serve on this group? Will you aid this movement? Will you be on the campaign committee? Will you contribute? Will you be a den mother, will you teach a Bible class, will you teach underprivileged cub scouts how to tie knots in uncooked spaghetti, will you transport lepers to the base hospital, will you pour coffee for the League of Women Voters? Some persons might have hardened their hearts and said, "We'll do some of this, not all."

But these characters were the most agreeable folks in the world. To everybody who came, they said, "Yes, certainly, glad to, nothing could make us happier, never heard of a worthier object, we'll make this a second career."

After six weeks the calls ceased, because by that time our kindly couple had been signed up for every committee, church, organization, club, political party and unit meeting there is. Word had gone out that they were by all odds the nicest people who'd moved into town in a long time. They were as popular as a spectator in Harvard Stadium with an extra pint.

Then what did these persons do? They had their telephone taken out. They removed all the light bulbs in the rooms visible from the street. They locked their front door at nightfall. They bought a savage dog and turned him loose in the dooryard.

They moved into the playroom in the basement, after blacking out the cellar windows. They laid in a stock of books, tranquilizer pills, crossword puzzles, magic tricks and recipes for cooking marshmallows, and settled down to have a wonderful time all by themselves.

They never went out to a single meeting. When elected, they never refused, but never showed up. They did no civic work. They let themselves be seen, at infrequent intervals, walking near town hall or a school or a church, but they never went inside. They just ducked into their cellar every night and stayed there, not answering the doorbell, even when it was some poor caller begging to be rescued from their dog.

The result was that their names were on 100 letterheads, they were considered wonderful citizens, they remained embalmed in their first glow of popularity, but they never did a darned thing. It was a great big fraud, no doubt, but it worked so well that the man said to his wife, after the passage of a certain amount of time, "I'm obviously so clever you'd better never disagree with me again, unless you want to be signing your letters Deserted Mother of Eight." --D.B.W.

A new tranquilizer developed for chickens saves on feed bills because the well-adjusted birds don't scratch as much feed out of the feeder onto the ground.

Tree Talks Featured Garden Club Meeting

WESTON -- The October meeting for The Country Garden Club of Weston was held at the home of Mrs. John R. Perry on Wednesday morning, Oct. 14.

In keeping with part of the club's basic purpose, "to encourage an active interest in horticulture", Mrs. L. Everett Johnson gave a most informative talk on dogwood trees, which she illustrated with excellent samples of the various species, and with sketches and photographs. She had even written to the Department of Agriculture in Tokyo, Japan, from which she received an interesting reply.

Mrs. Edward B. Hubbard then spoke on fruit trees, stressing their beauty and necessity to man, and giving information on their care and cultivation. Both speakers referred to illustrative charts prepared by Mrs. Charles B. Wheeler.

The arrangement theme for the day was "Fall Foliage". Colorful pots of mums decked the walk to Mrs. Perry's home and the coffee table was arranged with mums and blueberry branches.

October is National Science Youth Month.

Planning St. Ann's Fair

WAYLAND -- Plans are being made for the annual fair of St. Ann's Church, to be held Nov. 7, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., at the Wayland High School gymnasium. Front row, left to right: Mrs. Daniel Houston, Mrs. Edward Murphy, Mrs. John Maguire, general chairman; and Mrs. Augustine Masiello. Back row: Mrs. Everett Ballou, Mrs. John Donovan, Mrs. Charles Cochrane, Mrs. Lawrence Kiely and Mrs. Don Pryor. (McCann Photo)

BETTER BUSINESS SKILLS

Residents of Wayland and Weston are invited to participate in a program of "Better Business Skills," sponsored by the Boston YWCA, 140 Clarendon Street, Boston, and tailored to fit the mature woman who wishes to enter or re-enter the business world. Starting Tuesday and Thursdays, Sept. 29, with daytime and evening sections, the course runs for 12 weeks and includes beginning and refresher work in typing, shorthand, filing, business English and vocabulary building.

For further information, stop at the Registration Desk, Boston YWCA, or phone KEnmore 6-7940.

Bobcat Ceremony

WAYLAND -- A Bobcat ceremony will be held by Pack 51, Cub Scouts, at the Claypit Hill School gymnasium at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 27.

The committee: David C. Gabriel, chairman; Garfield S. Chase Jr., cub master; George Trotter, assistant cub master; Mrs. Robert A. Sander, secretary; Robert Freeburn, treasurer, and Charles Eckerline, institutional representative.

Den mothers are Mrs. Charles M. Donoho, Mrs. Frank S. Gardner, Mrs. Dunbar Holmes, Mrs. Robert H. Rogers, Mrs. F. R. Shelgren and Mrs. David E. Walsh.

Loker Music Lessons

WAYLAND -- Mr. Vahe Boyajian will again teach guitar and accordion at the Loker School in Wayland. Classes will probably begin the first week in November. As in past years, instruments will be available. The plan provides for the use of a guitar or accordion at a moderate rental fee.

Parents and students interested in lessons on these instruments should be present at a meeting to be held at the Loker School, Tuesday, Oct. 27, at 2:30 p.m. Mr. Boyajian will be present to answer questions and to register students. The program is sponsored by the Loker P. T. A. Mr. Boyajian is from the Boyd Studios of Music of Waltham and Maynard.

St. Zepherin's Bazaar

COCHITUATE -- Goblins and pumpkins will dominate the Cochituate School Auditorium on Saturday, Oct. 24, from 10 a.m. till 5 p.m., when the Woman's Club of St. Zepherin's Church will sponsor its Annual Bazaar. Bargain hunters will find aprons, baked goods, hand knit articles, new and used toys, novelty gifts, and, of course, white elephants.

Anyone wishing to donate new or used articles may call the chairman of the Bazaar, Agnes Kadlik, Ol 3-5671, or co-chairmen Grace Sicotte, Ol 3-3626, and Dora Gandolfo, Ol 3-2024.

Of interest to the children, too, is this special feature: every child accompanied by an adult will receive a free chance on a new sidewalk bicycle, complete with training wheels.

Horse Club Gymkhana

WAYLAND -- The 6th annual Fall Gymkhana sponsored by the Wayland 4-H Horse Club will be held, beginning at 9:45 on Saturday, Oct. 24, at Cox's Ring on the grounds of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Cox of Glezen Lane. In case of rain, the Gymkhana will be postponed to the next day, Oct. 25, beginning at 12 noon.

There will be 12 classes, with a registration fee of 30 cents for the regular classes and 15 cents for the game classes. There is no entry fee for the 4-H Fitting and Whowmanship Contest. The Show is open to all members of the Weston Wayland and Sudbury 4-H Clubs and, although only members are eligible to participate, parents and friends are cordially invited to attend.

The judging will be done by Mr. Norman R. Steele of Wellesley, leader of the Holliston 4-H Horse Club, and ribbons will be awarded in all classes.

Home-made refreshments will be available on the grounds. Proceeds of the Gymkhana will be used for the benefit of the Wayland 4-H Horse Club.

Plans Planning Program

WAYLAND -- Mrs. Charles R. Thomas of Snakebrook Road is the overall program chairman for the two-day meeting of the State Association of Planning Boards which begins on Friday, October 23, at the Hotel Vendome in Boston.

Mr. Gregory Wolfe of Country Corners Road will moderate a Saturday round table during the session on the subject of what regional planning can be expected to accomplish.

Cochituate Cubs

COCHITUATE -- Cochituate Cub Scouts will register at the pack meeting to be held at the Cochituate School at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 27, at 7 p.m. Any boy aged 8, 9 or 10 may attend, and should be accompanied by one or both parents. A Halloween program is planned, awards will be given and refreshments will be served.

On "Citizens' Seminar"

Mr. James DeNormandie, who represents the towns of Wayland, Sudbury, Lincoln, and Hudson in the Massachusetts Legislature, will join State Commissioner of Education Owen B. Kiernan, former Superintendent of the Wayland and Sudbury Schools, on Dateline Boston's "Citizens' Seminar" to be seen over WHDH-Channel 5 from 6 to 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 29.

On the program, which is being produced in association with the Massachusetts League of Women Voters, the two men will discuss the relationship between their individual jobs as elected and appointed officials and the ways in which they must work together in the legislative field.

The program, third in the Citizens' Seminar series to be telecast on Oct. 27, 28 and 29 will give the citizens a glimpse of the kind of work, the time consumed, and the frustrations and satisfactions involved in being a public official. Mayor Hynes of Boston and Mayor Whitmore of Newton will be featured on the Oct. 27 program and Sheriff Harlow of Plymouth County and District Attorney Lane of Norfolk County will appear on the 28th.

MYF Advance Dates

WESTON -- The Senior High Youth Fellowship of the Weston Methodist Church held its first meeting of the fall on Sept. 13, a preview of the coming year's activities and a general "get back together" meeting. On Sept. 19, the M.Y.F. had a bowling party in Waltham in the afternoon, followed by a "Chicken Bar-B-Que" at the home of Roy MacArthur. Evening meetings on Sept. 20 and 27 were discussions on the "Beliefs of a Methodist", led by the pastor, Rev. Alan H. Moore. Installation of officers and a Communion Service took place on Sept. 27.

On Sunday afternoon, Oct. 4, following a luncheon at the church, members of the M.Y.F. went on a "Christian Witness Mission", calling on many prospective youth members. The drive was very successful, and the meeting the following week was largely attended.

The topic for Oct. 11 was "Boy-Girl Relations". On Oct. 18, the discussion centered around the theme, "Respect for Your Date Mate". On Oct. 25, the group will attend the Boston District Youth Rally at the Methodist Church in Milton.

All young people of Weston who do not have church affiliations are invited to become members of this group.

The Director of Youth Activities is Mr. E. Lee Bothast, a student at Boston University School of Theology. Mr. Bothast also has supervision over a Junior High Fellowship, and a newly formed Young Adult Group. The schedule for these groups: Senior High, 6:30 each Sunday evening in Parish Hall; Junior High, 4:30 Sunday afternoons in the Parish Hall, and Young Adult meeting periodically Sunday evenings at 8 p.m. in the Taylor Room.

Welcome To Newcomers

WESTON -- From the Women's Community League:

"The Women's Community League of Weston wish to extend a hearty welcome to all the new residents of Weston and to the women in particular. We are very happy to have so many new neighbors all over the town.

"In order personally to welcome each of you, a series of Neighborhood Morning Coffees is being held. Some member of the League will extend an invitation to you either in person, via a telephone call or a note. If for some reason someone has not contacted each of you, please feel free to attend either one of the remaining coffees - the time and place of which are listed below:

Thursday, October 29, 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Robert G. Tabors, 37 Radcliffe Road.

Wednesday, Nov. 4, 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. John W. Boyd, 214 Boston Post Road.

"At these coffees, Mrs. Herman Koester Jr., President of the League, will tell you all about the League - its objects and activities. We are certain that there is something of value in the League for every woman. We are looking forward to meeting all of you."

Red Cross Meeting

WESTON -- Mrs. Doris Miles, chairman, reports that the annual meeting of the Weston Chapter of the Red Cross will be held Wednesday, Oct. 28, at 8 p.m. at Lower Town Hall.

The U. S. center of population is now in Ponderosa, Oregon, because of the admission of Alaska and Hawaii.

Thrift Shop Sale

WESTON -- Cambridge School of Weston Parents Association announce their annual Thrift Shop Sale at 62 Bacon Street, Waltham, Monday, Oct. 26, thru Friday, Oct. 30, from 10 - 4. Clothing, toys, household goods, sporting and athletic equipment will be sold at bargain prices. Proceeds from this sale go to the Scholarship Fund and to the Foreign Exchange Student Program which was inaugurated this year.

Weston parents who are active on this committee are Mrs. Charles Myers, Mrs. Arnold Peterson, Mrs. Arthur Von Hippel and Mrs. Milton Fine.

The Thrift Shop at the School is open to the public every Tuesday from 10 - 4 during the school year.

Dr. Kiernan To Address Weston PTA On Oct. 28

Dr. Kiernan (Fasch Studio)

WESTON -- The Massachusetts Commissioner of Education, Dr. Owen Kiernan, will be the guest speaker at the Weston PTA meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 28, at the Country School at 8 p.m. His topic will be "The Parents' Role in Education," a question which crops up in all families.

Dr. Kiernan has been Commissioner since September, 1957, and lives in Milton. He was Superintendent of Schools in the Wayland-Sudbury-Sherborn Superintendency Union from 1944-51, and Superintendent of Schools in Milton from 1951-57. At present he is a member of the Advisory Committee to the U. S. Commissioner of Education through the 1958 National Defense Education Act which has an $887,000,000 program to strengthen math, science, foreign languages and guidance throughout the nation.

A short business meeting will open the meeting, after which Superintendent Anthony Brackett will introduce Dr. Kiernan. This will be the only meeting aimed at all three sections of the PTA this year, except for the annual spring meeting.

Robert Frost To Speak

WELLESLEY -- The world-renowned poet, Robert Frost, will be at the Wellesley Junior High School, Thursday, Nov. 5, at 8 o'clock, reciting and discussing some of his best loved poems. His appearance in this area is being sponsored by the Boston Middlebury Alumnae Association for the benefit of its scholarship fund.

Mr. Frost will be introduced by Dr. Reginald Cook, professor of American Literature at Middlebury College, who has recently written a book about Mr. Frost.

Mrs. Anthony Brackett of Summer Street is president of the Association for 1959-60 and orders for tickets may be placed with her at TW 4-1946.

Square Dance Committee

WESTON -- Above are members of the square dance committee of the Women's Community League. Left to right: Mrs. George A. Vogler, Mrs. Jean Manget, Mrs. Paul F. Gryska, Mrs. William L. Helm Jr., Mrs. Lawrence H. Pexton and Mrs. Gonzalo Leon. Dance will be held in Building C gym on Friday, Oct. 30, with 5th graders at 7 p.m. and 6th graders at 8:15 p.m. $50. Sneakers must be worn. Charlie Baldwin will call. (Forman Photo)

Room Mothers Meet

WESTON -- A series of meetings among mothers of 7th grade students at Weston Junior High is now in progress. Under the general direction of Mrs. George Dick and individual room mothers, the groups are meeting to complete their organization and formulate plans for a parent-teacher handbook.

More than 80 per cent of the eligible mothers were in attendance at the first two meetings held recently at the homes of Mrs. Vincent Campelia and Mrs. Carlton H. Hastings.

Six more meetings have been scheduled. The homes where they will be held and the include: Mrs. Mario Castillo, Oct. 20; Mrs. Richard J. Comey, Oct. 22; Mrs. H. S. Ferries, Oct. 27; Mrs. Robert H. Austin, Oct. 28; Mrs. Edward A. Martell, Oct. 29; and Mrs. Francis E. Howe, Oct. 30.

Mr. Philip H. Wye, principal, and Mrs. Jane Rupp, guidance counselor, are meeting the mothers at each meeting and explaining various school policies to the assembled groups.

Tuberculin Tests

"Six hundred students in grades 1, 4, 8 and 12 in Weston public schools will be offered the tuberculin test as a part of the regular school health service on Oct. 26 and 27," announces Dr. Anthony Brackett, superintendent of schools.

The test, one of the most reliable of medical tests, determines whether or not the germ which may cause tuberculosis has entered the body.

The administering physician will be Dr. David Reid. Mrs. Jane Hosterman and Mrs. Jessie Rand, school nurses, will assist in the testing.

The program is sponsored by the Wellesley Board of Health, the Weston School Department and the Middlesex Tuberculosis & Health Association.

Girl Scout Cookies

WESTON -- Oct. 24 will usher in the annual Girl Scout Cookie Sale which will last for two weeks. The chairman for the sale is Mrs. William Perrin. Mrs. Perrin reports that the girls will begin their door to door sale on Saturday. This cookie sale is the main fund raising event for the Girl Scout activities.

Weston LWV Groups Study Water Resources

WESTON -- The Weston League of Women Voters will explore all facets of Water Resources at a series of discussion meetings to be held Oct. 27, 28 and 30. Important national aspects of water resources will be stressed, but Mrs. Frank M. Lewis' study committee will also present some State and regional progress reports, especially on pollution, which affects all uses - recreational, domestic, and industrial.

Members of the study committee are Mrs. Frank M. Lewis, chairman; Mrs. Fred Amon, Mrs. Leo Christopher, Mrs. Erlund Field, Mrs. Lyman Hayes, Mrs. Harry King, Mrs. Jerome Oleksiw and Mrs. Wilmet Whitney Jr.

Discussion leaders will be Mrs. Thomas S. Barrows, Mrs. James J. Donovan, Mrs. Robert G. Guest, Mrs. Mead Hartwell and Mrs. R. Douglas Pillsbury.

Dates and places of the meetings are as follows:

Tuesday, Oct. 27, at 10 a.m. - at the home of Mrs. Victor C. Harnish, 327 Boston Post Road;

Tuesday, Oct. 27, at 8 p.m., Mrs. Richard H. Silverman, 347 North Avenue;

Wednesday, Oct. 28, at 10 a.m., Mrs. Lawrence F. Davis, 97 Meadowbrook Road;

Wednesday, Oct. 28, at 8 p.m., Mrs. Gustav Fleischmann, 7 Irving Road;

Friday, Oct. 30, 10 a.m., Miss Muriel Haynes, 46 Hilltop Road.

A Mexican Meal

WESTON -- A Mexican meal will be prepared by Mrs. Mario Castillo and Mrs. Rafael Castillo of 40 Kendal Common Road on Thursday, Oct. 29, at the fourth session of the International Cooking School, sponsored by the Foreign Student Hospitality Committee of the Women's Community League. Among the foods to be demonstrated will be broth with vermicelli, mole of turkey, frijoles and tortillas.

Sessions are always held in the Lower Town Hall beginning at 9:45. Single session tickets will be available at the door for $1.75.

WESTON -- Mrs. Robert F. McLeod, 22 Pelham Road, will pour at the Newcomers' Tea on Sunday, Oct. 25, from 3 - 5, given by the Boston Alumnae Chapter of Delta Delta Delta at the home of Mrs. Philip Rulon, 10 Craigie Street, Cambridge.

Weston-Rombas Dinner

Among those present: Front, Selectman Douglas Mercer and Miss Francoise Friedrich, from Rombas. Standing: Dr. Charles A. Janeway, Miss Susan Toner, last year's Weston student at Rombas; Dr. Anthony Brackett, superintendent of schools, and Baron de Pampellone, French consul in Boston.

WESTON -- Boy Scouts, Explorer Scouts, High School students, town officials, and other interested citizens filled the High School Gym to capacity on Tuesday evening, October 20, for the United Nations Week celebration arranged jointly by the U. N. Committee and the Weston-Rombas Affiliation Committee (both official town committees appointed by the Moderator.) Students from foreign countries were special guests of organizations and individuals for the casserole supper which preceded the evening's program. Among the organizations reserving tables were: The American Legion and Auxiliary, The Boy Scouts, The Board of Public Health, The Cambridge School, The Congregational Church, the Explorer Scouts, The Junior Red Cross, The First Baptist Church of Weston, the First Parish Unitarian Church, The League of Women Voters, The Men's Club, the P.T.A., The Red Cross, Regis College, The Rotary Club, St. Julia's Catholic Church, St. Peter's Episcopal Church, the Women's Community League, the Weston Forest and Trail Association, The Weston Booster's Club, the Weston High School Rombas Affiliation, the Weston Methodist Church, the Weston-Rombas Affiliation Committee, and the Weston School Committee.

Members of the United Nations Committee who had special assignments in connection with the arrangements for the celebration were: Mrs. John Chipman Gray, Chairman, Mr. George E. Buckminster, Treasurer, Mrs. L. Whitman Smith, Secretary, Dr. Carl C. Bartels, Mrs. George E. Bott-

Town House Officers

Mr. James T. Burgess of Pequot Road was elected president of the Junior Town House, Inc., at the annual membership meeting held at the High School on Oct. 13. Other officers and trustees elected at the meeting were: Mr. Robert Travis, treasurer, and trustees Mr. John R. Breckenridge, Mrs. George F. Johnson, Mr. George R. Johnson and Mr. Jackson Turner. Immediately following the meeting, the Board elected Mr. Frederick Walther and Mr. John Teger to continue as trustees.

Mr. Douglas Surgenor, retiring president, presided at the meeting which featured a report of the Future Projects Committee headed by Mr. John E. Teger. Present interest of the Committee is centered in the new Youth Center which opened last Spring with Mr. Nate Raymond as Director. Following a business meeting and reports by the Directors of various Town House activities, the program was turned over to Mr. Raymond and the student officers of the Youth Center who discussed the Center's operation, problems, and plans for the future.

Mr. Raymond reported that 650 students from the Junior and Senior High School had attended at least one of the Center's Friday and Saturday night functions. Average attendance was 125 to 150 students from the Senior High School and about 200 from the Junior High School.

Jerry Joyce, Elizabeth Woodsum, Charlie Roehrig, Sally Barrett and Kathy Carr, members of the 1959 and 1960 Youth Center Committees, gave their impressions of the sort of activities the students would like to have offered at the Center. The primary desire, they agreed, seems to be for an evening of relaxation, preferably dancing with some kind of entertainment, and for more games and facilities for game-playing. Mr. Parmelee C. Hill, Chairman of the Trustees, expressed the appreciation of the membership to Mr. Dana Frye for his outstanding service as Treasurer.

Continuing as members of the Town House Board are: Mr. Hill, Chairman, Mrs. Richard Dunham, Secretary, Mrs. O. K. Detterman, Mr. John B. Gregory, Mrs. Christos Sturgis, Mrs. Howard Weeks, Mr. Donald B. Willard, Mr. Harry Barrett, Jr., Mr. Dana Frye, Mr. William M. Griffin, Mrs. Richard w. luce, Mrs. Daniel H. Rossborough and Mr. Douglas M. Surgenor.

WAYLAND -- Miss Claire Benson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Benson of Sears Road, is enrolled as a junior at Cushing Academy in Ashburnham.

Wayland 22, Maynard 0

THIS WEEK, LYNNFIELD HERE

WAYLAND -- The longest winning and undefeated streak in the state was extended last Saturday when Wayland topped Maynard by a 22 - 0 margin.

The win was Wayland's fifth-straight and its 28th without a loss, both streaks being tops in Massachusetts.

Quarterback Jerry Whelchel was the offensive standout of the game as he scored 10 points and passed for the other two touchdowns.

Maynard held Wayland the first time they had the ball, but the local team went to town when they got the ball for the second time. Ed Johnsen, playing his best game of the season, went around end for 6, and Dick Morris reversed for 9 more and a first down. Whelchel then faded back and tossed a 17-yard pass to Morris who raced the remaining 27 yards to score. Whelchel added the points after on a beautiful fake and Wayland led 8 - 0.

Early in the second period, Whelchel went around right end and was sprung free by a beautiful block by Johnsen to go 60 yards to score. He rushed the points after again to make it 16 - 0 at the half.

The third period was scoreless, but in the final quarter Whelchel began pitching to Jim Sullivan who started at end in place of the injured Bruce Waldman. The first pass netted 20 yards, the second 12, and the third 9, for the final score of the day.

Guard Don Moorhead played a good game at defense, as did Dave Furst and Joe DePaolo.

The team will face Lynnfield this Saturday at Wayland.

Weston 18, Foxboro 7

(THIS WEEK, IPSWICH HERE)

WESTON -- The strongest team in recent history at Weston High School continued its winning way last Saturday with an 18 - 7 win over Foxboro. The win was Weston's fourth in four starts.

Weston had a touchdown nullified in the first quarter when Mike McDonald went 60 yards to score on the first play from scrimmage. A clipping infraction called the play back, however, and Weston was unable to move the ball.

Foxboro took over and Smith scored and kicked the extra point for a 7 - 0 lead. Weston came to life in the second half, going ahead to stay by scoring 12 points.

Jay Adams capped a 40-yard drive by plunging over from the 2-yard line for the first TD, and Jack Mahoney scored the second on a 16 - yard pass play from Forbes McMullin. Both attempts to score the extra points were stopped.

The third period was scoreless, but in the fourth quarter, Weston scored again to make the score 18 - 7. A sustained drive from the 48 brought the ball to the Foxboro 3, and McMullin went over on a quarterback sneak.

Saturday, and the way things are going it may be a battle of undefeated and untied teams when the Weston-Wayland game rolls around.

Weston players included: le, Duffy, Butcher; lt, Latucky, Leone; lg, Tyler, R. Rizzo; c, Colter, Stockmayer; rg, D'Antonio; rt, Perry, DiBenedetto; re, Mahoney, Leonhardt, Aker, Ruland; qb, McMullin, White; lhb, McDonald; rhb, Evans, W. Rizzo; fb, J. Adams, D. Adams, Foster.

WESTON JAYVEES SPLIT

WESTON -- One win, one loss, is the midseason record of the Weston Junior High School football team.

Coach Robert Starmer's eleven bowed to a Concord Junior High School squad 22-6 in the season opener, Oct. 8, at Concord. Halfback Jeff Kelly was responsible for Weston's lone touchdown.

Bounding back from this defeat, the young gridders bested Meadowbrook Junior High School 10-0 on Oct. 14 at Newton. Crossing the goal line with the Weston tally was Dan Wilson. An after-touchdown run and a safety completed the scoring for the local school.

More Club Activities At Weston Jr. High

WESTON -- An expanded club curriculum is being offered to Weston Junior High students this year. At separate 8th and 7th grade assemblies held on Oct. 7 and Sept. 30 respectively the club program was presented to the students. New clubs being organized include art, choral speaking, debating, dramatics, publications and world events. As in the previous year, there will also be geography, science and glee clubs. Other clubs will be organized as student interest indicates a need.

Although separate from the club organization, the junior high orchestra has also attracted a large membership. Some of the students have been studying their instruments less than a year. Under the direction of Mr. Robert Corley the young musical aggregation made its first public appearance of the year at a recent 7th grade assembly.

Recent tests prove the younger you are the smaller the moon appears as it rises.

Cuban-Born Jorge Bolet To Play In Weston Series

WESTON -- Coincident with the opening of the Boston Symphony season comes the announcement that the first soloist with the orchestra this year will be the illustrious Cuban-born pianist Jorge Bolet. Mr. Bolet, who is also booked for a recital in Weston's Country Evening Concert Series later in the year, will be heard at the second pair of concerts with the Boston orchestra.

Mr. Bolet's Weston recital appearance will be on Friday, Feb. 12, and will constitute the second event of the ninth annual Country Evening Concert Series. Other dates in this series include Jan. 15, when the brilliant young French violinist Christian Ferras will be presented in his first local recital. Hailed by Time magazine for the "blazing romantic vision and controlled technique" of his playing, Mr. Ferras will be remembered for his orchestral debut with the Boston Symphony last March, when his interpretation of the Brahms concerto was acclaimed as one of the outstanding artistic successes of last season. Final event of the Weston concerts will be a recital on March 25 by Hilde Gueden, leading soprano of the Metropolitan and Vienna Opera Companies.

Although tickets for this series are not yet on sale, advance reservations are being accepted. Early in December the official announcements containing an application form will be mailed to the public. New residents of the area, and all others interested, are urged to send their names and addresses to Country Evening Concerts, Ripley Lane, Weston.

Creativity Testing

WESTON -- Dr. Michael Wallach, a member of the psychology staff at M.I.T., is conducting a special study among some 150 first and second grade students at the Country School in Weston, attempting to determine what contributes to a child's creativity.

Dr. Wallach's research will continue through most of this school year. A grant from the United States Mental Health Department is making the research project possible.

Ward Carter Tells Weston LWV Members About Rising Costs of Municipal Gov't.

WESTON -- School costs and costs of new activities in Weston will grow faster than the new values of real property to support the cost. J. Ward Carter, Executive Secretary of the Weston Board of Selectmen, told an audience of 100 Weston women on Sept. 16 at the opening meeting of the Weston League of Women Voters.

Mr. Carter concluded his speech on "Some Elements of Municipal Finance in the Town of Weston" by saying that it may be necessary to seek new sources of revenue, either at the local level through the development of new property values, or at the state level through new tax sources.

At the conclusion of his speech, Mr. Carter, who is also Town Accountant and Secretary to the Finance Committee, answered questions from the audience. Mrs. Lawrence F. Davis, chairman of the Weston League's study committee on Town Finance, thanked Mr. Carter, and said that her committee would keep in mind the problems to be faced in the future.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Harold Alcaide, 4 Newton Street. Mrs. Gordon L. Brownell, hospitality chairman, was in charge of arrangements, assisted by Mrs. W. Harrison Faulkner Jr., Mrs. John N. Garabedian, Mrs. Theodore Jones, Mrs. John D. Mathews and Mrs. Jean-Noel Tariot.

Flowers for the tea table were arranged by Mrs. Robert A. Townsend, and the pourers were Mrs. Francis G. Goodale, Mrs. Harry A. Low, Mrs. Stephen Moulton and Mrs. Hector J. Osmond.

Green Thumb Members

WAYLAND -- Four new members, Mrs. D. Bruce Montgomery, Mrs. Robert Pike, Mrs. James Flaherty, and Mrs. John Walsh, joined the Green Thumb Garden Club at its last meeting held at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Scott of Concord Road on Oct. 12. Mrs. Sture Blom of Sylvan Way was a non-member guest.

Co-hostess with Mrs. Scott was Mrs. Mark Marbet of Concord Road. The speaker, Mr. Alexander I. Heimlich, a specialist in "the plant world in miniature," gave the members information about foundation plantings which will not grow up to destroy the view.

Mrs. Donald MacIntyre of Ox-bow Road spoke on raising gourds and brought some of her own gourds to be sold at the meeting for the benefit of the Club treasury.

Skunk Warning

With colder weather rapidly approaching, many suburban dwellers will be subject to a visit from our rather beautiful, but obnoxious friend, the skunk. With the approach of cold weather the striped woods pussy will be seeking a den in which to spend the winter. Generally, rather than dig a new den, he chooses a convenient hole and enlarges it. A cavity in a rock pile may serve, or (and here is where the rub comes) he may enter homes and related buildings.

To prevent skunks from entering, seal all openings in the foundations of garages, porches and out-buildings. If skunks are already beneath the building, seal all openings except one. Sprinkle a flour patch at the entrance and examine the area after dark. If trail signs indicate that the animal has left the den site, the remaining opening should be closed off immediately.

Skunks can often be driven away temporarily with an application of the old rule: "fight fire with fire." A repellent, usually naphthalene or paradichlorobenzene crystals (moth flakes) will often drive skunks away temporarily.

ALSCO DOES IT AGAIN!

The Wellesley Hills Market, in Wellesley Hills Square, has just had the finishing touches put on their building by AlSCO New England, Inc. which has just done a tremendous job of putting on and covering the side of the building with aluminum clapboard siding, with special "Bak-A-Foam" insulation which keeps heat in, and cold out. Facial boards, sills and headers which will keep the owner free from paint worry were also installed along with five all control weather awnings, which let light come in and keep rain out. Hundred and seventy foot commercial awning which will add immensely to the appearance of the store was installed to keep the ice and snow in the winter, and the hot summer sun off the building and the sidewalk. Any home owner or retail store owner interested in improving the appearance and maintenance ease of a building can contact Mr. Bruce Mansfield, Wellesley Branch manager of AlSCO New England, Inc. at CEder 5-7440, or come down to the office at 544 Washington street, Wellesley, where he will be able to talk over your particular problem. Any of these aluminum products can be had in any color of the rainbow, and will be installed by AlSCO men, trained to do the job.

"Adventures In Music" Program To Begin Soon
WAYLAND -- Live orchestral concerts accompanied by commentary have been made possible for elementary school age children of the Wayland-Weston-Lexington-Lincoln-Sudbury area by "Adventures in Music." Mrs. George Freedman, Wayland area chairman for this non-profit association, announces that organizational activity has been completed and coordinated fund raising drives on local levels will commence this week.

Kalman Novak.
Mrs. Dean Hocking, Wayland Fund Raising chairman, states that A.L.M. brochures are being mailed to parents of elementary school children explaining the program and inviting their financial support. Assisting Mrs. Hocking are Mrs. Howard Smith, Mrs. Joseph Graham, Mrs. David Stewart, Mrs. Raymond Castiglione, all of Wayland, and Mrs. John J. McCann, of Cochrane. Contributions should be mailed directly to Mrs. Dean Hocking, Shaw Drive, Wayland. Mrs. John B. Gregory is in charge of the personal solicitation phase of the campaign. Wayland Publicity Chairman is Mrs. T. S. Pitcher.
Two concerts, performed by professional musicians with accompanying commentary, have already been scheduled, the first for grades 4, 5 and 6, on Jan. 23; the second, for grades 1, 2 and 3, on Feb. 6. Plans for possible further concerts will be made at a later date. All concerts will be held at Cary Hall in Lexington. Ticket sales will be announced later by Mrs. Albert D. Hughes, Wayland ticket chairman. The ticket cost will be modest to encourage as many children as possible to participate in this opportunity to broaden their understanding and enjoyment of music. It is for this reason that additional funds are being requested to help underwrite concert expenses.
The association is fortunate in securing the talents of Mr. Kalman Novak, Acting Director of the Longy School of Music, Cambridge, who will act as conductor and commentator. Mr. Novak is well-known in this region for his work as director of the Wayland-Weston-Sudbury Community Chorus. He was also program commentator last year for the Children's Concerts presented by the Cambridge Civic Symphony in that city. He will meet with a group composed of music supervisors of all participating towns, including Mr. Edmund H. Wright, Wayland schools director of music, to discuss programming.

Mr. Edward J. Anderson, Wayland Superintendent of Schools, has expressed interest in this project and has agreed to make possible recorded music and discussion sessions in the schools prior to each concert as a means of acquainting students with the selections to be heard live afterward. Wayland elementary school principals and P.T.A. leaders will also cooperate in the program.
Directing officers of "Adventures in Music" are Frederic Walkey, Director of the deCordova Museum, President; Mrs. John Kang, Lexington, Executive Secretary; Samuel T. Parker, Lexington, Treasurer and Mrs. M. Lichterman, Lexington, Publicity Chairman.
Local residents comprising the Wayland Advisory Board are Mrs. Walter B. Parker Jr., Mr. Allan Finlay, Mr. Edward J. Anderson, Miss Marjorie Ferris, Mrs. Henry Pearson, Mr. William L. Bertelson, Mr. John Arnold, Miss Leila Sears, Mrs. John B. Gregory and Mrs. Dan Huntington Fenn.
Others whose interest in the early stages of the organization of A.L.M. helped make possible Wayland's participation are: Mrs. Neta Barker, Mr. Gregory Wolfe, Mr. Edmund H. Wright, Mrs. David C. Stewart, Mrs. James J. Graham, Mrs. James M. Mavor Jr., Mrs. Richard L. Best, Mrs. Christos Stergis, Mrs. Herbert P. Galliher, Mrs. Robert N. Randall, Mrs. Haldon L. Smith, Mrs. Richard W. Luce Jr., Mr. William A. Loker and Mr. Albert D. Hughes.
The Weston Group
WESTON -- The Weston Committee for Adventures in Music under the leadership of Mrs. Putnam Flint, and the Advisory Board met at the Country School on Oct. 19 to hear plans for this children's concert series.
As this is a joint venture with other towns, Weston's share is not burdensome and the committee expects to raise the quota of $750 easily. Solicitation will be made on a personal basis to avoid the high cost of a town mailing. Checks may be made out to "Adventures in Music" and sent to Weston's Finance chairman, Putnam Flint, 34 North Avenue.
The Advisory Committee from Weston consists of Mr. David Brooke, Mr. Ralph Child, Mrs. Allen Cole, Mr. Putnam Flint, Mr. Laurence Locke, Mrs. John B. Paine Jr., Mrs. Philip Trumbull, Mrs. Robert Weaver and Mr. Robert Corley, ex-officio. Mrs.

Robert Woodbury is publicity chairman.
Also present were Mrs. William Brown, Mrs. Charles Cutter, Mrs. Alfred Dengler, Mrs. Laurence Field, Mrs. Vollmer Hetherington, Mrs. Glenn Lempereur, Mrs. John Lennox, Mrs. Stephen Mallett Jr., Mrs. Sterling McKittrick, Mrs. Thomas Osborne, Mrs. Fisher.

Pearson and Mrs. Norman Saunders.
Mrs. Albert Cross, Weston, and Mrs. Rexford Moss, Wayland, Christmas seal committee chairmen, announce that Frank Malzone, Boston Red Sox third baseman, will be chairman of this year's campaign.

HELLO NEIGHBOR:

It is a most gratifying experience to be selling AlSCO N. E., Inc. Aluminum Building products. This past week the Wellesley Branch Office outsold all other branch offices in New England. This means only one thing, that the word is getting around this area that AlSCO New England, Inc. is a reputable company and stands behind all of its products.
Just recently it was our privilege to do business with the Webb House Nursing Home in Wellesley. Mr. and Mrs. Dennis J. Anderson, the owners of this wonderful nursing home are certainly looking out for their guests by putting on AlSCO combination windows and doors. After looking around and seeing just what our competition had to offer, they had to admit that AlSCO combination windows and doors seemed to answer all of their needs. With AlSCO windows on your home, you can almost see those fuel bills going down. The storm windows cut down extra noises, drafts, dirt, and all the unnecessary things which people have to put up with when they don't have our combination windows.
In the long run, combination windows and doors are actually an investment rather than an expense. In time they pay for themselves, and one finds oneself saving money rather than spending it.
Such buildings as the Jimmy Fund Hospital, the John Hancock Insurance Company and M.I.T. which use our windows, cannot be wrong. Come in and see us right here in Wellesley Square. See what good aluminum building products look like!

Yours for better living,

WAYLAND -- The Wayland United Fund cabinet held an organization meeting recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Wilson, Old Connecticut Path. Present were John B. Wilson, area chairman; Robert S. Johnson, 10 Cole Road, administrative chairman; D. L. Bartholomew, Sherman Bridge Road, residential chairman; Jackson Turner, Nob Hill Road, general business chairman; Joseph J. Joyce, Sherman Bridge Road, worker education chairman; and Arnet L. Powell, 65 Woodridge Road, public relations and clubs and organizations chairman.

Mr. D. L. Bartholomew announced that all district directors and captains have been enrolled. Jackson Turner reported that all business solicitors have been recruited. The residential drive in Wayland begins on Sunday, Nov. 8. Any persons willing to act as solicitors for this drive may contact Mr. D. S. Bartholomew at ELmwood 8-2087.

Shore Acres Club Elects New Officers

WAYLAND -- The Shore Acres Club elected the following new officers for the coming year at its Sept. 29 meeting held at the home of Mrs. Edward Meyers of 25 Edgewood Road: president, Mrs. Leonard Hickman; vice-president, Mrs. Lester Leland; secretary, Mrs. Kenneth Kelsoe; treasurer, Mrs. Thomas Hibbard, program chairman, Mrs. Paul Kohler, and publicity chairman, Mrs. Stephen Ahern.

The Club's first project of the season is the making of home-crafted articles to be presented to elderly people at nearby institutions. Plans are also in progress for a Halloween party, a food sale, and a rummage sale.

The next meeting, featuring a white-elephant sale, was to be on Oct. 13 at the home of Mrs. John Pelletier of 34 Edgewood Road.

Ceresole - Dunnell

WAYLAND -- Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ceresole of Concord are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Linda Patricia Ceresole, to Mr. William W. Dunnell III, son of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Dunnell Jr., of Old Connecticut Path.

Miss Ceresole attended Concord Academy, Mount Vernon College, and the Eliot Pearson School of Tufts University. She has been a member of the staff at the Brooks School in Concord for the past three years. She was presented at the 1951-52 Debutante Cotillion and is a member of the Vincent Club and the Junior League of Boston.

Mr. Dunnell attended the Noble and Greenough School and was graduated from Harvard University where he was a member of the D. U. Club, the Varsity Club, and the Hasty Pudding-Institute of 1770. He served for two years with the U. S. Navy and is now a member of the staff of the Fenn School in Concord.

A December wedding is planned.

Weston High Fullback Is Also A Parachute Jumper

Jay Adams, photographed last Summer in jumping rig.
(Photo by Anatolii Echardt)

WESTON -- Jay Adams, son of Mrs. E. Lamson Adams of 53 Ash Street, became a convert to the rapidly-growing sport of parachute-jumping when he took a course last Summer at the Sports Parachutes, Inc., field at Orange, Mass.

Jay, who says there is nothing that approaches parachute-jumping for sheer thrills, also claims it is one of the safest ways of having "a real ball." It took him only four hours, from 2 to 6 p.m. one August afternoon, to manage the art of jumping and guiding himself and his chute into the "target area."

The course begins, he reports, with a classroom session in which the ordinary landlubber is told what he is expected to do and is shown films on the right and wrong ways of making a jump. Following his instruction, the student is then taken out to a large sandpit called "The Sahara" and taught how to "roll" when coming in on a landing.

There are four different rolls, according to Jay, "peel right," "peel left," and backward and forward. A large, stationary barrel is used for a jumping-off place on the theory that, when you hit the ground from the barrel, the impact is the same as when you hit the ground on a chute.

After the barrel-jumping, Jay was next taken into an airplane

Ipswich 8, Weston 0

WESTON -- Weston lost a postponed football game to Ipswich, 8 - 0, on Monday, Oct. 26, after the heavy rain washed out the Saturday afternoon game. It was a hard battle, but Ipswich, undefeated and untied so far, finally pulled it out.

This week: Westwood at Weston.

Wayland Washed Out

WAYLAND -- Wayland's football game with Lynnfield, scheduled for Oct. 24, was washed out by the week-end rain storm, and will be played on Saturday, Nov. 21, it has been announced. On the Wayland schedule, Nov. 21 had been an open date.

This Saturday: Ashland at Wayland.

Special Town Meeting In Wayland On Nov. 18

WAYLAND -- A special town meeting made necessary by a routine necessity of municipal finance has been called for Wednesday, Nov. 18 at 7:45 p.m. at the High School, and chairman Robert M. Morgan of the finance committee says the most important feature of it is that 100 citizens should turn out, so there'll be a quorum.

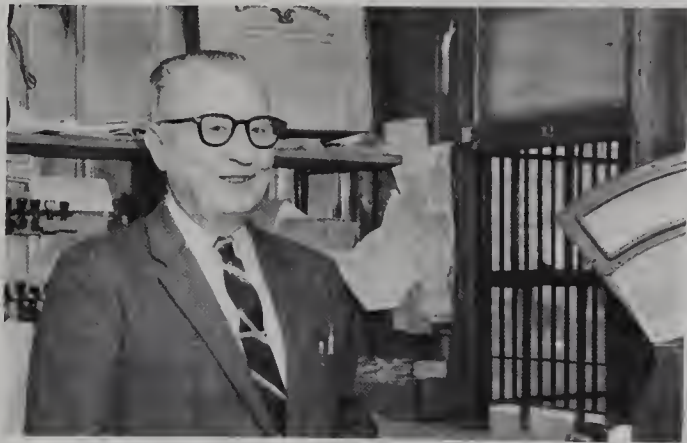

The biggest item on the agenda is an appropriation of $20,562.50 for interest on school bonds, coming due in December. It was known that the interest would be payable in six months, but it was not known at the time of the annual town meeting just when the bonds would be issues. They were issued in June, so the money has to be raised.

There are only three articles in the warrant. The first covers the bond interest and funds for various town departments and activities. Article 2 covers appropriations for the school department and Article 3 is for an easement for a water line on Waltham Road.

Because the town is in pretty good financial shape, says Mr. Morgan, all the proposed appropriations can be met by transfers

Postmaster Hynes Has Run Wayland Office Since 1923

Postmaster Thomas E. Hynes
(McCann Photo)

WAYLAND -- Thomas E. Hynes of Training Field Road, who will move his office to the new Village Shopper some time in November, has been Wayland postmaster since Dec. 18, 1923, and he holds commissions signed by all the Presidents from Warren G. Harding through Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Since FDR's time, the commissions have been signed by the Postmasters General.

Mr. Hynes' father, Michael W. Hynes, became Wayland's Postmaster in 1912. In 1917 Thomas Hynes became a clerk in the Wayland postoffice, and on April 21, 1921, he became assistant Postmaster. When his father died, he became Acting Postmaster and then Postmaster.

Wayland has had a postoffice since 1835. In recent years its activity has increased enormously. Ten years ago, it sold nearly $20,000 worth of postage stamps. Last year, more than $50,000. Twenty years ago the office had one employee, the Postmaster. Now it has 10.

In 1923 the local office was a third class postoffice. Now it is a first class postoffice. Then it had 200 box holders. Now it has three delivery routes, 100 RFD boxes and 300 lock boxes. In the past five years, mail service has exactly doubled.

WAYLAND -- The parking lot at the new Village Shopper was filled half an hour before the opening hour on Oct. 28, opening day, and all the merchants in the establishment were delighted at the first-day rush of business.

Some quick notes:

The bank branch had 100 customers by 11 a.m. The Co-op was doing a rushing business. The coffee shop and the drugstore were full to the doors. The cleaner had 40 laundry customers before the ribbon was cut.

Special police had to be called for the afternoon, to help with the parking problem.

The opening followed an open house and buffet supper, held the evening before, for 400 guests from Wayland, Natick and Sudbury.

School Bus Driver Hurt In Rice Road Accident

WAYLAND -- There was excitement aboard one of the Wayland school buses around noon on Oct. 22 on Rice Road when a coupling on the heating system let go and threw hot water on the leg and foot of Curtis M. Howland of 44 Hawthorne Road, the driver.

Mr. Howland jumped when the hot water hit him, then grabbed the wheel and the emergency brake and stopped the bus. None of the 46 children aboard was hurt. Mr. Howland finished the run, then went to Leonard Morse Hospital for treatment.

The children were on their way home early that day because individual parent-teacher conferences were scheduled for the afternoon.

UNICEF Collection

WESTON -- The Weston Council of Churches again will sponsor the UNICEF Halloween drive through the children of the elementary schools. The children of the whole nation collected $1,250,000 last year. The children of Weston collected $411.93.

Each elementary school student Council will be responsible for the distribution of the milk cartons to those children who wish to participate on Halloween night.

Letters to the EDITOR

About Rombas

To the Editor:

Those who worked on publicity for the Weston-U.N.-Rombas Celebration would like to clear up what may be a misunderstanding on the part of readers of last Sunday's Globe.

The Oct. 20 U.N.-Rombas casserole supper at the high school gymnasium, contrary to the Globe story, was not in any way a fund-raising affair and neither the Rombas Affiliation Committee nor the U. N. Celebration Committee benefited financially.

The Rombas Committee welcomes contributions at any time and the U. N.-Celebration Committee relies on gifts by town organizations to support its chief expense which is the sending of eight high school students and a teacher to the United Nations.

Sincerely yours,
Sarah L. Hartwell
Weston

COCHITUATE -- Arthur W. Holmes Jr. of 22 Pleasant Street has been appointed a captain in the ROTC at Northeastern University. He is a senior.

At Fort Dix

WESTON -- Philip M. Upham of Newton Street, above, is now at Fort Dix, New Jersey, for eight weeks of Army basic training. He left on Oct. 18 for six months of active duty. After graduating from Weston High, he was employed as a fire fighter for the Weston Fire Department. He is the son of Fire Chief and Mrs. Maurice L. Upham of 198 Newton Street.

Weston - Wayland Hosts to Foreign Visitors On U.S. Educational Tours

A number of Wayland and Weston citizens have been contributing to the education of two different groups of foreign visitors who were in the Boston area during this last week in the course of their tours to the U. S. to learn American methods and techniques.

Four Wayland families, Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Foster, Dr. and Mrs. John G. Freymann, Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Pearson, and Mr. and Mrs. Gregory B. Wolfe were hosts on Oct. 24 to six Russian leaders who are in this country to study and observe the economy of the United States.

The head of the Russian delegation, a leading Soviet economist, is the Director of the Institute of World Economics and International Relations of the USSR Academy of Sciences. Another member of the party is a former Deputy Minister of Finance for the Soviet Union. Others of the six-man delegation, all of whom understand and read English and all but one of whom speak it, are associated with economic policy research in the USSR. A highlight of their local visit came on Oct. 23 when they visited the Polaroid Corporation and were permitted to eat with the "workers."

A second group of foreign visitors has involved the services of Weston and Wayland women. They were four representatives from the Colombia, South America, chapters of that country's counterpart of the League of Women Voters who arrived for a four-day stay on October 24 as guests of the Massachusetts League.

Mrs. Earl Eames of 153 North Avenue, Weston, was a member of the planning committee which made arrangements for the women to tour historical and governmental sites as well as to learn some of the fine points of League organization.

Mrs. Gregory Wolfe and Mrs. Robert Cummings, Spanish-speaking members of the Wayland League of Women Voters, served as interpreters for the visitors, only one of whom had any knowledge of the English language.

Mrs. George Bottjer of Weston and Mrs. Rudolph Bruch of Wayland, members of the League's State Board, participated in an all-day workshop at which the Colombian women were given an intensive course in the techniques of operating a non-partisan women's organization in a country in which women had received the vote as recently as 1957.

In Outer Space, Probably, There Are No Dead Leaves

But Around Here They Constitute A Problem
Beyond Man's Power
To Solve

The other day, after a frost and a day of wind, all the leaves fell off all the ash trees in New England at once, and this brought to mind again the sad fact that while man is busy trying to figure out how to get off this planet, he hasn't yet figured out to get along on this one without annoyances, such as leaf raking.

Now the poet and professional nature lovers work up quite a sweat about leaves. They sing of the buds in the Spring, tra la la, and about the birds in the branches and the beautiful green in Summer and the glorious colors of the Autumn. But never a rhyme, in any season, but the dead, dingy leaves which fall on the lawn.

The obvious thing to do about fallen leaves is to let them alone. They don't bite, and in winter they are invisible more than half the 24 hours of the day, on account of darkness. But letting them alone is bad for the grass. The leaves get wet and freeze down and kill the lawn. And the prejudice in favor of grass is as violent as that in favor of the first robin.

So the householder feels he must move these leaves.

What is needed, obviously, is a great big fan, to blow them off one's own premises and over to those of a neighbor. The wind should do this job but it doesn't. It blows a succession of dead leaves along, so that one never knows whose dead leaves he is harboring.

The time honored method of disposing of leaves is raking.

And the ordinary rake has never received the execration it deserves, as an instrument of toil. It's a simple tool and anybody can operate it. But use of it is some what more fatiguing than wielding a sledge hammer. And raking is by all means one of the dullest forms of activity.

Moreover, the leaves have a way of collecting in soggy masses on the tines of the rake. For every stroke or two of the rake, one has to clean the thing off with his hands. It's frustrating, like trying to run in shoes without strings.

There is also the question of whether to start at one end of the lawn and rake straight across, or to rake a section at a time and put leaves in a number of piles.

If the leaves are piled up, there is the next question, what to do with them.

The agriculturalists say that leaves should be put on a compost pile. They don't always say what to put on top of the compost pile to keep the leaves from blowing away.

Some like to burn leaves, preferably on a windy day, without bothering to ask the fire department for permission.

But usually the leaves won't even burn decently. The dry ones on the outside will flame, but those in the middle will just smoulder, giving off that smoke which it is fashionable to believe is delightfully odorous. Those who have not read books and are therefore unspoiled by accumulated human notions, believe an odor of equal quality could be obtained by burning the socks of all the runners after the Marathon.

If the fire is built on the lawn, it will leave a black spot which will not be covered by new vegetation until next August.

Fallen leaves have absolutely no commercial value. No savages in far off lands are so simple as to take them in trade. The only proper place for them is in the deep woods, and there they'd be to this day if it weren't for the human passion for planting trees around houses.

About the best thing which can be said for fallen leaves is that they fall at an appropriate time. Here is one of the simplest yet most suitable arrangements of Nature. In the Summer, when we need shade, the trees provide it. In Winter, when we want sunshine, the leaves have fallen so that the light can get through.

Nowhere is there a fairer proposition.--D.B.W.

WESTON -- A student from Weston is enrolled at Beloit college, Winconsin, this year. He is Terry McGuire, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace McGuire of 154 Newton Street. A junior at Beloit, he was graduated from Weston High School.

United Nations Assembly At The Country School

WESTON -- A United Nations Assembly was held on Friday, Oct. 23, at the Country School. In recognition of United Nations Week, the three intermediate grades assembled to hear an address from Miss Francoise Friedrich, Rombas exchange student. Mr. Henry DeRusha, principal of the new elementary school, introduced Miss Friedrich and also reported events of the Rombas supper. Student speakers explained the functions of major U. N. councils, and the assembled students joined in singing the United Nations Hymn.

Winners of the recent U.N. Poster Contest were also presented. They include: Pamela Howe, 1st place; Lynn Stone, 2nd place, and Laurie Monroe, 3rd place. The three pupils, all sixth graders, were awarded books on foreign countries.

WAYLAND

Emanuel Alumnae Group

A planning meeting to organize an Emmanuel College Alumnae Group in the towns of Weston, Wayland and Sudbury will be held at the home of Mrs. George J. Pink, 23 Laurel Road, Weston, on Wednesday, Nov. 4 at 10 a.m. All Emmanuel College Alumnae in these three towns are cordially invited to attend. Those interested may call Mrs. George Pink at TW 4-4089.

University Women

The November meeting of the Framingham-Wellesley Branch of the American Association of University Women will be held in May Hall at the Framingham State Teachers College, Framingham, Wednesday evening, Nov. 4, at 8 o'clock.

Qualified university women interested in joining the group are invited to contact the membership chairman, Miss Margaret Walker, 46 Normal Hill Road, Framingham.

COCHITUATE -- The W.S.C.S. of the Community Methodist Church are busily engaged in preparing their "Fall Fiesta Fair" to be held Saturday Nov. 7, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Many handmade gifts and home baked goods will be on sale.

Wayland Woman's Club

WAYLAND -- The Wayland Woman's Club will hold the first meeting of the current season on Tuesday, Nov. 3, in Fellowship Hall of the Trinitarian Congregational Church, with an illustrated talk entitled "A Taste of the Wild", by the Misses Donna Niles and Kay White, two former Wac officers who have built a home and a business with their own hands a quarter mile up Mount Kearsarge in New Hampshire.

Preceding the meeting there will be a tea starting at 2:30 p.m. for members and their guests. All new residents who are interested in becoming members of the Wayland Woman's Club are invited to attend this meeting.

Tea chairmen for the day will be Mrs. Gordon Graybiel and Mrs. Harold F. Curtin Jr. assisted by the following committee:

Mrs. Charles S. Basney, Mrs. Charles W. Brennan, Mrs. Warren D. Brown, Mrs. Harold Chamberlin Jr., Mrs. Lawrence Collins, Mrs. J. Kenneth Emery, Mrs. Thomas B. Gannett, Mrs. John B. Gregory, Mrs. Parmelee C. Hill, Mrs. John P. Hyland, Mrs. Donald Ewing, Mrs. Harold J. Lundy, Mrs. Alton L. F. Marshall Jr., Mrs. Howard Lyford, Mrs. Sheldon McEwan, Mrs. Donald P. Mitchell, Mrs. Charles H. Peters, Mrs. John C. Quinn, Mrs. Carolyn Salls, Mrs. Peter Salvucci Jr., Mrs. Charles H. Wheelock Jr., Mrs. Richard M. Haggatt, Mrs. Judd J. Mohl and Mrs. Dan Morris.

Natick Art Ass'n

WAYLAND -- On Friday evening, Nov. 6, at 8:15 p.m., Mr. Philip Hicken will give a demonstration in silk screen technique. This will be the first in a monthly series of lectures and demonstrations offered to members and friends of the Natick Art Association.

Mr. Hicken, who is an instructor of silk screen and oil painting, has exhibited nationally, is a member of a national print society and has won many awards in exhibits of the Natick Art Association.

The meeting, which is open to the public, will be held at the association Studio, Old Connecticut Path (Route 126) in Cochituate and will be followed by an informal "coffee chat."

Historical Society

WAYLAND -- The Wayland Historical Society will hold the first meeting of the season on Thursday, Nov. 5 at the Heard House at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Benjamin L. Smith, of Concord, past president of the Massachusetts Archeological Society, will speak on the "Indian Burial Ground Discoveries" at the Mansion Inn site last June. Mr. Smith has said that other such finds may be discovered--and we should be aware of the importance of scientific excavation and avoid the mistaken enthusiasm which ruined much of the value of the findings in Cochituate.

Articles found and given or loaned to the Society by Happy Hollow School children will be on display. Mrs. Edward Scanlan will serve refreshments.

The December meeting will feature a study of Wayland's original settlers by the eminent authority, Dr. Sumner Powell. In February Mrs. Helen Fitch Emery will tell of Wayland's leading citizens of the 19th century, James Draper and James Sumner Draper.

Robert Scotland, Wayland High teacher of U. S. History will speak on "Sudbury in the Revolution," Apr. 7. Visitors are welcome at all these meetings.

St. Ann's Guild

WAYLAND -- St. Ann's Guild will hold its monthly meeting in the Guild Hall on Tuesday evening, Nov. 3, at 8 p.m.

The speaker will be Mrs. Mildred Mahoney, who will lecture on "Commission Against Discrimination".

Refreshments will be served by the following committee: Mrs. Leon Genay, Mrs. Robert Johnson, Mrs. Paul Keating, Mrs. Richard Looney, Mrs. Neil Dixon and Mrs. Patrick Shomphe.

Halloween Parties

WAYLAND -- Committees have been picked for the eighth annual Halloween parties of the Kiwanis Club of Wayland, to be run at Happy Hollow School for youngsters and at Wayland High School for teen agers on Oct. 31. The grade school party will begin at 7:30 a.m., and the High School dance at 8 p.m.

Overall chairman is Frank W. Tomasello Jr. and Happy Hollow chairman is George V. Deverell. All members of the club, with many of the wives, are assisting.

M. I. T. Matrons

During the next two weeks, there will be a series of get acquainted parties for wives of new members of the faculty and staff of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the Wayland-Weston area. These are under the auspices of the M. I. T. matrons given by local hostesses.

The Matrons were founded 60 years ago when a small group of faculty wives joined together to promote their special interests and to assist the Institute in several ways. Originally composed of 70 ladies who held teas and parties, the group today is made up of more than 2000 Matrons. The aims of the Matrons are to foster friendly relations, to share mutual interests and to furnish effective service to the Institute. Individual parties are given in suburban areas to welcome new members because of the growing membership.

The sponsor of the program for the Wayland-Weston area is Mrs. Herbert Galliher, Barney Hill Road, Wayland. Serving as hostesses will be Mrs. Joseph T. Ewers, 12 Old Coach Road, Weston, at a coffee party at 10 a.m. Nov. 5. Mrs. Galliher will entertain at coffee Tuesday, Nov. 10 at 10 a.m.

Jennings, Mrs. William V. Schevill and Mrs. Ernest L. Wells. Flowers on the coffee tables and on the stage in the upper hall are to be in charge of Mrs. Henry M. Merrill and Mrs. George A. Paul.

Ruby Newman has played for debutante parties, weddings, the Hasty Pudding Club shows at Harvard, the Vincent Club shows, the Skating Club carnivals and most all of Boston's traditional functions.

The Weston Women's Community League Guest Night is an annual event when members may invite, without charge, a limited number of guests. Ruby Newman's program will begin at 8:45. The ushers who will help with the seating are Mrs. George Trainor and Mrs. Howard J. Morrison.

NEEDHAM -- The public is invited to attend the 11th Annual Exhibition of Paintings of the Needham Art Association at the Public Library, 1139 Highland Avenue, Needham, on Sunday, Nov. 8.

The show will open with a tea from 2 until 5 and will run until Nov. 21.

Press Project

"The 23rd annual School Press Project once again is being offered to all schools," report Mrs. Rexford Moss and Mrs. Albert Cross, chairmen of the Wayland and Weston Tuberculosis Committees for the Middlesex Tuberculosis and Health Association. The Association and the Columbia Scholastic tion sponsors this project in cooperation with the National Tuberculosis Association and the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

The 1959 subjects for investigation are: "Our School in the Fight Against TB" and "Health Fighters in our Community."

WESTON -- Three teachers, Mrs. Ruth Beamish, Mrs. Alice Edgerton, and Mrs. Marjorie Burdill, attended the eleventh annual New England Reading Association Conference held Sept. 27-29 at the New Ocean House in Swampscott.

Hallowe'en costumes should be light-colored to be seen easily

Party For Roy Wales

WESTON -- More than 50 Weston teachers, former teachers and other school personnel met to honor Mr. Roy Wales on Sept. 30 at an afternoon social. Mr. Wales has been employed as a custodian for the Weston Schools since 1942 and has resigned in order to accept a position at the Unitarian Church.

During his years with the local schools, Mr. Wales has served at the old high school, Building "B" and more recently at the junior high.

Arrangements for the reception honoring the retiring employee were made by Miss Mildred Marble, Mr. Galen Green, Mrs. Arthur Mitchell, Mrs. Raymond Tinker and Mr. William O'Rourke.

As Things Went From Bad To Good

WAYLAND -- One moment the Wayland-Maynard football game of Oct. 17 didn't seem to be going so well, but a little later the color of the thing seemed a good deal brighter, as the expressions above show. In the top photo, showing a section of the Wayland bench, are, left to right: David Duane, Dwight Perodeau, Paul Donohue, Barry Parker, Bob Ferrante, Ken Houghton and Steve Kruse. In the happy picture, below, are Donohue, Parker, Ferrante, Houghton and Kruse. (Photos by Peter Fink)

Mrs. Morse Has Fine 1959 Tennis Record

WESTON -- Some outstanding tennis has been played in Weston this season by Mrs. Anthony Morse Jr. of Saddle Hill Road. This fall she won the Ladies' Singles in the Town Tournament, and followed this by winning the Weston Golf Club Ladies' Singles Championship.

In addition, Mrs. Morse and her partner, Mrs. Henry Wheeler of Winsor Way, have had an undefeated year playing Ladies' Doubles in the Inter-Town League and winning the Ladies' Doubles in the Town Tournament this spring, and winning the Weston Golf Club Championship this fall.

WESTON -- Graham R. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley R. Anderson of 23 Winsor Way, is a student at Proctor Academy, where he is a member of the golf squad and the audio-visual club.

Kiwanis Officers Elected

At present there are 27 active 4-H Town Committees in Middlesex County.

Gladiolus bulbs should be dug and prepared for winter storage before the ground freezes.

Wayland Appointments

WAYLAND -- Chairman Robert M. Morgan of the Finance Committee has been reappointed to the Committee for another three-year term, and John B. Wilson of Old Connecticut Path, also a member of the Committee, has also been appointed for another three-year term, the selectmen announce. Frank A. Smith of the Zoning Board of Appeals, has been appointed to the Finance Committee for a two-year term.

Also announced is the appointment of John C. Hodges, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hodges of Cochituate Road, to be a patrolman in the Wayland Police Department. This brings the number of men in the Department to 12, including Chief Ernest H. Damon.

Officer Hodges is 25 years old, married to the former Mary-ann Cutting of Newton. They live at 12 Priscilla Path, Cochituate. He was graduated from Wayland High School in 1952, and has spent four years in the Air Force.

The Selectmen also say a Civil Service examination is coming up for the job of plumbing inspector one of the two civil service positions in the town.

hanger and suspended in a sling which approximates the position a jumper is in when his chute opens in the air. He was then taught how to steer the chute and what to do in an emergency.

In sport-parachuting he reports, the chute has holes in it to regulate the speed of descent and the jumper is supposed to look up at his open chute and count the holes. If he sees more than four, he opens the spare chute on his chest and throws that out. So far as Jay has heard, however, it has never been necessary - at least at the Orange field - to use the spare.

The preliminary training takes only three hours or so and the student is then ready to be taken up about 3000 feet in an airplane to take a real jump. For this jump there is a line which opens the chute automatically from the plane. The student is told to count 1000, 2000, 3000, 4000 - which supposedly takes up the four seconds before the opening of the chute can be expected after the free fall. If the chute doesn't open, Jay says, there is nothing to worry about. It probably means that you were excited and counted too fast. So you just start counting over again and, if nothing happens then, you pull the safety cord yourself.

On his first jump, Jay says, he goofed on his steering and didn't make it right on the landing bulls-eye but, on his second jump, he hit the first target circle which is only 10 feet away from the exact center of the target. The target area, itself, is in the triangle formed by the three airstrips at the Orange airport and is all clear, flat land. Beyond that, the area is surrounded by woods but Jay claims that only real novices ever get caught in the trees.

For thrills, he says, there's nothing like it. And his only thought on his first jump was that the first few seconds of free-fall were so exciting, he was annoyed when the chute opened. He is hopeful that other people around Wayland and Weston will get interested.

Mrs. Adams, who admits that her first thought when Jay suggested trying a jump was that it was a crazy idea and only another good way of getting yourself killed, now is intrigued with the idea of trying it herself sometime. After spending a day at Orange, she says she was so impressed with the attitude of the instructors and the precautions which were taken that she lost all her fear and was about to make an appointment for a training session herself. Both she and Jay will have to wait until next Summer, though, for any more jumping. During the fall and winter season, the winds are so high and tricky that only "experts" - those with 50 or more jumps to their credit - are allowed to go up.

Jay is hoping to get a job at the field next Summer which would allow him 12 free-of-charge jumps per month. After that (he's a senior at Weston High School and fullback on the football team), he hopes to enter Fort Lewis A. and M. College in Durango, Colorado, and major in cattle production and ranch-management.

LIAISON COMMITTEE

and the Town, has enlarged its membership to 12.

New members are Mrs. Gustav Fleischmann, Laurence S. Locke, Mrs. Lawrence H. Pexton, Clifford E. Stubbs, Mrs. Kimball A. McMullin and James S. LaTucky. They join Mrs. Edward W. Marshall, Mrs. Dudley B. Hartung, Robert H. Marden, Theodore Jones, J. Manton Bradley and John Lord, Chairman. James Robbins is the School Committee representative.

Last March, the Committee started "Our Schools," a publication about the Weston public schools which is sent to all households. Three issues have come out to date, with a fourth scheduled for early December. The "Our Schools" staff now includes Mrs. William G. Burt Jr., John S. Myers Jr., Mrs. Fleischmann, Mrs. Hartung, Mr. Marden and Mr. Lord.

Cornerstone Is Laid

WAYLAND -- The cornerstone for the recent new addition to the Trinitarian Congregational Church was laid on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 18, when significant church papers were laid away to be dug up and read at some distant future time.

The addition doubles the seating capacity of the sanctuary and provides other additional room for the greatly increased membership of the church. The building committee included Herbert Fisher, Frank Smith, Milton Butler, W. A. Fluhr and Rev. Donald S. Ewing, the minister.

Chiasson - Withington

WAYLAND -- Mr. and Mrs. George E. Withington announce the marriage on August 29, 1959, of their daughter, Patricia Alice, to Mr. Lester Joseph Chiasson of Waltham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chiasson, at a nuptial mass at St. Ann's Church. Rev. Robert E. Simard, cousin of the bride, was celebrant, with Rev. William Castles assisting. The altar was decorated with chrysanthemums and snapdragons.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of nylon organza with a lace sabrina neckline embroidered in iridescent sequins, a fitted bodice and short shirred sleeves with matching mitts; a full sweep skirt with chapel length train. Her shoulder length veil of nylon net was trimmed with a coronet of sequins. She carried a missal covered with lace and a white orchid and stephanotis.

Miss Mary Birmingham of Wayland was maid of honor. Her gown was of pink organza and her hat of pink net and taffeta. She carried a cascade of aqua carnations. The bridesmaids, Miss Sandra Bolton, Wayland, Miss Paul Scally, Wayland, and Mrs. Robert Cormier, sister of the groom, of Watertown, wore aqua organza gowns and carried cascades of pink carnations and wore aqua net and taffeta hats.

Mr. Paul Daigle of Waltham served as best man. Mr. Richard Rennie of Waltham, Mr. Robert Cormier of Watertown and Mr. William Withington, brother of the bride, were ushers.

Miss Judi Owens of Concord was soloist.

The couple now resides in Watertown.

"Adventures In Music"

WAYLAND -- "Adventures in Music" fund-raising was the subject of serious discussion at a recent kaffee-klatch. Shown above are: Mrs. Dean Hocking, Chairman of the Wayland Fund Raising Committee for "Adventures in Music"; Mrs. Howard Smith, assisting Mrs. Hocking; Mrs. George Freedman, Wayland Area Chairman for "Adventures in Music"; and Mrs. James Graham. Not present were Mrs. David Stuart, Mrs. John McCann, and Mrs. Raymond Castiglione, members of the Committee and Mrs. John B. Gregory, in charge of personal solicitations.

Invitations were planned for a Sunday afternoon gathering, Nov. 1, at the home of Mrs. Hocking, of the many local people actively interested.

Weston Bus Schedules Are Now Set For Year

WESTON -- Bus schedules for Weston students are now relatively stable. For the past two weeks the 16 buses of the school system have been operating on the time schedules they expect to use throughout the remainder of the year. As a result of the newly effective two pick-up system, several weeks of schedule experimentation have been necessary.

The junior and senior high school pick-up will continue to begin at 7:30 a.m., while the revised elementary grades schedule calls for the drivers to begin their routes between 8:30 and 8:35 a.m. In the fringe areas of town, pick-ups may still start as early as 8:15 or 8:20 a.m.

A final slight schedule shift may be necessitated by the opening of kindergarten.

Sauer - Benedict

WESTON -- Miss Mary Hannah Benedict, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manson Benedict, was married at a candlelight ceremony in the Martha-Mary Chapel in Sudbury on October 24 to Mr. Myran Charles Sauer Jr., of Naperville, Illinois, son of Mr. and Mrs. Myran C. Sauer of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Rev. Miles Hanson Jr., of the First Parish Church in Weston, performed the ceremony. A reception followed at the Weston Golf Club.

Mrs. Myran Charles Sauer Jr.

The bride wore a gown of ivory peau de soie with a chapel-length train and a veil of heirloom Brussels lace. She carried a bouquet of white Fuji chrysanthemums, stephanotis, and miniature ivy.

Miss Marjorie A. Benedict was her sister's maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Jenneke V. Barton of Boston and Mrs. Constantine B. Simonides of Newton. Miss Catherine A. Sauer of Pittsburgh, sister of the bridegroom, served as junior bridesmaid.

The best man was Mr. Jerome Reinstein of Brooklyn, N. Y., and ushers included Mr. David W. Sauer and Mr. Richard L. Sauer, brothers of the bridegroom, Mr. James Lloyd of Pittsburgh, and Mr. Constantine B. Simonides of Newtonville.

Miss Benedict, whose father is professor and head of the Department of Nuclear Engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, received her B. A. degree from Wellesley College in 1958, her M. S. degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1959, and is an assistant chemist at the Argonne National Laboratory. She is a member of the Appalachian Mountain Club, Phi Beta Kappa, and Sigma Xi.

Mr. Sauer was graduated from the Carnegie Institute of Technology and received his Ph. D. degree from the University of Wisconsin. He is a post-doctoral Fellow in Radiation Chemistry at the Argonne National Laboratory and is a member of the American Chemical Society and Sigma Xi.

Following a wedding trip through the southeastern states, the couple will live at 231 South Ellsworth Street, Naperville, Illinois.

In Philadelphia, they are widening bus seats by two inches.

Lundy-Fleming

Mary Ann Lundy (Grover Cronin)

WAYLAND -- Mr. and Mrs. Harold John Lundy of Westway Road are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Mary Ann, to Joseph Spencer Fleming, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Alexander Fleming of Shrewsbury.

Miss Lundy was graduated from Wayland High School, University of New Hampshire, 1959, and is a member of Theta Upsilon Sorority. She is now associated with Harvard Graduate School of Arts and Sciences.

Mr. Fleming was graduated from Shrewsbury High School, Cushing Academy and University of New Hampshire, 1959, where he was a member of Theta Chi Fraternity. He served three years in the United States Marine Corps. Mr. Fleming is now associated with the Wright Line of Worcester.

The wedding date has been set for Nov. 28.

58 Different Colleges Are Represented On Weston Teaching Staff

WESTON -- Twenty of Weston's 103 teachers and administrative staff members call Boston University their alma mater. Middlebury College (Vermont) and Gorham State Teachers' College (Maine) are the institutions of higher learning having the second highest number of graduates on the Weston staff. Each has contributed five.

According to a survey recently completed, a total of 58 different undergraduate colleges are claimed by the town's school staff. Graduate schools and degrees would further extend the list.

Foreign schools have been the training place for several teachers, one of whom secured an initial degree at the University of Vienna in Austria. Seventeen states, located in all sections of the country, are represented. All six New England states have contributed members to the 1959-60 staff. Included among the other states are Pennsylvania, Utah, Minnesota, Maryland, California and Ohio.

UF Directors' Slate

WAYLAND -- Mr. John B. Wilson, area chairman for Wayland, has announced his slate of district directors for this year's United Fund drive. The Wayland directors are: District 1, Mrs. John Cain of Alpine Road; District 2, Mrs. John T. Bennett of Plain Road; District 3, Mrs. Paul J. Pontecorvo of Jeffrey Road; District 4, Mr. John O. Markward of Pequot Road; District 5, Mrs. Arthur J. McBay of 5 Emerson Road, Cochituate; District 6, Mr. Harold H. Kurth, Snake Brook Road, Cochituate.

The residential drive in Wayland will begin on Sunday, Nov. 8. There is still a need for additional solicitors. Please contact Mr. D. L. Bartholomew at ELmwood 8-2087.

Mr. Keene In Panel Talk

WESTON -- Mr. Irving Keene of the Weston High School Science Department recently participated in a panel discussion before the Needham Garden Club. Mr. Keene and two panelists from the State Department of Natural Resources presented views on the topic, "What we can do to further conservation."

Mr. Keene, chairman of a New England Biological Association committee studying the place of biology in the secondary school program, has also recently given a report of the committee's finding to a group at the University of Connecticut's Marine Field Station, Noank, Connecticut. The recommendations made at this time will be sent to all school superintendents in the New England states.

New Vice-President

WESTON -- Maurice L. Upham of Newton Street has been elected to the office of Vice President of the Massachusetts Building Commissioners and Inspectors Association. Mr. Upham has been active in the Association for the past 10 years and has served on the membership, legislative and book committees. He has also served on the Board of Directors of the Association for the past five years.

The association was formed in 1939 for the purpose of rendering better public service in the field of building inspection. It meets each month for discussion of subjects relating to building law enforcement and building materials.

Mr. Upham serves the town of Weston as both Fire Chief and Building Inspector.

"Adventures In Music"Weston Group, Seeks $5

WESTON -- The Weston Committee, formed to bring fine music to elementary school children, has decided to request contributions informally. Each member will contact five persons, who, they hope, will not only contribute financially but will interest five others. Anyone who has not been contacted, but who wishes to contribute, may do so by calling Mrs. Putnam Flint, TW 3-3812 or Mrs. Robert L. Woodbury, TW 3-3130, before 11 mornings.

Still needs a ticket chairman. The goal for Weston is $750, part of a larger sum to be raised to cover the cost of the professional orchestra. Tickets will be sold below cost.

These concerts will be aimed especially at the younger children. Mr. Robert Corley, the head of the Weston school music department says, "This is a rare opportunity for the children of Weston to see and hear actual performances by professional musicians."

Mr. Thomas McFarlin, the principal of the elementary school, says, "It's wonderful." The school system is cooperating by arranging pre-concert introductions to the music on each program through recordings and individual instruments.

WESTON -- Mrs. Hillard W. Welch of 145 Lexington Street was one of the representatives attending the Wheaton College Alumnae Council held at the College over the Oct. 24 weekend.

A corporate gift of $90,000 to the United Fund by the Raytheon Company has been announced.

Reading Room, Monday, Wednesday, Friday 12 - 3 p.m.

Prayer's effectiveness in healing sin and sickness will be emphasized at, Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural readings in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Everlasting Punishment" will include this selection from James (5:14, 15): "Is any sick among you? let him call for the elders of the church; and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord: And the prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up; and if he have committed sins, they shall be forgiven him."

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include (39:13): "It is error to suffer for aught but your own sins. Christ, or Truth, will destroy all other supposed suffering, and real suffering for your own sins will cease in proportion as the sin ceases."

The Golden Text is from Proverbs (15: 29): "The Lord is far from the wicked; but he heareth the prayer of the righteous."

technical matters involved in arms control.
Col. Leghorn, president of Itek Corporation of Waltham, has long been interested in the arms control problem, having served on Harold Stassen's disarmament staff and as Chairman of the National Planning Association's Special Project to Study Security Through Arms Control. In 1953,

Colonel Leghorn was attached to the Planning Department of the Pentagon, relating strategy and research.
A graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Col. Leghorn has an extensive background in armament and electronics engineering. He served as Research and Development Officer at Wright Field in Dayton, Ohio, and as Reconnaissance Group Commander of the Air Force in World War II, participating in atomic bomb tests.

Prior to his organizing the Itek Corporation in 1957, he was associated with the Eastman Kodak Company.

Vincent Club

Three local women were among the 109 provisional members recently elected to the Vincent Club. They are: Mrs. John W. Stimpson of Westway Road, Wayland; Mrs. John H. Bartlett of 19 Hill Top Road, Weston; and Miss Helen T. Dickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brenton H. Dickson, III, of Love Lane, Weston, who is a student at the University of New Mexico.
With other provisional members, they will be expected to give generously of their time in working on the annual Vincent Club show, the proceeds from which go toward the $40,000 gift which the Club makes each year to the Vincent Building at the Massachusetts General Hospital.

WAYLAND -- The Aerohm Corporation of Boston Post Road has announced two recent appointments to their staff, Mr. Andrew M. Monahan of Norwood, who will serve as New England sales representative, and Mr. Harvey W. Strong, formerly associated with the Laboratory for Electronics, who will serve as technical director.
The Corporation specializes in the precision testing of miniature and sub-miniature electronic and electro-mechanical components.

Dynamite In Wayland

Before.

Boom!

After.

WAYLAND -- A few years ago, when Charles H. Wheelock Jr. of 230 Old Connecticut Path was rearranging the landscape around his home, the bulldozer came across a monster of a boulder in a gravel ridge. A geologist figured it came from New Hampshire with a load of ice in the last glacial age.

As the ridge, 15 feet high to begin with, was reduced, the boulder sank gradually, until, when the proceedings were ended, the rock, estimated to be 40 cubic yards in volume and many tons in weight, was perched up in the air, as on a golf tee.

What to do with it was a problem, because it was too big to move and too big to bury.

So recently the Wheelocks solved the problem by having expert dynamiters come and blow the thing to pieces. The John J. McCann pictures above give the idea.

"Too Much Killing And Kissing," Russians Said

WAYLAND -- Some quotations from Russian visitors who were in town recently as guests of the Economic Development Committee of the United States:

"Is this a prefabricated dinner?"

"Your house has too much glass. In Moscow the temperature gets down to 30 below zero. It was snowing when we left."

"We have refrigerators of course but we have gas stoves, not electric, and we don't have these washing machines."

"English is the most popular foreign language in Russia. I have heard Americans say, 'I once studied a little Russian.' Why do Americans study a little of a language and not learn it?"

"Are you Republicans or Democrats?"

"Do you always vote Democrat?"

"Well, you made an exception in Mr. Eisenhower because he is for peace."

"You mean you work after hours for your town government for no pay and this is not Democrat or Republican?"

"You have a permanent servant, of course? . . . Well, help is hard to find in Moscow, too."

"Do you go out many evenings? My wife is always telling me I don't take her out enough."

"We economists are dull. We spend other people's money."

"We save our customers money by not having any advertising. We manufacture a set amount, put (Please turn to Page 10)

Jays On The Corn

WAYLAND -- Mr. and Mrs. Kemp B. Reade of Juniper Lane report another activity of local wild creatures.

They have ears of Indian corn hanging from their front door as a decoration. The bluejays descend on the corn at daybreak every morning, making a banging on the door and waking everybody up, and they've now managed to make away with most of the kernels.

A poem was written on the subject as follows:

The pumpkins were gay

The door was ablaze

Charles Donaldson Was Hit By Automobile, And MGH Entertained Snakes

WESTON -- Charles Donaldson, 14, son of Dr. and Mrs. David D. Donaldson of 128 Rolling Lane, received a broken pelvis on the morning of Oct. 31 when he was struck by an automobile outside the Science Museum in Boston, and the Massachusetts General Hospital entertained both him and, without knowing it, three brief cases full of snakes.

Charles Donaldson, snapped by Franklin Ross at the sale held by Weston Methodist Church on Oct. 23 - 24. Charles bought the riding boots and camera shown, besides numerous other articles.

Charles will be all right, the doctors say, but he is going to have a stay in the hospital while his bones knit.

With Charles was Franklin Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ross of 43 Rolling Lane. The purpose of the trip was to bring to the Science Museum, for a physical

Good Business Reported

WAYLAND -- Warren D. Brown of 21 Davelin Road, manager of the CO-OP, says many local persons have taken out applications for membership since the opening of the Village Shopper on Oct. 28. Business has remained excellent, he says, and he expects the new grocery store will do more than $1,000,000 in sales a year.

St. Ann's Groundbreaking

WAYLAND -- Ground was broken Nov. 1 for a new rectory for St. Ann's parish, with a group of parishioners present at the brief ceremony during which the pastor, Rev. William P. Castles--attended by altar boy Bruce Keary--blessed the site. The land was given to the parish by Mrs. Frank Paine, and adjoins the Allen Morgan property. N. D. C. Construction Co. is the builder. 9 Canada Geese Seen At Norumbega Area

WESTON -- Nine small-sized Canada Geese have been reported at the Duck Feeding Area (Koe). Probably they are feral birds which breed along the Sudbury River and elsewhere, and are smaller than the true wild Canadas. The Hills on South Avenue have had two Carolina Wrens in their yard.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dee, Westland Road, report seeing more than 30 Wood Duck on and around a small pond behind their home.

Mrs. Hower, Concord Road, has seen a Red-breasted Nuthatch at her feeder. Very few have been reported in Weston this fall. Mr. Gates, Saddle Hill Road, says that the adult male Oregon Junco which has spent the last two Winters at his feeder, arrived for the third year on Oct. 29.

Mrs. Smith, Westland Road, saw a late Brown Thrasher at her feeder on Oct. 29. Usually most of these birds have gone by the third week of October, although one will occasionally spend the Winter here. Fox Sparrows have been migrating in good numbers during the past week. -- C.E.S.

Hundreds of Wayland and Weston solicitors will canvass their neighbors beginning on Sunday, Nov. 8 for contributions to the United Fund's goal of 10 million dollars. Both towns have long been in the forefront of communities which have had a 100% record of support for the Fund and the Committee chairmen in both towns are hopeful that contributions will reach a record high.

This year's goal of $10,000,000 is the highest total ever set for the Fund and is caused partly by the increase in costs of services and partly by the addition of a number of new agencies associated with the United Fund.

Among the important new agencies which the Fund now supports are Arthritis and Rheumatism, Red Cross, Cerebral Palsy, Mental Health, Salvation Army, and the U.S.O. A large share of United Fund receipts also goes to further medical research and the solving of general health problems.

Each of the towns also benefits directly from grants from the United Fund for certain local activities.

For instance, in Weston the United Fund helps to support the (Please turn to Page 12)

Big Kick

WAYLAND -- George Bradley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Bradley of Plain Road, set a new record in Boston University football history when he booted an 85-yard quick-kick against the University of Massachusetts in the B.U. - U. Mass game on Oct. 31.

Bradley's kick, from deep in his own end zone, smashed the previous record set in 1921.

WESTON -- "Where is Weston going--what sort of town will Weston be 15 years from now?"

With Mrs. Lawrence F. Davis and Miss Florence Freeman as cooperating chairmen, the Weston League of Women Voters is launching a town study that will attempt to answer that question. The Allen-Benjamin report, which shows Weston's maximum future population under present zoning restrictions, will serve as the starting point of the League study.

Meeting at the home of Miss Freeman Monday evening, Nov. 2, the Joint Planning Committee for the group outlined critical factors to be explored. These were land use, (both public and private), including the possibility of industrial use, zoning, town services to an expanding population, and the effect of these upon the future tax rate.

Members of Miss Freeman's committee for Town Planning, which will survey the land use and town services aspects of the study, are: Mrs. John W. Boyd, Mrs. James J. Donovan, Mrs. William A. Elliston, Mrs. Glenn Fellows, Mrs. Thomas B. Harris, Mrs. Leonard S. Kanzer, Mrs. John W. Kuipers and Miss Freeman, chairman.

Mrs. Davis' committee, which will concentrate on the fiscal aspects of the Town Planning study, are: Mrs. Charles E. Applegate, Mrs. Gustav Fleischman, Mrs.

Many Attended Kiwanis Halloween Festivities

WAYLAND -- The eighth annual Halloween parties were held Saturday Oct. 31, with many children and teen-agers attending.

The dance at the Wayland High School Auditorium for the High School students was very successful as everyone seemed to enjoy Baron Hugo and his popular orchestra. A dance contest was also held with many prizes offered to the best dance partners.

Refreshments were served during intermission by the committee, who received a helping hand from the Kiwanis wives.

The Halloween Party at Happy Hollow School was attended by about 200 younger children in many different costumes, to enter the contest which was the highlight of the evening. Mr. Louis Taris, the magician, kept his young audience entertained. Mr. Taris' brother entertained later by singing folk songs and playing his

Why Women Never Buy Any Gasoline For Family Car

It's On Account Of The Married Woman's Theory Of Money, Involving Cottage Cheese, Tea And Draperies

Back in those dear dead Victorian days, which died from a natural cause, to wit, stuffiness, it was considered highly indecorous for a young man to discuss such a vulgar subject as money with a young woman. It was something like sex, which they pretended wasn't there but somehow seemed to make out in spite of everything.

How the young man could ever catch and hold a girl's attention, when thus automatically deprived of two of the leading topics of conversation, is hard to understand, unless he had a pretty snappy way of discussing the literary works of Harriet Beecher Stowe.

In this modern day it has been discovered that about the quickest and surest way to get a girl's ear is to talk about cash, particularly large amounts of the stuff, and this brings us to a scientific consideration of The Married Woman's Theory of Money, a subject they should teach at the school of business administration but don't because they're probably prejudiced or something.

In brief, the Married Woman's Theory is that money spent by a wife is invested and money spent by a husband is squandered. This is why so many men carry lunches in brief cases, which have replaced the honest old tin dinner pail. Their wives don't allow them enough money for lunch at a restaurant, for fear they'd go crazy and order the $1.25 special, instead of the cottage cheese sandwich and the cup of tea, which, as every sophisticate knows, is all any woman ever orders in a restaurant if she's going to pay the bill herself.

This theory operates with special force in the field of entertainment, where it often leads to domestic disputes. The husband's idea of refreshments is likely to be a couple of jugs left open in the kitchen, which thus becomes a place where top secrets are revealed, fascinating reminiscences exchanged, very comical jokes told and sometimes songs sung.

The Married Woman's Theory is that food should be served, and that everybody should have a perfectly splendid time munching undersized sandwiches with the crust cut off.

Another part of the Theory is that women are not supposed to buy gasoline, which is strictly man's work. The fact that the gage says "Empty" never suggests anything to a wife. And when the vehicle actually stops for want of fuel, it seems to her that if she buys one gallon it will get her home, and after that it will be her husband's problem.

Also involved in the Theory is the doctrine that slipcovers, curtains, draperies and standing lamps, not to mention crockery umbrella stands even if nobody uses an umbrella nowadays, are necessities of life.

Embedded in the Married Woman's mind is a conviction that her home is just one remove from an Aurignacian cave, which it would indeed match if it only had a pile of tiger bones around the fireplace. She is also under the spell of the notion that the expenditure of a round sum of money on colored fabric would fix up the place so it would resemble one of the flossier apartments at the Ritz. And a man who can't understand the economics of this is probably a cad, at least.

The feature of so-called civilization is that it is an arrangement in which people separate each other from money by humane, even if sometimes dishonest means, instead of taking it with a club. But severe differences about the value of money and who should have it and how it should be spent, still persist, and in the home it comes down to the general proposition that while a husband may know enough to earn a couple of bucks, he isn't smart enough to be trusted with money for cigarettes, which he ought to give up anyway and would if he had any strength of character.

It's something like the attitude of parents, who think their children are little geniuses until they get old enough to talk about getting married, at which point the parents think they are so mentally deficient they ought to be locked up in the psycho.---D.B.W.

Miss Burrill Elected

WESTON -- Mrs. Marjorie Burrill, Weston elementary supervisor, was elected first vice president of the Middlesex County Teachers Association at their 105th annual convention held Friday, Oct. 30, at the Metropolitan Theatre in Boston.

Mrs. Alma Andrews, Mrs. Ruth Spicer and Mrs. Rachel Coffin, Weston kindergarten teachers, accompanied Mrs. Burrill to the convention.

At the cocktail party news gets around but isn't always remembered.

Crowned Cotillion King

EVENTS AND PEOPLE TO BE FEATURED IN THE NEAR FUTURE

WCL World Events Lecture

WESTON -- The second in the series of World Event Lectures presented by the Women's Community League will be given Friday morning from 10 - 10:30, at the Unitarian Parish House. Mr. Ernest Kehr, member of the editorial staff of the New York Herald-Tribune will speak on "U.S. Foreign Policy at Work." Mr. Kehr will return from a trip to Russia on Nov. 13.

Single tickets will be available at the door. Coffee from 10 - 10:30 will precede the talk.

On the committee, above, left to right: Mrs. Martin V. Marshall, Mrs. Richard S. Alles and Mrs. L. Sterling McKittrick Jr. (McCann Photo)

St. Julia's Sodality

WESTON -- The members of St. Julia's Sodality will meet on Nov. 12 at 8 p.m. at the church for rosary and benediction and then adjourn to the Jones house. Mrs. Mary McCarthy, a member of the department of National Council of Catholic Women of the Archdiocese of Boston, will speak on "Reading for Pleasure and Profit."

She is a graduate of Boston University, has worked at the Catholic University in English and has taught at Trinity College in Washington.

Mrs. Bruce Nickerson and Mrs. David Kelley are now receiving handmade articles for the Christmas gift table they will have that night. Refreshments will be served with Mrs. Francis Recka as chairman, assisted by Mrs. Arthur Doyle, Mrs. Donald Madden and Mrs. Reynold Graunas.

Miss Vickery To Speak

WESTON -- Rev. Almeda C. Vickery of Boston, Curriculum Consultant of the Congregational Christian Division of Christian Education and the Pilgrim Press, will talk with the Religious Education Committee of the Weston Congregational Church on Friday, Nov. 6 at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Donald Ross, 43 Rolling Lane. All interested are welcome to come.

Rev. Almeda C. Vickery

Ordained to the Congregational ministry in 1931, Miss Vickery was assistant minister at the Center Congregational Church of New Haven, Connecticut, for 11 years. After this she was in New York State in church work until 1947, when she went to Glenbrook, Connecticut, to Union Memorial Church, as Minister of Education.

She was called to the First Congregational Church of Winchester as Minister of Education in 1952 and served there until she took up her present national denominational work.

Miss Vickery was born in Scranton, Pennsylvania, the daughter of missionaries in India and Malaya.

Disarmament Speaker

WESTON -- The Christian Social Relations Commission of the Weston Methodist Church announces for Sunday, Nov. 8, at 4:30 p.m., its program on disarmament in the parish hall. Light supper refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Agnes Morley of Greenwich, Connecticut, will be the speaker. Mrs. Morley is on the Board of Women's International League for Peace and Freedom. She is Co-Chairman for the Committee of World Development and Disarmament. She was a representative at the UN associated with the U. S. Mission to the UN as an observer for the World Development.

Hawaiian Feast

WESTON -- A typical Hawaiian island feast, known as a luau, will be prepared and served at the final session of the International Cooking School on Thursday, Nov. 12, in the Lower Town Hall. The menu will include wonton, rumaki, sieu pi kwat, teriyaki and lau lau. Most of the committee members who will demonstrate the cooking were born in Hawaii or lived there for many years. They are Mrs. Allan Jayne, Mrs. William Lam, Mrs. Albert Scott Jr., Mrs. John Cain, Jr., Mrs. Wilfred Derby and Mrs. Lawson T. Hill.

Anyone interested in Hawaiian foods is welcome to attend the lesson or the luncheon. There will also be an illustrated talk by Mrs. Alice Cooper Bailey, well known author and lecturer. The lesson will begin, as usual, at 9:45 and luncheon will be served at 12:30. The cost of the lesson is $1.75 and may be paid at the door. The luncheon price will be 99 cents and reservations must be made by Tuesday, Nov. 10, with Mrs. Robert Murkland, TW 3-9787, Mrs. Raymond Coburn, TW 3-3060 or Mrs. James Forbes, TW 4-4251.

Holy Name Society

WESTON -- The regular monthly meeting of St. Julia's Holy Name Society will be held on Sunday, Nov. 8, at the Weston High School Cafeteria. The men will receive Corporate Holy Communion at the 8 a.m. Mass.

The speaker for the meeting will be the Rev. Hugh Peter Lyons, S. J. of Weston College. His subject will be "The Communion of Saints."

Father Lyons was born in India and educated in Ireland and England. He received his Doctorate from Louvain in Belgium and studied at the Gregorian University in Rome.

While in England, he gave lectures in Theology for Lay People at the University of London for the Newman Association.

Speaker At Regis

WESTON -- Douglas Hyde, former news editor of the Communist Daily Worker, London, at one time representative of the British government to SETO and lecturer at the NATO Defense College, Paris, will speak at Regis College, Tuesday evening, Nov. 17, at 8 p.m., in the gymnasium.

His subject is "The Battle for Latin America," second in a series of talks sponsored by Regis, "Challenge for Christianity."

"Fathers' Day" at Barn

WESTON -- The Red Barn Nursery School will hold its traditional "Fathers' Day" beginning at 9 a.m. on Saturday, Nov. 14. Mothers of nursery school children are now signing up their husbands for the one-hour sessions during which the fathers will share not only their youngsters' activities but their juice and crackers as well.

Mothers, who usually assist the professional teachers on regular school days, are not permitted to be present on Fathers' Day and each child must have either his own father or a male substitute for the occasion. The School has found that it is quite an experience both for the children who love to show off their friends, their teachers, and their various skills but also for the adults who suddenly find themselves playing dolls or building a free-form swimming pool out of building blocks.

WESTON -- Mrs. Radu Florescu of Bogle Street is on the committee for the Faculty Wives Club of Boston College, which is to hold a party for faculty and faculty wives at Campion Hall, Chestnut Hill, on Nov. 7.

WESTON -- Albert J. Oliva of 231 Ridgeway Road is on the committee for the 25th annual Northeastern University Homecoming Day, Nov. 7.

Rev. L. S. Manierre To Speak At First Baptist

WESTON -- The Rev. L. Stanley Manierre, American Baptist missionary to Japan, will speak at the First Baptist Church, Tuesday, Nov. 10, at 8 on "The Open Door in Japan." His talk will be preceded by slides taken during his recent ministry in Japan.

Rev. L. Stanley Manierre

Mr. Manierre and his family are in the United States on a year's furlough after completing one term of service in Japan. They were appointed as missionaries by the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society in 1953 and have served in Japan since mid 1954.

Most of Mr. Manierre service has been in the area of Osaka, working in evangelism with Japanese Baptist churches. His experience as a prisoner in Japan during World War II led him to become a missionary.

The Manierre family arrived home last spring. During their furlough, Mr. Manierre is studying at the University of Michigan. He holds a B.A. degree from Western State College of Colorado, and a B.D. degree from Andover-Newton Theological School, in Newton.

Mr. and Mrs. Manierre and their four children, Ruth Elizabeth, Deborah, Paul Stanley and Rebecca are members of the First Baptist Church of Hanson, and are the special interest missionaries of American Baptist churches in Arizona and New Mexico.

Baptist Women's Guild

WESTON -- Nov. 10, 8 p.m., Guild Meeting at the Church with Mr. L. Stanley Manierre, American Baptist Missionary to Japan, as the speaker of the evening.

Nov. 16, 10 a.m. - 2 p.m. W.W. Circle work meeting at the Church.

Nov. 17, 8 p.m., Square Circle meeting at the home of Mrs. Richard MacLeod, 3 Reym Street, Waltham. Devotions will be led by Mrs. MacLeod.

Nov. 18, 10 a.m., B. W. Circle meeting at the Church.

Nov. 19, 9:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m., #3 Daytime Circle meeting at the Church. 7:45 p.m., Mary-Martha Circle at the home of Miss Barbara Colpitts, 646 Boston Post Road, with Mrs. Robert Brown as co-hostess. This will be a work meeting and feature a Penny Sale.

Youth Concert Series

WESTON -- Ninety music students at Weston Junior High School are making reservations to attend a series of Youth Concerts to be given by members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra in Symphony Hall on Nov. 14, Jan. 16 and March 12.

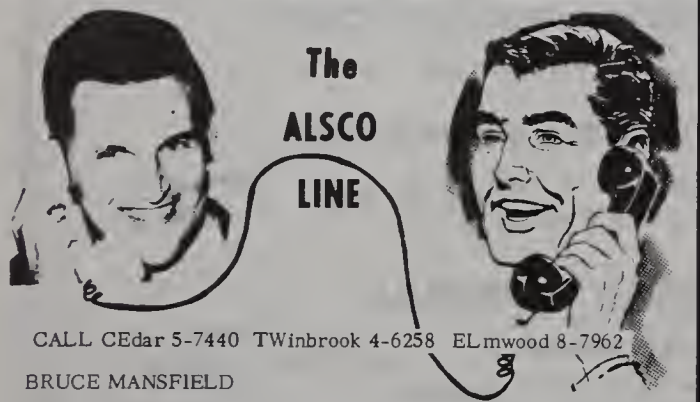

Under the baton of Harry Ellis Dickson, one of the "Pops" conductors, these Saturday concerts will mark the resumption of a student series absent from the Boston scene for 10 years.

Miss Paula Prial, music instructor, is in charge of arrangements for the Weston students. Four mothers will accompany the pupils to each concert. A chartered bus will transport the local group.

It's really amazing to realize how many people think ALSCO NEW ENGLAND, INC. sell only aluminum combination windows and doors. These people are very much misinformed for ALSCO leads the industry in all types of Aluminum Building Products including siding, awnings, roofs to mention just a few.

All our products are installed by factory trained men and a service and maintenance crew is kept on payroll for year-round service to our customers.

People like to do business with reputable firms who stand behind their products. ALSCO does just this - try us out and you'll know what I mean!

Yours for better living,

"Third Best Sport" Opens At Vokes Theatre, Nov. 13

Vokes Players' cast of "The Third Best Sport" in rehearsal. Seated: Bob Sanders, Jane Hodgkinson, Greg Wolfe, Nancy Stedfast. Rear: John Bennett, Betsy Sweidler, Jean Clampitt, Lee Covington, Peter Salvucci, and George Mayberry. (Willard B. Dik)

WAYLAND -- "The Third Best Sport," the Vokes Players' spirited new play of a bride faced with an unexpected "other woman" in the form of her husband's business, will open at the Vokes Theatre on the Boston Post Road on Nov. 13 for four performances to be held on Nov. 13, 14, 20 and 21.

Warren Ericksen is the director with Fran Fisher in charge of production. Set design for the lush Palm Beach interior is by Walter Derman of Sudbury and Millie Engbert of Wayland. Costumes are being handled by Barbara Barrett, Nancy Tanger, and Elinor Williams; hand props by Pat Ericksen and Jo Bertelsen; and stage props by Martha Charnock and Mary Ann Wolfe. Doug Dickey, Don Jones, Bob Paine, Dick Eckler, Bob Charnock, Earl Bourne and Kemp Reade are working on set construction.

Ruth Bandelin is in charge of make-up with assistance from Carol Stites and Joan Havener. Frank Stites and Homer MacDonald will handle the lighting and sound effects and Mary Salvucci is prompter for the play.

In the cast are Jean Clampitt, Jane Hodgkinson, Nancy Stedfast, Betsy Sweidler, John Barrett, Lee Covington, George Mayberry, Peter Salvucci, Bob Sanders and Greg Wolfe. Mrs. Horace Gray of Shaw Drive is in charge of tickets.

W. S. C. S. Members Hold Fall Fiesta Fair Nov. 7

WAYLAND -- The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Community Methodist Church of Cohituate will hold its annual "Fall Fiesta Fair" on Saturday, Nov. 7 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

A high spot of the Fair will be a fashion show, beginning at 2:30 p.m., which will feature the latest creations of some of the women members of the Church.

A cafeteria lunch will be served during the day and a large variety of gifts as well as home-made food and candy will be for sale.

In charge of the various tables are Aprons, Mrs. Hazel Taylor; Food, Mrs. Eleanor Wirick; Candy, Miss Winnie Hallenbrook; Christmas Decorations, Mrs. Mayo and Mrs. Beaumont; Fancy Work, Mrs. Flora Lewis and Mrs. Carrie Lewis; Toys, Mrs. Edith Williams; Attic Treasures, Mrs. Ethel Dudley; Jewelry, Mrs. Mary Baker; Books, Miss Eleanor Walker; Knit Goods, Mrs. Estelle Lawrence; and Grabs, Mrs. Bertha Wormley.

Mrs. Chisler and Mrs. Mims are overall co-chairmen.

Wanted: Merchandise For Annual Girl Scout Fair

WAYLAND -- All kinds of salable merchandise - toys, books, games, jewelry, plants, and "attic treasures" - are wanted by the Girl Scouts for their Annual Fair to be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 21, at the Trinitarian Congregational Church.

Proceeds from the fair, which will also feature games for children, lunch and snacks, will be used to help send a group of 8th grade Girl Scouts on a trip to Washington D.C.

Mrs. Francis Newton (Hilltop 3-6000) is in charge of picking up any donations which may be offered. She suggests that a good slogan might be "Let's make November clean out-the-attic-and-send-the-girls-to-Washington month."

MIDDLESEX 4-H CLUBS

Middlesex County 4-H Club work will be kicked off this fall with an old fashioned rally to be held in Cary Memorial Hall in Lexington on Saturday, Nov. 14, at 7:30 p.m.

County 4-H medals for project proficiency and the new Key Club awards for all-round 4-H work will be given out. The medal winners will compete against other top county winners in the state for State Awards and a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

Wreath Lessons

WAYLAND -- Mrs. C. Norman Collard of the Wayland Garden Club will give a course of four lessons, beginning Nov. 6, at her home in Millbrook Road on the making of wreaths and other holiday decorations from cones and nuts. Other classes will be held Nov. 13, Nov. 20 and Dec. 4, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Members should bring sandwiches. Coffee will be served. Sixty per cent of the small fee will go to the Club's sanctuary project. For information, call Mrs. Collard, EL 8-4862, after 7 p.m.

"Child Personality" At Nov. 9 SMARC Meeting

The public is invited to attend the monthly meeting of the South Middlesex Association for Retarded Children which will be held on Nov. 9 at 8 p.m. in Sherill Hall of St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Natick.

St. Ann's Guild Fair

WAYLAND -- St. Ann's Guild's Annual Fair will be held on Saturday, Nov. 7, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the High School Gym.

There will be outdoor rides, children's games and door prizes for all age groups. Featured items at this year's sale will be home-made baked goods and handmade articles including knit goods, doll clothes, baby gifts, and attic treasures.

WAYLAND -- America's only wandering minstrels, Seraffyn and Cherubin, will arrive in Wayland on Nov. 20 with their lute, and will present a repertoire of songs from the folklore of many lands.

The place is the Wayland High School gym, sponsored by the Claypit Hill P.T.A., 8:30 p.m. and tickets are $1.50 at the door, or may be reserved in advance by calling Mrs. Wesley Tiech.

Undefeated In Soccer

WESTON--Meadowbrook School retained its undefeated record in soccer this year when it downed Applewild School of Fitchburg 3-0 in its Oct. 29 game at Meadowbrook field. Thomas S. Barrows Jr., of Boston Post Road, scored two of the goals and Karl Finison of Cart Path

Road was credited with an assist the third goal. Karl had also scored two of the three goals which accounted for the Meadowbrook victory over the Dedham Country Day School on October 22.

The next game of the season will be a return game with Belmont Hill School to be held at Belmont on Nov. 12.

A. I. M. Planners Meet

Shown above are Kalman Novak, music director for Adventures in Music, and members of the organization's committee, music supervisors from the participating towns.

The group recently met, together with Frederick Walkey, President of "A.I.M.", to discuss programming for the first two concerts to be given for children of grades 4, 5, 6 on Jan. 23 and grades 1, 2, 3 on Feb. 6 at Carey Hall, Lexington. The committee decided that program notes would be prepared in advance and distributed to the participating schools.

In Wayland Mrs. Pauline Radford, director of music for the elementary grades, will present recordings of the selections to her classes, where possible, and conduct sessions in advance of the concerts to acquaint pupils both with the music to be performed and the musical vocabulary which may be employed by Mr. Novak in his commentary accompanying the concerts.

Weston 28, Westwood 6

(Next: Millbury at Millbury)

WESTON -- Weston beat Westwood, 28 - 6, on a heavy field on Oct. 31, with full back Jay Adams scoring on a 45-yard run and half-back Curt Evans sprinting 35 yards around end for another touchdown.

Other touchdowns were made by John Mahoney, on a pass from Forbes McMullin, and Mike McDonald, on a two-yard plunge. Weston still has its best record in recent years, untied and undefeated except by Ipswich, which stands unbeaten near the top of the list of Class D schools.

Weston players: Duffy, Butcher, le; Ruland, Stockmayer, Parlee, lt; Tyler, DiRizzo, Gates, lg; Colter, Pokers, Bullwinkle, c; D'Antonio, French, rg; Perry, Leone, DeBedetto, rt; Mahoney, Lenhart, Aker, re; McMullin, White, qb; McDonald, Foster, lhb; Evans, B. Rizzo, rhb; J. Adams, D. Adams, fb.

Wayland 30, Ashland 0

Next: Bedford at Bedford

Steve Kruse

WAYLAND -- Steve Kruse and Ed Johnsen scored their first touchdowns of the season and Jerry Welchel scored two more, one on a 48-yard run, as Wayland defeated Ashland, 30 to 0, on a rainy field on Oct. 31.

Since Ashland defeated Wayland, 24 - 20, back in 1955, Wayland has not been beaten. It has been tied once, by Scituate.

After the score had been established, the Wayland reserves played the last quarter.

An innovation was a small squad of assistant managers, who ran on the field at every time out to scrape the mud from the cleats of the Wayland players.

The Wayland players: Bradley, Parker, le; Furst, Kelley, lt; DePoalo, Duane, lg; Marsh, Arnold, c; Morrell, Potter, rg; Wesley, Patton, rt; Waldman, Porrell, re; Welchel, Perodeau, qb; Johnsen, Scott, lhb; Kruse, Morris, Houghton, rhb; Dreher, Sullivan, fb.

WESTON -- William H. Hulsman son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Howard Hulsman of 129 Ridgeway Road, is one of 41 cadets to have been pledged recently to The Pershing Rifles, Company 2-8, of Clarendon College of Technology in Potsdam, New York.

A 1959 graduate of Kents Hill School in Maine, Cadet Hulsman is a freshman engineering student.

Veteran's Day Service

WESTON -- Veteran's Day Services, sponsored by the American Legion Post in Weston, will be held on Nov. 11 in commemoration of the nation's war dead. The Post membership and community residents are invited to assemble at the Memorial adjacent to the Town Hall at 10:45, when a wreath will be placed on the stone and a brief, solemn service observed.

Church services to which the public also is invited will follow at 11:15 at St. Peter's Episcopal Church and will be conducted by Rev. Phillip Krug. Transportation from the Town Hall to the church will be available to any individual desiring to attend.

Waltham Hospital served 215 Weston persons in 1958.

check-up, three briefcases full of snakes belonging to Mr. Irving Keene, biology teacher at Wayland High School.

Dr. Donaldson drove the boys in and let them out opposite the Museum, then drove away. Charles walked through two lines of stationary automobiles, then was struck by a vehicle in the third lane and knocked 10 feet.

Franklin ran for a police officer, then rode to the hospital in the ambulance. In the hospital he stayed until 1:30 p.m., pushing Charles up to the x-ray room and acting as volunteer nurse.

Charles and Franklin are jointly interested in photography, and some of their pictures have appeared in the Crier. Franklin, a thorough reporter, wrote down in a notebook the exact remarks made by Charles at this harrowing moment in his life. One was: "I don't need an ambulance. I'm fine."

Mr. Keene's snakes didn't get their checkup. Franklin, who is a snake keeper himself, kept them in the hospital for several hours, then brought them home again. "Did the hospital people know you had snakes with you?" he was asked.

"Some of the nurses knew there were snakes in the bag," he said. "The others thought I was nice to be carrying Mr. Keene's brief-

Little Known Colleges?

WAYLAND -- The administration of Wayland High School and the Scholarship Fund Committee have found a need for information concerning colleges not generally known in this area, but to which seniors may wish to apply. It might be of benefit for students to talk to alumni so that they may ask questions not generally answered in the catalogues.

Any college graduate willing to discuss his or her college with student or parents please call: Mrs. Bartol, ELMwood 8-4503, or Mrs. Somers, ELMwood 8-7470.

Party Managers

Wayland Man On Quiz Program In N. Y., Almost

WAYLAND -- When Lawrence W. Jones of Bow Road was notified on Oct. 21 to be in New York the following Friday to appear as a contestant on the TV quiz show, Tic Tac Dough, it seemed that here was the culmination of over a year of examinations, interviews and letters from producer's assistants.

Accordingly he went to New York City and presented himself at the requisite studio, introduced himself to the producer, (a new one who had replaced one fired by NBC for the now famous rigging testimony), met the current champion, (blonde), his opponent to be, and was shown around the studio. Everything was exactly the way it was when seen on the screen, and the most interesting thing to him was the machine which "drew" the Tic Tac Dough squares.

Next he was told to stand by for rehearsal, and to change his white shirt, which doesn't photograph well, to a blue one which gives the appearance of white on the screen. Then he was asked by an assistant producer if he'd mind shaving off his mustache in the interests of the show. It was taken off by a makeup man, who told him to stand by to be made up for the camera.

Following this build-up were two rehearsals to ready one camera crew and contestants, with sample questions: "Name a city in Italy." (Rome) and "Did Shakespeare wear a beard?" (sometimes).

Just when it seemed to be nearing his turn to walk through the contestants' doorway the producer sent for him, gathered the other six contestants about him for a "conference" and informed the stunned group that by order of the top brass the show had been removed from the air as of that morning, and that he, plus Bill Wendell, the popular MC of the show, and the whole production crew had lost their jobs.

But, he added, the contestants could keep their winnings and could have another chance of going on another show, Dough-Re-Mi or Concentration. In addition, he was giving each one a Polaroid camera.

Mr. Jones says he guesses he's had his fling.

Elected A.I.M. Director

WESTON -- Mr. Richard W. Shriner of 77 Dean Road was recently elected a director of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts.

President and director of French, Shriner & Urner Manufacturing Company since 1952, Mr. Shriner is also secretary and a director of French, Shriner & Urner Retail Stores Company and affiliated companies.

He attended Kimball Union and Williams College and, after serving with the Army Air Corps in World War II, he attended Babson Institute and was graduated from the Bentley School of Accounting.

Mr. Shriner is chairman of the New England Chapter of the Young Presidents Organization, a member of the Brae Burn Country Club and the Beacon Society of Boston.

He is married to the former Elizabeth Toner and they have six children.

Nearly 400 Weston boys were in Norumbega Council, Boy Scouts, in 1958.

UNITED FUND

American Red Cross Water Safety Program which is carried on at the swimming pool every summer. More than $1000 was spent by the Red Cross last year for the Water Safety Program alone. In cooperation with the Recreation Commission the Red Cross sends town employees to the Aquatic School at South Hanson, for a training course in water safety, provides pool equipment, and pays the salaries of two full-time lifeguard-instructors at the pool. During the 1959 season, 121 boys and girls were issued certificates for the completion of various courses in swimming and first aid instruction.

Wayland's young people have benefited from the United Fund through many of the services it supports. Most popular are the Junior Town House with a total of 1060 young people served by the Town House over the last year; the Boy Scouts with an enrollment of 528, the Girl Scouts with 372, and the Camp Fire Girls with 64.

In addition, 313 residents were admitted to Boston and surrounding hospitals which are supported in part by the United Fund. Health services, specialized children's services, family services, employment institutions, and agencies for the handicapped found another 47 residents of the town taking advantage of the opportunities which these agencies were able to offer through United Fund support.

How Firebird Looks?

WESTON -- After hearing Stravinsky's "Firebird Suite," recently, 4th grade pupils at the Country School were asked by their teacher, Mrs. Carolyn Rasmussen, and Miss Harriet Hair, art teacher, to draw pictures showing how they think the firebird looks. Above, left to right, are Douglas Campbell, Ellen Crocker, Pamela Boyes and Martha Pearson, at work, with Mrs. Rasmussen, in background, at the phonograph.

Halloween Paraders

WESTON -- Many 1st grade pupils of the Country School took part in a Halloween parade on Oct. 30. They were pupils of Miss Mary Miller, Mrs. Catherine Devereaux, Miss Marilyn Anderson, Mrs. Helen Loomis and Mrs. Mary Poutas. Paraders, above, left to right, Maureen Kelleher, Peter Shotwell, Paul Heywood and Joan Calkins.

WESTON -- Miss Barbara I. Burke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Burke of 13 Ledgewood Road, was recently elected president of the Spanish Club at the University of Massachusetts. Miss Burke, a senior, is majoring in Spanish. She is also a member of the Newman Club, the Pre-Med Club, and is on the Honors List.

Reading Room, Monday, Wednesday, Friday 12 - 3 p.m.

The meaning for today of the book of Genesis will be set forth in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Adam and Fallen Man" at Christian Science services Sunday.

Opening selections to be read from the Bible present these verses: "God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them . . . And God saw every thing that he had made, and behold, it was very good" (Genesis 1:27, 31).

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this citation will be read (183:21-23): "Divine Mind rightly demands man's entire obedience, affection, and strength. No reservation is made for any lesser loyalty. Obedience to Truth gives man power and strength. Submission to error superinduces loss of power."

JERICO PROCEEDS DIVIDED

WESTON -- Gifts from the proceeds of "Jericho," the successful musical production presented last April and May by the First Parish Friendly Society, were made recently to the Waltham Hospital and the David A. Perry Memorial Fund established by the Weston Boosters, Incorporated.

A check for $2,910 was presented by Mr. George Amadon, president of the Society, to Mr. Natham I. Greene, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Waltham Hospital, for the purchase of needed hospital equipment and furnishings.

More than $4,000, the balance of the "Jericho" proceeds, was presented by Mr. Amadon to Mr. K. A. McMullin, president of the Weston Boosters, to be used for scholarship aid to Weston students going on to college. Aim of the Boosters is to reach a capital goal of $10,000 for the David A. Perry Memorial Fund, the interest from which would then be used.

Radcliffe Fund Workers

Mrs. Paul D. Bartlett of 288 Concord Road, Weston, was one of the Radcliffe College Fund chairmen from all over the United States attending the College's Development Fund Conference held in Cambridge on Oct. 22 and 23.

Other local Radcliffe alumnae are serving as members of the Eastern Massachusetts Fund Committee which will spend the next two months on an intensive personal call campaign to help in raising the $10 million in capital gifts currently sought by the College for endowment and building needs.

Committee members from Weston and Wayland include: Mrs. John G. Brooks of 178 Boston Post Road, Mrs. John E. Cain Jr., of 21 Lantern Lane, Mrs. John C. Gray of 19 Fairhope Road, Mrs. Dudley B. Hartung of 111 Sudbury Road, Mrs. David Hurley of 41 Aberdeen Road, Mrs. William M. Lam of 324 Merriam Street, Mrs.

Bassett-Howe

WESTON -- Miss Patricia Jean Howe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Howe of Wellesley Hills, was married to Mr. Donald Knowlton Bassett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Bassett of 91 Concord Road, at the Wellesley Congregational Church. The ceremony, performed by Rev. John Wallace, was followed by a reception at the Wellesley Country Club.

The bride was graduated from Lasell Junior College and Mr. Bassett attended Northeastern University. The couple will make their home in Natick. Above, Mr. and Mrs. Donald K. Bassett.

Scott-Whiteside

WAYLAND -- Mr. and Mrs. John Scott of Ridgefield, Connecticut, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Elena, to Duncan Whiteside, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Whiteside, now of Scottsville, Virginia, who lived until recently on Rice Road.

Miss Elena Scott
(Fred Marcus)

Miss Scott and Mr. Whiteside met last June when both were guides at the American exhibit held in Moscow.

Miss Scott attended Mary A. Burnham School in Northampton and was graduated from Swarthmore College.

Mr. Whiteside attended the old Center School in Wayland, then prepared at St. Paul's School for Harvard, where he is a member of Fox Club. He served in Germany with the American Army.

The wedding is planned for June.

Frieh - Crohan

WAYLAND -- Miss Mary Eileen Crohan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Crohan of Framingham and a member of the staff at the Parmenter Health Center, was married at St. Stephen's Church in Framingham on Oct. 24 to Mr. Francis Philip Frieh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. Frieh of Hopkinton. A reception at the Sudbury Inn followed the ceremony.

The bride wore a bouffant gown of lace and tulle over taffeta and carried a prayerbook covered with white Cymbidium orchids, stephanotis, and ivy.

Miss Judith Crohan, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Evelyn Crohan, also a sister of the bride, and Miss Joanne Frieh, a sister of the bridegroom.

The best man was Mr. Edward Kirley of Framingham and the ushers were Mr. David Mullins of Hopkinton and Mr. William Crohan, brother of the bride.

Miss Crohan was graduated from the Framingham Union Hospital School of Nursing in 1958. Mr. Frieh is associated with the Pyne Sand and Stone Company in Hopkinton.

Following a motor trip through Northern New England, the couple will live on Almara Drive in Hopkinton.

John Zorn To Receive An Honorary M. A. Degree

WESTON -- Mr. John W. Zorn of 23 Longmeadow Road is to be given an honorary Master of Arts degree by his alma mater this Saturday. Mr. Zorn, who was graduated from Boston's Emerson College in 1934, is now Director of Summer Session and Associate Professor of Speech at this Boston college.

After graduating from Emerson, Mr. Zorn took a Master's degree in Education from Boston University, and did post-graduate work at Columbia and Harvard. In 1940, he joined the Weston Public Schools where he is now Director of Speech Education.

He has had four one-act plays published, as well as a textbook, "Speech for All", which is in wide use in public schools both here and in the midwest.

Mr. Zorn is married to the former Mildred Lundgren of Worcester. The Zorns have a daughter, Geraldine, 12.

Mrs. Marion E. Sherburne

WESTON -- Funeral services were held at the Wentworth Chapel in Waltham on Nov. 2 for Mrs. Marion E. (Thompson) Sherburne of 72 Chestnut Street, widow of Mr. Nathan B. Sherburne, Reverend Joseph E. O'Donnell Jr., former pastor of the First Baptist Church of Weston, officiated.

Mrs. Sherburne, a resident of Weston for many years, had been active in the First Baptist Church.

She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Ruth H. Morton, with whom she made her home, a son, Oliver N. Sherburne of Shreveport, Louisiana, three grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren.

WAYLAND -- Mrs. Eleanor W. Lambert, Assistant Director of Admissions at Northeastern University, will visit Wayland High School on Thursday, Nov. 12, to talk with members of the senior class about Northeastern.

Country Garden Club Members Win Awards

WESTON -- Mrs. Robert E. Marsh and Mrs. John M. Cole, both members of The Country Garden Club of Weston, won prizes at the "Harvest & Chrysanthemum Show" at Horticultural Hall, Oct. 15 - 18.

Mrs. Marsh won the Tri-Color for the best arrangement in the show with a unique design using a Bali Head, Canna lily leaves, and green mums. She has won several awards in the past, but this was Mrs. Marsh's first Tri-Color, one of the most prized awards for an exhibitor.

Mrs. Cole, who has also won awards, took a second place in the same class with a lovely mass bouquet of chrysanthemums in apricot tones and peony leaves.

Blood will clot in about 12 minutes in a healthy man.

No Natives Listed Among

Officers Of Wayland LWV

WAYLAND -- So rapidly has the town grown and so much has it changed in recent years, that a survey of the officers of the League of Women Voters shows not one Wayland native listed. They come from Florida, California, Arkansas and even Boston, with wide backgrounds of education and interest, but their various points of origin reflect the great transformation since World War II.

(A similar survey of Weston League of Women Voters officers showed the same thing. Not one native of the town.)

Mrs. James Flanagan, President, born in Minnesota, grew up in Belmont and studied psychology at Pembroke. Mrs. Luther Davis, 1st VP and Finance Chairman, has remained close to her home town of Boston, though she studied English literature at Oberlin College, Ohio, and was a staff reporter for the Worcester Telegram. Mrs. Richard Durant, 2nd VP and Foreign Policy Chairman I, is close to home both geographically and subject-wise, coming from Cambridge, having majored in political science at Radcliffe and Stanford University.

Secretary Mrs. John Pratt lived in many parts of the United States after leaving her native Cohasset. She studied at Katharine Gibbs. Treasurer Mrs. Anthony Alesi studied biology at Mundelein College near Chicago, her home town.

Of the eight elected directors, Mrs. Herbert Lipton, on water resources, hails from New Jersey, where she studied fine arts at Douglas College. After continuing her studies at Radcliffe, Mrs. Lipton worked at the Boston Fine Arts Museum. Mrs. Charles Peters, on unit organization, is from South Carolina. After studying zoology and chemistry at Winthrop College, N. C., Mrs. Peters was a cancer research assistant at laboratories in Bar Harbor, Me., and at Yale.

Voters' service chairman, Mrs. Warren Eriksen, who was president of the Wayland League last year, comes from Florida, where she studied business administration at the University of Florida. Before coming to Wayland she was traffic manager and program director of Radio Station WRU in Florida. Publications director

Mrs. George Mayberry came to the Boston area from Alabama, where she studied at Huntington College.

Youngstown, Ohio, was home to regional planning director Mrs. Robert Page. She studied Geography at Smith and the University of Michigan. Mrs. Ralph Garry, who heads the discussion leaders, is a native of California, where she studied physical education at the University of California. After teaching physical education at the high school level, Mrs. Gary spent two years overseas as a recreation director for the Red Cross.

Mrs. Albert Hughes, on public employment, is from New Hampshire. She studied English and French at B.U. Legislation director Mrs. Gregory Wolfe was born in Arkansas but grew up in Los Angeles. She studied international relations at UCLA and the University of Mexico, and subsequently worked as a researcher for the Office of Inter-American Affairs in Washington. The Wolfes' recently spent two years in Honduras.

Of the eight appointed directors, Mrs. L. William Bertelsen is in charge of the Bulletin. Having come from Richmond, Va. and Yonkers, N.Y., Mrs. Bertelsen studied home economics at Cornell. Among her varied jobs was one as employment manager of a department store.

California-born social director, Mrs. David K. Biddle, came to Wayland by way of Illinois, where she spent most of her childhood. At Smith she majored in government. Public relations director Mrs. Lewis Billig, a native New Yorker, studied home economics and chemistry at Hunter College, and worked as a research food chemist.

Mrs. Howard Jenkins, originally of Ohio, is public education director. She studied mathematics at Ohio State and worked as a social and market research analyst. Mrs. John Quackenbos, foreign policy II chairman, was born in New York but has lived most of her life in Newton. After studying economics at Wellesley she worked at the Harvard Business School.

In charge of local continuing responsibilities, Mrs. Loring Raymond is from New Jersey. She studied economics at Wellesley and worked in the field of personnel training. Mrs. James Sullivan, local education director, was born in Boston, though she has lived in many cities throughout the country. She studied English at B.U. Membership director Mrs.

Mural At Country School

WESTON -- A large Thanksgiving mural has recently been completed by some 30 6th grade students under the direction of Mr. Robert Lavin, art director, at the Country School. Now on display in the front foyer, the painting shows Pilgrims and Indians in a traditional Plymouth setting.

Left to right, above, are Tom Paine, Marilyn Rohn, Beth Parlee and Susan Paxton, with Mr. Lavin, at extreme right, giving a suggestion.

Kenneth LeBaron is a native of the Boston area, and studied the history of religion at Mt. Holyoke. She spent two years in Bremer-haven, Germany, accompanying her husband, who was in the Dental Corps.

Wayland Garden Club Plans To Beautify Bog In Center

WAYLAND -- The community is invited to stop in at the Village Shopper all day Friday, Nov. 13, to see an exhibit of the plans for the Wildlife Sanctuary and Wetlands Arboretum which the Wayland Garden Club is undertaking to develop in the boggy area in front of the present High School and also to see the two exquisite Steuben crystal vases which are to be raffled off on April 26, 1960, as one of the projects by which the Club hopes to raise the thousands of dollars necessary for the engineering operation.

The Veno Realtors have loaned the front of the vacant store next to the Co-op for the day's exhibit and Garden Club members will be on hand to explain the plans and to sell raffle tickets.

The vases, which were donated to the Club for raffle purposes, are of two different designs; one purely contemporary and the other a classic footed urn. With or without flowers, either would make an attractive home decoration or a very special gift, and flower arrangers would particularly enjoy the challenge of using them in a design.

The raffle tickets will sell for 25 cents each, 5 for $1, or $5 for a book of 25, and the winner of the first drawing will have first choice of the two vases.

Mrs. William N. Benson of Lincoln Road is in charge of the raffle and is being assisted by Mrs. David Turner, Mrs. John Tanager and Mrs. Hugh Colliton.

Engineering and landscape plans for the Sanctuary project, which is to be undertaken on the town land bordered by the State Road, Pelham Island Road, and the High

Bluebird On Nov. 6

WESTON -- A male Wood Duck was seen at the Duck Feeding Area (Lawson); Mr. Stackpole of Wayland reports hearing Evening Grosbeaks on Sudbury Road, Weston, near the Wayland Line; Mrs. Jennings, Glen Road, Weston, had a Bluebird in her yard all day on Nov. 6; Billy Lawson, Loring Road, Weston, saw a Carolina Wren at his feeder on Nov. 7; six Pectoral Sandpipers have been seen in Wayland (Stackpole and Garrey), a late date for this bird. Have plenty of sunflower seed on hand in case Evening Grosbeaks appear; and watch for Pine Grosbeaks eating fruit of the flowering crab - one of their favorite foods. These birds are very unsuspicious, and if one moves slowly they can be approached to within three or four feet. -- C.E.S.

Holiday Guest?

Many foreign students attending schools in the Boston area would greatly appreciate spending the Thanksgiving holiday with an American family. Anyone who would like to have a student in his home for the holiday may contact Mrs. David Little, TW 4-3666, or Mrs. Alfred at the International Student Center, UN 4-1600.

Christmas Seals

The 53d annual Christmas Seal sale will begin next week when more than 200,000 letters containing seals will be received by residents of Middlesex County. Weston chairman is Mrs. Albert Cross and Wayland chairman is Mrs. Rexford Moss.

School access roads, were presented to members of all the appropriate Town boards at a meeting last May. The Selectmen, Park Department, Planning Board, Board of Health and the Finance Committee have gone over the plans and have given their approval.

It is hoped that engineering operations can be got under way by next fall providing that the March Town Meeting approves engineering plans for Pelham Island Road; that work on the section of the road near the site is completed during the summer; and that weather permits the dredging operation to take place.

The cost of the dredging alone is estimated at $2500 to $3000 and the Garden Club is planning a series of fund-raising projects to add to the money it has already raised over the last two years. The raffle is the first of the projects this year and the course of holiday-wreath-making lessons now being given by Mrs. C. Norman Collard is another.

(There is still room for a few more people in Mrs. Collard's class, which is scheduled to meet on Nov. 13 and 20 and Dec. 4 with another session to be added if necessary.)

During the year, the Club will

Smooth Going Predicted For New High School

WAYLAND -- Local residents who watched the Wayland football team diving into a sea of mud a couple of weeks ago will be happy to know that the football field at the new High School has been graded and seeded and the prospects are fine for a thick tuft of turf come the 1960 season.

Another happy prediction about the new school's construction is that the present steel strike is not expected to affect it in any way. Most of the steel needed for the project is already on the site and the steel window frames, ordered from an English firm, are due for delivery on Nov. 14.

New Gas Main Being Laid Along Concord Road

WAYLAND -- Construction has begun on Nov. 3 for a new large gas main to run along Concord Road from Baker Bridge Road in Lincoln to Boston Post Road in Wayland Center. The main, which is being installed by the Boston Gas Company to meet the increased demand for gas in Wayland and Sudbury, will be ready for use in about a month or six weeks.

Sections of Concord Road will be torn up for the side trenches as the work progresses but the Gas Company plans to have the main installed in lengths of a few hundred feet or so and the trenches filled in immediately so that motorists and residents will be inconvenienced as little as possible.

The new main will run a total distance of about five miles, three of which will be a 12-inch main and approximately two miles of which will be a 6-inch installation. The main is of the steel, welded type with special protective coating and joints which are x-rayed to insure a perfect seal.

The installation is being done by Bond Brothers, Inc. of Everett.

Kindergarten Classes Will Begin On Nov. 16

WESTON -- The six Weston kindergarten classes will open on Monday, Nov. 16, at their regular quarters in the Case House, 89 Wellesley Street. According to recent notification received by the Weston School Committee from the Elementary School Building Committee, at least three classrooms in the new elementary school will be ready for occupancy on that date.

Children beginning the year in the morning session will shift to the afternoon class period on Feb. 29. This date also marks the change to the morning session for those starting kindergarten in the afternoon group.

Town Meeting Quorum Of 100 Is Required

WAYLAND -- Voters are reminded that a quorum of 100 citizens will be necessary for the special Town Meeting to be held at the High School auditorium on Wednesday, Nov. 18, at 7:45 p.m., and the public spirited are asked to appear, even if the program does not seem to be spectacular.

There are only three articles in the warrant, and these deal with appropriations for various departments and with various odds and ends of municipal housekeeping. Notices of the meeting have been mailed to residents of the town.

Ground Will Be Broken For New Rivers School Nov. 14

Architects' view of section of new Rivers School Plant.

WESTON -- Ground will be broken for the new Rivers Country Day School at Weston on Saturday, Nov. 14 at 11 a.m. to mark the start of construction of the entirely new school plant, it has been announced by George H. Blackwell, headmaster.

The first symbolic turning of earth, representing the school's transfer from its crowded campus in Brookline to the spacious, 31-acre site at 337 Winter Street, on Nonesuch Pond, will be accomplished by Frederick W. Haffenreffer, president of the board of trustees.

Also participating in the event will be George H. Blackwell, headmaster; Dr. Philip H. Walker, chairman of the building committee; Edward M. Dickson, member of the Weston Board of Selectmen; John H. Underhill Jr., president of the Rivers Country Day School Alumni Association; Dr. Hathorn P. Brown, chairman of the Development Fund campaign; Robert L. Henderson, vice chairman and co-chairman of the alumni division for the Development Fund; the Rev. Philip S. Krug, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Weston; Harwood Ellis, assistant

Dr. Thomas C. Peebles Elected A Fellow Of Academy Of Pediatrics

WESTON -- Dr. Thomas C. Peebles of 100 Summer Street, was one of 256 Fellows voted into membership in the American Academy of Pediatrics at the organization's scientific meeting in Chicago recently.

The doctor met the Academy's eligibility requirements which are: practiced pediatrics for five years, passed rigorous tests of the American Board of Pediatrics, exhibited evidence of high ethical and professional standing and clinical experience, and showed productivity in teaching, investigative work, clinical studies, publications, or public or governmental activities in the field of pediatrics.

The American Academy of Pediatrics is the professional society of child specialists in the Western Hemisphere and has Fellows in the United States, Canada, Central and South America and the West Indies. Its work is dedicated exclusively to the improvement of child health and welfare.

New Post Office Will Be Opened On Nov. 16

Weston Police Fixed Scary Noise Upstairs

WESTON -- By an appropriate application of oil, Weston police officers recently calmed the fears of a woman baby sitter in a local home.

It was getting late in the evening when the woman telephoned that she could hear noises upstairs and thought there was a prowler in the house.

Weston officers went to the scene, climbed the stairs and investigated.

They found the household pet, a hamster, running around in his exercise wheel. The wheel squeaked.

The officers oiled the wheel into a state of silence and departed, leaving behind them freedom from fear.

David Hagerty, 3 1/2, Saved From Drowning By Jeffrey Joyce

WAYLAND -- David Hagerty, 3 1/2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Hagerty of 8 Tally Ho Lane, was rescued from drowning on Nov. 5 by Jeffrey Joyce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Joyce of Sherman Bridge Road, after he had fallen into Brown's Pond.

As far as the story can be made out, David followed other boys to play near the pond. This was around 3:15 p.m. Jeffrey who had stayed home from St. Sebastian's School that day because he wasn't feeling well, was in the dooryard of his home.

Suddenly one of the small boys came running, screaming that David had fallen into the pond.

Jeffrey ran down and saw David lying face down in the water, in deep water next to the dam. He was so near the shore that Jeffrey was able to reach him without going into the water himself.

The boy was unconscious, but Jeffrey rolled him over and applied such artificial respiration as he knew. Pretty soon David came to. His parents called a physician who checked him over, a little later, and pronounced him good as new.

Letters to the EDITOR

Which Way The Wind?

To the Editor:

Of interest to many people in Wayland and Weston should be the new play, "Which Way The Wind?", by Philip C. Lewis, to be presented by the American Friends Service Committee at New England Mutual Hall, 225 Clarendon Street, Boston, Thursday and Friday, Nov. 19 and 20 at 8:30 p.m.

"Which Way The Wind" is a full-length dramatic production in a new form called DocuDrama. In the manner of "Our Town", with no scenery and few accessories, a company of four actors, including a narrator, takes a rapidly shifting variety of parts, conveying a vivid sense of life throughout America and throughout our past and present history. This play, which is a dramatic search for an alternative to violence in our nuclear age, is not completely grim but has humor and other touches that soften the impact.

The play, already presented successfully in Philadelphia, is a first-rate performance, well-reviewed, with praise for the narrator, Albert Bigelow, author of "The Voyage of the Golden Rule", and for the three gifted actors, Lorraine Ell, Tom Klunis and Ed Stevlingson.

Tickets at $1 (Students), $1.50 and $2.50 (Reserved) may be obtained from Mrs. John B. Paine Jr., Cedar 5-5048, or from the American Friends Service Committee, UN 4-3150.

Very sincerely yours,
Rita Paine
Weston.

Green Thumb Meeting

WAYLAND -- The Green Thumb Garden Club held its first open meeting on Nov. 9 at the home of Mrs. Frank Libby of Marshall Terrace.

Colored films on the techniques of growing house plants were shown by The Lexington Gardens.

Mrs. Vincent Manchester of Sherman Bridge Road was co-hostess for the meeting.

East-West Twinbrook?

WESTON--It could get confusing anytime after November 23 when Twinbrook residents in Weston will be able to dial Twinbrook numbers in Northern California directly, without benefit of an operator. Callers will be expected to dial "415" as a sort of warning before spinning the West Coast Twinbrook number. Then some wonderful new device will connect the Waltham Twinbrooker with the California Twinbrooker.

Leads Forum

WESTON -- Miss Marjorie Benedict, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manson Benedict of 25 Byron Road, led the forum following a lecture given recently by Prof. Vincent Scully Jr., associate professor in history of art at Yale University, at Mount Holyoke College. His lecture concerned architecture and sculpture.

Miss Benedict is chairman of the Friends of Art on campus. She has won a prize for graphic arts and honorable mention in the Goldberg sculpture contest and received the Janet F. Brooks memorial prize in painting. She is a Sarah Williston Scholar, a title given for excellence in scholarship during the freshman and sophomore years, and she appeared on the College Quiz Bowl last summer.

A senior, majoring in art at the College, Miss Benedict is a graduate of Weston High School.

WAYLAND -- Betsy Zumwalt, daughter of Mrs. Benjamin Howard of Draper Road, is on the all-girl football team at Harvard Law School, where she is a freshman. She was graduated from Radcliffe, cum laude, last June.

Town Meeting Is Obsolete, Management Experts Find

But Everybody Understands

The Town And Few Know

What A County Is For

Management consultants, those people who take the fun out of work by hanging over a fellow's shoulder and counting the number of motions he uses in performing Operation XK419 in the process of constructing a guided missile, have delved into town meetings in Connecticut and come up with the conclusion that they are obsolete.

Larger groups than towns are necessary, they say, in order to handle such matters as zoning, transportation, water supply, pollution, housing, recreation and general land use development. We need, they say, a regional, not local, kind of government.

Strangely enough, there are even a few heretics around here who think town meeting is an inefficient form of government. They have even spoken such views aloud, in cellars and other secret places. But that's nothing. There are still some persons, it is said, who deplore the execution of King Charles the First, a matter which most consider a closed issue.

Anyway, it is probably pretty safe to say that no movement to abolish town meeting around here is going to gather much momentum.

The general view is that town meeting, far from being obsolete, is rather a perfected institution. It has worked for more than three centuries and it still works.

A big open meeting makes for morality in government. Let somebody get up and hint at scandal in Town Hall and there will be the dickens to pay until the whole business is explained. (This use of the word scandal is not to be taken as a reference to fluoridation, which should rather be described as a hot potato.)

There already is a large regional governmental unit here. It is called the county, and the ordinary town resident knows about as much about it as he does about the internal administration of Afghanistan. Every election day the voter goes into the booth and finds on the ballot the names of candidates for County Commissioner, and he says to himself, "Who is that and what does he do?"

Then he votes for one or the other by party label or by hunch, as one picks a horse.

A local public official can be reached by phone. A county official, it is vaguely supposed, lives in Iceland, and has only the remotest connection with, or interest in, a local community.

The fact that the county authorities are undoubtedly good and faithful servants, working for the general welfare, has nothing to do with the case. The Selectmen are here and now, the County Commissioners are thought to be there and then.

Some look at the map and figure out that all the suburbs should join with poor old Boston and make it a great big city of 2,500,000 to 3,000,000.

But most of those who live in the towns have different ideas.

Wayland Woman's Club Hears Success Story

WAYLAND -- The resourcefulness and industry of two women who built a business and a home with their own hands was the subject of an illustrated talk presented at the first meeting of the Wayland Woman's Club on Nov. 3 by Miss Kay White of Freedom Acres Farm, Wilnot Flat, New Hampshire.

A unique tale of a do-it-yourself project unfolded before the audience of Wayland women and their guests as Miss White told of her experiences with Miss Donna Niles

They think they have a pretty good thing going and they have no desire to get lost in a crowd.

To be sure, it might not be much different. We can't get the Commonwealth to build a bypass around Wayland Center now, and under any other arrangement we probably still couldn't.

So the management consultants might as well stick to business, and make that miserable, and leave town meeting alone. Town meeting was here long before management consultants and, like motherhood, it will be here long after consultants are gone.

Under no other form of government, you see, can so many persons be persuaded to do so much work for the community for nothing. --D. B. W.

in overcoming one obstacle after another.

Miss White, a former Women's Army Corps captain, and Miss Niles, former major, clearing ground, digging foundations and mixing concrete themselves, have progressed from their first winter in a primitive shack with no electricity or running water to a modern, completely equipped ranch house with a kitchen annex for the making of the "Taste of the Wild" jellies and jams which they ship to all 50 states.

Mrs. Harold E. Belles, conducting her first business meeting as president of the Wayland Woman's Club, welcomed new members and introduced the various chairmen. Mrs. Angus Wilson, vice president, spoke on the activities of the newly formed hospitality committee and re-affirmed the club's objective to bring together in a friendly atmosphere women from all sections of Wayland.

Rev. P. H. Steinmetz
At St. Peter's Guild

Rev. P. H. Steinmetz

WESTON -- Rev. Philip Humason Steinmetz, associate to the general secretary of the Massachusetts Council of Churches, is to be the speaker at the meeting of St. Peter's Guild, to be held at the church at 1 p.m. Nov. 19.

Rev. Steinmetz is a clergyman of the Episcopal Church of the Diocese of Western Massachusetts. Mr. Steinmetz came to the Massachusetts Council in September, 1957, from Ashfield, Massachusetts where he had been for 12 years the vicar of St. John's Episcopal Church and pastor of the First Congregational Church.

Mr. Steinmetz's responsibilities on the staff of the Massachusetts Council of Churches as associate to the general secretary include primary responsibility for public relations, for the Department of the Ministry to Migrants, for the Department of the Town and Country Church, for fund raising and such miscellaneous tasks as fall to each member of the staff. His early experience in a Friends school, his life-long membership in the Episcopal Church, his many contacts with various other Christian churches in Union Theological Seminary and in his parish life have made him entirely at home in the varied traditions of the Christian faith.

Country Club

WESTON -- Massachusetts' "Woman of the Year in Gardening," Mrs. Gordon N. Roaf, will be the speaker at the Nov. 18 meeting of The Country Garden Club of Weston. She will speak on "Open House Decorations for Christmas" to members and guests.

The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Richard F. Schanzle. The arrangement theme for the day, "Thanksgiving" will be done by club members, Mrs. Robert E. Marsh and Mrs. Howard J. Morrison.

WESTON -- The Planning Committee of the Weston Congregational Church announces that their spiritual advisor for the balance of the church year will be the Rev. John A. Heidt, Minister of the Pleasant Street Congregational Church of Arlington. Rev. Heidt will appear as guest minister on Nov. 15 at 4 p.m. in the Jones House. Thereafter he will constantly make his spiritual and pastoral experience available to the growing congregation in Weston.

Friendly Society Play

WESTON -- Rehearsals have begun for The Friendly Society's Fall play, "Light Up The Sky", by Moss Hart, to be given Dec. 11 and 12. Included in the cast are Jim Wilcock, Dottie Donovan, John Birch, Edi Noel, Mary De Guzman, John Wells and Doug Hammond.

Elementary PTA

WESTON -- The first meeting of the Weston Elementary School Parent Teacher Association will be held on Nov. 18 at 8 p.m. at the Country School Auditorium. The topic for the evening will be "Guidance Activities in the Elementary Schools."

Participants on the program: Mr. Oliver Brown, Teacher of Grade VI, Principal; Mr. Henry DeRusha, Teacher of Grade VI, Principal; Mr. Walter P. Gleason, Principal; Mrs. Marjorie Burrill, Supervisor; Mr. Charles K. Cummings, Director of Guidance, and Mr. Thomas H. McFarlin, Senior Principal.

Each participant will speak briefly on a particular area in the Elementary School Guidance program, after which, questions from the audience will be answered by the speakers.

Refreshments will be served.

Girl Scout Film Showing

WESTON -- Does a girl usually change in any way after she has become a Girl Scout? Do Girl Scouts really try to live up to their promise and laws? Why do Girl Scout leaders keep at it year after year? Do we have enough troops in Weston to take care of all the girls who want to be Girl Scouts?

These questions will be answered graphically with the showing of a film strip at the Girl Scout House on Wednesday, Nov. 18, at 9:30 a.m., at the monthly meeting of the Weston Girl Scout Council, and on Tuesday, Dec. 1, at 9:30 a.m., at the Girl Scout leaders' meeting.

Mrs. Herman Koester Jr. and Mrs. Richard A. Howard attended a two-day briefing session on the results of the recent nation-wide Girl Scout Program Study. This study was made by the University of Michigan Survey Research Center to determine the actual interests of girls and how well the Girl Scout program is meeting their needs. Anyone interested in activities for young people is invited to attend one of these meetings and join in the discussion.

Weston Men's Club

WESTON -- The November meeting of the Men's Club of Weston will be held at the Weston High School on Wednesday, Nov. 18. Frank Shaw, Weston Chief of Police, will present a representative of the Registry of Motor Vehicles whose subject will be "Traffic Safety." He will have an interesting movie showing many of the causes of accidents, the dangers of driving and what the registry men are watching for on the highways of Massachusetts. Dinner will be served at 7 p.m. The Men's Club meetings are open to all men of Weston. For reservations, call Mr. Harry B. Jones at TW 4-0977.

WESTON -- Mrs. A. Bertrand Warren of 49 Woodchester Drive will be chairman of the hospitality committee at the meeting of the Northeastern University Faculty Wives, Nov. 13.

Red Barn Toy, Book Sale

WESTON -- An unusual event for Christmas shoppers will be offered to the community Nov. 18, from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. when the Red Barn School, 724 Boston Post Road, presents "A Holiday Mart", featuring educational toys and books for children of all ages.

Educational consultants will discuss toys and children's literature and will be happy to help with individual selections. New offerings and old favorites will be displayed by the cooperating merchants, A. T. Ball Co., Waltham, and the Village Book Stall, Weston.

Refreshments will be served and supervised play groups have been arranged for the children. Co-chairmen of the event are Mrs. Haldon L. Smith of Wayland and Mrs. Roy P. Sallen of Waltham.

Antiques Group Trip

WESTON -- A personally conducted tour by the owner of the Old Red House by the Dam, Mrs. Henry Flanders, will be featured by the Antiques Group at their next meeting on Monday, Nov. 16, at 3 p.m. Mrs. Flanders will discuss "How to make over an old house without modernizing it."

Members will meet in front of the Weston Town Hall at 2:30 p.m., and then proceed to the Henry Flanders home, also known as Hobby House Antique Shop, 17 Pleasant St., South Natick.

Ernest Kehr To Speak

Ernest Kehr

WESTON -- "U. S. Foreign Policy at Work" will be the subject of Mr. Ernest Kehr's lecture Friday, Nov. 20, at the Unitarian Parish House. This is the second lecture in the World Events series presented by the Women's Community League of Weston.

Mr. Kehr is widely recognized as an author and commentator and is a member of the editorial staff of the New York Herald Tribune.

Mr. Kehr has received six decorations from foreign rulers in appreciation for his work as journalist and lecturer.

Mr. Kehr will be speaking in Weston directly upon his return from Russia. Single tickets for the lecture will be sold at the door for 99 cents. Coffee will precede the talk, from 10 to 10:30.

Radcliffe Rummage Sale

WESTON -- Mrs. Peter Angelo of 49 Newton Street is chairman of this area for the annual Radcliffe Club of Boston Rummage Sale. Wearing apparel, electrical appliances, silver books, objects d'art, toys and the like are being collected from graduates and friends to be sold from Nov. 19 to Jan. 12 at the Shady Hill Thrift Shop, 19 Brookline Street, Cambridge. Profits of this sale will be added to the Radcliffe Club's Scholarship Fund.

Square Dance

WESTON -- The Children's Square Dance on Friday, Nov. 13, previously scheduled for the Country School gymnasium, will again be moved to Building "C" gymnasium. Fifth grade dancing begins at 7 p.m., 7th grade 8:15 to 9:30. Sneakers only, 50 cents admission.

Weston Garden Club

WESTON -- Members of the Weston Garden Club and their guests are looking forward to hearing Mrs. Robert Richards, outstanding authority and teacher of flower arrangements, speak on Christmas decorations Thursday, Nov. 19 at the First Parish House.

Mrs. Richards is a member of the Andover and Lawrence Garden Clubs and is an accredited judge for the National Council of State Garden Clubs. Mrs. John G. Wright will be hostess for the day, assisted by Mrs. E. Lamson Adams, Mrs. Richard Ely, and Mrs. Homer N. Sweet.

Christian Ferras Will

Play In Weston Jan. 15

WESTON -- Pictured on the cover of the latest issue of "Musical America" is the young violin virtuoso Christian Ferras. Mr. Ferras, who has been labeled "the greatest talent to come out of France since Ginette Neveu" returns to this country in January for an extensive North American concert tour. First event of this tour will be his Country Evening Concert Series recital in Weston, to take place in the Country School Auditorium on Friday, Jan. 15.

Subsequent attractions in the Weston series this winter will be recitals by pianist Jorge Bolet and soprano Hilde Gueden, on Feb. 12 and March 25 respectively.

These concerts are open to the public at $10 for the series of three events, $4 for students. Ticket application forms will be mailed early in December, and will be filled in the order received. Persons wishing to have their names added to the mailing list are asked to notify Country Evening Concerts, Ripley Lane, Weston.

Junior League Group

WESTON -- "Cinderella" rides again--this time for the Children's Theatre Group of the Junior League of Boston, Inc., in five free performances given for 10 settlement houses in greater Boston. Original music, colorful costumes, able acting, and gold-wrapped lollipop gifts all add up to a delightful diversion for the children attending.

Contributing to this worthwhile production are Mrs. John H. Durant and Mrs. John Moreton of Weston who are assisting with the lighting. Mrs. Hamish Gravem is helping with the staging.

To cover expenses of the free presentations, a paid performance will be held on Saturday, Nov. 14, at 10:30 a.m. in the Meadowbrook Junior High School in Newton, with tickets available at the door.

Troop 11 Bake Sale

WESTON -- Troop 11 of the Weston Girl Scouts will hold their Bake Sale on Saturday, Nov. 14 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Eaton's Drug Store in the center. This event is one of the ways in which Troop 11 is earning money for its trip to Washington D. C. this spring. Mrs. John Chisholm and Mrs. Rudolph Helgeson are the co-leaders.

EVENTS AND PEOPLE TO BE FEATURED IN THE NEAR FUTURE

Happy Hollow Course

WAYLAND -- Members of the staff at the Happy Hollow School in Wayland are participating in a Nature Science Course being conducted at the school by the Massachusetts Audubon Society. The course started Monday, Oct. 26, with a walk through the woods adjacent to the school.

Mrs. Lidback of the Audubon Society conducted the tour and many interesting specimens were gathered from The Forest Floor, the topic of the day. These samples are now on display in a corridor showcase.

Outdoor science is an integral part of the field of education and the students' interest in developing their knowledge is being stimulated by the teachers. This is the first such course to be put into action within a school in the Town of Wayland and credit for its instigation goes to Mrs. Eva Gately and Miss Pauline Natale.

Others participating in the course are Mrs. Barbara R. Adams, school secretary; Mrs. Sally Nerber, Mrs. Ann Hartig, Mrs. Pricilla Dunn, Mrs. Alice Hall, Mrs. Patricia Freyheit, Miss Katherine Barron, Miss Judith Seltzer and Mr. Paul Heffernan. The course will consist of five, 1 1/2 hour sessions this Fall and will cover the following subjects:

1. The Forest Floor--conducted by Mrs. Lidback.
2. Woody Plants, Dr. Drury.
3. Nature Trails, Miss Sherburne.
4. Attracting Winter Birds, Dr. Meyerricks.
5. Visual Aids and Resource Materials, Mrs. Lidback.

Five more lessons will be conducted in the Spring.

Claypit Hill Minstrels

WAYLAND -- Wandering minstrels will wander into the Wayland High School Gym on Friday night, Nov. 20 at 8:30, to sing for the benefit of the Claypit Hill P. T. A. The minstrels, Seraffyn and Cherubim, will sing to an audience gathered to hear folk songs of many

Mr. and Mrs. Mork lands. In private life, they are Mr. and Mrs. Seraffyn Mork, South Ashfield, Mass. Every year they travel thousands of miles to bring medieval history to life through their songs.

Happy CO-OP answers your questions

Q. "What is meant by a consumer-owned business?"

A. A cooperative is consumer-owned. That is, the business is actually owned by the people it serves -- those in the community that are served by the local cooperative. Members of a CO-OP elect from among themselves their Board of Directors. The Board selects a manager, who hires the other employees and manages the CO-OP, subject to policies set by the membership either directly or through their Board. Some members also serve on committees aimed at maintaining high quality services at minimum prices. After expenses and taxes, yearly savings are returned to members in proportion to the purchases they have made.

St. Zepherin's Winners

WAYLAND -- A number of local children went home with prizes from the St. Zepherin's Annual Bazaar held on Oct. 31 at the Cochituate School.

Martha Confrey won a brand-new puppy and Donny Williams a sidewalk bike while Jean Callahan and Debbie Kadlik were recipients of bride doll cakes.

A repeat performance of the Bazaar is scheduled to be held in St. Zepherin's lower church on Dec. 5.

WESTON -- Officer Lawrence Tierney recently rescued and released a muskrat caught in the cellar window well of a house on the south side of town. For this kind of work, local officers use a snare made of pipe and cable, which lifts the animal unharmed. Only the boldest use this tool on skunks, however.

also hold a beginner's class in flower arranging by Mrs. Henry Doane and a lecture on flower arrangement to be given by Mrs. Carlton Vanderwerker at the Happy Hollow School sometime in March.

Mr. Egbert Hans of the Massachusetts Department of Natural Resources, under whose guidance the Sanctuary project will be completed, has said it is the most interesting and ambitious Garden Club project anywhere in the state. It is designed not only to beautify the community but to serve as a model of good conservation.

RIVERS SCHOOL

being done by Temple and Crane of Boston.

With more than 200 students enrolled, the present site at Chestnut Hill was literally bursting at its seams, according to Haffenreffer. For several years, the Trustees had been considering a move to a situation offering better opportunity for present and future expansion.

The school's move was accelerated last year when the Town of Brookline voted to buy the present buildings and grounds to replace a playground nearby which the Town hoped to re-zone.

As a result of this sale and a fund-raising campaign which still is under way, sufficient funds are in hand to start actual building in preparation for the first classes.

LEGAL NOTICES

TOWN OF WESTON
BOARD OF APPEALS

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Appeals will hold a public hearing on Monday, November 30, 1959 at 8:30 P.M., at the Town House, Weston, on a petition by Eunice H. Sawyer, 27 Old Road, Weston, for a variance under the zoning by-law to permit the use of the Kendal Green Railroad Station as an Arts and Crafts Studio.

This notice supersedes a formerly published notice which advertised a hearing on Monday, November 16, 1959, at 8 P.M., BOARD OF APPEALS OF THE TOWN OF WESTON
By Everett A. Grant, Secretary

TOWN OF WESTON
BOARD OF APPEALS

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Appeals will hold a public hearing at 8:00 P.M., on Monday, November 30, 1959, at the Town House, Weston, on a petition by Beatrice P. Miller, 46 North Avenue, Weston, for variance under the Zoning By-law so that a barn on premises opposite 70 North Avenue may be rented for the purpose of remodeling and rebuilding automobiles for the personal use of the tenants.

BOARD OF APPEALS OF THE TOWN OF WESTON
By Everett A. Grant, Secretary

TOWN OF WAYLAND
BOARD OF APPEALS
(ZONING)

Public hearings will be held Wednesday, December 2, 1959, at the Town Building, Wayland, on the following applications at the times indicated:

8:00 P.M. Application of John L. Hammond for authority to build a garage on his premises at 63 Sycamore Road closer to side lot line than the required 15 feet. ($9-59)

8:20 P.M. Application of Townsend & Hallett Inc. on behalf of Helen Hallissey for authority to subdivide the lot at the Northwesterly corner of the intersection of Hawthorne Road and Birch Road, Cochituate, having a frontage of about 170 feet on Hawthorne Road, into two lots, razing the existing building. ($9-60)

8:45 P.M. Application of Wayland Associates for authority to locate a wood frame building about 29 feet by 19 feet near the westerly end of the Pelham Island Road side of its property at the intersection of Pelham Island Road and State Road West, with site plan approval and any necessary variances. ($9-61)

to be held at Weston in the fall of 1960.

"The decision to move a school is not easily made," Haffenreffer said. "But Rivers has made such a decision twice since its founding--and both times has flourished as a result. When it was established in 1915, Rivers was situated at Coolidge Corner in Brookline. Two years later, it moved to Dean Road, Brookline, and in 1941, it acquired the property at Heath Street in Chestnut Hill, formerly a private estate."

In 1940, the 33-year-old Country Day School for Boys of Greater Boston merged with the Rivers School, and a considerable number of its faculty and students came to the combined institution. The corporate name was then changed to The River's Country Day School.

Cranberry juice has been available for nearly 30 years.

Weston 28, Millbury 8
(Next: Bedford Here)
WESTON -- Weston High defeated Millbury at Millbury, 28 to 8, on Nov. 9, in a game postponed from Saturday because of rain. Quarterback Forbes McMullin and halfback Mike McDonald each scored two touchdowns.
It was the sixth victory out of seven games so far this season for Weston.
McDonald scored first for Weston, intercepting a pass and running it 20 yards. McMullin ran for 10 and 8 yards for his two touchdowns, and late in the game he threw a 35-yard pass to McDonald at mid-field, who ran all the rest of the way to score.
Weston players: le, Duffy, Butcher, Aker, Leonhardt; lt, Ruland, Leone, Stockmayer; lg, Tyler, R. Rizzo; c, Colter, Powers, Parlee; rg, D'Antonio, French, Gates; rt, Perry, DiBenedetto; re, Mahoney, Perkins; qb, McMullin, White; lhb, McDonald, Foster; rhb, Evans, W. Rizzo, Drowne; fb, J. Adams, D. Adams.

Wayland 44, Bedford 0
(Next: At Westford Academy)
WAYLAND -- Wayland High beat Bedford, 44 to 0, at Bedford on Nov. 9, to run its undefeated string to 31 games. Dick Morris made two touchdowns, Jerry Whelchel scored two, Bruce Waldman one and, in the final period, Scott Bruce ran 65 yards for another.
Wayland running and passing were so sharp that the game was one-sided almost from the start. Bedford made a few first downs but otherwise it was no contest.
In the fourth quarter, coach Ralph Salvati sent in many of his reserves, who played Bedford even.

Wayland players: le, Bradley, Kent; lt, Furst, Kelly; lg, Morrell, Phylis; c, Marsh, Arnold; rg, DePaolo, Moorehead; rt, Wesley, Patten; re, Waldman, Carr; qb, Whelchel, Porodeau; lhb, Bruce, Flanders, Johnsen, rhb, Morris, Houghton, Kruse; fb, Dreher, Sullivan.
WAYLAND -- New residents will be Mr. and Mrs. Francis V. Alla (Mary Louis Sherman) who were married on October 17 at Our Lady, Help of Christians Church of Newton and will live in Wayland following their wedding trip to Bermuda.
The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Sherman of Newtonville. Mr. Alla, who attended Northeastern University, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph A. Alla of Arlington.

Morrell - Masse
WAYLAND -- Mr. and Mrs. Oathman B. Morrell of Oxbow Road announce the engagement of their daughter, Betty Lou, to Mr. Joseph H. Masse Jr., son of Florence Masse of Cochrane.

Betty Lou Morrell (Korday)
Miss Morrell and Mr. Masse were graduated from Wayland High School in 1958.
Miss Morrell is employed by the Raytheon Company, Framingham Annex. Mr. Masse is presently serving in the U. S. Navy. No wedding date has been set.

Mrs. Ralph Parker Was Garden Clubs Delegate

WAYLAND -- Mrs. Ralph A. Parker of 93 Woodridge Road, first vice-president of the Garden Club Federation of Massachusetts, represented the president of the Federation at the National Council of State Garden Clubs, Inc. Fall board meeting in Albuquerque, New Mexico. Forty-six states were represented at this meeting.

The National Council is comprised of 14,171 clubs with more than 400,000 individual members. The impact of the Council's program has alerted communities, industry and government to the need of upholding the standards of living, even in times of stress. Strong educational programs have continuously issued from the National Council to reach member clubs through state channels. In horticulture and landscape design they have been advised to help with the home grounds; in civic and roadside improvement, to benefit the community; in conservation, to protect the beauty and natural resources of the nation.

Mrs. Parker also spoke over the radio station WBET in Brockton on Nov. 4th on the National Council; its work and value to each garden club member, and also stressed the point that every member of a federated garden club is a member of National Council. Thus, more than 14,000 clubs are working as one, and more than 400,000 members are producing tremendous results in the beautification of America, and through affiliates, of other lands.

Junior High Football

WESTON -- Two more wins have been added to the season record of the Weston Junior High School football team.

The squad handed a 28-8 defeat to Bigelow Junior High in a game played on Nov. 2 at Newton. Warren Junior High, also of Newton, was defeated by a 16-6 score in a contest held Nov. 6 at Weston.

In the game against Bigelow, Robert D'Antonio crossed the goal line on a pass from Terry Vogt in the first quarter for the initial tally. Third-quarter touchdowns were added by John Trowbridge on a buck through the line and by Jeff Kelly in a 40-yard sprint. The final score of the day was racked up by Dexter Perry, who intercepted a Bigelow pass and raced 50 yards to pay dirt.

John Trowbridge scored twice against Warren Junior High. Extra points were added on two line plunges by 7th-grader Dexter Perry.

WAYLAND--Prof. Willis Wager of 366 Winter Street, professor of humanities at Boston University, is participating in the research program of the Arts Center of Boston University School of Fine and Applied Arts.

Burke--Tomlinson

WESTON -- Mr. and Mrs. George W. Tomlinson of 124 Loring Road announce the marriage of their daughter, Janet Ann to Dennis Michael Burke, lieutenant United States Air Force, son of Mrs. Dorothy M. Burke of 94 Lessey Street, Amherst and James W. Burke of Washington, D. C., Wednesday, Nov. 4, at Denison, Texas.

White chrysanthemums and gladioli decorated the chapel at Perrin Air Force Base where Chaplain Capt. Robert F. Overman performed the doubling ceremony. Traditional wedding music was played by Miss Thelma Braun, organist.

The bride, who was escorted by her father, George W. Tomlinson, wore a ballerina-length white nylon chiffon gown fashioned with a scoop neckline, brief sleeves, a softly gathered bodice accented in back with floating panels and a full skirt. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a cap of seed pearls and she carried a crescent bouquet of white roses, stock and ivy.

The couple was attended by Mrs. Barbara Kreider of Flagstaff, Arizona, and Lt. Ramon F. Schapley of Perrin AFB and Syracuse, N.Y.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at McCraw's Inn, Sherman, Texas. Guests were present from Weston and Amherst, Mass., Flagstaff, Ariz., and Texas. Mrs. Burke attended the University of Massachusetts and Newton-Wellesley Hospital School of Nursing.

Lt. Burke was graduated from Amherst high school in 1952 and the University of Massachusetts in 1956. He is presently stationed at Perrin AFB, Sherman, Texas.

State Dinner Speaker

WAYLAND -- Mr. Gregory B. Wolfe of Country Corners Road will be the guest speaker at the Governor's State Dinner to be held at the Statler Hilton Hotel in Boston on Nov. 19 in connection with the Thirty-Fifth Annual New England Conference on the future of New England cities.

Mr. Wolfe, who is the Director of Research for the Greater Boston Economic Council, will speak on "The Greater Boston Economic Study."

Barbetti - Tiziani

WESTON -- Miss Theresa Tiziani, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cesare Tiziani of Framingham was married at St. Tarcisius' Church in Framingham, on Nov. 1 to Mr. Thomas S. Barbetti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Barbetti of Conant Road. Reverend Carl de Moon officiated at the one o'clock ceremony.

The bride wore an ivory silk mist gown with a bouffant skirt and chapel train and her fingertip illusion veil was caught to a cap of small petals trimmed with pearls.

Mrs. Leo Bartolini of Southbridge, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Paula Tognacci and Miss Dolores Tognacci of Beverly, Mrs. James Hatton of Framingham, and Miss Carol Barbetti of Weston, sister of the bridegroom.

Mr. Floyd Barbetti Jr., was his brother's best man and the ushers were Mr. John Tebo of Littleton, Mr. Roy Tiziani of Framingham, Mr. Edward J. Barbetti and Mr. Santo Anza, both of Weston.

Miss Tiziani was graduated from Framingham High School and is with the Telechron department of General Electric Company in Ashland. Mr. Barbetti attended school in Weston and is a member of the Weston Highway Department.

Following a wedding trip to Canada, the couple will live at 113 Howe Street in Framingham.

Andrew P. Kerr Wins
Travelli Scholarship

WAYLAND -- Mr. Andrew P. Kerr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kerr of 78 Oxbow Road, was announced a winner of the Travelli Fund of Boston scholarship at the traditional academic awards ceremonies held at Tufts University on Nov. 3.

The scholarship, which Andy also received last year along with one from the U. S. Rubber Company, is given in recognition of outstanding campus citizenship, academic proficiency and significant extra curricular achievement.

A graduate of the Wayland High School class of 1955, Andy is now a senior at the Tufts College of Engineering. He has been a member of Tufts Honor Societies beginning with his sophomore year in Sword and Shield. He was vice-president of the Ivy Society and is now president of the Senior Honor Society, Tower Cross. He has been treasurer of his class as well as class representative to the Athletic Association in both his Junior and Senior years.

Eugene Roberts Chosen
Chairman Of Red Cross

Eugene Roberts

WAYLAND -- The nominating committee for the Wayland Red Cross announces the nomination and unanimous election of Eugene Roberts as chairman.

A graduate of Yale University and the Harvard Business School, he came to Wayland eight years ago and resides on Woodridge Road with his wife and three children.

Mr. Roberts, a builder, primarily of custom built homes, saw the need for piers at the town beach where the Wayland Red Cross sponsors and finances free swimming lessons each summer. He offered to construct and donate two piers for instructional purposes. His interest in the Life Saving and Water Safety program of the Red Cross perhaps stems from the fact that he swam on the Yale swimming team for three years under the coaching of the famous Bob Kipthuth.

GRAND DRAWING WINNERS ANNOUNCED !

When the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company officially opened its Nineteenth Office, located at the "Village Shopper" Shopping Center, everyone who visited the Office on Opening Day was invited to sign a Guest Card. These Cards made each visitor automatically eligible for the silverware prizes in the Grand Drawing.

George L. White, President of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company, is shown above distributing the prizes to the lucky winners. The winning names were drawn by the Chairman of the Wayland Board of Selectmen, Frank Tarr.

Shown seated in the foreground are Miss Anna M. Bent, Mrs. Raymond Ferrera and Mrs. J. M. Keany.

Congratulations to you all.

16 Elementary School Pupils Thought Up The Name It's "The Woodland School" In Weston

Fifteen of the 16 who thought up the happy name for the new school. Left to right, front: Mary Lou Ladwig, Thomasin Berry, Carolyn Viles, Gail Rhinelander, Kathy Stritter, Genya Waters, Peter Antell, Wayne Osmond, Alan Peterson, Peter Littlefield. Standing: Philip Mork and Patricia McGettigan. Seated on the wall, Gail Johnson, Dana Wheeler and Nancy Green. Also in the picture is Mr. Henry DeRusha, who's to be principal of the Woodland School. Missing from the picture is Janet Fuchs. (McCann Photo)

WESTON -- The new elementary school, nearly completed, has been named "The Woodland School", by 16 elementary school children who hit upon it independently and simultaneously. The reason for it is the natural one, that the school is in the midst of woods, near the Case Estates.

Five years ago the Country School was named in the same way, by the children. This year the same method was used. All the elementary school pupils were asked to make suggestions, and 250 of them did so.

Some of the original names thought up and not considered too seriously were "Building D" (the town already has Buildings A, B and C); "Cemetery Seminary" (there's a cemetery nearby), and "Satellite School". Many of the names offered were duplicates.

But the 16 who picked "Woodland School" were judged to have the right idea, and the name has been approved by the Building Committee, the School Committee and the Selectmen.

The date of Jan. 10 has already been picked for dedication and open house. The 16 who chose the name will be guides and hostesses for the occasion.

Although the new school is not completely finished, some of its classrooms were opened for use on Nov. 16. The open house date has been postponed so that everything may be shipshape before the public is invited in.

The Woodland School has 12 rooms, with facilities built in for a future six-room expansion. Work was begun on it a year ago October.

Members of the Building Committee are Mr. Hector Osmond, chairman; Mrs. Russell Dorrance, Mrs. Harry Ferries, Mr. Albert M. Taber and Mr. Richard White.

Weston Officials Oppose Passenger Service Cut

Whistle For Wayland -- Weston Game Will Blow At 10 a.m. On Nov. 26

The Wayland-Weston football game, 25th in an annual series which, as far as modern records show, began in 1934, will be played at the Wayland High School field at 10 a.m. on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 26.

Although Wayland has won each year for the past five years, beginning in 1954, Weston still has the edge in the series, 14 to 10, and still has an edge in total points in the series, 372 to 233.

Weston won seven in a row over Wayland, from 1935 through 1941, but hasn't had a victory in the series since 1953, when it won 21 to 6.

Back in 1955 it was Wayland, 18 to 0, in a game played at Bowditch Field, Framingham, in a snowstorm. After 1955 it was decided that the games should be played on the home fields. Portable stands were erected at both Weston and Wayland fields to make the spectators more comfortable.

In 1956 the undefeated Wayland team, co-champ in Class D, was put to it to win, 32 to 20, at Weston. In 1957 it was Wayland, 13 to 0, in a high wind at Wayland, and last year it was Wayland, 24 to 6, at Weston, in a game more rough than skillful.

This year Weston has an excellent record, with only two defeats and no ties. Wayland this year has again remained undefeated, with one tie and no losses since November, 1955.

Weston finished its season except for the Wayland game, last Saturday. Wayland plays Lynnfield at Wayland this Saturday, a contest postponed from a rainy day early in the season.

Evening Grosbeaks Seen

Weston's first Evening Grosbeaks of the season were reported on Nov. 9 by Mrs. Lawrence Cugini, South Avenue. Mrs. James Robbins saw four on Nov. 16. Pileated Woodpeckers have been seen by Mrs. Donald Leavitt, Lincoln, and Debbie Ecker, Spruce Hill Road, Weston. The Weston report is the

Rombas Christmas Cards Now On Sale In Weston

WESTON -- The Christmas cards now on sale for the benefit of the Weston - Rombas Affiliation have been designed this year by Ann Gravem, talented star of last year's Friendly Society musical, "Jericho." The design of the card with highlights of red and green is delightful.

The cards are priced at 10 cents and may be purchased at the Weston branch of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company. In addition, children of the Weston public schools will sell the cards house-to-house.

The yearly sale of these cards is the chief means of supporting the Weston-Rombas Affiliation which each year sends a Weston High School student to Rombas, France, and brings a Rombas student here. The exchange students this year are Armine Avakian of Weston and Francoise Freidrich of Rombas.

The largest quantity ever of the Christmas cards is available this year and it is hoped that the design and the reasonable price will produce the biggest sale yet. A limited number of cards featuring the Burgoyne Elm is also on sale at the Bank at the same price.

Court Finds For Wayland Officials In Gravel Case

WAYLAND -- Judge Edward J. DeSaulnier Jr. of the Superior Court ruled on Nov. 2 that the Wayland Board of Appeals did not "exceed its authority" in refusing to grant to Louis W. Dean of Boston Post Road, Weston, permission to remove 800,000 cubic yards of gravel from his premises over a period of five years.

The law firm of Nutter, McClenen and Fish, which represented Mr. Dean, says it will appeal the case to the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts. Mr. Robert Meserve of this firm handled the case.

The town of Wayland was represented by Frank W. Kilburn Jr., town counsel, and William J. McCluskey, both of Murray, Hennessy, McCluskey, Earle and Kilburn, Boston.

The case was heard in Superior Court last March 16 - 18, with Wayland and Weston persons appearing as principals and witnesses. It was of interest in both towns because the land involved, while in Wayland, adjoins the Weston line, and traffic on the Post Road was also involved.

The decision:

"This is a bill in equity, by way of appeal, by Louis W. Dean . . . from a decision of the respondents, George G. Bogren, Frank A. Smith, Kimball C. Powning, members of the Board of Appeals of the Town of Wayland, for denying the petitioner's application for a special permit to remove for sale about 800,000 cubic yards of gravel from his property in Wayland. . . . this case was tried de novo and findings found according to evidence introduced at the trial before this court.

"The appellant, Louis W. Dean, is the owner of real estate located in the Town of Wayland and adjoining land located in the Town of Weston. All of the land in question is zoned for residential construction. On or about October 1, 1958, petitioner Dean filed an application with the Board of Appeals of the Town of Wayland for a special permit to remove about 800,000 cubic yards of gravel for sale from his land. Subsequently, notices of a hearing in connection with the application were sent as required by law, and on Nov. 6, 1958, the respondents held a hearing in connection with the application. On Dec. 11, 1958, the Board of Appeals reported a decision in which the application of the petitioner was denied. It was agreed by all parties that the present appeal was instituted within the statutory period and appropriate notice given by the Town Clerk as required. From this denial, the petitioner brings this bill in equity by way of an appeal.

"The petitioner, Louis W. Dean, and his family have been the owners of a farm situated on the southerly side of the Boston Post Road and located partly in Weston and partly in Wayland, and the area consisted of approximately 160 acres. The area of the proposed gravel removal in Wayland is the extreme southerly and westerly portion of the land owned by the petitioner. The gravel deposit is located in a raised section of land, which elevation is approximately 20 to 30 feet above the elevation of the land to the east and adjoining the land to the west of what is known in Wayland as Main Stone Farm. UF Collections Good United Fund collections in the two towns have been good so far, the area chairmen report.

Mr. John B. Wilson, Wayland chairman, reports an overall figure of 37 per cent of the town's quota.

Co-chairmen Joel Covington and Nelson Miles of Weston report that solicitation of business firms in the town has been completed, and that the collection exceeds the business quota. Residential solicitation is now being made.

New Wayland Lagoon Will Feature Trees, Flowers

Dreary high-water scene in front of Wayland High School, looking West towards the causeway and Pelham Island Road. What the Garden Club plans to do is to transform this swamp into a beauty spot.

(Allen H. Morgan Photo)

WAYLAND -- A miniature lagoon, complete with small bays, peninsulas, and tiny islands connected by walks, will replace the present unsightly bog in front of the High School when the Garden Club's Sanctuary project is completed. Both water and land in the 27,560-square-foot area will be redistributed in accordance with a technical design by Mr. Henry Ritzer, U. S. Government technician connected with the Middlesex Soil Conservation District, which will supervise the engineering work.

The plans for this ambitious undertaking call for increasing the water surface and edge areas by excavating the swampy side portions with a dragline to form small bays and peninsulas. The excavated material will then be used to create

We Need Exciting Pills, Not Those Tranquizers

With Spray On The Cranberries And Strontium 90 in Baby's Formula, We Are In A Chemical Nightmare

If arsenic were a commodity in common use, and somebody had the nerve to announce publicly that it wasn't good for babies, the arsenic dealers would scream to the skies that they were being robbed and that the flag was being insulted.

So much for the great cranberry controversy, which turns out to be one great big plug for Cape Cod. To be sure, Cape Cod is so sandy weed killer in that area is not needed. Nothing will grow there except cranberries, strawberries, scrub pines and a few clams. But Cape Cod is pure. And we don't get into argument with those who believe that Cape Cod's northern limit is the Quincy city line.

But the cranberry argument, which managed to rage in spite of the newspaper famine, nevertheless involves one of the great problems of the age.

Nobody except the chemistry wizards knows what's dangerous and what isn't.

Time was when a person was safe enough if he didn't eat any wild mushrooms or gnaw on mandrake, whatever that is.

Nowadays there is squawking about strontium 90, DDT, sugar, starch, alcohol, tobacco, fat, lead, bubble gum and television, to say nothing of gasoline, which they say doesn't mix with alcohol and in fact isn't even good to drink straight.

So we get solemn warnings all the time, and most of us stay fat and healthy in spite of our bad habits and those who are ill don't know what caused their trouble except in epidemics of the Black Death, which fortunately are rare.

There is also the present passion for tranquillizing pills, which represent the common human propensity for attacking problems wrong end first.

What we really want is not tranquility but excitement. Let somebody invent the exciting pill and there'll be some fun.

Most of our lives, alas, are dull. The monotony, too often, is broken only by unfortunate incidents, such as flat tires, burned toast, visits from indigent relatives, the no-school signal (this applies to mothers), overdrawn checking accounts, fractures and service on civic committees.

But suppose each of us could have an exciting pill at his bedside, to be taken just before rising.

Then he could get up with a loud cry of "Wheel!"

Coffee and toast would be as thrilling as a World War. The gray squirrels gibbering in the bird feeder would evoke shouts of gladness. Spouses and children would look better. People would go off to work singing, and if both the boss and the help were taking the same kind of pills, the war between capital and labor would come to an abrupt end.

Complaint departments could be wiped out. Westerns and wrestling programs on TV could be supplanted by picture studies of swamp plants, of which there are plenty around here. Crime would end, except for those who are interested mainly in money, not in the pursuit of it. Movies could be represented as merely colossal, not super colossal.

In short, excitement pills could build a mainspring of zip inside the human soul, so that it wouldn't need so much exterior stimulation.

Some say that the excitement pill has already been invented and that it is called the dry martini, but deep thinkers reject this contention. The ideal excitement pill will have no after or side effects, will merely intensify the delight we all might take in common occurrences if we weren't so used to them and will banish boredom and monotony forever.

The human being doesn't really want to be tranquil. What he wants is to have some fun, or at least the illusion that his dull lot is actually a bright one, full of reds, greens, blues and purples.

Miss Alma Stokey Has Position At Museum

WAYLAND -- Miss Alma G. Stokey of 28 Concord Road has been appointed special services assistant at Boston's Museum of Science, it has been announced by Miss Mildred L. Winship, special services director.

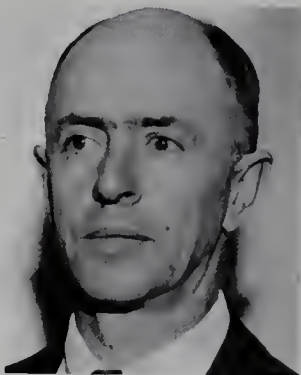

Among her duties at the Museum will be making arrangements for group visits under the School Visits Program which annually helps some 50,000 children pass through the Museum's Exhibit Halls and Planetarium.

Miss Stokey is a 1957 graduate of Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio. She was formerly employed by Marwel Advertising, New York City, and by the Wisconsin State Department of Public Welfare where she served as case aide.

A former resident of South Hadley, she is the niece of Prof. Alma Stokey, Dickinson House, South Hadley. She is a cousin of Roger P. Stokey, former town counsel, with whom she makes her home.

Opens Wayland Agency

WAYLAND -- John H. Baldwin of 74 Moore Road announces the establishment of a general insurance agency to handle and service all lines of insurance, fidelity and surety bonds.

John H. Baldwin

Mr. Baldwin is a graduate of Phillips Exeter Academy and attended the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce of the University of Pennsylvania. He brings to his own agency the experience of 20 years in the insurance business, starting in his home town of Utica, New York, and more recently as branch office manager for the Massachusetts Bonding and Insurance Company in Worcester. He now intends to devote his entire time to the insurance business in Wayland and the surrounding towns.

Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin purchased their home on Moore Road in 1944. They have three daughters. The oldest, Ainslie, is a freshman at Smith College. Elizabeth is a sophomore at Concord Academy and Eleanor Jr. is in the 8th grade at Wayland Junior High School.

EVENTS AND PEOPLE TO BE FEATURED IN THE NEAR FUTURE

Natick Art Exhibit

The Natick Art Association's Fall Exhibit is now being held at the Auditorium in Shoppers' World. This exhibit will continue through Saturday, Nov. 21.

Award winning entries will be selected by Carl Nelson, who is known nationally as an instructor and artist. Mr. Nelson is associated with the Boris Mirsky Gallery in Boston and was Grand Prize winner of two Natick Arts Festivals.

This year, for the first time, the annual "Under $50 Sale" will be combined with the exhibit. Portfolios of unframed drawings and paintings, as well as framed works, are available.

On Friday, Nov. 20, at 8:30 p.m. there will be a gallery talk by Reed Kay, professor of fine arts at Boston University. Members and friends are invited.

Wayland Garden Club

WAYLAND -- Mrs. Gordon Roaf will speak on "Christmas Decoration" at the meeting of the Wayland Garden Club to be held at 2:30 p.m., Nov. 24, at the home of Mrs. Fred Perry, Concord Road. Members are asked not to park in the driveway, which is too narrow for the purpose.

Tea chairman is Mrs. James Jandl. On her committee are Mrs. Norman Alstad, Mrs. Bruce Kingsbury, Mrs. Willis Ryder, Mrs. John Sibley, Mrs. Jackson Turner and Mrs. William Waldron.

LAND WANTED

By private party. One acre or more for one house in Wayland. Write particulars in first letter Box RR, 502 Boston Post Road, Weston.

Girl Scout Fair

WAYLAND -- The annual Wayland District Girl Scout Fair is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 21, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Trinitarian Congregational Church. Proceeds will go toward paying for the traditional trip to Washington, D. C. in April for the 8th grade girl scouts of Wayland and Cochrane.

Toys, jewelry, books, plants and other articles of interest to both children and adults will be featured. In addition, there are games for the children to play. The committee for this activity is headed by Mrs. Arthur Weiss.

In charge of the plant table is Mrs. Charles Cook. Mrs. R. R. Campbell is chairman of the toy table while Mrs. Keith Smith heads the food table. Chairman of the jewelry table is MRS. Lawrence Langley. Chairman of the snack and lunch committee is Mrs. Francis C. Newton.

Alward Post Dance

WAYLAND -- Charles H. Alward Post 133, American Legion, will hold a scholarship dance at Legion Hall on Nov. 21, to build a fund for a scholarship for an outstanding Wayland High student. Tickets $1.50 per person, Duke Herland's band.

Forty-year pins will be presented at the dance to 15 members of the Post.

Vesper Service

WAYLAND -- A candlelight vesper service will be held on Thanksgiving eve, Wednesday, Nov. 25 at 7:30 p.m. for one-half hour. There will be readings by Dr. Dan Huntington Fenn and organ music by Clifford Orr. Entire families of the community are invited. First Parish Church.

Dr. Paul

WAYLAND -- World-famous Boston cardiologist Dr. Paul Dudley White will appear on the Suburban Community Forum in Wayland on Friday, Nov. 20, at 8 p.m. The forum, at which Dr. White will present an illustrated talk and answer questions, will be held at the First Parish Unitarian Church and is open to the public.

Dr. White will be introduced by Dr. David P. Boyd, heart and lung surgeon, Lahey Clinic, Boston, New England Baptist Hospital and New England Deaconess Hospital.

The Suburban Community Forum, dedicated to community education on vital issues of the day, is sponsored by the Unitarian churches of Medfield, Natick, Wayland and Wellesley Hills, and the Universalist Church of Wellesley.

Tickets at 50 cents each may be purchased at any of the sponsoring churches, or may be ordered by mail by addressing: Forum, The Unitarian Church, 17 West Central Street, Natick. When ordering by mail, 50 cents per ticket plus a stamped, self-addressed envelope should be enclosed.

Refreshments will be served after the forum. The public is cordially invited.

John B. Gregory of Concord Road is in charge of arrangements. Tickets available at the door.

WESTON

EVENTS AND PEOPLE TO BE FEATURED IN THE NEAR FUTURE

Weston Music Group

WESTON -- Under the direction of Mr. John Bavicchi of Brookline, several Weston women have formed a class devoted to music appreciation. The meetings are held on alternate Friday mornings at the home of either Mrs. J. Herbert Lawson or Mrs. Robert Wilkes.

Mr. Bavicchi is a teacher at the Rivers Country Day School, and the South End Music Center. He is also assistant conductor of the Cambridge Civic Symphony Orchestra as well as Conductor of the Belmont Choral Society.

At his opening lecture Mr. Bavicchi discussed the main periods of serious music and illustrated his remarks with records. His second lecture was devoted to an explanation of the instruments used in a modern symphony orchestra. On Dec. 4 Mr. Bavicchi will have as guest Miss Donna Klimoski, first clarinet of the Cambridge Symphony Orchestra.

Present members of the class are Mrs. Robert Elliott, Mrs. Charles H. Abbott, Mrs. Barton Leach, Mrs. John R. Lenox, Mrs. Kirkbride Patterson, Mrs. John A. Curtin, Mrs. William E. Bartel, Mrs. Manson Benedict, Mrs. Robert McLeod, Mrs. Richard Holland, Mrs. Richard Piper, Mrs. Robert Wilkes and Mrs. Herbert Lawson.

Further information may be obtained by calling either Mrs. Wilkes or Mrs. Lawson.

Foreign Students, Dec. 5

WESTON -- The Foreign Student Hospitality Committee of the Women's Community League is making arrangements for a group of students to visit in Weston on Saturday, Dec. 5. They will arrive here about 3 p.m., and will be entertained in various homes during the afternoon. In the evening, the hosts and hostesses and their guests will join together in several small supper parties.

Mrs. Eric Reissner, TW 3-7039, and Mrs. John Stewart, TW 3-0607, are co-chairmen of the day and will be happy to talk with anyone who would like to participate in the activities or who might like further information.

Holiday Service

WESTON -- A special Thanksgiving service will be held on Thursday, Nov. 26, at 10:45 a.m. by First Church of Christ Scientist, Weston.

A period devoted to voluntary expressions of gratitude for God's goodness is included in the Thanksgiving Day service in all Christian Science churches.

No collection is taken at this service, and local members have invited the public to attend.

The Thanksgiving Day Proclamation of the President of the United States will be read at the service. Readings from the King James Version of the Bible and from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will comprise the Lesson-Sermon for the day entitled, "Thanksgiving."

COVERED DISH SUPPER

WESTON -- The Weston Congregational Church is having a covered dish supper on Friday, Dec. 4, at the home of the Norman Appleyards on Cart Path Road.

WESTON -- "The Diary of Anne Frank" will be presented in College Hall, Regis College, at 8 p.m. on Nov. 24, sponsored by Mask and Wig, campus dramatic club. Mary Ann Stackpole, '60 of Somerville, will play the title role.

Anti-wilt sprays will reduce winter injury to ornamental evergreens.

Red Barn School Dance

On the dance committee. Back row, left to right: Mrs. Herbert E. Nelson, 34 Sears Road; Mrs. J. Bruce Dougherty, Gun Club Lane, and Mrs. Percival T. Gates, 27 Viles Street. Front: Mrs. Paul F. Avery Jr., 60 Possum Road; Mrs. Richard S. Leghorn, 226 Winter Street, and Mrs. James C. Cook, 29 Derby Lane. Mrs. Leghorn and Mrs. Cook are co-chairmen. (Forman Photo)

WESTON -- The Red Barn School will hold its fourth annual benefit dance on Friday, Dec. 4 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Weston Town House. Red Barn is a cooperative nursery school and kindergarten, with its own modern new building, owned and operated by parents and staffed by professionally trained teachers.

Theme of the dance will be "Far East Frolic." The decorations committee, headed by Mrs. Percival T. Gates, will recreate the exotic atmosphere of the Orient. Dominating the gala scene will be the Gold Pagoda, a magnificent three dimensional stage setting. The brilliance of ceremonial colors, crimson and gold, will be echoed by the striking table covers and by the kimonos of the flower vendors who will be headed by Mrs. Lawrence H. Pexton.

Dance committee chairman is Mrs. Richard S. Leghorn. Mrs. James C. Cook is co-chairman. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Paul F. Avery Jr., Mrs. J. Bruce Dougherty, Mrs. John F. G. Eichorn Jr., and Mrs. Herbert E. Nelson, all of Weston.

Mrs. Perkins To Speak

WESTON -- Mrs. Frances Perkins, director of Red Barn Nursery School, will discuss "Home-School Relationships" at a Boston Association for Nursery Education institute, Monday evening, Nov. 23, in Waltham. Mrs. Perkins, an experienced preschool teacher and administrator, will give this talk at Green Acres Day School at 7:45 p.m.

This will be the closing lecture of an eight-week Monday evening series which B.A.N.E. has scheduled this fall for teachers and others who work with young children.

"Streetcar", Nov. 21, 22

WELLESLEY -- "A Streetcar Named Desire," the popular, award-winning drama by Tennessee Williams, will be presented Friday and Saturday, Nov. 20 and 21, by the Wellesley College Theatre. Curtain time will be 8 p.m. for both performances at Alumnae Hall on the Wellesley campus.

Admission is $1.10. Tickets may be purchased at the Alumnae Hall box office immediately before each performance, or may be reserved through the Wellesley College Information Bureau, CEdar 5-0320.

Town Crier Circulation is now 3600 copies per week.

Junior High PTA

WESTON -- A back-to-school night has been planned for the parents of Weston Junior High school students on Dec. 2 from 8 to 10 p.m. in the Junior High building. The parents will meet in the child's home room at 8 and then proceed to follow a 'one day's program at 15-minute intervals.

Plans for this PTA evening were made by the Junior High Steering Committee: Mrs. James Banghart, Mrs. Theodore Bayles, Mrs. Paul Dippolito, Mrs. Lawrence Pexton, Mrs. Evon Vogt, Mr. Philip Wye, principal; Mrs. Jane Rupp, guidance teacher, and Mr. Henry De Rusha, PTA coordinator. Mrs. Stephen Tyng, another member, was unable to attend the meeting held last Monday morning at the home of Mrs. Vogt, chairman.

The back-to-school night is not in place of parent-teacher interviews, which may be arranged any time by phoning Mrs. Jane Rupp at the Junior High School.

Since another group will be using the Junior High gym Dec. 2 and because the time spent in the home rooms is so short, it has been decided to have no refreshments.

Organ Recital

WESTON -- Frank Taylor, organist of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, will present an organ recital at 8:30 p.m., Sunday evening, Nov. 22, at St. Peter's. Mr. Taylor's program will feature organ music from four centuries and represent the major schools of composers. Although it is his first recital in Weston, Mr. Taylor has given many recitals in this country and abroad.

After study at Oxford University in 1947 and 1948, Mr. Taylor returned to this country for continued study at the Longy School, Cambridge, where he is now Instructor in Music. He holds this position at Lasell Junior College and at the Belmont Hill School, and begins his second year as organist-choir director at St. Peter's.

This is the second recital to be given on the church's new Aeolian-Skinner organ. Seats will not be reserved, and a cordial invitation is extended to all friends of good music in this area.

Among other duties, the U.S. Post Office is responsible for taking the deer and grouse census and for providing flags for the funerals of old soldiers.

PASSENGER SERVICE

Commissioners just listened and gave no decision.

Weston representatives were Edward M. Dickson, chairman of the Board of Selectmen; Grant M. Palmer Jr. town counsel, and Edward C. Thayer, special counsel for the town in this matter.

Mr. Dickson told the commissioners that the town had taken a postcard poll of residents and had found that 200 use the Riverside and Wellesley stations regularly for commuting, and that 485 more use the trains occasionally. He said that no comparable commuting service is available, and that abandonment of the service would add to existing traffic hazards.

Compact Camping Rig

WAYLAND -- Several publications have paid attention recently to a truck trailer for camping built last Spring by Dr. and Mrs. John J. De Fries of New Paris, Indiana. Dr. and Mrs. DeFries used it successfully on a Summer trip to Mexico.

Mrs. De Fries, Elizabeth, is the daughter of Edwin B. Goodell Jr. of Concord Road.

The trailer fits directly on the frame of a jeep truck and has in remarkably compact form all the comforts of home, including running water. Pieces about it were published in Field & Stream and in motor magazines.

"Practitioner In The Highest Order"

"Practitioner Of Medicine In The Highest Order" was, how the Charles River District Medical Society described Dr. Fresenius Van Nuys, center, retired Weston physician recently nominated by the Massachusetts Medical Society as "General Practitioner of the Year." At left is Dr. Walter O. Blanchard of Newton, president of the Charles River District, who presented the citation at a meeting at Newton-Wellesley Hospital, and at right is Dr. William T. Van Huysen of Weston, state committee member. In the center, Dr. Van Nuys.

WESTON -- Dr. Fresenius Van Nuys, 83-year old nominee of the Massachusetts Medical Society as "General Practitioner of the Year," was guest of honor recently at the opening fall meeting of the Charles River District Medical Society at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Physicians from Weston, Waltham, Newton, Wellesley and Needham, the communities included in the Charles River District society, gathered to greet their own representative and to present him with a citation as a "practitioner of medicine in the highest order."

The retired physician and former chairman of the Weston Board of Health will be presented as the state's nominee for national "General Practitioner of the Year" at the American Medical Association convention in Dallas, Texas, in December.

Dr. Van Nuys retired from active practice in Weston in January 1955, following a career begun in 1907 after graduation from Harvard Medical School and internship at the Massachusetts General Hospital. He put aside his medical books to devote himself to a busy leisure, specializing in the study of history at his home, 338 Boston Post Road.

Former chief of medicine at Waltham Hospital, Dr. Van Nuys also served as school physician in Weston for many years. During World War I, he served as chief of medicine at Chelsea Naval Hospital. His greatest medical interest was in cardiology and he established the heart clinic at Waltham Hospital, where he pioneered many of the present day standards for community public health.

Weston physicians now serving as officers of the Charles River District Medical Society include Dr. William T. Van Huysen, state legislation committee; Dr. David N. Reid, nominating committee; Dr. Robert MacMillan, Dr. Reid and Dr. Van Huysen, councilors.

WAYLAND GARDEN SPOT

small islands and connecting walks. About a year's time will then be needed to allow the newly-formed land areas to stabilize. After that, any necessary fill and fertilizers will be added before the planting is done.

A variety of trees, shrubs, wild flowers and grasses, all of them indigenous to this area, will be planted along the shores and on the islands. The trees will include weeping willow, Japanese alder, river birch, flowering dogwood, red maple, American larch, white and black spruce, Canadian hemlock and white cedar.

The shrubs, which will lend color to the landscape during every season of the year, will include rhodora, bayberry, viburnums, tatarian honeysuckle, red chokeberry, swamp azalea, spicebush, button bush, leatherleaf, red osier dogwood, inkberry, American elder, highbush blueberry, cranberry and arrowwood.

There will be a special wild flower section as well as plantings of wild flowers throughout the entire area. Some of the wild flowers will be fringed gentian, great blue lobelia, bottle gentian, Joe Pye weed, fringed loosestrife, arrowhead, cattails, jewelweed, cardinal flower and flags. Ferns and grasses such as wild rice, Japanese millet and Reed's Canary grass will also be used.

Landscape architect John Freeman, who is connected with the Massachusetts Department of Natural Resources, has designed the planting with two purposes in mind other than the creation of natural beauty. One is the use of plant material which will grow under existing conditions and should, therefore, require a minimum of maintenance. The other is the use of the kind of planting along the banks which will be attractive to birds and small mammals and will also serve to hold the soil and prevent erosion.

It is expected that many different kinds of wildlife will be attracted to the area, among them ducks, herons, muskrats, mink, possibly otter, and a great variety of songbirds such as thrushes, cedar waxwings, grosbeak and many others.

The plans have been based on as much actual, firsthand knowledge of the terrain as it is possible to obtain before the actual dredging starts but the final design of the new land areas cannot be made hard and fast until the operation is underway.

One important point that the Garden Club hopes the project will prove, however, is that it is possible to do something with an unwanted swamp besides filling it in and covering it with black ton.

Plans for a raffle, in which two Steuben vases were to be disposed of, to raise money for the project, have been cancelled. The committee checked with town counsel Frank Kilburn, who said that raffles aren't exactly legal. So the ticket books have been recalled, money received has been paid back, and announcement will be made later about the Steuben glass.

Ferruccio -- Lundy

WAYLAND -- Mrs. Violet Ferruccio of Marlboro has announced the engagement of her daughter, Julianna Marie, to Pfc Preston Alfred Lundy Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Preston A. Lundy of West Newton, formerly of Rich Valley Road.

Miss Ferruccio was graduated from Marlboro High School and is now employed at the Waters Manufacturing Company on the Boston Post Road in Wayland.

Private Lundy attended Wayland schools and is now a member of the U. S. Marine Corps stationed at Fort Meade in Maryland.

A January wedding is planned.

WESTON -- William Connolly, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Irving Connolly of 254 Conant Road, was among 31 players at Norwich University to be awarded numerals for freshman football this year.

Wayland Man Speaks

Barnwell O. Davis
WAYLAND -- Barnwell O. Davis of 6 Snake Brook Road, plant manager of the Darak Battery Separator Division, Dewey & Almy Chemical Company, recently spoke at Northeastern University before the student chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers. His talk was entitled "Chemical Engineers and their Role in Manufacturing". Davis received a bachelor of science degree from Boston College in 1950 and gained further professional experience through his employment with W. R. Grace and Company. A Navy veteran, he is married and has two children, Paul, 5-year-old son, and Tracey, 3-year-old daughter.

Powers — Martowski

WAYLAND -- Miss Beverly Ann Martowski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Martowski of West Plain Street, was married in the Community Methodist Church on Nov. 6 to Mr. David Wayne Powers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hazard of Lakeview Road. Rev. Robert K. Jones Jr., pastor of the Church, officiated at the early evening ceremony. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents. Miss Patricia Dyer of Wayland was maid of honor and Mr. Stephen W. Powers, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Two other brothers, Mr. Brent Hazard and Mr. Ernest Hazard, were ushers. Miss Martowski attended Wayland High School and is now employed at the new Wayland Co-Op. Mr. Powers, who also attended Wayland High School, is stationed with the U. S. Navy at Newport, Rhode Island.

Dr. Bayles Speaks On Cortisone At Meeting

WESTON -- Dr. Theodore B. Bayles of 94 Summer Street talked to approximately 200 New England Veterinarians at their annual convention held at the Statler Hilton Hotel in Boston on Nov. 10. Dr. Bayles, a member of the Harvard Medical School faculty and head of research at the Robert Brigham Hospital of Boston, is a nationally known figure in his field of arthritis. He was interviewed last March by Newsweek as Secretary of State Christian Herter's personal physician, on the state of Mr. Herter's health. Dr. Bayles' paper, given before the Veterinarians at the New England Veterinary Medical Association meeting, dealt with the chemistry and physiology of cortisone and cortisone-like products, and a 10-year summary and evaluation of their application, use, and limitations in the treatment of arthritis. Veterinarians present agreed it was one of the most interesting and informative papers presented during their entire three-day educational session.

-- Paul Granholm.

Worked For Toy Sale

WESTON -- Among those who worked for the book and toy sale of the Red Barn School, held the other day, were the mothers and sons in the picture above. Left to right, the women are Mrs. Haldon L. Smith of 16 Sedgemeadow Road, Wayland, and Mrs. Roy P. Sallen of Garden Circle, Waltham. The boys, left to right, are David Smith and Peter Sallen, both 4 1/2. (Forman Photo) first from this part of the town. A Hooded Merganser was seen flying over a small pond near the Weston-Lincoln line (Harrington). Mrs. Arthur Baggs, Lincoln, who reported a Yellow-breasted Chat a few weeks ago, says she has had a Carolina Wren in her yard recently. Among more than 400 Black Ducks on the Norumbega Reservoir, two female American Widgeon (Baldpate) were seen on Nov. 11 (Smith); a Sparrow Hawk was also seen near the reservoir (Smith); and John Dunn, who works at the Pumping Station, says there were about 80 Canada Geese on the reservoir about two weeks ago. These were undoubtedly migrating wild birds.

Richard Stackpole of Wayland reports a late Brown Thrasher and Yellowthroat. Robins are still around; Mrs. Smith has had a pair eating fruit of the flowering crab tree in her yard. Allen Morgan, Executive Vice-President of the Massachusetts Audubon Society, reports a flock of Red Crossbills at Drumlin Farm in South Lincoln. -- C.E.S.

Has New Position

WAYLAND -- Mr. Karnig A. Berberian of Pequot Road has joined the semi-conductor division of the Sperry-Rand Corporation in Norwalk, Connecticut, as head of the Materials Department. Mr. Berberian, who had been materials manager for Tang, Incorporated, in Waltham, and previously had been in charge of the materials pilot plant for Raytheon's semi-conductor division, left for Connecticut last month to take over his new position. He and Mrs. Berberian are now weekend commuters to Wayland, from their present home in the carriage house of the exurban estate of the president of Westinghouse Corporation in New Canaan, Connecticut.

WESTON -- Dr. and Mrs. David J. Farrell (Dorothy Benson) announce the birth of a fourth child, John Benson Farrell, on Sept. 11 at the Richardson House. Grandparents are Mrs. Edward L. Farrell and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar B. Benson, all of Watertown. Mrs. Emma O. Larson of Winchester is the great-grandmother.

Mansion Inn Artifacts Now Scattered, Speaker Tells Hist. Society

WAYLAND -- A near capacity audience at the Wayland Historical Society's November meeting, heard Benjamin L. Smith, past president of the Massachusetts Archeological Society, discuss the finding of Indian relics at the Mansion Inn site last summer.

A previous discovery at Heard's Pond in 1926 was similarly plundered, by amateurs, he said and Mr. Smith expressed the hope that in the event of another such discovery, Wayland people would make it possible for accredited archaeologists to make significant identifications by scientific methods of digging.

The findings last summer, Mr. Smith termed "a major find" unique in the northeast.

It is thought that the graves uncovered may have been 3,000 years old. The artifacts taken from the site are now scattered, some in an Attleboro museum, some at the Peabody Museum in Andover, two large collections are the property of two Framingham men who were early at the scene, and a few fragments loaned to the Wayland Historical Society by children from the Happy Hollow School.

The next meeting of the Historical Society will be Dec. 3 when Dr. Sumner Powell will speak on the original settlers of old Wayland.

Mahoney - Bell

WESTON -- Miss Emilie Dubois Bell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Bell of South Avenue, was married in St. Julia's Church on Nov. 7 to Dr. Morgan Francis Mahoney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Mahoney of Newtonville. The 10 o'clock ceremony was performed by Rev. Frank Graf, pastor of the Church, and a reception followed at the Wayside Inn in Sudbury.

Miss Bell wore a gown of imported Swiss organdy and tulle with a mandarin neckline and chapel train. A matching headpiece held her fingertip veil of imported French illusion and she carried a bouquet of white gerbera and butterfly roses.

Mrs. William B. Williams of Birmingham, Michigan, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Mrs. Gerald Bilodeau of Newtonville, sister of the bridegroom, was the only other attendant.

Dr. Edward M. Mahoney of Newtonville, the bridegroom's brother, was best man and the ushers were Mr. Gerald Bilodeau of Newtonville, Mr. William B. Williams of Birmingham, Michigan and Mr. Thomas S. Bell of Weston, brother of the bride. Another brother, James D. Bell, who is stationed with the U. S. Army at Fort Benning, Georgia, was an honorary usher.

Miss Bell was graduated from Kenwood Academy of the Sacred Heart in Albany, New York, and from the Powelson Business Institute in Syracuse, New York. Dr. Mahoney was graduated from Harvard College and the Tufts University School of Medicine where he is now an instructor. He is a member of the staffs of the New England Center Hospital, Newton-Wellesley Hospital, Glover Memorial Hospital, and St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

Following a wedding trip to Bermuda, the couple will live at 127 Laurel Drive in Needham.

WESTON -- Joyce FitzSimons, 53 Baker's Hill Road, and Stephanie Gibbons, 15 Woodchester Drive, have been selected from the senior class of Weston High School to attend the Saturday morning classes at the Massachusetts College of Art in Boston.

How to get a bigger boot out of football

Schoolboy football is winding up its hottest season in years. The Holy Cross-B.C. game shapes up as a bruiser. And both NFL division titles are still up for grabs.

There are plenty of crazy bounces left in the football . . . and New England's most talented squad of columnists and reporters are on the spot to describe every one of them to you. 7 days a week the pull-out section of The Globe sits you right smack on the fifty.

Jerry Nason, Ernie Roberts, Bob Holbrook, Red Smith, Francis Rosa, Harold Kaese, Cliff Keane, Bill Shechman, Ernie Dalton, John Ahern and Roger Birtwell know football. And they know you. They know what you look for down on the field, what you'd like to hear from the locker room.

If you follow the schoolboys, colleges or pros, you'll have a ball with The Globe. Daily and Sunday, give it a whirl. To start home delivery, call the circulation department at AVenue 8-8000, or write: The Boston Globe, Boston 7.

GRAVEL REMOVAL CASE

"Within 1000 feet to 1200 feet from the proposed gravel pit, on land adjoining the petitioner's, are approximately 30 homes constructed within the past 10 or 12 years and which carry a price range of $25,000 to $30,000.

"The owners of the large tract of land adjoining petitioner's land south and west in Wayland have prepared a subdivision plan of land for residential development. A tract of land of approximately 100 acres adjoining petitioner's land on the southeasterly side has also been purchased recently for the development and construction of residences in the immediate future.

"The petitioner proposes to sell approximately 800,000 cubic yards of gravel to a contractor who is engaged in the business of road construction in the immediate area, and it was estimated that, in trucking the gravel, trucks would operate at the rate of approximately 20 trucks an hour, or 160 trucks in an eight-hour day, and that the gravel would be transported from the excavation site to the Boston Post Road wholly on the petitioner's property, and that the Dean road, at its closest point, would be approximately 800 feet from the nearest house on Blossom Lane.

"The petitioner argued that the removal of the gravel will make the land more suitable for farming, and that in its present condition the locus is unsuitable for farming.

"The immediate area, and indeed the whole Town of Wayland, is a residential community which has grown rapidly during the last 10 years, and most of the homes that have been built in the immediate area are what could be classified as substantial residences. . . .

"The Court hereby finds that the magnitude of such a gravel operation, and in such a residential district, would cause such noise, dust, and traffic over a five-year period as to have an injurious effect on the land values in the vicinity, and, indeed, on the residential values of the entire Town of Wayland.

"Special permits, granted either by a Board of Appeals or by a Court, must be granted only if the Court is satisfied that the basic intent of zoning by-laws will not be changed by the granting of such a permit, and the Court is of the opinion that the removal of approximately 800,000 cubic yards over a period of five years, and possibly 10 years, by trucks when loaded that weigh approximately 60,000 pounds, in an area that is highly residential, the noise, vibration and dust, and other objectionable features, would be very injurious to the inhabitants of the Town or their property, and that therefore the granting of such a special permit would not tend to protect and improve the neighborhood. Indeed, it is the opinion of the Court that the allowance of such an operation would materially change the present and future residential values of the immediate area, and that the proposed development and construction to the west and south in Wayland, and the land in Weston, would undoubtedly be abandoned, for this entire area would be forced to look down upon a gravel field operation with the accompanying noise, dust and traffic for from five to 10 years.

"A decree is to be entered that the decision of the Board of Appeals is not found to exceed its authority and requires no modification, and that no costs be assessed; and that the Clerk of Courts, within twenty (20) days of the entry of the decree, send certified copies thereof to the Building Inspector, the Town Clerk, and the Board of Appeals of the Town of Wayland."

WESTON -- Miss Jayne P. Floyd and Miss Nancy L. White have resumed their professional training in physical education at Bouve-Boston School, which is affiliated with Tufts University, Medford. Miss Floyd, a member of the senior class at Bouve, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Paul Floyd of 217 Newton Street and Miss White, a junior is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. White of 211 Conant Road. This year Miss Floyd is president of the Physical Education Club and Miss White is vice-president of the Athletic Association at Bouve.

Blue Bird Fly - Up At Claypit Hill School

WAYLAND -- The official Camp Fire Girl year began recently at a Ceremonial Blue Bird Fly-Up at the Claypit Hill School. Fourteen Blue Birds from Cochituate and

Wayland received Camp Fire ties and books from their leaders, Mrs. John Pratt and Mrs. Philip Gladu. They were: Wendy Ames, Marcia Bandelin, Rae Benson, Martha Caraker, Polly Hammond, Marilyn Heinrich, Pamela Lewis, Lisa Marbet, Joanna Pratt and Sarah Surgenor. The leaders also welcomed the following new Camp Fire members: Ann Torrey Reade, Valerie Mesita, Donna Sprusansky, Linda Vesta and Beth Young. The girls were welcomed by Mrs. Richard Dunham, who led them in the candle-lighting council-fire ceremony to illustrate the Camp Fire symbols of work, health and love. Miss Ruth Smith, District Director, also spoke about preparations for the golden jubilee of the Camp Fire Girl organization next year. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Paul Scovill's group of Wood Gatherers, the older girls' group.

WESTON -- Mrs. Cecilia Cleary of 392 North Avenue announces that she has become local representative of Strout Realty, large real estate firm, to serve Weston, Wal-tham and other communities within a 15-mile radius. She will handle the business from her home.

Wayland 30, Westford 8

(Next, Lynnfield Here)

WAYLAND -- Wayland High kept its victory string unbroken, beating Westford Academy at Westford on Nov. 14 by a score of 30 to 8, but it wasn't easy. Westford staged a 90-yard march in the second period to score, and until into the fourth period Wayland's lead was only 14 to 8.

Bruce Waldman caught two passes from Jerry Whelchel for touchdowns. George Dreher scored a touchdown, his first of the season, and Whelchel scored the last one on an end run.

On this play, next to last of the game, Jerry was run out of bounds after getting into the end zone corner. As he went down he inadvertently cut down the referee, too, in one of the best blocks thrown all afternoon.

Wayland players:

le, Bradley, Sullivan, Moorhead; lt, Furst; lg, Morrell; c, Marsh; rg, DePaolo; rt, Wesley, Patton; re, Waldman; qb, Whelchel; lhb, Johnsen, Bruce; rhb, Morris; fb, Dreher.

Bedford 28, Weston 12

(Next, at Wayland, Nov. 26)

WESTON -- To the surprise of all, Weston High was beaten by Bedford, 28 to 12, on Nov. 14 at Weston. Weston had previously lost only to Ipswich, one of the best Class D teams, by one touchdown, and Bedford, on Nov. 9, had been easy for Wayland, 44 to 0.

Curt Evans, on a 7-yard plunge, and Forbes McMullin, on a 1-yard sneak, scored for Weston.

Weston players:

Mahoney, re; Perry, DiBenditto, rt; D'Antonis, rg; Colter Powers, Parlee, c; Tyler, R. Rizzo, lg; Ruland, Leone, lt; Duffy, Butcher, Leonhart, le; McMullin, White, qb; Evans, W. Rizzo, rhb; McDonald, Foster, lhb; J. Adams, D. Adams, fb.

WAYLAND -- Another "architectural first" is under construction in town, this time a new kind of home called "The Deck House." The model, first of an original contemporary design being packaged to be built all over New England, is being constructed on Sedge-meadow Road in North Wayland. As the name suggest, an important feature of the two-level structure is an outside deck which forms a long balcony along the second floor living room.

At Weston Football Game

WESTON -- Part of the local crowd at the Bedford game played here on Saturday, Nov. 14, shot during a time out on the field. It was a wonderfully warm day, but Weston lost.

Half A Dozen Views Of The Shopping Center In Weston

WESTON -- Although Weston is a residential town, it has a thriving business center of stores and offices, some new or newly rebuilt and some long established. Thanks to the Bypass, the heavy Route 20 traffic no longer goes through the center, where local motorists can still get around in reasonable comfort. Above, not individually named, are some familiar buildings and scenes. (Forman Photo)

WESTON -- John S. Proctor, director of physical education, athletics and recreation in the Weston schools, was a delegate to the first national conference on school recreation held in Washington D. C., Nov. 16 - 18.

Mrs. Reid Attended World Meeting In Edinburgh

WAYLAND -- Mrs. Leslie B. Reid of Waltham Road, official delegate of the Massachusetts Council of Homemakers to the ninth triennial conference of the Associated Country Women of the World held in Edinburgh, Scotland, returned recently from her conference duties and a tour of the continent and the British Isles.

Mrs. Reid, who has been associated with the Middlesex Extension Service for many years, reports that she found it extremely interesting to hear how similar services operate in the European countries as well as in Canada and Australia. In most countries, the Extension Services are known as Institutes but their aims are the same and the services they perform are geared to the mode of living in each of the countries they serve.

The world-wide conference was held in Edinburgh during the first two weeks of August and Mrs. Reid reports that while the agenda was very full she still found time to enjoy Scotland and the variety of entertainment arranged by the Scottish Women's Rural Institute.

Mrs. Reid arrived in England a week in advance of the conference and spent the time touring that country. At the conclusion of the Scotland sessions, she and 12 other American delegates flew to Amsterdam for an extensive tour of the continent. They travelled by bus - "which is the best way to see the country" - through Holland, Germany, Austria, Lichtenstein and France.

One of the highlights of their trip came during their stay in Paris, their last stop. They happened to be there just as President Eisenhower was making his visit and were first aware of it when they were held up in traffic on a trip back from Versailles in order to allow the Eisenhower caravan to go through.

In Paris they discovered one of their rooms faced onto his parade route and they took advantage of the large window to stage a very American demonstration. No ticker tape was available and the delegates had a conscience about tearing up French telephone books but they did rip up a bunch of newspaper confetti and clapped and cheered loudly. The President caught the demonstration and gave them his famous arms-upraised greeting.

Mrs. Reid was scheduled to report on her conference experiences at a meeting of the Homemaker's Council in Concord on Sept. 22 and planned to show a collection of films and slides taken on her trip.

Social Security Pays Nearly Million A Year To Residents Of Towns

Social security payments in 1958 were $356,000 in Weston and $475,000 in Wayland, it is announced by Norman A. Keyes, manager of the Waltham social security district office.

As of February of 1959, he says, old age, survivors and disability insurance benefits were being paid at a monthly rate of $30,000 in Weston and $40,000 in Wayland. In the nation, in February, benefits were being paid at the rate of nearly $10,000,000,000 a year.

For the year 1959, it is indicated, social security payments in Wayland and Weston together may well amount to $1,000,000 or more.

School Ground Breaking

Alan Scott enlivened the proceedings with bagpipe music. (Forman Photo)

WESTON -- Frederick W. Haffenreffer, chairman of the board of trustees of The Rivers Country Day School, broke ground Nov. 14 for the new Rivers in Weston, assisted by school officials, alumni and student representatives and others.

The ceremony, attended by many neighbors and friends of the School, marked the start of construction at Bogle and Winter Streets, by Nonesuch Pond.

Mr. Haffenreffer said that the school's move to its new 31-acre site marks the culmination of an effort dating back almost 50 years. The school is moving from its present situation in Chestnut Hill to make room for more classes and more space for playing fields. Decision to make the move was accelerated when the Town of Brookline purchased the Heath Street property for a playground. Rivers will open its new Weston buildings next fall.

George H. Blackwell, headmaster, pointed out that most of the Rivers students now live west of Brookline so the new campus will be more favorably situated to serve them and the entire area.

A Development Fund campaign to raise the $510,000 needed for the new school has been underway, and presently about half the needed amount is in hand. This includes the amount paid by the Town of Brookline for the present site.

Participating in the ground-breaking were: Edward M. Dickson, chairman of the Weston board of selectmen; Dr. Philip H. Walker, chairman of the building committee; John H. Underhill Jr. president of the Rivers Country Day School Alumni Association; Dr. Hathorn P. Brown, chairman of the Development Fund campaign; Robert L. Henderson, vice chairman of the development fund; Richard G. Williams, president of the student council, and Harwood Ellis, assistant headmaster.

Dedication was pronounced by the Rev. Philip S. Krug, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

WAYLAND -- Mr. James M. Cazanias of Cochituate Road will head the construction of the new Temple Israel building to be erected on Hartford Street, Natick. Ground breaking ceremonies for the building, which will house a sanctuary, choir and auditorium, as well as a social hall to accommodate 600 people, were held on Sept. 27.

Weston Man In Navy

WESTON -- Serving in the United States Navy at Jacksonville, Florida, is Airman Apprentice Peter Lawson, above, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard A. Poe of 217 Merriam Street, a 1958 graduate of Weston High School who was co-captain of football there. He entered the service in March of this year, and is enrolled in the Naval Air Technical Training Command. (Ricardo Studio)

Cub Scouts Pack 55

COCHITUATE -- Cochituate Cub Scouts, Pack 55, held their October Pack Meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 27, and the following boys received awards:

Book Collectors

Mrs. Richard Stackpole of Shaw Drive, Wayland, was one of the 16 neighborhood collectors in Greater Boston who attended the planning luncheon given by Mrs. Stewart H. Clifford of Doublet Hill Road, Weston, recently to discuss plans for the collecting of books for the next Yankee Bookstall.

The Bookstall, sponsored by the Children's Medical Center, receives donations of books, both fiction and non-fiction, for its yearly spring sale. Out-of-print books and first editions are particularly welcome but all kinds of books are wanted. Either Mrs. Clifford or Mrs. Stackpole may be called by anyone who has books to donate.

A properly built, flue-lined, masonry chimney should last a lifetime.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST, WESTON

439 Boston Post Road
11:45 a.m. Sunday Service, Sunday School at the same hour. A ourcery is available. 8 p.m. Wednesday evening meeting. Reading Room, Monday, Wednesday, Friday 12 - 3 p.m.

The supreme power of God will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Soul and Body" is the Golden Text from Psalms (66:8, 9): "O bless our God, ye people, and make the voice of his praise to be heard: which holdeth our soul in life, and suffereth not our feet to be moved."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include this statement of the supremacy of God, Soul: "God is infinite, the only Life, substance, Spirit, or Soul, the only intelligence of the universe, including man" (330:11-12).

From the King James Version of the Bible, the following will be read: "Bless the Lord, O my soul. O Lord my God, thou art very great; thou art clothed with honour and majesty" (Psalms 104:1).

Project Chairman

Mrs. Lewis S. Billig.

WAYLAND -- Three Wayland residents are credited with the preparation of a brochure describing the services offered by the Greater Framingham Mental Health Association to Wayland and other communities in its area.

Mrs. Lewis S. Billig of Highgate Road volunteered, under the auspices of the community program of the Sisterhood Temple Beth Am of Framingham, to become chairman of the brochure project. Other citizens participating in the project are Mrs. Carl Neuendorfer of Holbrook Road and Mrs. Harold Goldberg of East Plain Street.

This Committee has worked for many months assembling information helpful to townspeople. They interviewed not only a host of key people in the Association and on the professional staff, but visited with allied and cooperating groups such as the Visiting Nurses' Association Big Brother, Big-Sister Foundation, Well-Child Conference, Nursery School for Retarded Children and others. The GFMHA is greatly indebted to Mrs. Billig who not only headed this Committee, but also supervised the photography and layout of the 20-page pamphlet. This effort represents the first brochure published by the Mental Health Association.

Stewardship Campaign

WAYLAND -- The Community Methodist Church of Cochituate embarked on its first stewardship campaign on Sunday, Nov. 15, when approximately 90 campaign workers, under the direction of Mr. Ruben H. Guenther of West Plain Street, began their visits to Church members asking for their support of the Church program.

A dedication service on the morning of the 15th was the culmination of a series of training sessions at which workers were given a view of the potential growth and activity of the Church. During the new stewardship campaign, members will be asked not only for financial pledges but for contributions of their time and their talents.

Activity At The CO-OP

THE CO-OP INC., has been a busy spot recently. In addition to the pre-Thanksgiving rush, the CO-OP has kept local folks amused and entertained at the Wayland store with the appearance of notable personalities and entertainers.

Following the appearance of "Big Brother" Bob Emery of television fame who entertained the small fry at the Village Shopper, Miss Simone St. Pierre, the Bushway Gourmet Girl of 1959, is currently appearing at the store and demonstrating the quality and uses of her manufacturer's products. Patrons continue to register for 150 free bushel baskets of assorted groceries. This week, children can purchase a full-sized hot dog and roll with a glass of milk for just 10 cents.

Next week the CO-OP's Thanksgiving specials will be offered and there will also be two clowns at the store throughout the week. Carol Ives, the CO-OP home economist, continues to offer advice and demonstrations for housewives.

The first winner drawn for a bushel basket of free groceries was Mrs. John Cotney, 69 Plain Road, Wayland.

WESTON -- A fourth child, John Benson Farrell, was born to Dr. and Mrs. David J. Farrell (Dorothy Benson) of 25 Church Street on September 11 at the Richardson House, Boston.

WESTON -- Mrs. Marjorie Burrill of the Weston schools addressed a Wellesley meeting of the League of Women Voters on Oct. 14, on "Merit Salary."

Mrs. Lambert Greets Coeds

WAYLAND -- Mrs. Eleanor W. Lambert of Davelin Road, who is assistant director of admissions at Northeastern University, was on hand to greet guests at the reception held for freshman coeds on Sept. 11. With Mrs. Lambert, at left, are, left to right, three Weymouth girls, Susan Barnes, Susan Vedoe and Joyce Abruzzese.

What Francoise Said At UN-Rombas Dinner

WESTON -- Francoise Friedrich, girl from Rombas who is a student at Weston High School this year, was warmly applauded at the joint UN and Rombas-Weston supper on Oct. 20 when she said: "Distinguished guests, dear people of Weston:

"Forty-three days ago today I arrived here in Weston and each day since my arrival, I have learned something very new and exciting. There are many things so new to me at first, I am finally getting accustomed to them like eating hot dogs, drinking a lot of milk, cheering at the football games, baby sitting and so on.

My first thanks go to all the members of the committee for their kindness and efforts in getting me here. Especially thank you, Mr. Fiske, for your untiring help in this program of exchange. My thanks go also to the whole town of Weston for its generous support of the committee. I want to say a special thank you to my new family in Weston, Mr. and Mrs. Storm and their children for the sincere affection they share with me. Thanks to them I have not felt the terrible homesickness that we French fear so often.

Thank you, all my teachers, for your kindness and comprehension and all my classmates who, the very first day, accepted me in their friendship circle. I hope that one day next year when I am back in France I will have the great privilege to know the fourth American student coming to Rombas. I promise I will do for him as much as you are doing for me now, dear friends.

May this exchange last forever. That is my only wish--and these two beautiful nations which are the United States and France may stay in the best friendship for ever and ever."

Grateful appreciation is expressed to Mr. Donald Upham for his great kindness in making a complete tape recording of all the proceedings and addresses made at the dinner. This recording is being sent to the College de Rombas for reproduction for the Rombas Committee, the College and the people of the town.

Cub Scout Pack 53

WESTON -- Weston Cub Scout Pack 53 held its November meeting on Nov. 6 at St. Peter's Church. Den 18 conducted the Flag Ceremony and led the group in singing "America". Dens 5, 18 and the Lion-Webelos den had perfect attendance.

Den 18 exhibited a mural which it had made on the theme of the month, "The Country Store, and Den 5 exhibited its poster on the same subject.

The highlight of the evening was the ceremony welcoming the new Bobcats into the pack. Eleven boys received their pins from cubmaster Robert Townsend: Richard Petrick, Henry Merrill, Brian Healey, Douglas Blacklow, Peter Boshco, Jeffrey Wilson, Robert Hoar, Garrett Clancy, George Ingram, Peter Wheeler and Tremaine Parsons.

The first white man known to have entered Vermont was Samuel de Champlain in 1609.

George Powers, Waltham, Wins Music Scholarship

The presentation. Left to right: Dr. James Aliferis, Mrs. John C. Wells Jr., Mrs. Albert B. Hunt, George Powers and Mrs. Raphael Demos. (Henry Photo)

WESTON -- The Weston Country Evening Concert Series has awarded the Elizabeth Parsons Scholarship for study at the New England Conservatory to George Powers of 5 Benefit Street, Waltham.

A scholarship, given yearly, is given this fall in memory of Miss Elizabeth Parsons of Weston. The award was made at a recent ceremony in the office of President James Aliferis. Mrs. Albert B. Hunt, Chairman of the Concert Series, and Mrs. John C. Wells Jr. made the presentation.

George Powers is a candidate for the Conservatory's Master of Music degree in Trombone. His undergraduate study was at Ithaca College, Ithaca, New York. He is a regular member of the Springfield Symphony and the Cambridge Civic Symphony and has also played with the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Mr. Powers is a member of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia Fraternity.

On Friday, Dec. 4, Mr. Powers will present a public recital at the Conservatory's Recital Hall at 8:30 p.m. Included on the program will be the Hindemith Sonata for Trombone and Piano and a composition by Mr. Powers.

SMARC Goal Reached

The 1959 campaign to help mentally retarded children recently concluded is the most successful of the six annual drives that have been conducted by the South Middlesex Association for Retarded Children. The Association's campaign goal, $15,500 was reached. The sum of $1,318 has been raised in Wayland, according to Mrs. Lyman O. Seley, Wayland chairman.

Town Crier Moves Office To Old P.O. In Wayland

After this week, if all goes according to schedule, The Town Crier and The Fence Viewer will be published from the old post office building on Pelham Island Road in Wayland Center.

The address will be simply Wayland Center.

Since September, 1955, the Crier has been published at 502 Boston Post Road, Weston. The move to Wayland is being made because the growth of the papers and of the Town Crier Press has made it necessary to have more room in which to work.

The Wayland building, vacant because the Post Office is now located in the Village Shopper, has been leased from the Wayland Associates, who are renovating and repainting it.

Boston's Christmas Tree Comes From Cochituate

COCHITUATE -- The 90-foot spruce above, photographed before its removal from premises of Dominic J. Strazzulla on Commonwealth Road East, has been taken into Boston to be the big municipal Christmas tree on Boston Common. It looks odd here because the top branches have been bundled up for the trip to the city. The tree had to be taken down anyway, to make room for a business establishment. (McCann Photo)

Austin Hale Wants To Find A Weston Veteran

WESTON -- Austin S. Hale asks for help in locating a Weston man who was at Fort Devens in 1942. The only clue to his identity is that he wore a small mustache and showed a picture of his home in Weston, believed to have been a white house.

The man who needs to locate this Weston veteran is John J. Donahue of 80 Arnold Street, Methuen. Mr. Donahue tells Mr. Hale that he needs proof of disability which this Weston man could provide, and he has forgotten the name.

Wayland Beats Lynnfield, 35 - 0, To Maintain Record

WAYLAND -- Wayland High's football team, the hottest thing of its kind around, beat Lynnfield 35-0 on Nov. 21, before the biggest crowd of the season, estimated at 3000.

Aside from the spectacular football shown by the home boys, the outstanding feature of the occasion, from the spectators' point of view, was the feat of the referee, who knocked himself down on the muddy

Letters to the EDITOR

They Can Be Helped

To the Editor:

As one of the thousand workers who took part in the recent campaign to aid retarded children in this area and as the parent of a retarded child, I wish to thank you and the staff of the Town Crier for the heartening support of your newspaper during the 1959
"Day for Donnie" drive.

What all of us working for retarded children want most of all is acceptance and understanding of the problem of mental retardation and how it affects each child. When the public knows the facts about mental retardation and understands that RETARDED CHILD-REN CAN BE HELPED, it comes forth willingly to provide the special services needed to help the children, and support the research which will conquer this terrible handicap one day.

On behalf of the South Middlesex Association for Retarded Children and retarded children and adults, may I express our appreciation for the generous public response to our appeal and to your newspaper for helping to make the public aware.

Very truly yours,
Gwen Fettingner
(Mrs. John G. Fettingner)

Garden Club Speaker Gave Christmas Ideas

WESTON -- Mrs. Gordon N.
Roaf, "Woman of the Year in Gardening," who spoke to The Country Garden Club of Weston on Nov. 18 offered many original ideas for wreaths, scenes and arrangements, and stressed what can be done with such simple materials as newspapers, wood shavings, tin cans, etc.

She also gave simplified methods for making many holiday ornaments, and used dolls in charming settings to appeal to old and young alike. She closed her program with a series of colored slides showing what she had done to decorate her home in Christmases past.

Since several members of The Country Garden Club have been holding a Christmas workshop at the home of Mrs. Gerard R. De-Napoli, this program was of special interest. They have already made many decorative items for their homes and for gifts under the guidance of Mrs. Robert E. Marsh,
Mrs. B. Howard Spicker, Mrs.
Eben Wallace and Mrs. Robert E. Young.

The Fireplace Saves Trips To The Dump, But Ma Kicks

Suburban Man Wants An Open Hearth Furnace For Trash And Sometimes He Gets It

At the holiday season, in an earlier day around here, the family would gather around the hearth pretty easily, because it probably hadn't been away anywhere except out to pick up the eggs and attend to the cows, and in those days the hearth was something much different from what it is nowadays.

In the modern home, price range from $20,000 to $80,000 or, as in the movie somebody will make someday, "From Here To Insolvency", there is always at least one fireplace with a hearth.

This fireplace will work, generally, but it isn't there for use, really. It is understood that the house has a heater which also works and will, with the aid of insulation and a couple of sweaters per person, make the joint comfortable. The theory is that oil is more plentiful than wood and certainly cheaper. Therefore the fireplace is just there for looks, if somebody wants to make a show for a cocktail party or something.

What more often happens, alas, is that the housewife regards the fireplace as too untidy ever to be used. She closes the damper the day she moves in and after that, woe to the person who throws so much as a burned match into the fireplace.

One kind of woman likes to make a big paper fan of old newspaper and stick it in the fireless fireplace. Another kind uses the place to store the rubber plant, or a vase full of artificial flowers. Some install andirons on which they place three sticks of white birch, which remain there until the termites carry them away.

A local fire worshipper writes, "A special and unpleasant corner of hereafter is reserved for women who do things like this." He adds that he hopes it won't be the same corner reserved for sinful men, because under some circumstances fire can be pretty cozy and such women would spoil everything, by complaining, especially if the fire seemed to be unnecessarily smoky.

The gentleman of the old school, that one they tore down because the teachers were underpaid and the pupils weren't learning much, likes to have his fireplace a reeking lava pit, like a Hawaiian volcano, all the time.

With the trash situation around here what it is, he finds a working fireplace utilitarian (not to be confused with Unitarian, no matter what the papers say) as well as aesthetic.

When a fire is started every day, a householder has a fair chance to keeping almost even with the cartons, paper bags, frozen food packages and laundry cartboards which come into the home. A gay fire on the hearth is also a great place in which to dispose of old bones, paper napkins, old popcorn and nut shells.

The fireplace is also the obvious spot in which to throw an empty cigarette package, but here again the housewife gets stuffy. She alleges that while the paper will burn, the foil will not, and that it will remain as a dirty lump in the otherwise clean residue.

The answer to this is, "What difference one more lump in a pile of ashes?"

The theory of the conservationist is that wood ashes, thrown on the garden or the lawn, are just as good as fertilizer, and that they make everything grow green. He also says that a few cigarette foils, burned nails and singed bottle caps merely add interesting trace minerals to the soil. Obviously, we need a little metal in our blood to make us adequate conductors of electricity, which is what we have to be in this increasingly galvanic age. How's a boy ever going to get to be president of Involved Involuter Outer Space Electronics Ltd. unless he can put his finger on a hot spark plug without flinching?

It may be that woman's hostility to the open fire dates from the time when she had to copk over it, and hated it, but man and the builders are keeping ahead of her. Indeed, what is so delightful, on a frosty holiday morning, as a glowing fireplace, full of $1 worth of burning wood and minus a nickel's worth of incandescent old clock parts, cigar butts, paper clips, plastic containers and fragrant dog hairs? -- D.B.W.

Weston Honor Roll

One hundred fifteen students at Weston High School earned positions on the first quarter Honor Roll, announces Willard H. Smith, principal. Five pupils were eligible for highest honors with an A-average in a minimum of four major subject areas; 36 students qualified for honors; a B average in four or more major subjects insured a ranking of honorable mention for an additional 74 pupils.

Highest honors were awarded to Esther Lombard, senior; Erika Saunders, Keppler Stone and Linda Townsend, juniors, and Donald Sanders, sophomore.

In the honors division were: seniors, Nancy Albrecht, Richard Ayers, Barbara Cooks, Nancy Locke, and Lars Rydell; juniors, Peter Borrelli, Margaret Dobbie, Julie Doebl, Nancy Garland, Rosamond Lombard, Roy MacArthur, Blanche McLane, Forbes McMullin Virginia Olney, Jan Olson, Beverly Ormsby, Stephen Richardson and Richard Tabors; sophomores, Anne Bartel, Judith Benger, Jonathan Bump, Elizabeth Eldridge, Judith Hoagland, Linda Howe, Margaret Martel, John McKenzie and Jane Peterson; freshmen, Arra Avakian, Louise Cutter, Susan Gross, Daniel Holmes, Kimball McMullin, George McNeil, Robert Miller, Charles Schuerhoff and Jane Van Nostrand.

Wayland Girls Receive Commendation Letters

WAYLAND -- Three seniors at Wayland High School, Ann Somers, Lynda Clausen and Roberta Nordbeck, have received "letters of commendation" for outstanding performance in the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test held last Spring, principal William M. Griffin announces.

The "commended group" number 27,000, among the 550,000 from 14,500 schools who took the test.

Realtors' Conference

WESTON -- Mrs. Lucy Davenport Boyd of the Boston Post Road will be one of the participants in the sixth annual sales conference being held by the Brokers Institute for the Greater Boston Real Estate Board at the Boston University College of Liberal Arts on November 27.

Purpose of the all-day conference is to provide realtors with up-to-the minute ideas and techniques for successful selling.

Farnsworth — Fairburn

WESTON -- Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. Farnsworth of 169 Ridgeway Road announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Barbara Lowe Farnsworth, to Mr. David Hadden Fairburn, son of Mrs. Hadden Fairburn of Prouts Neck, Maine, and New York City, and of Mr. William A. Fairburn Jr., of Ojai, California.

Miss Farnsworth was graduated from Concord Academy and attended Vassar College and Lasell College. She made her debut in 1957 at the Country Ball and the Thanksgiving Assembly and is a provisional member of the Junior League.

Mr. Fairburn is a graduate of Groton and was graduated this year from Harvard College where he was a member of the Owl Club, the Varsity Club, and the Hasty Pudding Institute of 1770.

A June wedding is planned.

WESTON -- A second child, first daughter, Elizabeth Dudley Ellis, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Ellis (Dorothy Faden) of 41 Summer Street on Oct. 25 at the Winchester Hospital.

WHIRLPOOL

Automatic Dryer

EVERY WASHDAY'S
LIGHT AND SUNNY
when you have an ELECTRIC DRYER

Here's a "fall festival" offering that will put an end to the misery of out-of-doors or down cellar clothes drying and make every washday a charm instead of a chore! This RCA Whirlpool dryer plugs into any convenience outlet — needs no special wiring. At the former price of $169.95 it was a good buy — but at Edison Shops' "fall festival" price of only $139.95 it's a rare opportunity to know the joys of automatic electric clothes drying. Has top-quality features: built-in lint screen, wrinkle-free drying of wash and wear fabrics, automatic door-shut off, big-family capacity.

Special Town Meeting Quorum Was Found

WAYLAND -- It cost the town more than $2 for each voter at attendance at the Nov. 18 Special Town Meeting just to hold the meeting, at which it was necessary to appropriate $39,379 for the unforeseen operation expenses of a number of town departments.

According to Mr. Robert M. Morgan, long-time member of the Finance Committee, the town - at least in his memory - has never failed to get a quorum but it has been quite a few years since people had to be rounded up to attend even a special town meeting. A quorum of 100 is required to negotiate town business and even that small number of citizens was hard to obtain last week until couriers were dispatched to local church and civic group meetings.

Voter apathy in this case might be laid to the fact that most of the appropriation items were considered "bookkeeping transfers". Since practically all of the needed money was to be transferred from available funds or from the excess and deficiency account which is a kind of town savings account, it may be that local citizens figured that this was a sort of between-pay-days transfer which didn't call for any bright, new decisions. At any rate, the business got done.

The largest single item was for $20,562.50 for interest on the new High School bonds, necessitated by the fact that the borrowing had to be done in June instead of in July as originally planned.

$2000 was appropriated for the control of Dutch Elm Disease and, according to Mr. Morgan, this will probably continue to be an unpredictable item for some years. Since the hurricane of 1946, the disease has spread fairly rapidly and it costs between $85 and $100 to take down and remove each one of the infected trees.

A total of nearly $11,000 was appropriated for school expenses, $1000 of which is to be used to begin repairs on the roof of the Happy Hollow school. The total cost of the repair work is expected to be around $7000 but a good part of it will be recovered from the bond which guaranteed the job.

The $10, appropriation for a drainage easement on Waltham Road was a matter of form with which no one disagreed since the town cannot take an easement without giving some kind of dollar value in return.

WESTON -- Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. DuBois of 176 North Avenue have become agents in town for the Strout Realty Company, and will do business from their home. Former Strout representative in Weston is Mrs. Cecelia Cleary of 393 North Avenue.

Coast-to-Coast Direct Distance Dialing NOW IN EFFECT IN BOSTON AND VICINITY

Pages 4 and 5 of your new Boston Telephone Directory provide complete dialing instructions, information about dialing codes and list of dialable points.

If you have dial telephone service within the area served by the Boston and Vicinity Telephone Directory or in Dover, Lynn or Scituate, you may now dial your personal or business telephone calls direct* to over 2500 localities in 40 states, the District of Columbia and 4 Canadian provinces.

Some communities in which dial service has been introduced within the past few years already dial to a limited number of places outside of New England. These communities, like the rest of the Boston Area, may now dial to the complete list of dialable points.

SOME EXCEPTIONS: Because of technical limitations, 4-party customers in the dial offices listed on Page 10 of the new Boston Directory will be unable to dial outside of eastern Massachusetts. Similarly, no long distance calls may be dialed from any coin telephone.

50,000,000 Telephones Dialable

The following cities are typical of the places which may be dialed from Boston and Vicinity. Many smaller communities near the cities listed are also dialable. Since any complete list would be too long for publication, your Operator will tell you if other places may be dialed direct.

New England Points

In addition to eastern Massachusetts and Rhode Island points, New England places which may now be dialed direct include:

All of Connecticut
Manchester and principal cities in New Hampshire
Portland, Maine and Vicinity
Providence and most of Rhode Island
Springfield and Worcester

Long Distance Points

Cleveland, Ohio
Detroit, Michigan
Duluth, Minnesota
Fort Worth, Texas
Indianapolis, Indiana
Louisville, Kentucky
Miami, Florida
Milwaukee, Wisconsin
Montreal, Quebec
Norfolk, Virginia
Portland, Oregon
Seattle, Washington
Syracuse, New York
Topeka, Kansas
Trenton, New Jersey

New Method of Dialing to Rhode Island

Code 4-0-1 replaces 1-1

Beginning today, dial telephone users* in Boston and Vicinity will begin to use the Rhode Island state "area" code when dialing telephone numbers in that state.

Because of certain technical limitations, 4-party customers in the dial offices listed on Page 10 of the new Boston Directory will be unable to dial Rhode Island offices.*

Rhode Island's "area" code, which is "4-0-1," should be followed by the two letters and five figures of the number being called. The previous code, "1-1," will no longer be dialed.

Example: To call JACKSON 1-9950 in Providence, the number should be dialed as follows: 4-0-1 J-A 1-9-9-5-0

No Change In Dialing To Eastern Massachusetts

The figures "1-1" will continue to be dialed to eastern Massachusetts places which are outside of local calling areas.

NEW ENGLAND TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY

A son, Robert Owens, in Montreal, was reached by telephone and flew down on Sunday afternoon to take steps to care for the property. Mr. Owens' daughter is married to Herbert Whitcomb, formerly of Weston, and lives in Bismark, North Dakota.

Staying in the house, which has two stories and 22 rooms and dates from the 1870s, was Mrs. Lena Watkins, a housekeeper who has been with the family for more than 20 years.

She said that at 8:31 Sunday morning she heard a blast in the cellar. She opened the cellar door to investigate and the room was immediately filled so full of smoke she couldn't find the telephone. She ran across to the home of a neighbor, Mr. Philip Poutasse who telephoned for the Fire Department.

The fire went straight up in the house from the boiler room, says Chief Hartin. Firefighters attacked it from the roof, preventing it from mushrooming. The damage was severe in the four-room area affected, but the rear wing was not touched by the fire.

Two pieces of equipment came from Sudbury, under mutual aid. Weston sent its ladder truck to the fire and Weston Engine 2 went to cover at the Center station. Natick sent its Engine 4 to cover at Cohitate.

Chief Hartin received a cut on his left hand which required two stitches. Wayland firefighters Wilbur Pettigrew of Engine 4 and John F. Columbus of Engine 5 were overcome by smoke, but revived at the scene.

It was an hour and a half before the fire was brought under control, and the Wayland Department spent several more hours cleaning up the house and getting the furniture, damaged and undamaged, into the barn.

As in all cases of fire of undetermined origin, says Chief Hartin, representatives of the State Fire Marshal's office came out to investigate.

Chief Hartin also expressed his appreciation of the help furnished by Sudbury and Weston. "Excellent teamwork and cooperation," he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard B. Dik, Mrs. J. Pierpoint Blair and others of the Wayland Red Cross served hot coffee to the firefighters.

Five years ago, it was recalled, the Wayland Department had a stubborn fight with another smoky blaze in this same house.

The Weston Branch of Waltham Savings Bank Will Open On Dec. 2

WESTON -- Mr. Benjamin F. Wood of Wayland, president of the Waltham Savings Bank, has announced that the bank's new Weston branch office will open for business on Wednesday, Dec. 2. It will be a trustee of Gordon College and the Park Street Church of Boston. He is also a member of the Union Boat Club and the Weston Golf Club. Mrs. Slater accompanied her husband on the trip to Cologne, leaving Nov. 20 by plane.

located in the business and professional building at 432 Boston Post Road in Weston Center.

There will be a month-long, open house celebration because the space at this office is not sufficient to handle all visitors comfortably in a day or a week. The interior features attractive pine panelling, wall-to-wall carpeting and colonial motif wallpaper throughout. Mr. George D. DeGrasse, treasurer of the bank, has been in charge of supervising the construction, furnishing and equipping of this office. Peter C. Paige was the designer.

A five-member staff will be on duty at this Weston office headed by Ralph A. Sederquist, assistant treasurer and mortgage officer. He will be assisted by Mrs. Nina A. Castanino, Mrs. Eleanor L. Dow, Miss Susan J. Pearson and Mrs. Barbara H. Shaw.

Nine hundred Weston school children participate in the bank's school savings program. In addition, the bank has several million dollars invested in Weston homes, and deposits by Weston residents are also in the millions of dollars. In all, the Waltham Savings Bank serves more than 40,000 depositors and life insurance policyholders.

E.A. Veno In New Office

WAYLAND -- Edward A. Veno, Realtor, Boston Post Road, announces the opening of his new office at the Village Shopper. Mr. Veno has been at this same location for over 15 years, but has just recently completed the new office pictured above. Mr. Veno has developed many locations in the Wayland-Sudbury area. (Peter Besh)

New Officers For Red Barn School

WESTON -- Mr. James H. Gardner of Woodridge Road, Wayland, new president of the Red Barn Nursery School Corporation, was introduced to members at the Fall Corporation Meeting held on Nov. 16.

A former member of the Executive Board, Mr. Gardner is a native of Salt Lake City, Utah. He received his B. S. in chemical engineering from the University of Utah and his Ph.D. in chemistry from Harvard University. He is the general manager of the Metals Division for the National Research Corporation of Cambridge. Mr. Gardner is married and has three children; Bill, a first-grader and former pupil at Red Barn; Rob, a Red Barn student, and Amy, a pre-schooler. He succeeds Dr. Jean Mayer of Sudbury, retiring president.

Also presented at the meeting at which a number of new parents were voted into Corporation membership, was Mrs. Leonard S. Kanzer of Weston who is taking over as secretary and Mrs. Fred A. Sawyer, new member of the Executive Committee.

Continuing as executive committee members are vice-president Mrs. Phillip J. Driscoll of Waltham; treasurer, Mr. S. T. Guild Jr., of Weston; and Mr. David R. Brooke, Mrs. John F. G. Eichorn, Mr. Paul E. Green Jr., Mrs. William M. C. Lam and Mr. Berton V. Phinney Jr., all of Weston.

State Aid

Weston will receive $1,850 and Wayland $11,354 in state reimbursements for special education programs given last year, according to figures recently released by State Tax Commissioner Robert T. Capeless.

The funds come from state income tax receipts and are distributed to the local communities to assist them in financing special programs for mentally retarded and physically handicapped children.

VISIT LINCOLN CLASSES

WESTON -- Mrs. Marjorie Burrill, Weston elementary supervisor, and Mr. Walter Gleason, Country School principal, attended a conference of primary grade teachers and supervisory personnel held at the Smith School in Lincoln on Friday, Nov. 20. The attending educators observed ungraded primary classes in which the children progressed at their own speed.

Next to Rhode Island, Connecticut has the highest percentage of foreign-born in the Union.

Guests In Wayland

WAYLAND -- Thirteen students and two professors from Guatemala, visiting in the United States, were scheduled to arrive in Wayland Center by bus at noon on Thanksgiving Day to be guests for dinner in various Wayland homes. The hosts:

Mr. and Mrs. Gregory B. Wolfe, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick L. Heinrich, Mr. and Mrs. Dean W. Hocking, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Mavor Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. Roger P. Stokey, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Awad, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kurth and Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Witmer.

The visits were arranged by the Pan-American Society of Boston.

Nasturtiums may be man's best friend. They do best on soil no self-respecting flower can grow on and their seeds, flowers and leaves are all excellent in salads.

WESTON -- Miss Kathleen Minihan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth V. Minihan of 3 Lantern Lane, a junior at Regis College, has been elected treasurer of the Athletic Association and also treasurer of the Dramatic Club. She is a graduate of the Academy of the Assumption.

WESTON -- Mrs. Harry A. Starr of 88 North Avenue was hostess on Nov. 18 to nine tables of bridge for the benefit of the Ways and Means Committee of the Waltham Woman's Club. Mrs. Starr is a former president of the Club.

WAYLAND -- Arnet L. Powell of 65 Woodridge Road, chief scientist of the Office of Naval Research, Boston, has been named chairman of the public relations committee of the Northeastern Section of the American Chemical Society. As chairman, he is responsible for the activities and programs of the press subcommittee, the radio subcommittee and the television subcommittee of the local chemical society.

WESTON -- Mr. and Mrs. Daniel G. Melone (Joanna Hill Blake) announce the birth of their second child, first daughter, Lisa Anne Melone, Nov. 6, at the Nichols wing of the Waltham Hospital. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Weston Blake and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Melone of Weston.

Among those in the first year class at Northeastern University are Joseph A. Devine, Alpine Road; David A. Hause, 15 Pequot Road, and Harold H. Woollard III, 8 Pinebrook Road, all of Wayland, and Bruce W. Hamill, 25 Old Road, Weston.

Funds contributed for Christmas. Seals are used to find those who don't know they are ill with tuberculosis, to protect others from infection, to help TB sufferers get well and return to a normal life, to support research into better ways of coping with this dreadful disease.

The "Toys For Tots" campaign, featuring the collection of new and good used toys to be distributed to unfortunate children at Christmas, has begun. Once again the Salvation Army Men's Center, the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve, and the Shell Oil Company are combining their efforts. People are asked to take their donations to their nearest Shell service station where they will be picked up by the Marine Corps Reserve and Salvation Army trucks and prepared for release to children.

Mr. Novak Heads Program

"Adventures in Music," the series of live concerts being made available to children in the Weston, Wayland, Lincoln and Sudbury area, have Mr. Kalman Novak of Lincoln as conductor and commentator.

Mr. Novak received his training at the New England Conservatory of Music and Harvard College and has taught for 13 years at the Longy School of Music in Cambridge where he is now Assistant Director. He is also associate conductor for the Civic Symphony of Boston and conductor for the Weston-Wayland Sudbury Community Chorus.

It was his experience as one of the visiting conductors working with the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra in 1955 which sparked his interest in the idea of presenting regular, prepared concerts for children in the elementary grades.

Mr. Novak and children.
(Peter Fink)

The method of producing low-priced, live concerts for children - which was so successful in the Cleveland area - is one that Mr. Novak is hoping to follow in the local "Adventures in Music" series.

His work with children at the Longy School has equipped him to program the kind of music which will bring out the interest and awareness of all children regardless of their previous musical experience. Mr. Novak plans to work with the schools in advance of the "Adventure" concerts to make it possible for the students to hear relevant recordings so that the actual performances and discussions will be meaningful to them.

WESTON -- Mrs. J. Bruce Dougherty of Gun Club Lane is a member of the Wheaton Club of Wellesley's Regional Scholarship Committee which is engaged in a novel fund-raising project. The Committee is sponsoring the sale, from now until Christmas, of crocks of cheese, the proceeds from the sales to be earmarked for scholarship purposes.

WESTON -- John "Chip" Gray, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Chipman Gray of 19 Fairhope Road, was named first-string right end on the Boston Herald's All-Private School football team for 1959. "Chip," a senior at Noble and Greenough, is a Merit Scholarship student, among the top four scholars in his class, and president of the School's student council. He plays basketball as well as football and is aiming for Harvard next year.

Women Are Wanted For Christmas Sales Work

More than 300 women are needed immediately for Christmas season saleswork at Shoppers' World, according to William F. Kane, manager of the Framingham employment security office.

Kane said the principal need is for full and part-time women sales clerks who are available for employment from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. or some part of these hours.

Recruiting for the shopping center is being conducted at an employment office located in the lower level of the center. Office hours are from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day, including Saturdays.

Kane said that previous sales experience is not required as a condition for employment, although it is desirable.

Last year companies listed on the New York Stock Exchange paid a total of 135 stock dividends.

First Parish Fair

WAYLAND -- Among those working for the First Parish Church fair, above, are Mrs. Henry Doane, Mrs. Edwin Schneider, Mrs. M. W. Williams Jr. and Jeffrey, Mrs. Carl Emery, Mrs. Maurice W. Williams Sr., Mrs. George P. Robinson, co-chairman with Mrs. Donald Tarbell (not in picture) and Mrs. George F. Dickey. (McCann Photo)

Wayland Women's Club

WAYLAND -- The Wayland Woman's Club will meet on Tuesday, Dec. 1, in Fellowship Hall of the Trinitarian Congregational Church. There will be a tea for members and their guests starting at 2:30 p.m.

The speaker will be Mr. Leslie Browning, food consultant, whose subject will be "Entertaining," offering many timely ideas to make it easy for hostesses to have a good time at their own parties during the coming holiday season. Mr. Browning is known to TV audiences both locally and in Hartford, Conn., as "Mr. Epicure."

In keeping with the Christmas spirit of giving and spreading a little cheer among those less fortunate, members are requested to bring an old hat--any old hat--to this meeting. These hats will be sent to the Massachusetts Mental Health Center in Roxbury, where they will be refurbished and distributed to patients at a fashion show at Easter.

The tea committee for this month is under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. Dana Philbrook and Mrs. Paul Shalline, assisted by Mrs. Clinton Lee, Mrs. Philip Awad, Mrs. Francis Bartol, Mrs. Allen Benjamin, Mrs. Albert Capello, Mrs. Randolph Charles, Mrs. Edwin Damon, Mrs. Roger E. Ela, Mrs. Carl Emery, Mrs. Allen Finlay, Mrs. Gerald Henderson, Mrs. Wendell Goodale, Mrs. Arthur Twohey, Mrs. Seth Johnson, Mrs. Willis Johnson, Mrs. Charles T. Morgan, Mrs. Frank C. Paine, Mrs. William Waldron, Mrs. Granville Trow, Mrs. George Gerrie, Mrs. Robert Lorentzen, Mrs. A. Frank Koesters, Mrs. Edward R. Linn Jr., Mrs. Theodore L. Parker and Mrs. James T. Trefrey.

Wayland LWV Panel

WAYLAND -- A panel discussion presenting two specialists in international trade will be sponsored by the Wayland League of Women Voters on Dec. 3 in the High School Library at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Prescott C. Crafts Jr. of the foreign department of the First National Bank of Boston, and Mr. Julian Sobin, executive vice president of Irving M. Sobin Co., chemical importers, will discuss "Trends in International Business."

Mrs. Richard Durant and Mrs. John Quackenbos, co-chairmen of the League Foreign Policy Committee, have arranged the meeting to supplement the November discussion units on Foreign Aid. It will replace the usual December units.

WAYLAND -- The First Parish Church of Wayland is holding the annual Christmas Fair on Saturday, Dec. 5 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Vestry of the Church.

A great variety of handmade gifts, Christmas wrappings and unusual holiday decorations, as well as house plants and home-made "goodies" will be on sale. A "special" for children is a table of inexpensive family gifts and grabs.

The "Snack Bar" opens at 11:30 a.m.

Co-chairmen for the Fair are Mrs. Donald K. Tarbell and Mrs. George P. Robinson. Chairmen of the tables.

Aprons--Mrs. John M. Davies, Mrs. Kenneth E. Scott, Mrs. Willard C. Wolff, Candy, Mrs. Frank H. Babers, Mrs. F. P. Walther, Children's, Mrs. Edmund H. Sears, Mrs. Leroy R. Woodard, Food, Mrs. Carl T. Emery, Mrs. George F. Dickey, Grabs, Mrs. William J. Hammond.

Wayland Hist. Society

WAYLAND -- The Wayland Historical Society will meet Thursday, Dec. 3, at the Unitarian Vestry, in order to accommodate the large number of members and guests expected to attend. Speaker of the evening will be Sumner C. Powell, Ph.D., his topic being "The Free Townsmen of Wayland."

Dr. Powell has made an intensive study of the subject, having gone to England to look up early records. In 1956 he received his Ph.D. from Harvard in the field of American Civilization. His book, "The Free Townsmen of Sudbury: The Formation of a New England Town" will soon be published by the Institute of American Culture in Williamsburg.

Sudbury residents are invited to attend this open meeting and, as always, interested Wayland residents are welcome. Refreshments will be served, after the meeting, by Mrs. Edmund Sears. Note the change of meeting place --Unitarian Vestry.

The December meeting of the Framingham-Wellesley Branch of the American Association of University Women will be held in the Unitarian Church House in Natick, Wednesday evening, Dec. 2, at 8 o'clock.

High School PTA

WAYLAND -- The Wayland Junior - Senior High School P.T.A. has alerted members to expect big doings from Dec. 5 to 7 at the High School auditorium. Mothers were urged to reserve babysitters for Dec. 7 especially. Details of the program will be announced later.

Happy Hollow PTA

WAYLAND -- The meeting of the Happy Hollow PTA at 7:45 p.m. on Tuesday, Dec. 1, will be devoted to a discussion of trends in modern schooling, with Henry A. Steeger, director of the Massachusetts Council for Public Schools, as speaker.

St. Ann's Guild

WAYLAND -- St. Ann's Guild will hold its monthly meeting in the Guild Hall on Tuesday, Dec. 1, at 8 p.m. The speaker will be Mr. Louis G. Thackeray, hand writing analyst.

WESTON -- "The Man Who Came To Dinner" will be presented by Weston High School students at the Country School Auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Dec. 18, under the direction of Mr. John Zorn of the faculty. Tickets at $1 will be sold in advance.

Christmas Tour

WESTON -- The Bevevolent - Alliance of the First Parish in Weston is sponsoring a tour of Christmas-decorated traditional and contemporary homes, Dec. 4, from 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. Decorations and trimmings seen in these homes will be on sale at the Parsonage, where tea, home-made cookies, and sandwiches will be served.

Mrs. Harry A. A. Low is the General Chairman, Co-chairmen of the Work Shop committee are Mrs. Richmond W. Batchelder and Mrs. Richard A. Lamarche, assisted by Mrs. Roland H. Scheurhoff and Mrs. Alan Green.

Ticket chairman is Mrs. Nathan I. Greene. Tickets may be obtained by calling Twinbrook 4-6279 or Twinbrook 4-5382; also on sale at the Weston Pharmacy.

Mrs. Richard P. Holland is the tea chairman. Assisting Mrs. Holland are Mesdames William S. Gibson, Walter H. Palmer, Herbert S. Howes and William L. Helm Jr. Pourers are Mesdames C. Grover Smith, Olney W. Washburn, Robert M. True and Anthony Brackett.

Pembroke Alumnae

The Pembroke College Alumnae Club of Boston will begin the 15th year of its organization with a meeting at 8 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 30, at the College Club, 40 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston. Miss Alberta S. Brown, Dean of Admissions of Pembroke College, will be the guest speaker. Alumnae are invited to join Dean Brown at an informal dinner at the College Club at 6:30 preceding the meeting.

Active on the board of the organization this year are President Dorothy Blair of Boston, vice-president Leslie Dolby of Boston and Newton, treasurer Mrs. Milton Paul of Waban, Aniela Zygmuntowicz of Newton, Mrs. Charles Southworth of Needham and Mrs. Jerome Oleksiw of Weston.

Children's Exchange

WESTON -- Tuesday, Dec. 1 will be the final day on which to purchase good used clothing for the entire family until after the holiday season. The Exchange will re-open on Feb. 2.

Mrs. Robert Little, 68 School Street, TW 3-4339, has offered the facilities of her barn to store skates and ski boots for sale during the Exchange closing.

Special Christmas orders for baked goods may be placed with the food chairmen, Mrs. F. Warren Eaton and Mrs. Frank Hitchcock.

Members of the Exchange are requested to pick up their sales envelopes on the closing day, Dec. 1.

Dr. Tyler To Speak

WESTON -- Dr. Arthur W. Tyler of Weston will speak at the Dec. 9 meeting of the Men's Club of Weston at the Weston High School Cafeteria. This will be the annual Father and Son Night.

In February, 1959, Dr. Tyler competed in the International Bobsledding Federation races held in Europe. He competed in the two-man and the four-man sled races and his four-man team won the World's Championship title. Dr. Tyler will tell about these exciting races and he will also show his pictures of the 1956 Winter Olympic games held at Cortina, Italy.

This meeting, as well as all other meetings, is open to all men of Weston and vicinity. Dinner will be served at 7 p.m. Reservations will be necessary so make plans early to come and bring your sons. For reservations, phone Harry B. Jones, TW 9-0977.

Adult recreation for men (above high school age) starts Tuesday, Dec. 1, High School gym, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Will continue every Tuesday, evening of the Winter.

Flower Arrangements

WESTON -- Mrs. John W. Ayer, Mrs. John M. Cole, Mrs. Robert E. Marsh, Mrs. B. Howard Spicker, Mrs. Eben Wallace and Mrs. Donald Wyman, members of The Country Garden Club of Weston and The Weston Garden Club, will help with Holiday Period Flower Arrangements at the Museum of Fine Arts, Dec. 1 through 6.

Both clubs are members of The Garden Clubs Federation of Massachusetts, which is joining the museum in sponsoring the exhibit, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Chester Cook, assisted by Mrs. Spicker.

A morning coffee will honor Mrs. Lewis Mustard III and Mrs. E. P. Lufkin, other club presidents, and the exhibitors, at 11 a.m. Dec. 1. The Exhibit is then open to the public at 1 p.m. and at regular museum hours thereafter.

Yuletide Bazaar

WESTON -- The annual bazaar with its greatly accumulated bounty of yuletide gifts brings to the Regis Tea House, Weston, on Dec. 1 another traditional open house acquaintance affair. In accord with the annual custom, scores of present and former alumni families and friends travel from near and far to join in a grand reunion at the tea house.

WESTON -- James T. Mountz of 243 Meadowbrook Road, member of the Boston law firm of Ropes, Gray, Best, Coolidge and Rugg, has been reelected secretary of the Massachusetts Division of the American Cancer Society.

100 Snow Buntings

A Ringnecked Duck (Heard's Pond, Wayland) and 2 female Bufflehead (Sudbury River, Wayland) have been reported by Richard Stackpole; and a male Hooded Merganser was seen at the Ash Street Reservoir in Weston (Smith). A late Killdeer was seen in East Sudbury (Stackpole), and a Sharp-shinned Hawk near North Avenue in Weston (Smith). An adult Kumlien's Gull was seen at close range at the Duck Feeding Area, Weston, on Nov. 16 (Smith), and was still present on Nov. 21. This gull is rare in inland areas. Billy Lawson reports that he has been seeing two Belted Kingfishers at the Meadowbrook School Pond for several weeks. They will probably stay until the pond freezes over. Look over your flocks of Black-capped Chickadees; Brown-capped (Boreal) Chickadees are being reported this fall. A Winter Wren was seen in Weston (Hayes), and two Hermit Thrushes were observed at Drum-lin Farm (Eames). Mr. Stackpole reports 4 Field Sparrows and a flock of 100 Snow Buntings in Wayland; and another small wave of migrating Fox Sparrows has been going through this past week.

Dear Friends,

We have a letter file of which we are very proud and thankful. They are letters of appreciation from families whom we have served during the past 16 years.

It is gratifying, in these modern days, when people are willing to pause long enough to write a word of appreciation. Many, many thanks for your kind words and continued patronage.

We have much to be thankful for this year and may Thanksgiving Day 1959 in Wayland homes be the best ever.

Sincerely,

WAYLAND -- Wayland High's team wound up its fourth consecutive undefeated season in a blaze of football glory on Nov. 26, beating Weston 34 to 0 before a crowd of 4000, believed to be the biggest ever to watch a local game.

The delighted players carried coach Ralph Salvati and assistant coach Bill Frary from the field on their shoulders. Groups of delighted Wayland fans knocked over their own goal posts.

It was the last game, probably, to be played on the old High School field. Turf on the new field at the new High School on Old Connecticut Path has already made a good growth and will be ready for use by next year. In addition, there will be plenty of space at the new school for practice fields, so that the game field will not be chewed up and muddy.

Not a boy on the Wayland squad has played in a losing high school football game.

The victory string is the longest in Massachusetts. This game was the 20th win in a row, the 33d in a series with one tie and the 42d in a series with only one defeat. Back in 1955 Wayland was beaten by Ashland and in 1957 Wayland was tied by Scituate. In five seasons there have been one loss and one tie.

Most of this year's first stringers, including backs Jerry Whel-

Town Crier Office Now Located In Wayland

The Town Crier and The Fence Viewer are in business at their new stand, the old postoffice on Pelham Island Road in Wayland Center.

The "old postoffice" is not to be confused with the "old old postoffice", which faces east on Cochituate Road in the Center. The "old postoffice" faces south across the triangle of grass in the Center.

The new telephone number for both papers is ELmwood 8-7746. As soon as the telephone company can arrange it, there will be another phone with a TWInbrook number.

The address, as announced last week, is simply "Wayland Center, Massachusetts." The Wayland postoffice box number is 313.

The Crier has also moved its publication date forward by one day. Hereafter, local residents should receive it by mail on Thursdays instead of Fridays. The Fence Viewer schedule will remain the same.

Crier deadlines have necessarily been moved up, too. Church notices and advance notices should be in by Saturday noon. For classified ads, the deadline is Monday noon, and this deadline has to be an iron one. Interesting and important news is always welcome, but material arriving after 5 p.m. on Monday will probably get into next week's paper.

chel, Dick Morris, Ed Johnsen, Jim Sullivan and Scott Bruce, are seniors.

For next year, coach Salvati says he has a group of sophomores which has had a good deal of game experience this season.

The Thanksgiving Day game wasn't much of a contest. The Weston boys gave it the old try, but they couldn't cope with the speed and precision of the Wayland team.

Weston's cause was not helped by the absence from the game of Jay Adams, Weston fullback who is the team's second highest scorer. He hurt his ankle in the warm-up period just before the starting whistle and couldn't play at all.

Vacaro - Keane

WAYLAND -- Miss Mary T. Keane, daughter of Mrs. Michael Keane of 97 North Avenue, Natick, was married at St. Patrick's Church, Natick, on Nov. 21, to Joseph Vacaro Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vacaro of 58 River Road.

Mrs. Joseph Vacaro Jr. (Korday)

Best man was Joseph Solemine and matron of honor was Mrs. Joseph White. Bridesmaids were Miss Kathleen Keané, Miss Ellen Connors and Miss Barbara Vacaro.

Ushers were Mr. Dom Anzivino, Mr. Joseph Grillo and Mrs. Alfred Locke. Reception was held at the Southboro Arms.

The bride wore a full length gown of peau de soie with an oval neckline of hand cut re-embroidered Alencon lace studded with seed pearls, featuring traditional long tapered sleeves and a bouffant skirt.

Mrs. Vacaro attended Our Lady's High School in Newton and Mr. Vacaro attended Wayland High School. They will make their home at 25 Main Street, Framingham Center.

J. J. J. Gourgas, Noted Mason, Used To Spend His Summers In Weston

John James Joseph Gourgas

WESTON -- Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, some weeks ago, received the Gourgas Medal of Scottish Rite Freemasonry, and the occasion recalled that John James Joseph Gourgas, for whom the medal is named, used to be a Summer resident of Weston.

This Gourgas's great nephew, John Mark Gourgas 4th, now lives in Weston, at 190 Conant Road, and has four children in Weston schools. They are Trudy Ann, 17; Joan M., 15; Laura B., 10, and John Mark Gourgas 5th.

The remarkable family history, dating from the early 1600s, is told in a pamphlet written by J. Hugo Tatsch, entitled "John James Joseph Gourgas, 1777-1865, Conservator of Scottish Rite Freemasonry", published in Boston in 1938.

Party In The Hospital

WAYLAND -- John L. McEwan, a junior at Middlebury College, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon McEwan of Hayward Place, broke his leg while skating recently and landed in Porter Hospital, at the college, where he will be for three weeks.

His parents and sister, Karen, visited him on Thanksgiving, which happened to be his father's birthday. Mrs. McEwan brought along a cake and family, nurses and patients all joined the party.

How The High School Bonds Were Sold To A Syndicate

The town of Wayland is in pretty good financial shape and investors are happily buying the bonds which represent borrowing to build the new High School.

So reports Guy Garland of Rolling Lane, Weston, who is in the municipal bond business and has a hand in the financial deal by which Wayland is raising $1,000,000 for the school. (The first installment of the cost, $1,175,000, was raised by another bond issue last June.)

Another local man participating in the transaction is Thomas Lamb of High Rock Road, Wayland. Mr. Garland is regional manager of John Nuveen & Co. and Mr. Lamb is the Boston municipal bond manager for Bache & Co. Both specialize in municipal bond underwriting.

When a big project like a school building comes up in town meeting, it is generally understood that the town will borrow the money over a period of years. As a man who's in the business, Mr. Garland explains something of the mechanics by which this is done.

The town notifies a bank that it wants to borrow, in this case, $1,100,000. The bank causes notices of sale to be circulated among those who are in the municipal bond business.

Then the town puts the loan up for bids. At what price will the dealers buy the town's bonds, and at what interest rate?

In this case, says Mr. Garland, there were 10 different bids. His group, a syndicate including John Nuveen & Co., managers, and Bache & Co. and Goodbody & Co., put in the lowest bid. They bought 1100 bonds of $1000 each at $1002.32 each, at an interest rate of 3.6 per cent.

This first transaction leaves the syndicate in possession of 1100 bonds, which it proceeds to sell to other investors at, in most cases, a little more than it paid for them. Not to go into too much detail, on this particular issue the syndicate may make up to $17.77 on some of the $1000 bonds, and nothing on some others. Mr. Garland says that the syndicate's profit on this $1,100,000 deal is somewhere between $4000 and $5000.

This may seem like comparatively little, but, he says, this is only one transaction of a kind which municipal bond dealers are handling all the time. The total for this kind of borrowing, in the United States, is between $7.5 and $8 billions a year.

The rate of interest which the investor will receive from the town of Wayland, 3.6 per cent, may not seem very high, either, but the

Weston Beat UF Quota

To the Editor:

The undersigned are pleased to report that Weston exceeded its quota in the recent 1960 United Fund Drive.

As Co-Chairmen for the campaign we wish to thank the residents of Weston for their generous support for this most worthy cause.

We, particularly, wish to thank the 210 volunteers on the committee for their time and efforts in making the drive successful.

We also wish to thank the Town Crier, the Weston Fire Department and Town officials for their cooperation.

We sincerely hope that the people of Weston will continue their support in future years.

Sincerely,
Nelson Miles

"Ignore It And It May Go Away", Says Ulcer Group

Formation Of New Society Would Facilitate Pursuit Of Happiness

A thoughtful local citizen who is working on his first ulcer and his first million simultaneously, and has already achieved the former, suggests that what this country needs is an American Ulcer Society, to foster, encourage, protect and soothe those who suffer from this modern threat to health, happiness and efficiency.

While this word "ulcer" has a repulsive sound, actually the ulcer isn't so bad because it's hidden away inside where nobody can see it, and thus it is no worse than the rest of the assorted inner parts which are also mercifully concealed from the sight of the sensitive.

The theme of this fellow's message is that having an ulcer is something like being an alcoholic. Unless a person is willing to admit he is an alcoholic, Alcoholics Anonymous can't help him. But once he gets his mind in order and makes the confession, he is in line for improvement.

So with the ulcer of the stomach. The ulcerite, not to be confused with a resident of the northern part of Ireland, must admit to himself that he has a problem, and that he needs help.

Here is where the American Ulcer Society would step in, like a mighty band of brothers, linked together by a mutual interest in the American milk business and in the prevention of burps, to lead the sufferer to a newer and finer way of life.

To be sure, the ulcer man has a certain status in our society. The alcoholic, unless spectacular, has none. But it is often assumed that the ulcer has come because its owner is making hay in the business jungle, whomping out stock dividends, promoting mergers, bilking widows and orphans, getting lots of payola and moola and making down payments on a $75,000 house in the suburbs and a $100,000 insurance policy in the city or on Route 128.

(Speaking of Route 128, there's one thing they do with remarkable efficiency in this country. They clean up the pavement, after every automobile crash, with amazing speed. An hour after the wreck, there's not a body nor a sliver of glass to be seen. This may be a sign, says the optimist, that there is a growing feeling for the aesthetic around here. Can we be utterly crass, when we hate to look at heaps of twisted iron, as we sail gaily and recklessly down the highway of life?)

But back to ulcers, which all ulcerites do go back to.

The confessed ulcer man, under the aegis of the American Ulcer Society, will make some changes. First of all, he will adopt as his motto, "If I ignore it, it may go away." This should be easy, because it's the attitude most of us take towards bills, domestic problems, old age and the atomic bomb. And indeed, they say, an ulcer ignored causes less trouble than one which is coddled.

The A. U. S. member, no doubt wearing a little button to proclaim his membership, will stop thinking, also, about doctors and hospitals, because both are prohibitively expensive. If he wants to take it easy for a few days, he will register at the Ritz, which costs only a third as much per day as the Sanitary General Hospital, has better food and service and may, in the evening, have a floor show with dancing girls, and name one hospital in the whole United States which has a floor show with dancing girls.

All the A. U. S. member has to do is control his mind, fixing it on bright colors instead of dark. To this end the A. U. S. has prepared a large program of recreation, including the American Ulcer Society Tabernacle Choir, the A. U. S. Knife Throwing Court, the A. U. S. Free Divorce Service, the A. U. S. Milk Drinking Association With A Jigger of Chocolate for New Year's Eve, the A. U. S. Psychiatry Clinic for Bald Executives and the A. U. S. Clean Fun Club.

They used to say there's a broken heart for every light on Broadway, and now they say there's an ulcer for every chair in the directors' room of the big business. But man has now reached the stage in his progress where he must try to achieve both wealth and happiness. To this end the American Ulcer Society will devote itself, and all of us, whether ulcerous or just crummy, may take to heart its noble motto: "Ignore it and it may go away." -- D.B.W.

Saltonstall Aide

WAYLAND -- Mr. Jonathan Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moore, formerly of Claypit Hill Road, has been appointed administrative aide to Senator Leverett Saltonstall.

A graduate of Browne and Nichols School, Dartmouth College and the Harvard University School of Business Administration, Mr. Moore has been serving overseas in India as a public affairs trainee with the U. S. Information Service.

Application Blanks Have Been Mailed For Country Evening Concert Series

WESTON -- Official application blanks were mailed this week for the 9th annual season of the Country Evening Concerts. This season, which opens on Friday, Jan. 15, will again take place in the Weston Country School Auditorium. Featured artists are the young French violinist Christian Ferras in his Boston area recital debut, the Cuban-born pianist Jorge Bolet, also in a local recital debut, and Metropolitan and Vienna opera soprano Hilde Gueden.

Among the many assisting co-chairman Mrs. Reginald Elwell in the mailing were the following: Mrs. E. Lamson Adams, Mrs. Russell Dorrance, Mrs. F. C. Dumaine Jr., Mrs. Leopold Gruener, Mrs. Vollmer Hetherington, Mrs. Owen C. Howe Jr., Mrs. Albert Hunt, Mrs. W. Barton Leach, Mrs. William Manice Jr., Mrs. J. Donaldson Nichols, Mrs. S. Denison Palmer, Mrs. Samuel Payson, Mrs. Richard Schanzle, Mrs. Homer Sweet, Mrs. John Wells, Mrs. Thomas West and Mrs. Henry Wheeler.

In a mailing of this size, covering a large area of constantly growing and shifting population, it is inevitable that names of many potential subscribers will inadvertently be omitted. The committees therefore urge everyone interested who has not yet received one of the applications to contact Mrs. Elwell at TW 3-7361, or to write to her at Ripley Lane, Weston.

Mrs. R. M. Hower of Weston is among those enrolled in the special lichens and mosses course at Drumlin Farm.

WESTON -- Miss Caroline Tingey Craven, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tingey Craven of 187 Newton Street, is house representative for the Smith College Service Fund. A graduate of Concord Academy, Miss Craven is now a freshman at Smith.

WESTON -- Suzanne Mailman was one of 12 Middlesex County 4-H Club members invited to attend the annual State Club Congress, held in Boston at the Sheraton Plaza Hotel on Nov. 27 and 28.

EVENTS AND PEOPLE TO BE FEATURED IN THE NEAR FUTURE

Wreath Making Day

WESTON -- December 8 is the annual wreath-making day for the Weston Garden Club. For many years it has made wreaths for the Town Buildings and some of the schools. This year, as in 1958, several wreaths will be sent to the Children's Unit of the Metropolitan State Hospital in Waltham. Mrs. Joseph T. Snow is hostess and will serve coffee to those staying to make their own decorations in the afternoon.

The Parish House of the Unitarian Church smells like the deep woods--delicious scents of pine, balsam and yew. Some members cut wire, some fashion the wreaths and others make the big red bows. Finally, all are sprayed to retain the moisture.

It completes the 1959 Civic Program of which Mrs. Erlund Field is chairman assisted by an enthusiastic committee. The program included planting 200 more bulbs on the Town Common, planting and maintaining the horse trough, placing flowers in the Library, joining the other two garden clubs in an Anti-Litter Campaign and with them planning the future beautification of Weston.

"Our Schools", Weston, Will Be Out Next Week

WESTON -- Keep an eye out for "Our Schools," which will be in your mailbox next week. "Our Schools" is a publication about the Weston Public Schools. It is published four or more times a year by a sub-committee of the School Liaison Committee, sponsored by the School Committee, and is sent to all households.

This issue features an article on the Junior High School. Other information includes the revised kindergarten curriculum, the new list of High School room mothers, and the "late" bus schedule.

Fine Arts Hostess

WESTON -- Mrs. John W. Waters of 5 Aberdeen Road will be a hostess on the Ladies Committee of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts "Know Your Museum" Tour Tuesday, December 8. The tour is one of a series to acquaint the Museum's members with the various museum departments, some of which are world famous.

The tour on which Mrs. Waters will be hostess will visit the Print Department of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. This collection, the largest in America, numbers more than a third of a million prints from old masters to modern artists.

Foreign Students

WESTON -- A group of foreign students will be entertained in Weston on Saturday, Dec. 5, visiting in various homes during the afternoon and attending small dinner parties in the evening. These arrangements have been made by Mrs. Eric Reissner and Mrs. John Stewart of the Foreign Student Hospitality Committee of the Womens' Community League.

Among the hosts and hostesses will be Mr. and Mrs. Evon Z. Vogt, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Tariot, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. Sherrerd B. Welles, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Mackintosh, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Applegate, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Tyler, Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Merrill, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Allen, Mr. and Mrs. William W. Cusumano, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stockmayer, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Coburn, Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. A. Low, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gallagher and Mr. and Mrs. James E. Forbes.

Methodist Men's Club

WESTON -- The Methodist Men's Club of the Weston Methodist Church will sit down to another regular monthly meeting on Dec. 8 at 6:45 p.m. with a dinner served by Mrs. Flo Harrington's group of ladies from the Woman's Society of Christian Service. The menu will consist of fruit cup, baked ham, scalloped potatoes, carrots and peas, hot rolls, brownie pudding with whipped cream and coffee.

The speaker will be Dr. G. Vaughn Shedd, executive secretary of the New England Lord's Day League, one of our Christian Lobbyists at the State House.

Adam Green from the New England Conference Board of Lay Activities will speak on Methodist men from a national standpoint.

Country Garden Club

WESTON -- The Christmas meeting of the Country Garden Club of Weston will be held at the home of Mrs. Howard R. Crawford on Wednesday, Dec. 9, featuring a children's holiday arrangement by Mrs. John M. Cole and Mrs. Crawford.

After coffee and a business meeting, "Christmas Doors" is the project for the day. There will be a contest by members of the club, judged by popular vote, and with a prize for the design considered best.

Junior High Play

WESTON -- "Now that April's Here," a one-act comedy, will be presented as the first production of the year by the Weston Junior High Dramatics Club under the direction of Mrs. Wilma Sherman, club advisor.

Geraldine Zorn and Howard Storm will head the cast of six selected at tryouts on Nov. 10 and 12. In supporting roles will be Marty Monnell, Danny Wilson, Gail Mattson, and Betsy Ferries.

The play is scheduled to be given at a student assembly just before the Christmas vacation and may be seen by parents at a date to be announced later.

Members of the Dramatics Club will assist as stagehands, secretaries and assistant directors. They will also aid in constructing the scenery.

Carl de Suze At WCL

WESTON -- Carl de Suze, a familiar voice to all station WBZ listeners, will be the speaker Monday afternoon, Dec. 7, at the Community League of Weston meeting. His talk is entitled "Christmas Customs of Other Lands". He speaks from experience for he is a much-traveled gentleman, as well as being from French, Spanish, English and Scotch ancestry.

Refreshments will be served at 12:45 in the lower hall of the Weston Town House. The chairman of hospitality for the day is Mrs. Edward A. Martell. She will be assisted by Mrs. William C. Brown, Mrs. David G. Greenlie, Mrs. Charles W. Jones, Mrs. Alan H. Johnson, Mrs. Fisher H. Pearson, Mrs. Herbert J. Schwartz and Mrs. Gordon R. Whitman.

Floral decorations are in charge of Mrs. Jerome J. Oleksiw and Mrs. Daniel H. Coakley. Those officiating as pourers are Mrs. Henry M. Merrill Jr., Mrs. Henry Davenport, Miss Charlotte Perkins and Mrs. William R. Dewey Jr. Hostesses for the afternoon are Mrs. Arthur C. Murphy and Mrs. William C. Karal.

The program chairman is Mrs. J. Ernest Gwilliam and ushers are Mrs. Robert H. Austin and Mrs. Edgar W. Pitt. Mr. de Suze's program will begin at 1:30.

"Look Back In Anger"

"Look Back in Anger," the play which overnight won fame for its young English author, John Osborne, will be presented at Wellesley College Friday and Saturday evening, Dec. 4 and 5.

Produced by the College's Experimental Theatre group, the drama will be given in the Jewett Auditorium on the Wellesley campus at 7:30 each evening. There will be no charge for admission.

Forest And Trail

WESTON -- The Weston Forest and Trail Association will hold a walk on Sunday, Dec. 6, at 2:30 p.m. The walk will start from 360 Highland Street, where after the walk, tea will be served by invitation of Mr. and Mrs. A. Paul Hare. Guests will be welcomed.

Dr. Tyler At Men's Club

WESTON -- Bobsledding, the world's most thrilling sport, will be the subject of Dr. Arthur W. Tyler's program at the Men's Club of Weston meeting on Wednesday, Dec. 9. This will be the annual Father and Son Night. Dr. Tyler's four-man bobsled team won the World's Championship Title at the International Bobsledding Federation races held in Europe last February. Pictures of the 1956 Winter Olympics held at Cortina, Italy, will be shown.

The Men's Club meets at Weston High School and starts with a dinner at 7 p.m. All men of Weston and vicinity are welcome to attend. For reservations, call Harry B. Jones, TW 9-0977.

Sodality Anniversary

WESTON -- The tenth anniversary meeting of St. Julia's Sodality will be held at the church on Dec. 8 at 8 o'clock. Father Graf, moderator of the Sodality, will celebrate the mass and then receive all the new members into the Sodality. The meeting will then adjourn to the Jones House, where Father Gregory Miller, O. C. D. will speak.

Father Miller is a native Philadelphian. He has taught Church history, patrology and public speaking for six years at the Carmelite Monastery in Washington. He has been magazine editor and guest preacher on TV and is now director of almost 400 Carmelite Tertiaries in Schenectady, New York, Boston and Philadelphia. Refreshments will be served under the chairmanship of Mrs. William McCarthy Jr.

Members of St. Julia's Sodality will receive communion at the 9 o'clock mass on Dec. 6.

Mrs. Kenneth Brown has beautiful Christmas ribbons and wrappings that can help holiday gift giving.

"Light Up The Sky" Is New Friendly Society Comedy

WESTON -- The First Parish Friendly Society will present Moss Hart's comedy, "Light Up The Sky," at the Town Hall in Weston on Friday and Saturday nights Dec. 11 and 12. Tickets may be reserved by contacting Mrs. John Bishop at TW 4-5048 or Mrs. Charles Paine at TW 3-4672.

The production, which is being staged by Courtlandt Gilmour, features Mary deGuzman, Douglas Hammond, James Wilcock, Edie Noel, John C. Wells Jr., Dorothy Donovan, John Virch, Ralph Child, Brad Bond, Ann Wells, William G. Williams Jr. and Sven.

At Red Barn School's "Far East Frolic"

WESTON -- A number of parties will be held before the Fourth Annual Benefit Dance to be given on Friday, Dec. 4, by the Red Barn School at the Weston Town Hall. The dance, with an Oriental theme--"Far East Frolic"--will be held from 9 to 1 p.m.

Entertaining before the dance are Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Searle, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hare, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Leghorn, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Pexton, Mr. and Mrs. J. EVENTS AND PEOPLE TO BE FEATURED IN THE NEAR FUTURE

St. Zepherin's Festival

COCHITUATE -- A Christmas Festival will take place on Saturday, Dec. 5, in the Lower Church of St. Zepherin's Church, Main Street, Cochituate, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Toys, grabs, aprons, hand knit goods, white elephants and gifts will be offered. Special features will be the home baked food table, candy table and the Christmas decorations table.

Co-chairmen of the Festival are Agnes Kadlik, OL 3-5611; Grace Sicotte, OL 3-3626, and Dorä Gandolfo, OL 3-2024.

P. E. O. Sisterhood

WAYLAND -- Mrs. Edward R. Noyes Jr., High Rock Road, will be hostess to Chapter B of P.E.O. on Thursday, Dec. 3, at a 12:30 luncheon meeting. Mrs. Alva J. Armstrong, 12 Brooks Road, and Mrs. H. C. Lucas of Weston will assist Mrs. Noyes.

Mrs. Wendell S. Moore of Needham will have charge of the program, including a study of state and supreme Constitution of the Sisterhood.

The P.E.O. Sisterhood was founded in 1869 and is now an inter-national woman's organization with its principal interest in the furthering of opportunities for higher education for women. Cotey Junior College for Women at Nevada, Missouri, has been the property of the organization since 1927. Also, scholarships are given by the Sisterhood on a nation-wide basis to foreign students for college training in the United States and are intended to promote "Peace through Understanding."

Winter Sports Program Will Open December 12

WAYLAND -- The Junior Town House will again sponsor a winter program of indoor sports for girls and boys on Saturday mornings from 9 to 12 beginning on Dec. 12 and continuing throughout the winter.

The program is open to all Junior High School girls and boys and to boys only in the 5th and 6th grades. The charge will be 25 cents per session, with scholarships available.

This year, the program has been broadened to include a "physical fitness" session with weight-lifting and barbells for the boys and Bonny Pruden exercises for the girls. In addition, there will be indoor track, mixed games, rope and bar work, trampoline, and basketball for both boys and girls.

Mr. Albert Reed will be the instructor for the older group of Junior and Senior High students, assisted by Jimmy Sullivan, High School senior and varsity football player.

Mr. Leonard Ridini will instruct the 5th and 6th grade boys and the program will include a basketball clinic.

Saturday morning classes for the High School students will be held at the High School gym. Those for 5th and 6th grade students (from all over town) will be held at the Claypit Hill School.

Mr. Walter B. Parker Jr., and Mrs. James E. Sullivan are Program Directors for the Town House Program and Mrs. Sullivan will conduct the girls' exercise classes.

Clothing Exchange

WAYLAND -- The Wayland Clothing Exchange will be open for business on December 3 and 10 after which time it will be closed the Christmas holidays. The Exchange will reopen Jan. 7 to continue sale of fall and winter clothing. Final sale of fall and winter articles will be Feb. 26.

Camp Fire Candy Sale

WAYLAND -- The Camp Fire Girls annual Candy Sale will be held from Friday, Dec. 4, until Monday, Dec. 14. Blue Birds, Camp Fire Girls and Junior High Campfire Girls will make door-to-door calls with their specially designed carrying bags full of Camp Fire Girls assorted chocolates.

The girls will wear their colorful costumes of navy blue skirts, white blouses and red vests or ties, and an official Camp Fire Girls Candy Sale tag. Each box of candy bears the Camp Fire Girls insignia, the crossed logs and flame, symbolizing the hearth and the adventurous outdoor campfire.

The Wayland Candy Sale Committee is headed by Mrs. George Mayberry, assisted by Mrs. Harvey Ames, Mrs. William Sprusansky, Mrs. Stephen Kadlik, Mrs. Philip Poutasse, Mrs. John Hyland and Mrs. Evelyn Seeley. The proceeds help local groups in Cochituate and Wayland as well as the Greater Boston Camp Fire Girls Council of which Wayland is a part. The Sale also helps maintain Camp Fire Girl headquarters and professional staff.

Dessert and coffee will be served following the program.

DAR Luncheon

WAYLAND -- Next meeting of Wayside Inn Chapter, N.S.D.A.R., will be held at the home of Miss Georgianna Collins, 117 Pond Street, Natick, as a combined 55th anniversary luncheon and Christmas party. Hostesses will be Miss Collins, Mrs. John Hill and Mrs. Waldo Dean.

WAYLAND -- Refuge Rebecca Lodge #118 of Wayland will hold a food sale at the new Wayland CO-OP on Saturday, Dec. 5 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Wayland High PTA

WAYLAND -- Because of the nature of the program planned, students as well as parents have been invited to attend the PTA meeting which will be held at the high school Monday, Dec. 7.

Mr. Russell Curry has been invited to address the group.

An unexpected feature of the program will be a concert to be given by the Niskayuna High School Choir of upstate New York. There are 80 students in the group and they will be directed by Miss Lenore Mooney. These young people will arrive from New York at about 5 o'clock in the evening and will be guests of members of the Wayland High School Band until the following morning when they will go on to Boston. These plans and this part of the program are in charge of Mr. Edward Wright, Music Director in the Wayland School system.

The business meeting, which will begin promptly at 7:30 p.m., will be presided over by Mr. James Sullivan, President.

The annual Scholarship Fund Drive, sponsored by the Wayland Jr.-Sr. PTA, will be held Dec. 13. Mrs. C. R. Woodsum, chairman, and her volunteer solicitors, members of the college preparatory course grades 9 thru 12, may call on all residents of the town who wish to contribute.

Christmas Film Festival

SUDBURY -- The Cinema 60 Committee of St. Elizabeth's Church is having a special Christmas Film Festival for children on Saturday, Dec. 12, at the Parish Hall on Concord Road. In order to accommodate all the school children who may be coming, they are having two showings - one at 10:30 a.m. and one at 2:30 p.m.

The program will be made up of three or four outstanding short features. The highlight of the program will be the award-winning British film, "On the Twelfth Day" based on the traditional English folk song, presented in beautiful color. Tickets will be sold at the door or phone Mrs. George Hackman, HI 3-6539

The Morgan Memorial has launched its annual winter appeal to raise $100,000.

William Lam Speaks

WESTON -- William M. C. Lam of 324 Merriam Street, designer-president of Lam Inc. of Wakefield, spoke recently to groups of the Illuminating Engineering Societies at Orlando and Sarasota, Florida. Mr. Lam, born in Hawaii, is a graduate of the M.I.T. School of Architecture, and he teaches at the Boston Architectural Center. Above, Mr. Lam.

WAYLAND BONDS

holder of the $1000 Wayland School bond receives $36 on it each year, and on this he pays neither State nor Federal income tax. To some investors, this 3.6 per cent thus becomes worth something like 12 per cent. Therefore these municipal bonds are attractive to many and command a ready market.

Says Mr. Garland:

"In the financial sense, Wayland is one of the best managed towns in Massachusetts. Bob Morgan, who is chairman of the Finance Committee, is considered one of the most able financial planners in the Commonwealth. He has been on the Committee for 20 years and as a result of that, Wayland has a remarkably well co-ordinated debt program. I am impressed by the fact that the town had a cash surplus last year of $365,939 despite the fact that it had previously been able to build the Town Office Building without borrowing at all.

"Furthermore, Wayland is probably at the peak of its debt load right now. The total amount owed, including this issue, is $4,779,000. Of this amount the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, through state grants for school aid, will pay off approximately $2,154,000 without cost to the town, and the water debt of about $200,000 is entirely self-supporting.

"Wayland's growing population, currently estimated to be about 9,800, should easily be able to support the net direct bonded debt of $2,446,000. Allan Finley tells me that town borrowing over the next decade should total $1,000,000 or less. Considering the fact that the average maturity of school debt is less than 10 years, I forecast a continually improving credit situation for the town.

"As a matter of fact, taking into consideration state school aid, the debt per capita today is only $250. The town really owes less than 6 per cent of the estimated value of taxable property."

J. J. GOURGAS

In the early 1600s the Gourgases were French Huguenots, and because of religious troubles they moved to Switzerland in the 1700s. The noted John James Gorgas was born in Geneva in 1777. His older brother, John Mark, was born in 1766, also in Geneva.

The French Revolution badly impaired the family fortune, which had been considerable, and John Mark and John James came to Boston together, landing here on Sept. 17, 1803.

John James became a leading figure in Masonry. John Mark Gorgas lived in Dorchester and Milton and finally settled in Weston, where his brother used to visit him in the Summer.

A son of John Mark was Francis R. Gorgas, who became editor of the Concord, Mass., "Freeman", and a Massachusetts State Senator. It is from Francis that the present John Mark Gorgas of Weston is descended. The latter moved to Weston in 1949.

It Was A Cold, Cold Day For The Wayland-Weston Football Game

Spectators filled the stands on both sides of the field, and standees lined the sides and the end zones. A few boys were perched in trees. And a bitterly cold wind from the Sudbury River swamps chilled everybody.

For Wayland, Ed Johnsen had his best day of the season, scoring three touchdowns. Dick Morris, high scorer for the year, had two. Johnson and Morris each scored 2 points by rush after touchdown. Jerry Wheelchel did some good running and completed 9 out of 15 passes for 140 yards.

Wayland players: le Sullivan, Bradley; lt, Furst; lg, DePaolo; c, Marsh; rg, Morrell, Moorhead; rt, Wesley, Patton; re, Waldman; qb, Wheelchel; lhb, Johnsen, Bruce; rhb, Morris; fb, Dreher; and in the 4th period, the entire Wayland squad.

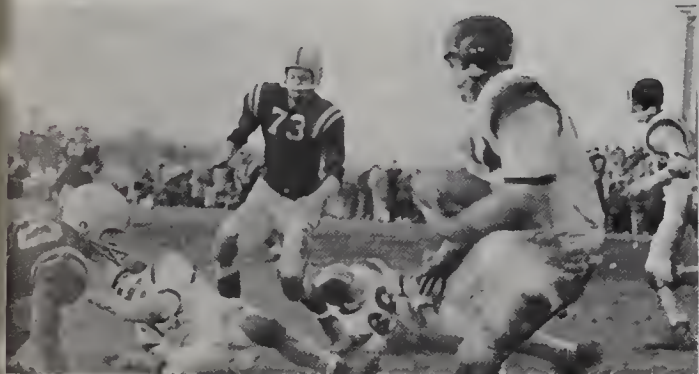

Weston players: re, Mahoney, Leonhart, Aker; rt, Perry; rg, D'Antonio, French; c, Colter, Powers, Parlee; lg, Tyler, D. Rizzo; lt, Ruland, DiBeneditto; le, Duffy, Butcher; qb, McMullin, White; rhb, Evans; lhb, McDonald, Foster; fb, B. Rizzo, D. Adams.

Candid shot of assistant coach Nate Todaro of Weston. Between the halves he just sat on the bench and chewed his pipe.

Three little Weston kids didn't care who won the ball game. They climbed under a blanket to keep warm.

Wayland back carries the ball. Number 73, Weston, is John Mahoney.

Two down on the field. A couple of players lost their breath on one play.

All over, and everybody heads for cover and next year.

Those on the Weston side of the field had to face the wind.

Winning made it no warmer. Wayland crowd stood back to the wind, which made itself felt just the same.

New Store Is Opened By John Douglas

New Store Front (Landscape)

WESTON -- John Douglas, which three years ago opened its first store in Wellesley, announces the opening on Dec. 4 of a new store at 391 Boston Post Road, in the heart of the Weston shopping area. "John Douglas - Weston" is the official name of the new location.

The store will feature the same lines of men's clothing and ladies' sportswear as are carried in Wellesley.

The facade is of brick and rough plaster, painted grey and white, features two large Colonial style display windows. Design of the building, which is part restoration and part new construction, was by Mildred Pierce, Weston architect. Construction and restoration were done by A. J. Comeau Construction Co., Weston.

Fitting rooms are separate for men and ladies, and the color accents are more subdued - although the hues more extreme - in the men's area.

The Weston Store will be staffed chiefly by personnel currently employed in Wellesley, including Miss Judith Marshall. Also, Mrs. Rosamond Tompkins of Weston will be at John Douglas-Weston on a part-time basis. Store hours until Christmas are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

The Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation reports that farmers and outdoor workers are almost twice as apt to get arthritis as city dwellers.

Articles Wanted For Smith Club Tea - Sale

WAYLAND -- Members of the Sudbury Valley Smith Club are being asked to donate food, decorations and hand-made articles which can be sold at their next meeting, a Christmas tea to be held for present and future Smith College students at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Tiffin of Holliston on Dec. 21. Mrs. John Beard, the Club's student aid representative, should be contacted at El 8-7098 by anyone who has something to contribute. Proceeds from the Christmas Tea will go to build up a scholarship fund which the newly-organized Sudbury Valley group hopes will be large enough, in the next few years, to help send a local girl to Smith College. The Smith Club met on Nov. 3 at the DeCordova Museum in Lincoln to hear a lecture on contemporary art given by the Museum's Director, Mr. Frederick Walkey. Vice-president Mrs. Peter Beckwith of Lee Road presided at the short business meeting, after which refreshments were served.

Notice To Weston Women's Community League Members

Wayland Scout News

WAYLAND -- A door-to-door canvass is now being conducted by Wayland Boy Scouts in their annual Christmas Tree Sale. Home owners will be asked to purchase tickets which may then be redeemed against the price of the trees which will be for sale on the Town Common beginning somewhere around Dec. 11.

The Scouts have also been active recently in other outdoor pursuits. Thirty-three of them went on a six-mile hike over the Nov. 21 weekend with Mr. David L. Fye of Woodridge Road as leader. They camped out on land owned by the Sudbury Valley Trustees, prepared their own campsites and food and participated in outdoor tests. All the tenderfeet in the group passed their outdoor hiking and cooking tests. Junior leaders for the expedition were Billy McNally, Greg Keary and Spencer Young.

At the recent Court of Honor, a large number of merit badges were awarded to Scouts for Indian lore learned at Camp Resolute last summer. Feature of the Court evening was a performance by the Scouts of Indian dances and other displays of Indian lore, including their own hand-made costumes. The performance was planned and supervised by Mr. Ron Prevost, director of Camp Resolute.

Next on the schedule is an overnight hike planned for January.

New Vokes Officers

New officers for the 1960 season were elected at the annual meeting of Vokes Players, Incorporated, held at the Vokes Theatre on Dec. 5.

Incoming president is Mr. Edward K. White of Shaw Drive, Wayland, previous vice-president, who succeeds Mr. William R. Hulbert of Claypit Hill Road, Wayland. The new vice-president will be Mr. Phillip D. Bassett of 647 Boston Post Road, Weston.

Mrs. Francis Stites of Bennett Road, Wayland, succeeds Mrs. Richard Foster of Glezen Lane, Wayland, as secretary. Mr. Arthur E. Grannis Jr. of King Phillip Road, Sudbury, was reelected treasurer of the Corporation. Mr. Francis Fisher of Claypit Hill Road, Wayland, was elected a member at large for three years, succeeding Mr. Robert G. Paine Jr. of Bow Road.

Continuing as members at large are Mrs. Maurice W. Williams of Plain Road, and Mr. Addison Sandford of Lincoln Road, both of Wayland.

Mrs. Harold Belles and Mrs. Whitman Hall of Wayland were in charge of reservations for the dinner meeting and Mr. Brenton Dickson of Weston showed some of his colored travel slides.

Christmas Seal Reports

First reports show that Wayland has contributed $707.50 to the Christmas seal campaign and Weston $871.25, both as of Nov. 27. Mrs. Albert Cross, Weston chairman, says the Weston goal is $1823, and Mrs. Rexford Moss, Wayland chairman, says the Wayland goal is $1,951.45.

Richard Stackpole's Dog Is Hit - And - Run Victim

WAYLAND -- Latest Wayland resident to lose a dog on the highway is Richard Stackpole of Shaw Drive Extension, whose setter, "Sandy," was fatally injured on Dec. 3 on Route 20, near the Raytheon Laboratory entrance.

This was a hit-and-run case, of a kind of which a number of local persons have complained bitterly in recent months.

But there doesn't seem to be much which can be done about it.

At the Wayland police station it is said that the obligation on a motorist, when he strikes an animal, is moral rather than legal. He should stop, make himself

Richard W. Naughton

WESTON -- Funeral services were held in St. Julia's Church on Dec. 7 for Mr. Richard W. Naughton of 3 Ridgeway Road, World War II veteran.

Mr. Naughton was a flight engineer with the 761st Heavy bombardment Squadron of the 15th Air Force in Italy and flew on 47 Bombing missions over the Ploesti oil fields, for which he received a Presidential Citation for bravery. He was also awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Purple Heart, and the Air Medal with two oak leaf clusters. Since leaving the service, he has been employed by the Middlesex Boston Street Railway.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Elsie K. (Woodward) Naughton, and a son, Joseph M. Naughton, both of Weston; two daughters, Mrs. Elaine Garcia of Stoughton and Mrs. Barbara Parziale of Brockton; and five grandchildren.

Don't Pick It, They Say

Apropos of the Christmas decoration season, the Middlesex County Extension service sends out a little notice warning people that they mustn't go out into the country, even if it does look wild and unclaimed, and cut trees or pick green stuff.

Under the General Laws of the Commonwealth, says the bulletin, it is forbidden to remove any materials including boughs, plants, flowers, fruits, nuts, stones and trees, from any land, public or private, without permission of the owners.

The maximum penalty is a fine of $500 or six months in jail or both. Furthermore, if the looting occurs on a Sunday or during the night, "the violator must receive a minimum fine of $5 and not less than five days in jail."

Deer Killed In Weston

WESTON -- Police Chief Frank O. Shaw reports that a 105-pound buck ran into the side of an automobile driven by Mrs. Bernard Savage of Waltham, formerly Miss Esnes Carlson of Weston, near Dean Dairy on Route 20 around 7 o'clock on a recent evening. The encounter was fatal to the deer.

WAYLAND -- Mr. A. F. Lupien and his son, Dennis, 15, of 43 Rice Road, had a narrow escape around 1 a.m. on the morning of Dec. 5 when a space heater in their home exploded. The accompanying fire practically destroyed the two-story, six-room house, with damage estimated by Fire Chief Francis J. Hartin at from $8,000 to $10,000.

The family dog was lost in the blaze. Chief Hartin says there was no insurance. But after the fire was out, a wallet containing a sum of money was found, with the bills in good enough shape to be redeemed.

Mr. Lupien and his son were about to go to bed at 1 a.m. when they noticed unusual heat. They found a fire burning around the living room space heater, one of five space heaters in the house.

They tried to put the fire out by themselves. At that moment a Wayland police cruiser, containing officers John Brady and George Driscoll, drove by.

The officers saw the flames, radioed for the fire department, then ran inside. Seeing the situation they ordered the Lupiens outside. Scarcely were they out, when the heater exploded, throwing flames all over the place.

By the time the apparatus arrived, says Chief Hartin, the house was "almost completely involved" in the fire. It took 45 minutes to bring the blaze under control.

Chief Hartin says that two out of the last three dwelling fires in town have been caused by space heaters, which he and other fire officials think should be outlawed. Since 1955 they have been forbidden in New York City.

Faye Wins A Book

WESTON -- Faye Louise Silin, 10 1/2 years old, has written a "letter to the editors" which is featured in the December issue of Jack & Jill magazine. It was chosen from many hundreds of letters sent in by children from all over the world.

Faye, who lives at 28 Doublet Hill Road, will receive a copy of the "Jack and Jill Round the Year Book," a children's anthology containing some of the best stories and verse that have appeared in Jack & Jill during the last 20 years.

Faye writes about the collie pup she would like to receive as a Hanukkah present.

New Wayland Captains

WAYLAND -- Election of George Dreher, fullback, and Peter Phyllis, a guard, to be co-captains of next year's Wayland High School football team was announced at a victory dance held in the school gym on Dec. 5. Both are juniors. Dick Morris and Jerry Whelchel, this year's co-captains, were masters of ceremonies. Coach Ralph Slvati and assistant coach William Frary were given engraved scrap books containing pictures of all members of this year's undefeated team. Above, George Dreher, left, and Peter Phyllis, cut the cake. (Peter Fink)

School Bus Reminder

WESTON -- Motorists have become careless lately in the vicinity of school buses, says Police Chief Frank O. Shaw, and he would like to remind them that the law requires every motor vehicle to come to a complete stop, going in either direction, when a school bus stops.

Wayland Teachers Hold Session On Techniques

WAYLAND -- Team teaching and ability grouping were key words at the Teacher Institute at the Loker School Saturday, Dec. 5, when Wayland teachers on all levels met with parent representatives to discuss the teaching program.

The progress made in the past four years since the formulation of plans to take advantage of the best teaching techniques available, has converted local schools from a collection of self-contained classrooms to a more fluid and mobile organization set up to take the greatest advantage of specific teacher talents, educational equipment and the varying ability levels of the students.

Wayland has been a front-rank pioneer in this field and will be the subject of an article to be published in Newsweek, Dec. 12. Superintendent Edward J. Anderson's office is visited by educators from throughout the country who are planning similar programs.

The techniques involved are being used on all three school levels, but are adapted not only to the level, but in the case of the elementary schools to the particular needs and talents in each school.

Team teaching, which allows greater utilization of teachers' special abilities, by allowing each teacher to become an expert in his portion of the presentation, is used in the High School and some of the elementary schools. When coupled with large group classes of about 100 students, medium groups of 35 and small groups of 8, different types of material requiring different handling can be worked with most effectively.

The small groups provide an opportunity for initiative and individualized working which benefits both the faster and slower students, while the large group permits a presentation far more complete than would have been possible had it been necessary to repeat the material for each class in the grade level, as in a self-contained classroom.

Ability grouping is a step in the direction of the homogeneous class, but is done on the subject matter level. This technique is used extensively in the elementary schools. Some schools start in the second grade to teach arithmetic and reading in ability groups, sometimes crossing over grade lines where a child's ability in that subject is either much greater or much less than that of his classmates.

Constant evaluation of the success of these and other techniques has enabled the school staffs and the administrators to adjust the methods to the requirements.

According to Dr. David V. Tiedeman of Harvard University, who addressed the group after lunch, the keystones to success will be constant evaluation and the ever present realization that teaching techniques will always be subordinate to content.

The teachers composing the panel which presented the information were Reed K. Taylor, Wayland High School, Panel Chairman; George Carpenter, WHS; John Lindsay, WHS; Helen Timson, WJHS; Mrs. Florence Shohl, Happy Hollow School; Mrs. Joan Wright, Loker School; Mrs. Elizabeth Ellingwood, Claypit Hill School, and Mr. Frank Guarino, Cohituate School.

A brochure describing the methods of teaching and evaluation used in the Wayland school system is currently in preparation, -- S.B.

WESTON -- A third child, first daughter, Martha Anne Coburn, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Frederick R. Coburn (Barbara Franklin) of 412 North Avenue on Nov. 22 at Richardson House, Boston. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Coburn Jr., of Winsor Way, and Mr. and Mrs. John P. Franklin of Worcester. Mrs. Arthur L. Coburn Sr., of 153 Church Street, is the great-grandmother.

St. Zepherin's Bazaar

Mayor Elect Gibbs Is

New W.N. Bank Trustee

The recent meeting of the Board of Trustees of the West Newton Savings Bank elected Honorable Donald L. Gibbs, Mayor-Elect of Newton and for several years a corporator of the Bank, to the position of Trustee. Mr. Gibbs was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Thomas Weston, who had been a Trustee since 1921. The City of Newton's new chief executive was first elected a corporator of the bank in April, 1954.

The major expansion program which will see the bank's facilities almost double in size, should be completed around the first of the year. According to Kenneth W. Rogers, president of the bank, the enlarged building will mark another milestone in its history.

Completion of the remodeling will be of particular significance to Roland F. Gammons, Chairman of the Board, as it will follow closely his 80th birthday on Jan. 4, 1960. Mr. Gammons has been associated with the bank since it was located in the Nickerson block, formerly on the corner of Cherry and Washington Streets. He has served with distinction since 1906 and has seen the present building triple its size since it was first opened in 1915.

Assets of the West Newton Savings Bank have increased from $2,000,000 in 1915 to a present total of more than $28,500,000.

Crossing The Center Strip Is Logical But Illegal

Nor Can The Superhighway Traveler Stop To Chat With A Milkmaid

The other day a motorist went down Route 128 towards that vague cluster of communities near the sea and fell among the vague signs marking the end of the completed superhighway, and as a result found himself heading for South America by land along something which may well have been the Fall River Expressway.

Now this brings up the whole question of superhighways, like uncertified cranberries or mushrooms.

These highways are marked with the most unfriendly signs this side of a prison camp. Some of them: "No horses." "No pedestrians." "No hitchhikers." "No left turn." "No crossing center strip." "No picking up passengers." "No stopping."

At the picnic sites, they have signs, "No fires." This looks like part of a campaign to popularize cold lunches.

Worse than the signs are the unwritten prohibitions.

It is presumed that the motorist on the superhighway will drive his heap at 55 miles an hour exactly, no faster, no slower.

He will disregard other human beings entirely.

Encased in his thin steel beetle shell, he will be like a denizen of another planet.

He will remember that speed is bad and if he goes too slow, he will get a ticket.

Having taken the wrong superhighway, he will seek to reverse his direction. Beside him will be an empty strip of grass. By a simple left turn he may reach the other barrel of the highway and go in the direction he wishes.

He doesn't dare. The posted rule makes a coward of him. The sensible action is illegal. Therefore he drives five miles in the wrong direction until he finds a cloverleaf, an arrangement by which one can burn a gallon of gas without getting anywhere.

Once there was a motorist who took all the superhighway signs seriously. He lived to himself alone, stopping for nobody, obeying the posted rules, cringing over his wheel like a galley slave over his oar.

Then the glockish obtrak the carburetor, and he had to slide to a stop in the break down lane.

He lifted the hood and took a look at the inside of the heap, but it was all grease to him. So he sat.

He thought about walking somewhere for help, but the superhighway is so antiseptic it permits help stations only at 15-mile intervals, and 15 miles is a long walk.

Nobody would stop for him, because it's against the law. He escaped death by starvation only by standing beside the road with his thumb extended until a State trooper came along and pinched him for attempted hitchhiking.

Half Of Weston Junior High Plays Basketball

WESTON -- More than 50 per cent of the 320 students at Weston Junior High School were on hand for the opening week of the after-school basketball program beginning Monday, Nov. 30.

Under the direction of Robert Starmer and Connie Dolph, physical education teachers, the 7th and 8th grade boys and girls are now holding practice sessions. They are learning drills and perfecting plays in preparation for separate two-way elimination tournaments to be conducted between the homerooms before the Christmas vacation.

Regular teams will be selected following the return to school in January. Games will be scheduled with other schools at that time.

The superhighway runs through woods, swamps and fields. Here is the best country left. But the motorist is not allowed to enjoy it. In the first place, he isn't supposed to stop. In the next place, there is a wire fence to keep him on the reservation. On the highway of a century ago, rough as it was, he could have paused to smell the rose, to pick the violet, to pluck the berry, drink at the brook or chat with the milkmaid.

Can't they soften up these roads a bit? How about some signs saying, "Don't pass by the hitchhiker, it may be your mother?" Or, "If you see a stopped car, stop and see whether it's somebody in trouble." Or, "This is only traveling, so why make a big ritual out of it?"

They don't promote togetherness on these superhighways. Nor pleasure. Nor human kindness.

And it is much too late to bring back the buckboard, the trolley, the batteau or the walking shoe. --D. B. W.

Heads Art Committee

WESTON -- Miss Marjorie Benedict, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manson Benedict of 25 Byron Road, heads the committee for Friends of Art of Mount Holyoke College.

Miss Benedict, a member of the class of 1960, is an art major. In September, 1958, she was named a Sarah Williston Scholar, an honor for academic excellence during the first two years at Mount Holyoke. In 1957, she received the McLean Zoology award. In 1958, she was given second prize in Graphic Arts, and in June, 1959, she was awarded second prize in the Janet F. Broods Memorial in Painting. Miss Benedict is a graduate of Weston High School.

Many of the greatest writers of ancient Rome were born in Spain.

Happy CO-OP answers your questions

QUESTION Is investing in the CO-OP a sound investment?

ANSWER The CO-OP has paid 5% annual dividends on its common shares since the first opened in 1949. The By-laws provide for payments of that amount if net savings are sufficient. Members have invested over $425,000, and a reserve of over $70,000 has been built up to protect the value of the shares. It is the policy of the CO-OP to transfer at par any of the shares that members want to sell. Currently, it has transferred all shares offered it.

Hospital Coffee Shop

A Coffee and Gift Shop will be added to Waltham Hospital beginning Dec. 14, to be operated by the Waltham Hospital Associates. Opening ceremonies will take place on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 13, followed by a preview for friends of the institution.

Oscar F. Felling, president of the Waltham Hospital Corporation, will cut the ribbon inaugurating the new service, and participating in the program will be Hon. Austin D. Rhodes, mayor of Waltham; Nathan I. Greene, chairman of the board of trustees; Walter R. Amesbury, treasurer of the corporation and chairman of the building committee; Robert A. Anderson, administrator; Mrs. Joseph J. Murray, president of the Associates, and Mrs. Oscar F. Felling, general chairman of the Coffee and Gift Shop committee.

Planned for the convenience of staff, personnel, patients and visitors, the Coffee Shop will be open from 9:30 a.m. until 8:30 p.m. seven days a week. The soda bar and table area accommodate 50 persons. Trained volunteers will work under the direction of an experienced manager and the menu of snacks and beverages will be supplemented by a luncheon and supper specialty.

Mrs. Felling and her committee have transformed the "old B Ward" into a Coffee Shop and the adjoining solarium into a Gift Shop, the latter to be in charge of Mrs. Ashley A. Farrar of Weston. The Gift Shop will be open week days from 9:30 until 4. Profits from the project will be used by the Associates for the comfort and welfare of patients. Among those assisting are Mrs. Leonard Dowse, Mrs. John J. Skakle and Mrs. Daniel F. Viles of Weston and Mrs. Paul Rowan of Wayland.

Children's Square Dance

WESTON -- Next in the series of Women's Community League children's square dances will be held in the Building C gymnasium on Friday evening, Dec. 18. The schedule: 5th grade, 7 p.m.; 6th grade, 8:15 p.m. All dancers must wear sneakers.

Weston High School Play

WESTON -- "The Man Who Came to Dinner," a three-act comedy satire by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart, will be presented by Weston High School students on Dec. 18 and 19 at 8:15 p.m. in the Country School Auditorium under the direction of John W. Zorn.

Heading the cast of 23 will be Roy MacArthur as "The Man Who Came to Dinner," while Karen Beamish and Victor Capoccia will play the long-term hosts. Also cast in leading roles are Janice Wilson, Betsy Wigginton, Dick Newbert and Rachel Moodie.

Featured in supporting roles are Susan Page, Keppler Stone, Carter Bottjer, Susan Otto, Jennifer Robbins, Joan Bergstedt and Brian Shaw. Other portrayals will be given by Robert Bogardus, Brendan Morrison, Paul Curtis, Richard Leonhardt, Ivan Terzieff, Robert White, Judy Helgeson, Nancy Callinan and Maureen Condon.

Student coordinator for the production is Susan Page, Paula Anderson and Rosemarie Chibaro are assistant directors, while Judy Helgeson is in charge of stage decoration. Maureen Condon heads the property committee, and Judy Birch is publicity chairman. Costumes are under the direction of Nancy Callinan.

Technical problems are being handled by Arthur Sperry, radio technician for the production. He is also working on sound effects.

Suburban Club Party

WESTON -- Mrs. Cyril Wyche, Jr., of 32 Cart Path Road will open her home for the Christmas Party of the Suburban Club on Dec. 14 at which members will bring gifts of food, toys, and clothing for the Club's "Christmas family."

Members will also bring stocking gifts and girls' clothing to be presented to the children at the Metropolitan State Hospital.

Wayland women working on the projects are Mrs. Barbara R. Adams of Bayfield Road, president of the Club, and Mrs. Paul Lother of Goodman Lane, a member of the executive board.

Library Meeting

WESTON -- A meeting sponsored by the Weston League of Women Voters will be held at 8 p.m. on Dec. 16 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Douglas Pillsbury, Corwood Drive, so that members of the Library Study Committee may get ideas from townspeople on what the Weston Library needs or should have.

All are welcome. Members of the Committee are anxious to hear opinions, so that they may be guided in their own thinking.

Community Carol Sing

WESTON -- The Christmas Eve Community Carol Sing will be revived this year after a lapse of several years. This sing, first started in Weston in 1923, will be held outside the Jones House on Christmas Eve from 7 to 7:20 so as not to interfere with the Christmas Eve church services. This affair will be sponsored by the Women's Community League of Weston, directed by Miss Georgiana M. Berry, senior choir director of the First Parish Church, Weston, accompanied by the Bell Ringers and a brass quartet from the High School.

Whether it is bright moonlight or snow, plan now to come to this family and community sing. Bring a flashlight with you since the candle-light windows of the Jones House will not be sufficient to read the mimeographed music sheets. Note the time, 7 to 7:20.

College Entrance Quiz

WESTON -- Deans of admission from four colleges will be on a panel at the Thursday, Jan. 14, meeting of the Weston High School P. T. A. All high school students are invited. There will be a question period about the how, when and where of college entrance.

Candy Salesgirls

Scouts Tree Sale

COCHITUATE -- Nick Statton announces that Troop 1, Boy Scouts, of Cochituate, will sell Christmas trees between Dec. 17 and 23 at the home of Arthur Holmes, Pleasant Street and Parkland Drive. Proceeds will go to Troop 1 and also to Cub Packs 1 and 55.

The hours: Dec. 17 and 18, from 6 to 8 p.m. Dec. 19 and 20, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Dec. 21, 22 and 23, from 6 to 8 p.m.

Wayland Garden Club

WAYLAND -- Once again the Wayland Garden Club is having its annual Christmas Workshop on Monday, Dec. 14 at 10 o'clock at the Unitarian Church. This year, under the guidance of Mrs. George Emery, decorations for the Cushing Hospital in Framingham will be made.

Mrs. Leonard Pierce and her committee will then take the wreaths, garlands and other arrangements to the hospital to be enjoyed by the elderly patients there in the auditorium, lounge and recreation areas.

Members of the Garden Club have offered quantities of greens and cones and it is hoped that many members will attend the workshop.

After the hospital decorations have been completed, members will then be able to receive assistance in making their own holiday decorations. Coffee will be served by Mrs. Frank Bentley and Mrs. Charles Morgan and members are to bring their own box lunches.

Program Available

Middlesex County District Attorney John J. Droney announces that his office has available a mock trial program for all groups interested in presenting an hour's program that is illuminating and educational. The program is set up like an actual trial, in a courtroom atmosphere, with a judge, prosecutor, defense counsel, police officer, clerk, court officer, witnesses and a jury.

Details may be obtained by contacting him at his office at the Superior Court House in Cambridge.

SMARC Meeting

The South Middlesex Association for Retarded Children Inc. will hold its monthly meeting on Monday Dec. 14, at 8 p.m. in Sherrill Hall of St. Paul's Episcopal church, Natick.

Guest speaker of the evening, Dr. Benjamin Matzilevich of Natick, Clinical Director of the Walter E. Fernald State School, will discuss "Research in Mental Retardation".

Christmas Party

WAYLAND -- The Kiwanis Club of Wayland plans to hold its Christmas party at Sandy Burr on Dec. 15. Paul Robsham is chairman of the committee, which also includes Jack Blomgren, Frank Carter, Bill Vose, Walt Cheslak, Wally Allen and Walt O'Connell.

Harvard Intern Program

WESTON -- Dr. Anthony Brackett, Weston School Superintendent, attended a meeting of the directors for the Harvard University Intern Teaching Program at Harvard on Wednesday, Dec. 2. Plans for continuing the intern teaching system next year and for the coming session of the Harvard-Newton Summer School were discussed.

Two Harvard interns are currently teaching in the Weston schools. The program policy enables local pupils to participate in the Harvard-Newton Summer School in proportion to the number of interns teaching in the respective town schools.

"The interest Weston parents have displayed in having their children attend this unique summer school session has resulted in an unusual over-subscription of our authorized quota," says Dr. Brackett.

Seventy-six percent of all Americans go to bed at 11 p.m.

Scouts' Carol Sing

WAYLAND -- The Scouts' Annual Christmas Carol Sing, formerly held in front of the Wayland library, will be given this year on the Village Triangle on Wednesday evening, Dec. 23, from 7:30 p.m. on.

Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Explorers, Brownies and Cub Scouts will participate in the carol singing and townspeople are invited to join in. Free refreshments will be served by the Girl Scouts.

The new carol-singing site is adjacent to that being occupied by the Boy Scouts for their Christmas tree sale which will begin on Saturday, Dec. 12. A variety of beautiful evergreens fir, spruce, balsam, etc. arrived on Dec. 6 and first come will have first choice.

6th Graders Will Sing

COCHITUATE -- The two 6th grades of the Cochituate School have been invited to sing Christmas carols on Boston Common at 12:30 p.m. on Dec. 14, as part of the Boston Christmas Festival. Last year a group from Claypit Hill School was invited.

The singers will be accompanied by teachers Frank Guarino, Edward Kennedy and Mrs. Pauline Radford. The latter is vocal music supervisor for the elementary schools.

Community Chorus

The Community Chorus of Weston, Wayland, Sudbury and Lincoln will hold an open rehearsal at the Wayland High School, Wayland Center, on Monday evening, Dec. 14, at 8 p.m.

By popular request the Chorus will sight read portions of Bach's "Christmas Oratorio" and the Brahms' "Requiem."

All who are interested in participating in this rehearsal, regardless of musical ability, are invited to be present promptly at 8 p.m.

Francette Found Time Went By Much Too Fast

WESTON -- Miss Francette Cilly, 1958-59 Romas exchange student at Weston High School, has recently written a letter to Mrs. Theresa Zamprogo of the Weston French Department.

She wrote: "While thinking of the experience and knowledge acquired in this year of life in Weston I am led to wonder, what is my part in this new knowledge? And I have to recognize that it is a rather small part; all this new knowledge is a gift from the people of Weston who invited me, received me and entertained me all this year.

... Time went by much too fast to my liking and soon I saw the American coast fade away in the distance. On the boat my idle life left me plenty of time for thinking, and I understood that I could never be thankful enough for the unbelievable kindness which has been given to me the past year, everywhere by everybody."

Local Chestnut Tree Analyzed As Rarity

WAYLAND -- The famous "new chestnut tree" growing on Claypit Hill Road was the subject of analysis in a Boston Globe article of Oct. 18 in which the plight of the once-prevalent chestnut tree was discussed.

Only an occasional sapling, growing from nuts that fell years ago, has been able to take hold and survive since the blight of 40 years ago which killed off just about every tree in the region.

The Claypit Hill tree, now about 35 feet tall and with a trunk measuring about 8 inches in diameter, is one of the rare new chestnuts.

Mr. Harold Cook, chief forester for the state, was quoted in the article as saying that, although the Wayland tree seems to be blight-proof, there won't be anything like a crop of chestnut trees until there somehow gets to be another tree near enough by to effect pollination. Also, although the tree bears the prickly burrs which look to those old enough to remember very much like the ones they used to harvest in their childhood, the burrs are actually similar only on the outside. Inside the burr, the nuts are unable to mature due to the lack of fertilization in the Spring.

Mr. Cook, incidentally, was one of the state authorities appealed to by a local citizen when a proposed widening of the Claypit Hill Road would have destroyed the tree a few years ago. It was his argument about its rarity which persuaded the selectmen to "spare that tree."

Ace of Clubs Member

WAYLAND -- Miss Susan Colliton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh F. Colliton Jr., of Brackett Road, was one of the provisional members admitted to the Ace of Clubs at a luncheon meeting at the Commonwealth Country Club on Oct. 19.

Miss Colliton, along with the other members, will be expected to do volunteer hospital service and assist committee members with various charity events during the coming year.

Campana - Smith

WAYLAND -- The engagement of Miss Janet Marie Campana daughter of Mrs. Mary E. Campana of Waltham and the late Mr. Campana, to Mr. William Louis Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Smith of 4 Beech Road, was announced recently.

Miss Campana is a graduate of Waltham High School and is employed by the Clifford Manufacturing Company of Waltham.

Mr. Smith was graduated from Wayland High School in 1955 and served for two years with the U. S. Army. He is presently associated with the Wayside Builders, Inc. of Sudbury.

Big Turn-Out For Volunteer Hockey

WAYLAND -- Between 50 and 60 Junior and Senior High School boys have been turning out for hockey practice on weekend and vacation mornings during the last few weeks.

The hockey sessions are not connected with the school athletic program although they are being coached by Mr. Henry T. Cotton, social sciences teacher in the Junior High School and former varsity player for the Boston University hockey team. He is being assisted by Mr. William Morris of Pine Ridge Road.

The "squad" is divided into Junior and Senior groups and then subdivided into six-man teams. At present, the boys vary a good deal in ability and experience. A few of them have played with the Belmont PeeWees because there had been no local group in town.

But all of them are enthusiastic enough to supply their own equipment and transportation and to chip in a dollar apiece for each session's rental of the Worcester Arena skating rink. And, according to Mr. Cotton, it has been the interest of parents and friends in providing transportation that has made the out-of-town practice sessions possible.

The Junior Group has two games scheduled so far; the first, with the Natick Comets, will be on Sunday morning, Dec. 13, from 11:30 to 12:30. The second, on Saturday, Dec. 19, with the Framingham Juniors, will be played from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. Both games will be held at the Worcester Arena. Admission is free and parents and friends are invited.

At the moment, no games have been scheduled for the Senior Group but Mr. Cotton hopes that some will be arranged within the next week or two.

Dr. Arndt von Hippel Is Named Research Fellow

WESTON -- Dr. Arndt von Hippel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. von Hippel of 265 Glen Road, has been appointed a research fellow in surgery by Harvard Medical School. He is associated with Boston City Hospital.

Dr. von Hippel was graduated from the Cambridge School of Weston, and received a Bachelor of Science degree from M.I.T. in 1953 and an M.D. from Harvard in 1957.

A brother, Frank, is a Rhodes Scholar in England.

To Be Presented At Tea

WESTON -- Miss Brooke Benner Herron will be presented at a tea to be held at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Herron of 99 Oxbow Road, on Dec. 20. A graduate of Winsor School, she is now attending Goucher College in Baltimore and is a provisional member of the Junior League.

Mrs. Charles F. Gimber of Conant Road will be one of the pourers and assisting will be Miss Louise Herron and Miss Fraser Gimber, both students at Winsor School.

WESTON -- Cdr. James E. Nesworthy, USNR, of 257 Summer Street, is the recipient of a $100 check from the Reader's Digest for an anecdote submitted to the magazine's department, "Life in These United States." Cdr. Nesworthy's contribution appears in the October issue.

WAYLAND -- A new outdoor letter box with a red flag, apparently removed from its post by boys moving along Old Connecticut Path, has been picked up. Owner may call EL 8-4343.

Miss Andrea Enos, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John L. Enos of Ash Street, is enrolled as a Freshman at Cushing Academy in Ashburnham.

Back To School Night

WESTON -- More than two-thirds of the parents of Weston Junior High School students were represented at the school's first "Back to School Night" held on Wednesday, Dec. 2.

Parents were invited to attend classroom sessions of their children's four academic subjects: English, science, social studies and arithmetic. During two other periods they had the option of visiting music, physical education, home economics, industrial arts, or French classes.

Most of the parents attending the "Back to School Night" are already members of the P. T. A. Others wishing to join may send their $2.00 membership fee to the treasurer of the Weston P. T. A., Mr. John F. Birch, 36 Robin Road.

Warren Brown Is Head of N.E. Cooperatives

WAYLAND -- At the recent meeting of New England Cooperatives Inc., the New England area's cooperative distribution organization, Warren D. Brown of Davelin Road, general manager of THE CO-OP INC., was elected to the Board of Directors. The Board, at its organizational meeting elected him president for the coming year.

New England Cooperatives Inc., which will begin operations soon from its new distribution center in Framingham, is owned and operated by the member cooperatives it serves. Some 20,000 families in turn own and operate these local cooperatives in Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine, Massachusetts and Connecticut. A majority of the cooperatives lie within 50 miles of the greater Boston area and last years sales amounted to $15,000,000.

Weston Science Club

WESTON -- Mr. Alexander Thomas, a physicist at Tracerlab, Inc., presented a lecture on radioactivity at a meeting of the Weston Junior High School Science Club on Wednesday, Dec. 2.

The operation and use of the radiation counter, as well as other types of radioactivity, were explained to the student group. Mr. Thomas also demonstrated the effects of alpha, beta and gamma rays on the counter and showed shielding effects.

6 Classrooms Now In Use

WESTON -- Half of the new Woodland School, above, is already in use, and use of the other six classrooms is waiting only on completion of the inside work in the gymnasium. Much of the landscaping has been done and the structural construction work is finished, but the outdoor Winter facilities are still limited. Full occupancy is expected before long. Mr. Henry W. ReRusha is principal of the new school.

Fitzpatrick - Donovan

WESTON -- Miss Susan Douglas Donovan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Donovan of New Rochelle, New York, was married on November 28 to Mr. Brian Edward Fitzpatrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Fitzpatrick of 39 Drabington Way, in the Church of the Holy Family in New Rochelle. Douglas A. Pearl, S. J., an uncle of the bride, performed the ceremony.

Miss Trudy Ann Donovan was her sister's maid of honor and Mr. Robert Wallace of Boston was best man. The ushers were Mr. Rudy DeMarco, Mr. Stephen Donovan, and Mr. Kerry Fitzpatrick.

Miss Donovan was graduated from Cooley High School in Detroit and attended Barat College of the Sacred Heart in Lake Forest, Illinois.

Mr. Fitzpatrick was graduated from the Massachusetts Maritime Academy and served for two years as a lieutenant in the U. S. Navy. He is now associated with the Electro Dynamics Corporation.

Following a wedding trip to Nassau, the couple will live in New Rochelle.

Hist. Soc. Hears About Early Sudbury Settlers

WAYLAND -- Dr. Sumner Powell, author of "The Free Townsmen of Sudbury, the formation of a New England Town," soon to be published, addressed the Wayland Historical Society and its guests Thursday evening, Dec. 3, in the First Parish vestry.

Having traced the background of a number of Sudbury's first settlers, including such names as Noyes, Rutter, Brown, Loker, Bent and Stone in their native towns in England, Dr. Powell told his audience that it was a heterogeneous group that founded Sudbury in 1638, men of varying means and diverse stations in life. Moreover, the community established here represented for its founders a very different form of government from that which they left behind.

He related several interesting and amusing details of the social organization in 17th century English towns where custom played a large role in contrast to the new experience here in the American wilderness which imposed on the colonists the necessity for creating a larger body of laws formulated without regard for manorial rights or hereditary privileges.

The speaker stressed the free townsmen of Sudbury stating that in what approximated an equitable distribution of land, they had invited the censure of the King.

In closing, he told of the reaction of a Hungarian refugee student upon learning of the "Freeman's Oath," embodying the rights and responsibilities of the early citizen, which he felt had a real significance for our own time, particularly in the light of his own nation's experience with Russia.

The meeting, one of the most successful ever held by the Society, was well attended by people from Sudbury and Weston as well as Wayland.

Following an enthusiastic question period, refreshments were served by a committee under the direction of Mrs. Edmund Sears.

Woman's Club Members Hear All About Eggnog

WAYLAND -- Presiding over a festive array of hors d'oeuvre and flaming plum pudding, Mr. Leslie Browning, food consultant, advised members of the Wayland Woman's Club at the Tuesday, Dec. 1, meeting in Fellowship Hall of the Trinitarian Congregational Church to "Be Yourself" when entertaining and to make simplicity and quality the keynote of party foods.

Mr. Browning gave recipes and suggestions for teas, late evening snacks, cocktail parties and Christmas eggnog accompaniments, interspersed with humor.

Serving punch at either end of the Christmas tea table before the meeting were Mrs. Allen Benjamin and Mrs. Albert H. Capello. Tea chairmen for the day were Mrs. Paul Shalline and Mrs. Dana Philbrook assisted by the following committee:

Mrs. Clinton Lee, Mrs. Philip Awad, Mrs. Francis Bartol, Mrs. Randolph Charles, Mrs. Allen Benjamin, Mrs. Albert Capello, Mrs. Edwin Damon, Mrs. Roger E. MR. MILLER

Inc., Cambridge, have worked in the field of aircraft and airport noise for several years.

They are consultants to the New York Port Authority, the Los Angeles International Airport, and many other airports in this country and abroad in trying to work out improved noise conditions for residential neighbors living very near busy major airports.

Laymon Miller is a graduate of the University of Texas. During World War II he was a research associate at the Underwater Sound Laboratory of Harvard University. From 1945 to 1954 he was successively assistant professor, associate professor and professor of engineering research in the Ordnance Research Laboratory at Pennsylvania State University. He is a member of the honorary scientific society of Sigma Xi and a Fellow in the Acoustical Society of America. He has published many papers in various areas of industrial noise control and aircraft noise.

known and do what he can.

In some cases, motorists have offered to buy new dogs, and have paid medical expenses.

In others, they have simply gone on their way without stopping. The feelings of owners of the pets, in such cases, are pretty strong.

But the law is not the same as that for striking a human being and running away.

In Wayland, the practice of the police is, where the number of the vehicle is furnished, to wait for a report and, if it is not forthcoming, to take steps to put the owner of the animal in touch with the operator who hit the animal.

It is recognized that in many cases the motorist is unable to avoid a dog or cat which may dart into the road. But when there is an accident of this kind, it eases the feelings of the animal's owner when the driver does stop to see what he can do.

Mr. Stackpole's dog, 8 years old, was found by Raytheon police, who called Wayland police. He is grateful to both groups for their help. The dog was taken to Dr. Edward A. Zullo in Natick, still alive, but so badly hurt he had to be put away.

Apparently nobody saw the dog struck, and nobody reported the incident.

FIRE

The space heater, he says, often has no chimney. Sometimes it eats up oxygen in the house, sometimes its controls go wrong and sometimes oil spills. It burns kerosene or range oil. It's the modern descendant of the old, round, portable kerosene stove which could be carried around, and could tip over with catastrophic results.

In Wayland, he says, there are about 200 space heaters in use. While the fire chiefs think they are a hazard to life, he says, there is a problem, because people who depend on them cannot be deprived of heat.

Weston Office Of Waltham Savings Bank Is Opened

Selectman Edward M. Dickson of Weston, at left, cuts the ribbon. Next in order are Benjamin F. Wood of Foxmeadow Lane, Wayland, president of the bank; Ralph Sederquist, manager of the Weston office; George D. DeGrasse, treasurer of the bank, and John W. Boyd of Weston, owner of the building. (McCann Photo)

WESTON -- The Waltham Savings Bank opened its first branch office on Wednesday, Dec. 2, at 432 Boston Post Road, Weston Center. Mr. Edward M. Dickson, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, cut the ribbon to open the new office. Mr. John W. Boyd, owner of the building, presented the keys to Mr. Ralph Sederquist, assistant treasurer of the bank and manager of this Weston office. Mr. Benjamin F. Wood, president of the Waltham Savings Bank, said it was a pleasure to bring the bank's many services to the people of Weston, and he expressed the hope that many people would be helped by having local service facilities for savings, life insurance and home financing.

Mr. George D. DeGrasse, treasurer of the bank, has had charge of all preparations at this office, aided by Mr. Peter C. Paige, architectural designer. The atmosphere and decor of this Weston office is in the Colonial tradition.

Brownies Hear Lecture

WESTON -- Brownie Scouts heard a safety lecture from Lieut. Robert F. McLeod of the Weston Fire Department at a meeting held on Nov. 24 at the home of Mrs. Charles Fluke on Green Lane. The girls also made a contribution to the Firemen's Relief Fund. Left to right, above: Heidi Weissbacker, Troop 12; June Fluke, Troop 1; Diane Leavitt, Troop 7, and Lieut. McLeod. (Ross Photo)

They Toured The Museum

WAYLAND -- Miss Heather Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Turner of 33 Rolling Lane, has been named a member of the Connecticut College Choir. A graduate of Cambridge School of Weston Miss Turner is a member of the sophomore class.

Richard P. Floyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Paul Floyd of 217 Newton Street, Weston, and John L. McEwan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon McEwan of 5 Hayward Place, Wayland, received varsity letters in soccer at Middlebury College this Fall.

Dusseault - Edmunds

WAYLAND -- Mr. and Mrs. Alfred P. Dusseault of 34 Dudley Road announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda Lee Dusseault, to Mr. George E. Edmunds, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Edmunds of Framingham.

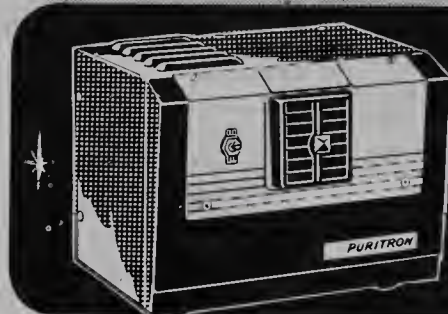

Miss Dusseault was graduated from Wayland High School, class of 1958, and is employed by the Dennison Manufacturing Company. Mr. Edmunds is a graduate of Framingham Vocational High School and is with the firm of Topic, Incorporated, in Natick. A January wedding is planned.

WESTON -- Mrs. Patten Gimber is co-chairman of the ticket committee for the New England Opera Theatre, which will present two operas in English at the Wilbur Theatre, Boston, in January. Also on the committee is Mrs. Albert B. Hunt.

How $15,000 Ford Grant To High School Was Spent

WAYLAND -- Mr. Douglas Surgenor, Chairman of the Wayland School Committee, reports that the $15,000 Ford Foundation grant made to the Committee last spring to aid "in planning educational improvements in the Wayland High School" was used during the summer to develop a new and efficient scheduling system for the School.

Administrative and guidance people, primarily Principal, Max Griffin and Guidance Counselor, Lewis Oxford, spent a good deal of time working out a large scheduling board which shows at a glance exactly what rooms are being used for what purposes at any period in the day and the number of students assigned to each room. It is considered an invaluable aid in determining when and where it is possible to combine classes for large group work. It also makes it possible to take some students out of their regular groups either for individual attention or for special advanced work without necessitating a change of schedule. Teachers used the board during the summer when making up their teaching plans for the year and found it easy to decide, for instance, if and when they could conduct seminars. Its real value lies in making it possible to tailor the curriculum more to the individual student than could ever have been done in the past.

The grant was also put to use in developing coordination among the departments. A team of teachers, one from each department, worked over the summer to find ways in which the subject matter being taught in one course could complement that being taught in another. A simple example is one in which students studying about the American Colonies in their Social Studies class would, at the same time, be reading Tom Paine or some other appropriate author in their English class.

Innovations such as the combining of recordings and visual aids for large class use were also worked out. A stereophonic recording of a Robert Frost poem, for instance, would be combined with a slide showing the words of the poem. In classroom use, the performance could be stopped at any point for discussion and instruction by the teacher.

The grant, which had specified that the funds were to be expended before Sept. 30, 1959, was used primarily to pay the salaries of staff members and for professional help from outside consultants.

"Don't let a toy you give your child this Christmas turn the holiday into a time of needless tragedy," warns Dr. Claude M. Fuess, chairman of the Massachusetts Committee of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Harvard Medical Man Is A New Weston Resident

WESTON -- New residents are Dr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Fitzpatrick and family who moved to their Meadowbrook Road home this fall when Dr. Fitzpatrick was appointed the new Edward C. Wigglesworth professor of dermatology at the Harvard Medical School and chief of the dermatology service at Massachusetts General Hospital.

Dr. Fitzpatrick, the son of a Wisconsin lumberman, was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1941 and from Harvard Medical School in 1945. He interned at Boston City Hospital and served for two years in the Army Chemical Center in Maryland. He was head of the division of dermatology at the University of Oregon Medical School for six years and last year was a Commonwealth Fellow at Oxford University in England.

He is married to the former Beatrice Devaney, daughter of the late chief justice of the Minnesota Supreme Court, and they have five children: Thomas Jr., aged 13, who is a student at Magdalen College School in Oxford, and four younger children, twins Terry and John, 11, Scott, 9, and Bryan, 4.

Along with his professorial duties, Dr. Fitzpatrick is currently engaged in heading a research team of biologists and biochemists at the Massachusetts General Hospital in an attempt to learn more about the biology of melanin pigment and the mechanism by which a pigment cell is transformed into malignancy.

WESTON -- William C. Melia of 55 Oakdale Avenue, a senior at Boston College, was among 15 of his classmates honored as "Distinguished Military Students" at exercises held on Dec. 2 at the college.

Kelsey - Quinn

WAYLAND -- A recent wedding was that of Miss Nancy M. Quinn, daughter of Mrs. Thomas J. Quinn of Newtonville, to Mr. Charles H. Kelsey Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Wheelock of Old Connecticut Path, who were married in St. Bernard's Church, West Newton, on Sept. 19. They make their home at 26 Kensington Street, Newtonville. Mrs. Kelsey was graduated from Newton High School and Mt. Auburn Hospital School of Nursing. Mr. Kelsey, a civil engineer, was graduated from Wayland High School and Worcester Polytechnic Institute. Above, Mrs. Kelsey. (Sharon's Studio)

Dr. Vonnegut Patents Electrical Recorder

WESTON -- Dr. Bernard Vonnegut of 204 Merriam Street, above, has been honored for developing a tiny electrical recorder that can be used as a portable, self-contained unit powered only by batteries. It was designed to be used in remote areas where there is little or no power supply and records the amount of electricity in the atmosphere.

Dr. Vonnegut received an award for patenting this development. Dr. Vonnegut has many other patents to his name, including one for the seeding of clouds with silver iodide smoke, to produce rain.

French - Jacobs

WESTON--Mr. and Mrs. Stanley G. French of 136 Ridgeway Road announce the engagement of their daughter, Anne Elizabeth French, to Mr. Herbert Benjamin Jacobs, son of the late Mrs. Benjamin Franklin John Jacobs and Mr. Jacobs of Milton.

Miss French attended Winsor School and was graduated from the Cambridge School of Weston. A graduate of the University of Colorado, she received her master's degree from Teacher's College, Columbia University, in 1957, and is currently teaching in Norwood, Massachusetts. She made her debut during the 1948 season and is a member of the Junior League of Boston.

Mr. Jacobs is a graduate of Browne and Nichols School, Harvard College, and Boston University Law School. He served with the Army Air Force during World War II and is a member of the Harvard Club of Boston and the Faculty Club of Harvard University.

Social Security Note

Advance filing of claims for social security benefits is now being encouraged, according to an announcement by Norman A. Keyes, manager of the Waltham Social Security District Office, which serves Wayland and Weston. Mr. Keyes explains that early filing of applications for retirement benefits will result in prompt receipt of the first check.

"Inquire before you retire" is a theme we've been emphasizing for several months now, in an effort to ensure speedy delivery of the first benefit check," Mr. Keyes points out. He emphasizes that retiring workers would do well to call at the Waltham office two to three months ahead of their retirement date.

He explains that benefit claims require some handling in the Waltham office before they are certified to the Treasury Department for payment.

Real Candles In Jones House Windows Feature Weston Community Sing

WESTON -- The first public record of a community carol sing in Weston was in 1917 when house-to-house carol singing was begun under the direction of Mr. Palfrey Perkins of the First Parish Church. Candles were lighted in the Jones House this Christmas Eve, but the Jones family were unable to attend the community sings because they had to watch the candles in their house.

Since 1917 candles have been burning in the windows of the Jones House every Christmas Eve. These are not the electric candles such as many of us now burn in our windows at Christmas time, but real tallow candles. To this day, the Jones House candles are tallow candles, but watched now by two custodians rather than a member of the Jones family.

The first community sing at the Town Tree was in 1923 when it was held near the Memorial Boulder by the Town House. This tree was donated by Miss Case and was lighted by the Fire Department.

Cummings - Boyden

WESTON -- Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. Cummings of 455 Concord Road have announced the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Cummings, to Mr. W. Lincoln Boyden III of Brookline. Miss Cummings, following 10 years at the Weston Schools, was graduated from the Winsor School in 1954 and from Swarthmore College in 1958. Mr. Boyden, son of Mrs. Ruth T. Boyden of Prides Crossing and Mr. W. Lincoln Boyden of Wenham, is a lawyer and works for the Boston firm of Ropes, Gray, Best, Coolidge and Rugg. Above, Miss Cummings.

Flood Plain Zoning Is Issue At Hearing

WAYLAND -- Local citizens filled the hearing room at the Town Building on the evening of Dec. 9 when a two-hour public hearing was conducted by the Zoning Board of Appeals on the application of Wayland Associates, Incorporated, for authority to move two dwelling houses to two lots in the flood plain zone on the south side of Pelham Island Road.

The issue in question was two-fold; whether the floodplain zoning by-law (adopted by a 405 to 12 vote at the March 12, 1958 Town Meeting) permitted this kind of use of the flood plain area in the use of the flood plain and whether, if it were so interpreted, it would create a precedent by which a

Wayland Will Have 13,000 People, Weston 10,000, By 1970, GBESC Report Predicts

New Growth Likely To Be Like That of Recent Years, Greg Wolfe Says

WAYLAND -- Some views on the population report of the GBESC from Gregory B. Wolfe, the committee's research director, who happens to be a resident of Wayland and a member of the Wayland School Committee:

Wayland's population will increase greatly, but it's probably nothing for present residents to get worried about.

As long as the present zoning regulations hold, the growth should be of much the same kind as that in the recent past, Good houses on good big lots, with grass and trees.

Routes 20 and 30 need to be rebuilt. They are totally inadequate. But nobody is doing anything about it.

There will be pressure for zoning changes, especially along main roads. There will be pressure to

"Christmas Tree Rules"

For a safe and Merry Christmas Chief Francis J. Hartin of the Wayland Fire Department recommends that the following precautions be taken:

1. Cut a growing tree or purchase one which shows it has not been allowed to dry out.
2. Stand the tree in water or snow outdoors until you are ready to use it.
3. The larger the tree, the greater the hazard.
4. Just before setting up the tree, saw off the trunk at an angle at least one inch above the original cut.
5. Support the tree well.
6. Keep the tree away from sources of heat.
7. Place the freshly cut tree trunk in water and keep level above the cut.
8. Do not use wax candles on the tree.
9. Use only electric lighting sets that bear the UL (Underwriters)

The population map, showing Sectors 3 and 4.

Wayland, Weston, Sudbury and Lincoln are right in the middle of the areas of Massachusetts which are going to have the most sensational population growth in the next decade, a report of the Greater Boston Economic Study Committee indicates.

Research Director for the Committee is Gregory B. Wolfe of Country Corners Road, Wayland.

Much of the report was published in Boston papers last week. Not emphasized, however, were the figures showing what is predicted for the towns in this immediate area. The 1950 census gave Wayland 4400 residents. The estimate for 1959 ranges up to 9700 and the 1970 prediction is 13,100.

The 1950 census gave Weston 5000, the 1959 estimate ranges up to 8200 and the 1970 prediction is 9,900.

The 1950 census gave Sudbury 2600, the 1959 estimate is up to 5800 and the 1970 prediction is 7,100.

In 1950 Lincoln had 2400, the 1959 estimate runs up to 3800 and

Letters to the EDITOR

About Flood Plain

To the Editor:

"Suburbs to Absorb Huge 10-year Growth,"--the headline last Friday announcing the release of the Greater Boston Economic study Committee's projections for 1970, 607,000 new residents, most of them in suburbs like Wayland. How coincidental that this same week the Wayland Zoning Board of Appeals is faced with the critical decision of permitting residential construction on the Wayland flood plain.

Many persons at Wednesday night's hearing were disappointed to discover that our "avantgarde" floodplain zoning did not forbid residential use of potential flood areas. But the issue is now squarely met.

The enormous pressures are building up. The demand for land in Wayland is already strong. The possible filling of our floodplain is naturally attractive. But every cubic yard of fill is a threat to the health and safety of those of us who live just above the 125 foot contour. The argument for excavation HERE to compensate for filling THERE seems to me to be most impractical from both the engineering and enforcement viewpoints.

There is plenty of dry land left in Wayland. The wise use of our natural floodplain is not restriction but protection.

Sincerely,
George K. Lewis

EXCEPTIONAL NEW YEAR OPPORTUNITY

A branch office in the Weston-Wayland area will be opened by one of the outstanding professional sales agencies in the country. Representatives of this agency averaged $16,045 last year. Their median income was $10,153. Four out of 5 men selected and trained by this firm find permanent careers in life insurance.

We now have the opportunity to add two men to our sales staff. They will be thoroughly trained in family security planning, estate analysis, business insurance, and will be paid liberally during this period of training and sales supervision.

Probably the men we employ will have been to college and have some business or professional experience. Previous sales experience is helpful but not essential. Our selection process will indicate aptitude. We will be glad to discuss this opportunity with you. Call Mr. Cave or Mr. Downing. Liberty 2-0553

Just Eating Isn't Enough, Feeding Has To Be Social

Hence The Courageous Hostess, Who Invites Strangers To Dinner

The young male adult knows his favorite dinner arrangement. He wants to sit in some dim place like Hernando's hideaway with a doll who's all ears and eyes and very little mouth, and talk about himself by candlelight.

As for the doll, she'll probably get a few words in edgewise about her sufferings and about how she'd like a career in interior decorating. Between them, they'll get off some profound stuff about Life, and the merry hours will dance away.

With the onset of matrimony, however, there has to be a different system for social feeding.

The housewife will keep the candlelight, and that's all. It will occur to her that conversations a deux, as we say in French, are numerically inadequate, and that they'd better have in some other people to provide new and sparkling intellectual stuff.

Thus is born what is politely known as the dinner party.

The hostess will invite one couple well known to both herself and husband, one well known to her, one well known to him, and one well known to nobody.

The idea is that it's fun to meet new people, and that with total strangers there's always a chance of striking gold.

So the first bright conversational spark to fly will be, "I didn't quite catch the name."

So it turns out that the unknown guest is a big semi-conductor man and his wife comes from Lubbock, Texas. The husband of the hostess's friend is a Harvard man who dunks cigarettes in coffee cups, the host's friend made his dough in the black market in World War II and the host is in the doorknob game.

It will soon be discovered that the girl from Texas disapproves of strong drink. Following the second martini, it will become apparent that the wife of the black marketer should have stopped at one.

Once seated at the table, the difficulties of conversation will become more apparent.

It's a good man, who, seated between two women with whom he's not well acquainted, can carry on a fascinating chitchat with both.

A social occasion seems not the one at which a fellow should launch upon a serious lecture covering some branch of politics, business or science.

But some subjects are available: "What dealers are giving for trade-in allowances on 1956 sedans

"The snobs in this town . . ."

"My married daughter and her children . . ."

"Schools are all right, but with platinum faucets . . ."

"You don't know a soul in town? Let me tell you about some of the characters around here . . ."

"A pink skipsnapper came to the bird feeder yesterday . . ."

Constraint falls away only after dinner when, if the guests have bad habits, the men retire to the kitchen, tap the jug and start to tell each other stories about the psychiatrist and the farmer's daughter, and the women huddle in a corner with harrowing tales of modern surgery.

But the point of all this is that the modern dishwashing machine will not take the dishes from the table, even if it will wash and dry them. The hostess always has to break up the party for a few minutes while she carries away the debris. What the dinner party needs is paper plates and dull knives. Once a hostess used the paper plates but provided sharp knives, and a strong guest, sawing at a tough piece of steak, sliced right through to the wood. The blade stuck there, quivering, and there was certainly a moment of embarrassment.--D.B.W.

EVENTS AND PEOPLE TO BE FEATURED IN THE NEAR FUTURE

Dr. Garland To Speak

WESTON -- Dr. Gilbert C. Garland of 75 Woodchester Drive, Northeastern University Director of Admissions, will appear as guest speaker in Northeastern's inter-faith Bacon Memorial Chapel, Wednesday, Dec. 16, at 8:20 a.m.

A native of Concord, New Hampshire, Dr. Garland is the son of the late Reverend Doctor Charles C. Garland, for many years a prominent Methodist clergyman in Metropolitan Boston.

Dr. Garland studied at Springfield College, Harvard University, Washington and Lee, and Columbia University, receiving his doctorate in educational administration from Teachers College, Columbia University. A veteran of World War II, he was attached to the Second Infantry Division in educational and physical reconditioning work.

He has acted as a school principal and basketball and swimming coach, was Dean of Nichols College, and a member of the faculty at Springfield College. He is a former lecturer in human relations and personnel administration for the State Department of Education at Westover Air Force Base, and was once director of training and management development for the Westinghouse Electric Company in Springfield. Since 1952 he has served in his present capacity as Director of Admissions.

Dr. Garland is a past president of the Weston Parent-Teacher's Association and has been chairman of the Citizen's School Survey Committee in charge of counseling and guidance. He is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, National Honorary Society.

WESTON -- The Trustees of the Weston Public Library voted at a recent meeting to open the adult library to the public on Tuesday evenings. Beginning Jan. 1, 1960, the library will be open Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday evenings until 9 p.m. The total number of hours of service to the public will be increased from 60 hours weekly to 65 hours.

At the same time, the fines for overdue books and periodicals will be increased from the present $.01 per day to $.02 daily. The present rate of $.05 per day for overdue records will remain the same.

The new schedule, as of Jan. 1, 1960, follows:

Adult Dept: Mon., Tues., Wed. and Friday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Thursday and Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Juvenile Dept: Monday through Friday, 2 to 5:30 p.m.; Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

During school vacations the hours are from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announces that the 4-cent Boy Scout 50th anniversary commemorative stamp will be placed on first-day sale at Washington, D. C., on Monday, Feb. 8, the birthday date of the movement.

Tea And Mitten Tree

WESTON -- The annual Christmas Tea and Mitten Tree will be held at the First Parish in Weston on Dec. 21 at 3 p.m. Mrs. Claude Welsh will speak on "Pleasures and Treasures from the Boston Museum of Fine Arts."

Tea chairman is Mrs. Alfred Thomas. Assisting Mrs. Thomas are Mrs. David Blaney and Mrs. Lovett Morse. Pouring are Mrs. Herbert S. Howes and Mrs. Warren Campbell.

All contributions of woolen caps, scarves and good warm clothing, which will be sent to Toulouse, France, will be gratefully accepted.

Senior Sociable

WESTON -- The next dance in the Weston Senior Sociable Series is planned for Friday, Dec. 18. Sammy Eisen's Orchestra will supply the dance music and a jam session. Long playing records will be given as door prizes, and the Town Hall will be handsomely decorated.

Collection Point For Town Crier Material

Weston people who don't want to make the journey to Wayland to deliver editorial or advertising material at the Crier office may leave it at the Kien Chung Tea House, 502 Boston Post Road, the Crier's former address.

The only difficulty may arise if some timeliness is involved. If there is, there'd better be a telephone call to the Crier, EL 8-7746, to announce that the stuff should be picked up.

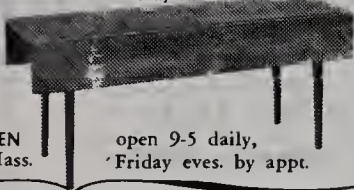

TEMPLETON'S COLONIAL HARVEST TABLE

Faithfully reproduced from original design by master craftsmen. Custom built in solid birch or antique pine, hand rubbed to rich, glowing finish. Will add beauty and utility to most any room. 6' length $75; 5' length $70; 4' length $60. Unfinished $10 less each size.

Drive out to our showrooms on Scenic Route 2, Mohawk Trail, in Templeton and see our hand crafted Colonial reproductions in knotty pine and maple. Finest quality materials and workmanship at display room prices.

EVENTS AND PEOPLE TO BE FEATURED IN THE NEAR FUTURE

Candles Will Glow At Christmas Tableau

WAYLAND -- The green in front of the First Parish Church will be alight with small candles as the community gathers to watch the annual Christmas tableau at 5 p.m. on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 20.

The half-hour ceremony will commence with carols played by a brass choir, after which members of the church school will present brief scenes from the Nativity. The audience which forms a semi-circle on the green will join in three traditional carols, and small candles will be distributed for each person to hold. Cocoa and cookies are served afterwards for all in the vestry, and the public is invited.

Mr. And Mrs. Barker To Open New Studio Dec. 19

WAYLAND -- Allen and Neta Barker will open their new studio at the corner of Draper Road and Glezen Lane at 3 p.m. on Dec. 19, with a program of piano and dance presented to a group of friends. Pupils participating will be Karen Eckler, Roberta Lombardo, Sethely Johnson, Anita Castiglione and Noble Barker.

At 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 20, Allen Barker will present a number of his pupils in a program of piano music. Wayland pupils participating will be Diane Best, Anita Castiglione, Steve Flanigin, Wilena Jensen, Pamela Kather, Terry Kenyon, Karyl Myer, Jean Pickering, Peter Schenk, Steve Schenk, John Swiedler, Douglas Trotter and Arthur Waldron.

From Weston, Melanie Carlson, Sue Carlson, Linda Corman, Carol Grumman, Karen Harvey and Douglas Lempereur. From Sudbury, Ann Clippinger, Keith Emmons, Rosemary Debye and Christina Debye. Also included will be several from Newton and Brookline.

"Giving Not Getting" Is Cub Scout Theme

WAYLAND -- "Giving Not Getting" will be the theme of the meeting to be held by Cub Scout Pack 1 at the Happy Hollow School on the evening of Dec. 17.

The Cubs will adorn a Christmas tree, donated by the Boy Scouts, with handmade decorations, and will also bring gifts for retarded children. At the close of the meeting, the decorated tree and gifts will be trucked by Mr. Fred Osmond, father of one of the boys, to the Natick Pre-School Clinic For Retarded Children.

Each of the Dens will sing a special Christmas Carol and all of the Cubs will join in singing "Silent Night." Den 8 will present the colors at the meeting and Cubs and guests will receive candy canes as mementoes.

Fifth Christmas Ball For Senior Assemblies

WAYLAND -- The fifth annual Senior Assemblies' Christmas Ball will be held on Saturday, Dec. 26, at the Happy Hollow School Auditorium. Music will be provided by Herbie Sulkin's orchestra. Mrs. Harold H. Woolard of Pinebrook Road is chairman and Mrs. Robert G. Clark is co-chairman.

The Dance Committee members are Mrs. Herbert M. Ellis, Mrs. Frank S. Gardner, Mrs. Parmelee C. Hill, Mrs. E. Nevin Kather, Mrs. Judson J. Mohl, Mrs. Theodore L. Parker, Mrs. Thomas L. Phillips and Mrs. Arthur T. Weiss.

Between 250 and 300 young people are expected to attend from Wayland and the surrounding towns of Weston, Framingham, Sudbury, Lincoln and Concord. Dinner parties preceding the dance will be held in all of the participating towns.

The Senior Assemblies, sponsored by the Wayland Junior Town House, are open to students in the 10th, 11th and 12th grades and to college freshmen. They are introduced to all 9th grade pupils in Wayland by way of invitation to the Spring Ball. If any young people who were in this grade were overlooked last Spring and are not receiving invitations to the dances, Mrs. Robert G. Clark, P. O. Box 148, Wayland, would like to hear from them so that she can add their names to the mailing list.

In addition, young people who received invitations last year but did not reply to them and were, thereby, dropped from the list, as well as those young people who have recently moved to town, should write Mrs. Clark if they would like to be included in the dance activities.

Wayland School Menu

WEEK OF DEC. 21

Monday. Ravioli, tossed green salad, wedge of cheese, bread and butter, peaches, milk.

Tuesday. Hamburger on buttered roll, potato chips, carrot sticks, fruit cocktail, milk.

Wednesday. Creamed chicken on biscuits, cranberry sauce, buttered peas, bread and butter, plums, milk.

CHRISTMAS HOLIDAY.

Wayland Art Guild

WAYLAND -- Mr. Edward Faber, director of silk screen operations for Rust Craft, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Wayland Art Guild at 8 p.m., Dec. 17, at Legion Hall, Cohasset. Admission is free and the public is invited.

CO-OP In Unusual Project For Christmas

WAYLAND -- For the first time in the food industry, regional representatives of CARE, the co-operative for American relief everywhere, are cooperating with CO-OP staff people in an attempt to bring the spirit of Christmas to thousands of needy families in foreign lands.

Descriptive posters are being placed in the CO-OP's stores, and envelopes are being stuffed into grocery bags as a reminder to patrons encouraging them to contribute funds.

The CO-OP management will make a contribution and see that the name and address of every patron who purchases $15 or more in services before Christmas, appears on a CARE package destined for deserving people. Patrons will also be told where their "free" contribution packages were delivered.

CO-OP officials hope that this approach will spread not only to other non-profit organizations like themselves, but also to food chains from coast to coast.

Work Sunday on the R.R.

WAYLAND -- "I've been working on the railroad" means "I've been working on Sunday" so far as the men installing the new gas line from Lincoln to Wayland Center are concerned.

The Wayland Selectmen voted to permit the work of installing the gas pipe under the Boston and Maine railroad tracks in the Center to be done on Sunday as the railroad doesn't allow such work to be done on a weekday.

WAYLAND -- Mr. Raymond L. Columbe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Columbe of 28 Woodland Road, was graduated recently from the East Coast Aero Technical School at the Bedford Airport. Mr. Columbe, a graduate of Wayland High School, class of 1958, completed the course which will prepare him for a Federal Aviation Agency rating as a licensed airframe and power-plant technician.

The 89th Annual New England Spring Flower Show will be held this coming year at Wonderland Park in Revere.

POPULATION

the 1970 prediction is 4,700.

The report says the chances are the predictions are accurate within 4 per cent.

The report covers a much larger Greater Boston than people used to think about. It takes in most of Eastern Massachusetts westward to a north-and-south line from Duxbury to Mendon. Along Route 20, the western edge is the western edge of Northborough.

The report says, in brief, that the population of Boston, the inner city, is going to shrink a little more, as will that of 11 other inner cities. But the population is going to seek the suburbs, so that for the area there will be an overall increase of 607,000 persons, to a total of 3,738,000.

These people, says the report, will fill up most of the house lots inside Route 128 and will continue to spread outside of Route 128, as they are doing now. They will use up more than 60,000 acres of now empty land.

The report mentions Route 495, the new 81-mile circumferential highway which is to go around Route 128, 17 miles further out from the city, but it says this road, likely to be as dramatic in its effect as 128 has been, will not be finished in time to have much effect by 1970.

The implication of the population report is that these towns will completely lose their once rural characteristics if they haven't already, and will become one wide area of suburban dwellings.

The report says the community will have to start studying what to do about transportation, sewer and water facilities, land for recreation and open space, land for industrial and commercial use and density standards for residential populations.

At present all four towns are strictly zoned. Surveys of a few years ago give Wayland, under the present restrictions, a maximum future population of 17,000 and Weston a maximum of 14,000.

The accompanying map shows "sectors" in the suburban area outside Boston. Sector 3, which includes Lincoln, lies along Route 2, and will have the greatest percentage of growth, 88.7. Sector 4, including Wayland, Weston and Sudbury, will have the greatest absolute gain in population, from 301,600 to 440,500, a percentage of 46.1, up 138,900.

The Census Bureau says the United States population will have increased 95,000,000 by 1980. The people will have to live somewhere, and this looks like one of the places.

Cub Scout Pack 51

WESTON -- Since their first meeting in October at the Unitarian Parish Hall Cub Scout Pack #51 has had a very active season. On a rather hesitant day in October, they held a hike-picnic at the Boy Scout Reservation at Nobscot. Then, a few weeks later, they visited the air-craft carrier Wasp.

Besides the usual attendance and neatness awards that are won at the monthly meetings, several boys have become bob-cats: In Den #1 headed by Mrs. Bob Lane, are Peter Brownell, Alan Curtis, Dexter Lane, Stevie Lord, Tommy Osborne, Chris Swanson and Russ Theall. In Den #2, led by Mrs. Gordon and Mrs. Chibaro are Edward Chibaro, Randy Bauer, Kevin Gordon, James Judge, Gordon Forbes, Jr., Bucky Weaver, and Paul Miller; In Den #3, let by Mrs. Backstrom and Mrs. Lord, are Arthur Rossi and Michael Sallesse.

Pack #51 is being led by a very energetic group of fathers. Cub Master Mr. Milton Theall has as his assistant Mr. Edward Bauer Jr., Mr. Rober Lane and Mr. William Bresnick act as co-chairmen, and Mr. John Lord as treasurer. Mr. James Judge was named as the institutional representative.

Now Bulldozers Are Levelling The Famous Old Mansion Inn Site

WAYLAND -- Photo above illustrates the latest episode in the long story of the Mansion Inn site. Here was the famous Inn, scene of a prohibition-era shooting and many high jinks. Here is where the Inn burned down in a spectacular fire, and here is where, only last June, a wonderful store of Indian relics was found. Now the builders are in process of levelling the land and removing all the big trees which had been growing for generations. Cutting down the embankment has improved the visibility at the corner of West Plain Street and Old Connecticut Path. (McCann Photo)

Fire Consultants Give High Ratings To School Buildings In Wayland

WAYLAND -- "In general, Wayland schools are considered to be relatively safe from a fire safety standpoint," says a report recently given to the Wayland School Committee by W. P. Gleason and W. P. Holbrook, fire protection engineering consultants.

This report, contained in a substantial booklet, was done by the consultants for free, to show what can be done along this line. The study was approved in advance by the School Committee. The consultants picked Wayland because of the town's widely advertised interest in its schools, and because of its typical combination of old and new school buildings. No such study, it is said, has been done in any other town in the Commonwealth.

The study covers every one of the town's six school buildings, under such headings as structural conditions, fire exposures, water supply, fire alarm system, inspections, fire drills, maintenance and others.

The new schools, Claypit Hill, Loker Street and Happy Hollow, are generally rated very good. The older ones, the High School, the High School Annex and the Cochrane School, are fully covered by sprinklers.

In the older schools, the report says, installation of fire retarding corridor doors would help. It advises another exit from the basement of the Annex. It makes various recommendations, such as putting red lights on school fire alarm boxes. But its evaluations range from "good" through "very good" to "excellent".

In their conclusion, the consultants say: "Those who administer the educational program and the town's fire officials . . . are giving full acknowledgment to their concern for the welfare of Wayland's school children at the time of fire."

Massachusetts produces over half of the National cranberry crop.

Unusually Fine

LEG-O

49¢ lb.

Recently we received news that this bargain was possible. But possessing a bit of New England skepticism, we decided to see for ourselves if it was as good as it sounded. We were sold. A tasting party with many uses of Iceland lamb with all the fixings was prepared by our home economist. Present were members of Boards of Directors, General Managers and Meat Managers from many cooperatives in our New England area. All pass on to you their 100% approval of this buy both in taste and consumer value for your family's use.

THERE IS A REAL REASON FOR THIS UNUSUAL FLAVOR. In every case, regardless of the kind of cut, the Icelandic lamb excels in flavor. Ambassador of Iceland to the United States, Thor Thors, has explained that the top flavor is due to the grass in his country which, it is reported, can not be grown anywhere else. It receives the direct rays of the sun from 18 to 24 hours a day and is therefore vitamin-packed which contributes to its distinctive taste.

The finely flavored meat averages 32 pounds per lamb. This is mainly due to the fact that the life-span of the lamb is limited to the intense five month, 24-hour day grass growing season of the near-Arctic summer. These lambs are from cooperatives in that country and fall under rigidly high standards.

This lamb has been chosen for its tenderness, its leanness and its value. Meticulously produced, packed and fast-frozen for import . . . it is a bonus buy for our patrons. Iceland is a tiny country and the supply is limited. If you like fine lamb . . . plan to hurry!

Supplies And Personnel Wanted At Youth Center

WAYLAND -- Mr. Nate Raymond, director of the Junior Town House Youth Center, is issuing an urgent appeal to parents of the Junior and Senior High School students as well as to all interested citizens to come to the aid of the Center with donations of time and material supplies.

Specifically, there is a need for couples who are willing to sign up as chaperones for either the Friday or Saturday evening activities which are held at the Happy Hollow School. Also, all kinds of table games--cribbage, bingo, small pool tables, etc.--are wanted as well as such art supplies as paints, brushes, palettes, clay, and sculpturing tools. 45-rpm records of popular music are also in short supply and donations will be welcomed. Anyone who has something of his time or his possessions to contribute is asked to get in touch with Mr. Raymond at Ol 3-6469.

The Youth Center has had several successful evenings since it went back to its regular schedule of Friday (for Senior High School students) and Saturday (for Junior High students) evenings this fall. A group of Wellesley High School boys who entertained with band music recently scored a sensational hit.

Plans are also underway to replace the regular Center evenings with skating parties on the Millpond when weather permits. Announcement will be made through the High School on the day when a skating party is to be held.

School representatives now serving on the Youth Center Committee are Rodney Cook, Sandy Owens, Stephen Kruse, Vicki Alla, Sally Barrett, Will Benson and Dolores Amadon.

Mr. John Teger, Mrs. Seth Johnson and Mr. Harry Barrett are the Junior Town House representatives.

Teachers At Museum

Among local teachers attending a morning of demonstrations at the Museum of Science recently were Claire Dunphy, Mrs. Harriet Michelson, Miss Jane Wells and John M. Sullivan, all of the Loker School in Wayland; Mrs. Dorothy Mulroy of Weston Junior High and Diantha Sheldon and Mrs. Janet Leony, both of The Country School, Weston. Another was Peter S. Eastman of Weston, who teaches at Rivers Country Day School.

Husband Carries Off The Car Keys, But Human Chain Gets Them Home

WAYLAND -- What looked at first like a desperate situation developed the other morning when a local commuting husband discovered, after walking to the Center railroad station, that he had forgotten to turn his car keys over to his wife.

The train was already tooting down the track and there was no time to go home.

So, the first-known human key chain in local history sprang into being. Another commuting husband was just arriving at the station and the keys were slipped to him with a hurried message. He flagged down his chauffeuring wife before she got away from the station and turned the keys over to her.

She wasn't in any position to deliver the keys at that point, however, as she had to rush back home and pick up her second carload, one of schoolbound children. But luck and the chain held.

A second mother was spotted heading off in the right direction. So, the first mother tossed the keys to one of her children who sprinted across the road to hand them off to the second mother.

The second mother was due home momentarily to get her other children off to school and didn't have time to stop and play good neighbor to any keyless woman.

Just as she neared the keyless home, however, she saw a group of children waiting for the school bus. She stopped, turned the keys over to a long-legged boy, and asked him to race them to the owner. He dashed to the house, delivered the keys, got back in time to catch the bus, and the human key chain was forged in something under 15 minutes.

Incidentally, the woman who got the keys was very grateful for the friendly interest of all the participants although, as she explained later, it hadn't really been necessary. She always keeps a spare set of keys on hand.

Massachusetts rated among the highest in the country for political contributions to both Democratic and Republican parties for the third quarter of 1959.

League Survey Results Are Being Tabulated

WAYLAND-- The six-week long job of surveying undertaken in October by the Wayland League of Women Voters has been completed and the facts and figures are now in the process of being tabulated.

The project, covering the entire town, represents the efforts of 200 leaguers visiting upwards of 2400 homes, and much worn shoe leather, as information was gathered in both the Pre-School Census and the Regional Planning Questionnaires.

Superintendent of Schools Edward J. Anderson reports that some of the facts gathered in the Pre-School Survey have been most surprising, such as the number of private and parochial school students who have returned to the Wayland School System this year. Says he:

"I personally appreciate the League's making the survey very much. It has been a saving of funds to the town and it has enabled us to get the most complete census we've ever had. We expect to release the results when they are available. We think people will want to know about it."

The Regional Planning Questionnaires also met with almost complete cooperation and enthusiasm, according to president Mrs. James Flanagan. Mothers answered questions about their shopping habits while bathing the baby in the kitchen sink, and on at least one occasion lunch was burned while the lady of the house gave the surveyor the full benefit of her views on the lack of transportation in town.

According to L. William Bertelsen, speaking for the Town Planners: "The Board is anxiously awaiting the results of the Survey. These results should give the Board the opportunity to obtain facts and points of view where we have had only speculation heretofore. For instance, does the town want apartment houses, sidewalks, more industry? I feel that this is the most exciting development for us in recent years."

WESTON SING

Mrs. C. Francis Whittemore of 21 Warren Place, Weston, played the trumpet that night. She is now leader of the Bell Ringers of Weston, who will be with the Community Christmas Eve Carol Sing this year.

The sing was sponsored during the 1920s and 1930s by the Scouts of Weston. The Bugle Corps of Scouts played then, trained by Mr. Harold Jacobson of North Avenue.

During World War II there is no record of this event, although there was a large Christmas Party for all Weston children, run by the Community League and the American Legion. In 1947 this "Children's Festival" was omitted and the Community League sponsored a Christmas Eve Carol Sing at the Town House. This they did for three years until the Community Chorus had an informal Christmas Concert and Sing in 1950.

For several years after that Mr. Ralph Woodworth had an outdoor Christmas Eve sing at his house on Church Street. For the past two years there has been no community sing on Christmas Eve, but this year, Dec. 24, from 7 to 7:20, the Women's Community League of Weston will sponsor a sing in front of the Jones House.

The bell ringers who will play at the Christmas Eve sing are known as the Bell Haven Bell Ringers. This group was formed five years ago through the interest of Mr. and Mrs. C. Francis Whittemore who are bell hobbyists. They are members of the American Bell Association.

The 10 members of the Bell Haven Bell Ringers play on 26 Whitechapel English handbells, cast in England at the Whitechapel Bell Foundry in London. There is a two-year waiting list for additional bells. The Whittemores have ordered 23 more bells, making a total of 49. They expect delivery of these any time.

A new group of seven bell ringers in Weston will be able to help with the additional bells when they arrive. There are approximately 180 groups of bell ringers registered in the United States. The Bell Haven Bell Ringers are members of the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers and also of the New England Guild of Handbell Ringers.

Their director is Mr. Robert Stuart, a teacher of science and mathematics in the Weston High School, who will not be with the group on Christmas Eve as he will be at his home in Jamestown, New York. They have given many concerts throughout the Boston area.

The seven members of the group who will play four numbers in front of the Jones House on Christmas Eve are Mr. and Mrs. C. Francis Whittemore, Mrs. Joel B. Covington, Mrs. Arthur Brown, Mrs. Gordon Littlehale, Mrs. Norman Stockellburg and Mrs. Winfred Martin.

Members of the Weston High School band who will play brass instruments at the Community Sing are Paula Toner, Deborah Viles, Steven Cribben, Eric Hoagland, Peter Manson and Thomas White. It is through the cooperation and help of Mr. Robert Corley, Music Superintendent of the Weston Schools, that these players in brass are joining the carol singers.

Seven to 7:20 in front of the Jones House, Christmas Eve, Weston and Wayland residents, come and bring your flashlights for a real old-fashioned sing.

Many of the maples have dense crowns and surface-feeding roots.

FLOOD PLAIN

great deal more land in the flood plain area in the Sudbury River Valley might be opened for filling and building.

Mr. Roger Ela, Chairman of the Zoning Board, presided and Mr. George G. Bogren and Mr. Andrew R. Cay, Zoning Board members, sat on the hearing. Mr. Ela explained that this was the first hearing to be held under the recent flood plain zoning by-law and read the section of the by-law under which testimony would be heard.

This was the provision that "The Board shall issue a permit - if it finds that the use of the premises will not endanger the health or safety of the occupants thereof or of other land in the Flood Plain District."

The "Flood Plain District" was defined in an article, also passed at the 1958 town meeting, as being "all, or part of the land, in the Sudbury River Valley having an elevation above mean sea level of less than 124 feet." The land in question at the hearing was that of two lots, the first one having an elevation of 120 - 120 1/2 feet, falling off to 115 feet in the swamp area.

Mr. Richard Thompson, associate of the Brooks Engineering firm, speaking for the Associates, described the operation by which the land would be filled in so that the top of the fill would be from four to nine feet above the present levels and 1 1/2 feet above that of the proposed level of Pelham Island Road. The Brooks firm had also plotted a septic tank system and drainage plans which were previously approved by the Board of Health.

Chairman of the Board of Health, Dr. John G. Freymann, reported on the questions which the Board had raised over the course of several meetings with the Associates concerning what effect there might be on the rest of the area due to the filling in of part of the present flood plain.

The Associates agreed, at the hearing, that if the Board finds that filling in part of the area might be deemed hazardous, they could provide other acceptable places along the edge in which to collect the displaced water. Dr. Freymann also announced that the Board of Health had requested that a survey be made by the State Water Resources Commission and that the survey is now being conducted.

Following the presentation of testimony in favor of granting the permit, Mr. Ela asked for statements in objection.

A number of citizens expressed their concern for the future operation of the by-law if a precedent were established at this time to permit filling in of even a small area of the flood plain zone.

Mrs. Herbert Lipton of Maiden Lane was one of the objectors, pleading that the town meeting had voted "not even in a time of crisis" for Flood Plain Zoning with the understanding that building in the flood plain areas would no longer be possible.

Mr. Ela explained: "You may have thought it would cut down building in the flood plain areas but the Zoning Board is obliged only to go by the by-laws. And the applicant doesn't even have to ask for a departure - or variance from the by-laws. He has merely to show that he complies with them."

Mr. L. William Bertelsen, chairman of the Planning Board, spoke as a private citizen in urging that the permit be denied. He cited the recognition that Wayland has received as being one of the first towns in Massachusetts to adopt a flood plain zoning by-law and said that, since then, Concord has followed suit, Sudbury is in the process of study, and all the neighboring towns in the Sudbury Valley are in the process of setting up procedures to protect their marshlands.

"If filling of these flood lands is permitted," he said, "flood plain zoning has failed."

Mrs. William A. Tolman, chairman of the Wayland Garden Club's Sanctuary Project, expressed the Club's concern that any change in the flood plain area would seriously jeopardize the plans which the Garden Club has for making a conservation-garden spot out of the bog area a few hundred feet closer to the Center.

Several Pelham Island Road residents, already worried about the flooding of the Road, had questions about what would happen when water which ordinarily seeped into the flood plain area was blocked from its natural access.

Questions as to the definition of "the health or safety of occupants" arose and Mr. Allan Perkins of Pelham Island Road got one of the few laughs of the evening when he stated that any flooding of the road area "is detrimental to my health because I'm getting kind of sick from rowing."

Later in the course of the hearing Mr. Ela brought up a sub-section of the by-law which, he said, could be construed as imposing additional criteria for the Zoning Board in making its decision. This was the section which reads "that other land in the Flood Plain District is protected against detrimental, or offensive uses of the premises."

Mrs. Frederick Perry, speaking for the Garden Club, asked for a definition of "offensive," stating that the Club had been prepared to screen adjacent areas with plantings of willows but that it would not be able to screen the new additions farther along the marsh.

Bulk of the objections during the evening came in the form of "Where will it stop?" "If a permit is granted to fill in two lots, will a precedent be established which will make it impossible to forbid filling in 50 lots?"

Mr. Egbert Hans, a member of the State Department of Natural Resources and a consultant for the Wayland Garden Club in its Sanctuary project, was the only outside speaker. He made a plea for conserving the flood plain areas to maintain "the balance of nature" and to preserve the natural resources of the area.

The Zoning Board has the case under advisement.

The roots of evergreen trees and shrubs should be protected by a mulch of needles.

"Light Up The Sky"

WESTON -- The Friendly Society's production of Moss Hart's "Light Up The Sky," presented last Friday and Saturday evenings, received the applause of the theatre goers and might also have been favored, with a plaudit or two from Mr. Hart. Under the expert directorship of Courtlandt Gilmour, the actors brought off an unusually finished performance. Edith Noel did not "play" Stella, she "was" Stella, from first to end.

Professional in delivery, her lines rolled off with sidesplitting effect. And one could not keep eyes off Maryann deGuzman, in the role of Irene. Her personality lit up the stage and radiated into the back row. Dottie Donovan, as the attractive, quipitic, down-to-earth wife of Sidney Black, performed to a "T". Turning to the male side, Doug Hammond once more displayed his talent and showmanship as the cigar-chewing Sidney, carrying off long and difficult speeches with precision and feeling. John Wells, who played the young author, cleverly brought home the play's meaning as, first idealistic, then disillusioned, he came finally to an understanding of the workaday world.

The supporting cast of Jim Wilcock, John Birch, Ralph Child, Brad Bond and Ann Wells did a topnotch job of rounding out the show, with Bill Williams displaying versatility as the parrot, Irish plainclothes man and inebriate.

Weston Musicians

WESTON -- Eighteen Weston High School musicians participated in the second annual Northeastern District Music Concert held at Lynn English High School on Friday and Saturday, Dec. 11 and 12.

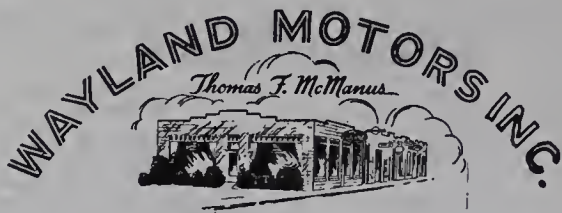

The district band, chorus and orchestra, made up of outstanding music students from more than 40 high schools, rehearsed Friday and Saturday and presented a combined concert Saturday evening.

Weston band students participating in the music festival included Karen Beamish, Mariana DeLeeuw, Sandra Hamill, Erik Hoagland and Paula Toner. Singing in the combined chorus were Karen Anderson, Joan Bergstedt, Stephanie Gibbons and John Greenlie.

The following orchestra members were also represented at the district conference: Louise Cutter, Richard Cutter, David Greenlie, Johanna Hoagland, Priscilla McFarlin, Rachel Moodie, Richard Wigginton, Edity Wypler and Jane Wypler.

Cardinal, Blue Heron And Weasel Are Seen

WESTON -- A male Cardinal was seen on Nov. 25 by Mike Vaughan,

a guest of the Lawsons on Loring Road, and again on Dec. 5 by H. A. Mosher, Summer Street. Mr. Mosher said it was eating black alder berries.

An Iceland gull was reported at the duck feeding area (Koe); two flocks of 20 Evening Grosbeaks (Robbins and Koe); two Woodcock flushed by a dog (Davidson); Carolina Wrens still present (Lawson & Hills); Red-breasted Nuthatch (P. T. Gates); Field, White-throated, Fox and Swamp Sparrows (Stackpole, Wayland); female Red-wing (Fales); and two cowbirds (Davidson).

Richard Stackpole reports an unusual variety of late ducks in Wayland: Baldpate, Pintail, Green wing teal, Ring-necks, Wood Duck (another still at the Duck Feeding Area). Bufflehead, Hooded Merganser, and Coot. He also has seen (all in Wayland) a Great Blue Heron, Loggerhead, Shrike, Red-tailed Hawk, 10 - 15 Meadowlarks, and 2 Pine Grosbeaks.

Dr. Elliston, Weston, saw a weasel in winter (ermine) coat several weeks ago.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST SCIENTIST WESTON

439 Boston Post Road

11:45 a.m. Sunday Service, Sunday School at the same hour. A nursery is available. 8 p.m. Wednesday evening meeting.

Reading Room, Monday, Wednesday, Friday 12 - 3 p.m.

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved By Atomic Force?" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon at Christian Science Services Sunday.

Matthew's account of Christ Jesus' stilling of the tempest (8:23-26) will be included in the Scriptural readings.

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read the following (134:26): "Jesus said: 'I knew that Thou bearest me always;' and he raised Lazarus from the dead, stilled the tempest, healed the sick, walked on the water. There is divine authority for believing in the superiority of spiritual power over material resistance."

The Golden Text is from Isaiah (45:5, 12): "I am the Lord, and there is none else, there is no God beside me: . . . I have made the earth, and created man upon it; I, even my hands, have stretched out the heavens, and all their host have I commanded."

allow more business establishments and multi-unit dwellings. Perhaps some apartment dwellings for older persons should be provided for. What happens outside the town affects the town as much as anything inside. The East Natick Industrial Park, for example, has a profound effect on Wayland's traffic. Towns in this region should get together and decide where they want roads and by-passes to go. If they don't, the State will decide where to put them. "We're spending more time and money on outer space than we are on this problem." Planning allows towns to keep their traditional character. People in the suburbs can't put up Chinese walls to keep people out. There will be demand for recreational facilities out here. But this predicted growth is outside the area of the Metropolitan District Commission. No town can afford to provide and maintain facilities for the large numbers to be expected. Boston's rate of growth, high as it is, doesn't compare with that in many other big city districts. Land values will tend to rise with the population increase, as long as the town characteristics remain favorable. (The place to buy land is 20 to 30 miles to the west of us.) Towns are sovereign in the zoning field. No outside body can compel a change in the size of house lots. But it wouldn't do a bit of harm for adjacent towns with similar problems to get together and try to figure out how to handle this coming upsurge of population. What happens in one town is going to affect the others, anyway. See Raytheon traffic, in Wayland, Sudbury and Weston.

Hockey Juniors Win
WAYLAND -- The Wayland Hockey Club Juniors opened their season at Worcester Arena, Sunday, Dec. 13, with an exciting 4 to 1 victory over the Natick Comets. Pacing the scoring for Wayland were Captain Mac Perkins with two goals and one assist, and Will

Brown who had three assists. Other Wayland scorers were Bob Emery, one goal and an assist, Dave Sharnock, a goal and an assist, Barry Nagle and Ted Langley, one assist each. Dave Charnock was cited by the coaches for his fine defensive play and was appointed captain for Saturday's game with Framingham.

Fleming - Lundy

WAYLAND -- Miss Mary Ann Lundy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold John Lundy of 9 Westway Road, was married on Nov. 28 at the Martha Mary Chapel, South Sudbury, to Mr. Joseph Spencer Fleming, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Alexander Fleming of Shrewsbury. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Stanley Rod-

Mrs. Joseph S. Fleming (McGovern Photo) gers, rector of St. Elizabeth's Church in Sudbury. White chrysanthemums and evergreens formed the wedding background in the church. The bride, gowned in white chiffon velvet, was given in marriage by her father. Miss Elizabeth Lundy, her sister, was maid of honor. David Wright of Shrewsbury was best man and ushers were Paul Belton of Shrewsbury and Andrew Margo of Framingham. Sally Lee Lundy, younger sister of the bride, was in charge of the guest book. A reception was held at Stow Acres Country Club. Mrs. Fleming attended Wayland High School, University of New Hampshire and Harvard Graduate School. Mr. Fleming attended Shrewsbury High School, Cushing Academy and the University of New Hampshire, and served three years in the United States Marine Corps. Mr. and Mrs. Fleming are making their home at 101 Grafton Street, Shrewsbury.

Swimming Pool — New Weston High School

It has come to the attention of the undersigned from several sources that there are many residents who would like to have the swimming pool built along with the High School. It is urgently requested that all voters who are in favor immediately drop me a postal card so that we can legally have enough names to affix to a petition for a special town meeting to vote for the pool. It will be necessary to have the response of every voter who believes that the pool is a better expenditure than providing a new football field and bleachers which would be used only four times a year.

St. Peter's Consecrated With Ancient Ceremony

In an ancient ceremony, seldom performed because new churches aren't built every day, Rt. Rev. Anson Phelps Stokes knocked thrice at the door of St. Peter's Church with the foot of his Pastoral Staff, before being admitted to consecrate the building. New church, which cost more than $500,000, is all paid for. The ceremony of the knocking is known as "The opening of the door." Wardens and vestrymen stand inside to greet the bishop.

WESTON -- Consecration ceremonies for the new St. Peter's Episcopal Church, located at 320 Boston Post Road, were held there on Dec. 14. The Rt. Rev. Anson Phelps Stokes Jr. Bishop of Massachusetts, was consecrator and preacher for the occasion. Episcopal clergy and laity from the parish and diocese participated in the service, including the rector, the Rev. Philip S. Krug and the rector emeritus, the Rev. E. F. Chauncey, D.D.

Begun in 1957, the new church and parish house are the second such buildings for the parish, organized 46 years ago. Of Georgian colonial design, St. Peter's is adjoined by a side chapel containing

Red-Breasted Nuthatch

WESTON -- Purple finches and goldfinches are beginning to appear at feeders in good numbers, and the first pine grosbeaks of the year were seen on Highland Street, Weston (Faulkner). A wintering white-throated sparrow (Lawson) and a song sparrow (Smith) were reported. Miss Anna Hall saw a flock of snow buntings in her yard. These birds are not often seen in Weston. Mrs. Arthur Fales has had a red-breasted nuthatch at her feeder, and apparently there are 4 Carolina wrens in Weston (Lawson and Hills). Mr. Stackpole reports a female green-winged teal and a female wood duck in Wayland; also a pileated woodpecker seen recently.

Deadline For Weston Town Meeting Articles

WESTON -- The Board of Selectmen of Town of Weston has voted that all requests or petitions for articles to be included in the warrant for the annual town meeting to be held in March, 1960, must be submitted to the office of selectmen on or before Feb. 15, 1960. The Executive Secretary of the Board of Selectmen will be glad to provide further information to any interested citizens or town officials concerning this matter.

Cut on "Windfall"

Latest figures on the 1958 distribution to cities and towns in the Commonwealth has been announced by State Tax Commissioner Robert T. Capeless. According to Mr. Capeless, disbursements will total $20,500,000 over the estimated $102 million for the year. Wayland's share of the "windfall" will be $16,380; Weston's $32,760.

8,000, Estimated, Attended Christmas Sunday Services

"Christmas Sunday" on Dec. 20 lived up to its tradition as being second only to Easter Sunday for unusually heavy church attendance in Wayland and Weston. Somewhere around 8000 local men, women, and children attended morning services in the 12 churches in the area.

Special Christmas music, both vocal and instrumental, was a feature at most of the Protestant Churches with some of them eliminating Sunday School classes for the morning in favor of a Family Sunday. The Catholic Churches which, traditionally, reserve their Christmas programs for Christmas Day itself, either at midnight or regular masses, had their usual good attendance on Dec. 20.

Afternoon or early evening programs of carol-singing, pageants, and candlelighting ceremonies were also scheduled by many of the churches for later in the day. In the Catholic Churches, such programs will be held in connection with Christmas Day activities, such as the carol-sing to take place at St. Ann's Church in Wayland both just before and directly after the Midnight Mass.

The newly-organized Congregational Church of Weston which presently meets in the Country School, reports a constantly growing attendance. There were 134 persons present at the family service on Christmas Sunday morning, only its fourth Sunday of worship.

Estimated attendance at the morning services in churches which were holding Christmas Sunday programs is as follows:

The Cochituate Community Methodist Church 462
The Congregational Church of Weston 134
The First Baptist Church of Weston (adults) 175

Traffic Tieup

WAYLAND -- One of the town's biggest traffic tieups occurred on Dec. 14, when the State Road was blocked all day at the Center intersection by construction for the gas pipe line.

All traffic, including big trucks, was detoured in both directions by way of Cochituate Road and Pelham Island Road. At the evening rush hour, traffic on the State Road was backed up all the way to Weston, and it was the same in the Sudbury direction. One motorist reported taking 55 minutes to get from Sudbury to Wayland Center, and many said they were delayed 45 minutes coming out from Boston.

28th Great Grandchild For Mrs. A.J. Colpitts

WESTON -- A fourth child, third daughter, Caren Linda Hanney, was born to Mr. and Mrs. James W. Hanney Jr., of 395 North Avenue on Nov. 27 at Richardson House, Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Hanney of St. Petersburg, Florida, formerly of Weston, are grandparents. Mrs. Abel J. Colpitts, also formerly of Weston and now of St. Petersburg, is the great-grandmother. The new baby is her 28th great-grandchild.

WESTON -- Individually designed Christmas cards have been the pre-holiday project in the 7th and 8th grade art classes of Miss Alice Olliff, Weston teacher.

The 8th graders prepared their seasonal greetings by various methods of reproduction. Some students selected to work on a block print, while other chose a silk screen or stenciling process.

Collage Christmas cards were completed in all 7th grade classes. Personalized greetings prepared in this manner featured the artistic use of numerous materials.

Power Break Inspires Local Women Shoppers

WAYLAND A wire break, power shortage, and a single bottle of sherry were incentives which gave a number of Wayland and Weston women a new spirit for Christmas shopping on Dec. 16. The fortunate women were those in various stages of pre-holiday coiffuring at Emil's new salon in the Village Shopper.

Just before noon, an Ashland truck which was backing up to the rear of a store in the shopping center bumped into a utility pole and caused the power shortage. The heat went off and so did the dryers and various other pieces of equipment needed to do the job on the ladies' tresses. The Edison men were called and repairs were started but the women sat huddled in coats and frustration until one of them suggested that a noon-day sherry break might alleviate the cold, damp atmosphere.

Emil, the proprietor, hustled off immediately and brought back a bottle of sherry and a stack of

Pheasant Hits Window

COCHITUATE -- A fat cock pheasant flew against a window in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis of Peck Avenue at 11:15 a.m. on Dec. 21, not breaking the window but breaking his own wing. Officer John Phyllis took him away.

Wayland Raised $7131

To the Editor:

The recently completed United Fund campaign in Wayland, which was conducted under the chairmanship of Mr. John B. Wilson of Old Connecticut Path, succeeded in raising $7131 or 95% of its goal.

All solicitors and other campaign workers who contributed to this satisfactory conclusion of the United Fund drive are to be sincerely thanked for their tireless efforts. It is requested that anyone who still wishes to make a contribution to the United Fund or campaign workers who have collected monies that they have not turned in do so by sending contributions directly to the United Fund, 14

MERRY CHRISTMAS

Got A Big Bird

(Below is a thank-you note sent to Charles H. Wheelock of 230 Old Connecticut Path, Wayland. The land extends towards the Sudbury River, not far from the site of the new Wayland High School.)

Dear Charlie;

Just a few lines to thank you for extending my boy and I permission to hunt pheasants on your land again this past season. We saw lots of them and had a lot of enjoyment doing so, as we both love to hunt, even though we often get nothing but blisters for our efforts.

I got just one bird however, but he was the biggest I shot anywhere this year, and he'll make a good Sunday dinner sometime this winter.

Thanks again for your permission to hunt - good hunting spots are few and far between today, and it's a privilege to be allowed to hunt on such land.

Sincerely yours,
Emmett MacLeod
Weston.

Fable Of The Perpetual Care Girdle Preserver

And How A Husband Beat
It To A Jelly And Found
Christmas Happiness
At The Town Dump

Once upon a time there was a local television watcher who saw so many times that commercial about the faded, stretched and otherwise dilapidated girdle that he became pretty sick of the subject, but his attention was arrested around the early part of December by an advertisement for a gadget guaranteed to maintain the proper tension on a girdle overnight.

He would have bought the device right away, because he was rich, like all local residents, but it wasn't so easy. This contraption came in parts. The purchaser was supposed to put it together himself.

Anyway, the fellow fell for it. He sent $11.98 plus postage and in due course a big cardboard carton arrived at the house.

It may be remarked in passing that the cardboard carton is the curse of modern civilization. What to do with it, except take it to the dump? And what about the plight of the husband of the best looking gray haired doll in town, who sent her to the dump with a load of cartons and she came back with a bowling ball but no pins?

So in this box were a few springs, some nuts and bolts, a form shaped something like a hip, a tin equalizer, a sprocket, three gaskets, a condenser, a transistor, a Boston & Worcester bus timetable a miniature Y gun, a staybolt, a let go bolt, a recipe for instant coffee and a copy of the 1906 Social Register, plus directions.

Now this guy was actuated purely by affection for his spouse, who was nice enough in her way, even if her way was a bit affected, whose real trouble was tired girdle. It seemed that after a girdle hung on her all day, it was too exhausted at 11 p.m. to do anything except collapse, which, as all us television buffs know, is fatal. His thought, and that of the manufacturers of the Perpetual Care Girdle Preserver, was that a sort of girdle shoe tree would save all, just as paint protects the walls and the face.

When the carton containing the parts arrived he took it down to the cellar and over to the corner where he kept his empty bottles, the most secluded corner, you may be sure, and he went to work to assemble the wonderful device.

Here he began to have trouble almost at once, as anyone can imagine who ever had to put parts together.

The people who put these things in parts plan always to leave out at least one nut. Twenty bolts, 19 nuts. That's the rule. And when the directions say, "Put tab A through slot K", slot K is the one they forgot to cut. And when they can't louse it up any other way, right in the middle of the bad English of the directions they drop the expression

"offconnet", which doesn't mean anything and they know it but they're sadistic rascals and they like to think of human suffering.

So our hero, for such he was, and you'd be surprised to know his name, tried to put the sprocket afergant the upperswack and the gasketoff versus the corset string, and he got nowhere.

He cut a knuckle when the wrench slipped and he roared like a madman when Spring X4 snapped away into the darkness and finally he took the sledgehammer and just beat the Perpetual Care Girdle Preserver, or the alleged parts thereof, into a crummy mass.

And on the morning of the holiday he greeted his spouse, not with a ghastly mechanical present, but with a big, smiling, heartfelt "Merry Christmas", which by coincidence is what the management of this little paper also wishes everybody. -- D.B.W.

P.S. Touched by this event, the heroine of this story stopped eating like a hog, didn't need a girdle any more and sent it to the dump, a place where the Christmas spirit also dwells. It must, because that's where all the people are.

Norman Taylor Talks To Kiwanis Club About The Town's Government

WAYLAND -- Town Government was the subject of Norman E. Taylor, Executive Secretary for the Town of Wayland, at Red Coach Grill meeting of Wayland's Kiwanis Club, Dec. 22.

The school building committees' activities came up for considerable discussion in the question period following Mr. Taylor's talk, as well as the need for a purchasing agent on the Town payroll.

The meeting was arranged by the club's Committee of Public and Business Affairs.

EXCEPTIONAL NEW YEAR OPPORTUNITY

A branch office in the Weston-Wayland area will be opened by one of the outstanding professional sales agencies in the country. Representatives of this agency averaged $16,045 last year. Their median income was $10,153. Four out of 5 men selected and trained by this firm find permanent careers in life insurance.

We now have the opportunity to add two men to our sales staff. They will be thoroughly trained in family security planning, estate analysis, business insurance, and will be paid liberally during this period of training and sales supervision.

Probably the men we employ will have been to college and have some business or professional experience. Previous sales experience is helpful but not essential. Our selection process will indicate aptitude. We will be glad to discuss this opportunity with you. Call Mr. Cave or Mr. Downing. Liberty 2-0553

Candlelight Service

WAYLAND -- Christmas Eve will be observed at the First Parish Church with a vesper service at 5:30 p.m. on Dec. 24. The half-hour service will include readings, organ music and traditional carols. The church will be lighted entirely with candles.

Talk On Antiques At
Wayland Woman's Club

WAYLAND -- "Antiques On A Shoestring" is the subject chosen by Helene Wiedemann, guest speaker for the Jan. 5 meeting of the Wayland Woman's Club in Fellowship Hall of the Trinitarian Congregational Church at 2:30 p.m.

An associate of the Connick Studios in Boston, famed for their work with stained glass, Miss Wiedemann will discuss a hobby that is now big business with thousands of dollars spent annually by collectors in search for the unusual. An ardent collector herself, Miss Wiedemann firmly believes that collecting antiques is no longer a hit or miss affair.

She will cover such important points as how to recognize what is not an antique, the benefits of horse trading, how to spot a bargain and suggest where best to shop for antiques. Of special interest to the successful collector will be hints on how to refinish antiques and how to make the most of them in decorating a house.

The tea preceding the business meeting is under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. Frank A. Smith and Mrs. Warren Bolton. Their committee consists of Mrs. Frederick Jenks, Mrs. Prentiss Emerson, Mrs. Granville Fuller, Mrs. Lester T. Johnsen, Mrs. James P. Burke, Mrs. Andrew Cay, Mrs. Charles R. Cole, Mrs. Frank I. Cooper, Mrs. Roger Disken, Mrs. A. R. Gierasch, Mrs. Dan Haywood, Mrs. Augustus Masiello, Mrs. Robert B. Parker Jr., Mrs. Wylie C. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Thomas F.

Walter B. Parker Will Speak On Conservation

WAYLAND -- Mr. Walter B. Parker Jr. of Old Connecticut Path, who has long been inter-ested in conservation, will tell the Kiwanis Club about his recent experiences in purchasing land and planting trees on it, at the Club's meeting at Red Coach Grill on Dec. 29. In the past two years he has set out 11,000 seedlings.

The program will be presented by Program Chairman "Larry" Powell and Agriculture and Con-servation Chairman Fern Taylor.

Mr. Parker, a chemical engi-neer, is director of research for the speciality division of Dewey & Almy.

About Photographs

Those who send in photographs to the Crier would ease things all around if they would remember to put identification on the back of each print. The persons sending the pictures know who's in them, but usually the editor doesn't.

In the city newspaper office, it is the unvarying practice to write the who, when, what and where on the back of every photograph.

Radio Station Will Have No Commercials On Christmas Day

To mark Christmas Day, WCRB-AM and FM, in conjunction with the Boston Globe, will present 19 hours of music with no commercials at all, starting at 6 a.m. Dec. 25 and running until 1 a.m., Dec. 26.

The newspaper has underwritten the costs of the entire day's operation and WCRB sponsors have cooperated. For the first time in Boston, not a single commercial message will be heard all day.

The program will feature an hour and a half of "Christmas Music Around the World" at 8:05 a.m.; Victor Herbert's "Babes in Toyland" at 9:30 a.m.; Handel's "Messiah" sung by Boston's Handel & Haydn Society, at 3 p.m., in full stereo sound; Tchaikovsky's "The Nutcracker" ballet complete in stereo sound at 6:30 p.m.; and Berlioz' "L'Enfance du Christ" performed by the Boston Symphony, Charles Munch conducting, at 8:30 p.m.

Alumni Basketball Game

WESTON -- An alumni basketball game is scheduled for the Weston High School Gym on Wednesday, Dec. 30, at 7 p.m. The senior class will sponsor an informal reception for all Weston alumni immediately following the game.

Bird Biology Course

LINCOLN -- The Winter Bird Biology Course at the Hatheway School, the conservation school of the Massachusetts Audubon Society in South Lincoln, will be held on Thursday evenings, instead of the Wednesday evenings previously announced.

Two field trips and eight meetings are included in the course, which is an extension of last year's studies. Discussion will include species comparisons.

Classes begin on Thursday evening, Jan. 7, at 8 p.m. and it is suggested that an early registration is advisable.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

New Year's Eve Party

WESTON -- The Senior MYF of the Weston Methodist Church is arranging a big New Year's Eve party for the entire church, starting at 9 p.m., in the parish house. After some barber shop singing there will be dancing until 11:15 p.m., when there will be a watch-night service in the church sanctuary.

After midnight the party will be resumed and there will be a buffet supper, after which dancing will continue until early morning.

Tickets are $4.40 per couple. Reservations must be made. Those interested may call Bill Parlee, TW 4-5741, or Malcolm Currier, TW 4-3706.

Green Thumbers Hear About Wreaths, Bulbs

WAYLAND -- Thirty-five members and guests attended the Dec. 7 open meeting of the Green Thumb Garden Club held at Arrowhead Garden on the Boston Post Road. The Arrowhead Garden personnel demonstrated a variety of wreaths and the ways in which they might be used for outdoor and indoor home decoration and as table arrangements. Mrs. Donald McIntire and Mrs. George Dixon, both of Oxbow Road, were co-hostesses.

Mrs. Elliot Swanson of Red Barn Road and Mrs. Priscilla White of South Acton were winners of the two wreaths which had been made by Green Thumb Club members.

The next regular meeting of the Club will be held on Jan. 11 at 8:15 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Roger Disken of Sherman Bridge Road. Mrs. William Young, also of Sherman Bridge Road, will be co-hostess. Feature of the evening will be a film-showing by P. deJager and Sons of Hamilton, importers and distributors of bulbs, showing the techniques of raising bulbs

Mrs. Grant Honored For Service To Wellesley

WESTON -- Mrs. Andrew U. Grant of 135 Old Colony Road was a guest of honor at a festive anniversary dinner held Monday evening, Dec. 14, for employees of Wellesley College observing various five-year milestones during 1959.

Mrs. Grant, who is an assistant to the Director of Admission at the College, has been a member of the administrative staff at Wellesley for 20 years.

She received a check "in recognition of the years of loyal contribution which she has given to the advancement of the College." Awards were made by Miss Margaret Clapp, President of Wellesley College, who was hostess at the Anniversary Dinner.

New Mailing System Is Announced By Weston Board Of Selectmen

WESTON -- The Board of Selectmen of the Town of Weston wishes to announce the establishment of a new policy with respect to the use of Town equipment for the addressing of mail to residents of the Town. Effective after Jan. 1, 1960, the Town of Weston will not generally accept work of addressing mail from any person or organization other than official committees, boards or departments of the Town government.

For a number of years the facilities of the Town for addressing mail to its list of residents have been made available to residents and organizations of the Town for non-commercial purposes at a fee which hardly covered the labor costs.

Until 1959 no alternative mailing facilities were conveniently available to such persons and groups. During this year Mr. Allen Sawyer, proprietor of Kien Chung Tea House in Weston, has established an equivalent mailing list with equipment for addressing mail to residents of the Town.

The requests to the Town Hall for addressing services have grown to substantial numbers and the list of residents has increased by 50% since the Town first undertook to render such service. There have been occasions when meeting these requests for service has placed a real burden on the clerical forces of the Town to the detriment of more essential work. For this reason and because it seems desirable for the Town not to compete with private enterprise the Selectmen have adopted the new policy.

To ensure that all individuals and organizations are able to obtain the mailing service they require the Town will continue to do such work as the private firm is unable to perform, but the Town will charge on the basis of $6.50 per thousand names rather than the flat rate of $5.00 per job. This new rate is the same which will be charged by the private firm; it has been established only for non-profit, non-commercial purposes and is substantially below what it would be necessary for the firm to charge for the same services for commercial purposes.

The 1960 Old Farmer's Almanac has a new feature - a Bird Migration Table (Page 80) - which the publisher asked the Mass. Audubon Society to prepare. The work was done by Charlotte Smith of Weston

New Wayland High School With Dome Gets Play In Magazine

WAYLAND -- Eleven members of the Student Council and the four class presidents of the senior High School were taken for a trip around the new High School building by principal William M. Griffin recently, and the senior high school teachers are going to make the tour some day soon.

Many of the brick walls are up and the shape of the gymnasium dome is apparent.

This is the school which, News-week Magazine reports in its Dec. 14 issue, is "an academic vision". Harold Gores, president of Educational Facilities Laboratories, a Ford Foundation organization, is quoted as saying, "This is a picture of the high school of the future."

Says the magazine: "Wayland High's new $2.4 million plant which goes into operation next fall (is) one of hundreds of unconventional schools that will revolutionize learning at almost every level in the Sixties." (The 1960s, they mean.)

Wayland schools, recently, have had almost as much publicity as cranberries.

Steve Bankuti Opens An Automobile Body Shop

WAYLAND -- Steve Bankuti, Hungarian refugee who came to Wayland in January, 1956, after the uprising, has just opened an automobile body repair shop of his own off Route 20. He is married and has a 6-months-old daughter.

With him when he came here was Ted Kovacs, who is now working successfully as an automobile mechanic, living in Framingham.

When they first came neither could speak English. For many weeks they lived in the First Parish Church parish house, and they had help from many local persons.

sion as to the cause of the fire in the home of C. Clifton Owens on Plain Road on Nov. 23, says Fire Chief Francis J. Hartin, and it is being carried as a case of fire of undetermined origin.

The only theory they have is that the smoke pipe was too close to the woodwork, only three inches, where the present building code says it should be 12 inches.

ing furnishings from the old church. Bishop Stokes' visit for consecration, made possible by a church free of debt, was exactly a year and a day from the dedication service.

More than 1800 men, women and children from Weston and Wayland are on the parish roll, with 600 children in the church school.

Others who participated in the consecration were Howard Gambrill Jr., senior warden; David H. Bradley, junior warden, and Harold G. Travis, chairman of the building fund committee. Other vestrymen present were Alexander Day Mackintosh, Arthur S. Spangler, Leopold Gruener, Thomas M. Osborne, Caleb Roehrig, John T. Bennett Jr., Evan Calkins, James Otis Post Jr., Samuel R. paper cups. The women, by now resigned to a postponement of their day's activities, sipped the sherry and began to chat with their neighbors under the blissfully noiseless dryers. Newcomers, arriving for an appointment, were handed a paper cup and an apology that their hairdos would be a bit delayed.

After an hour or so, the repairs were made. The machines began to buzz again and everything was once more in order. But the women were happier than they had ever been after getting a mere shampoo.

As one Weston mother put it, "I haven't been able to get into the Christmas spirit because everything has been so rushed. Now I feel completely relaxed because I've been forced to sit for an hour without getting a guilt complex."

Garden Club Awards
Big Steak To A Husband

WESTON -- At the Country Garden Club's merry Christmas meeting, held at the home of Mrs. Howard R. Crawford on Dec. 9, several members created beautiful and original Christmas door decorations for the announced contest. Judged by popular vote, Mrs. Charles B. Wheeler was the winner for her unique golden Christmas tree design, decorated with gold and white fruit and leaves and green velvet ribbon.

For her prize Mrs. Wheeler received a lovely golden lemon tree arrangement (and a man sized steak was sent to Mr. Wheeler for his probable help and patience!) Mrs. John M. Cole had decorated a mantel for a children's Christmas with a beautiful Christmas Tree Cake, dolls, greens, and Christmas stockings, and a suspended cleverly decorated Christmas cookie above the fireplace.

Mrs. Eben Wallace and Mrs. B. Howard Spicker were in charge of staging all of the decorations.

WAYLAND -- A holiday exhibition of painting, pottery and weaving opened on the 8th floor of the Boston YWCA on Dec. 13, in conjunction with the annual Christmas Festival. Among those whose work is included is Mrs. Elizabeth Belcher of 125 Glezen Lane.

Girl Scout Program

WESTON -- The program of the Weston Girl Scouts has featured music and service during the last few weeks. Troop 11, which operates with the help of Mrs. John Chisholm and Mrs. Rudolph Helgeson, met recently with Mrs. Mead Hartwell who explained to them some of the processes and activities of the Weston Council.

The Weston Girl Scout Council in general provides the backbone and general guidance for the activities of each particular troop in interpreting to them the Scouting Program. This particular troop is also engaged in earning the curved Bar pin which stands for a number of hours of significant work for the community. Each of the girls when she has finished will have given 30 hours of volunteer work to the Waltham Hospital.

Troop 53, with leader Mrs. Theodore Jones, has made favors for patients at the Waltham City Home and has also filled and distributed baskets of gifts for needy families. They visited the Home on Dec. 21 for a program of carols, accompanied by their own orchestra and assisted by Mrs. Louis Moller.

Gas Explosion Blew
A Chimney To Pieces

WAYLAND -- A mishap involving gas caused the destruction of the chimney of the Thermo Hydrides Company building on the State Road, opposite the Waters Manufacturing Company at the Sudbury line, at 9:30 in the morning of Dec. 17. Damage was $300 and nobody was hurt.

Fire Chief Francis J. Hartin says the company's process involved waste gas, which was supposed to burn off on contact with the air. It was discharged into the heating system chimney, whence it failed to escape rapidly enough into the outside atmosphere. It built up and finally let go, blowing the chimney to smithereens.

The plant has been temporarily closed, says the Chief, pending investigation by the Wayland Fire Department and the State Fire Marshal's office. When the alarm first came in, the report was that the roof had blown off the building, and ambulances were called, only to be recalled when the real nature of the affair became apparent. The Sudbury Fire Department also responded.

This day was a busy one for the Fire Department. At 7:04 it was called to rescue a dog, belonging to Arthur Ahlman of East Street, which had fallen into the little pond on Concord Road near Training Field Road.

At 11:15 the resuscitator was called for Millidge Wentworth, 55, of West Plain Street, who had a heart attack. Dr. Charlotte Stewart pronounced him dead.

At noon the department was called again for a flooded oil burner at the home of John Laflin, 224 East Commonwealth Road.

Falls Off The Dome

WAYLAND -- Michael E. Recko, 47, of 15 Marion Street, Worcester, a carpenter employed on construction for the new high school, received a fracture of the wrist at 9:15 a.m. on Dec. 21 when he fell to the ground, about 15 feet, from the base of the field house dome.

He was taken to Framingham Union Hospital, where he was treated and then released.

Tree-Cutting Part Of Red Barn Christmas

WESTON -- Old-fashioned tree-cutting expeditions were part of the pre-Christmas celebration for pupils in the kindergarten and three nursery school groups of the Red Barn Nursery School. Each group made its own trip to pick out and cut down the tree for its room. The three nursery groups went to the home of Ben Sawyer, a kindergarten student, in Weston.

Mrs. Albert J. Chard of Nobscot Road, South Sudbury, was hostess to the kindergarten group, which included Scott Hinkley, Debbie Kennedy, David Bean and Ben Donner, all of Wayland; Nicholas Chard of Sudbury, and Stefan Krug, Peter Phinney, Frannie Fuchs, Ben Sawyer, Heather Saunders and Robbie Starmer, all of Weston.

Climax of the Christmas preparation were the parties held by each of the groups on Dec. 18. Mothers, brothers, sisters, and friends were invited and there were even several grandmothers and one grandfather in attendance.

Smith - Johnson

Susan Jane Smith
(Bradford Bachrach)

WESTON -- Announcement was made on Christmas Day of the engagement of Miss Susan Jane Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byran E. Smith of 39 Byron Road, and Midshipman Frederick Bradley Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Everett Johnson of 44 Byron Road, whose acquaintance began seven years ago when their families moved across the street from each other.

Susan and "Rick" both attended Weston schools and were active in High School affairs. She was secretary of her class for three years and girls' sports editor of the Yearbook. Rick was treasurer of his class and an outstanding member of the Science Club. He won a First Award for two separate years at the M.I.T. Science Fair and also received a First Award from the National Society of Metallurgists and Future Scientists of America.

Susan was graduated from Weston High School in 1957 and is now a junior at Wheaton College where she is majoring in English. She is secretary of her class, treasurer of the College's Womens' Christian Association, and a member of the Triton Synchronized Swimming

Lars Ohman In C.G.

WAYLAND -- Lars P. Ohman, FA, USCG, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. P. Ohman of 83 Old Sudbury Road, has completed 13 weeks of basic training at the U.S. Coast Guard Receiving Center, Cape May, New Jersey. He entered the Coast Guard in September, 1959.

Lars P. Ohman

Fireman apprentice Ohman will now report to the 1st Coast Guard District for further duty.

Before entering the Coast Guard he was graduated from Wayland High School.

WESTON -- Local residents enrolled in the Winter Bird Biology course to be held at the Hatheway School in South Lincoln beginning Jan. 7 are Mrs. James L. Whittenberger and Mrs. Edgar J. Jones.

Two Towns Face 1960 With Big Expenses But Big Revenue And Excellent Credit

As the forecasts below indicate, the financial affairs of both Wayland and Weston seem to be in pretty good order. The year-end statements come from the Town Accountants of the two towns.

Wayland Has Collected All Taxes Due Prior To 1958

The Administrators of Wayland approach the year 1960 with an optimistic feeling. With our High School borrowing behind us, it appears that the Town will have at least the next two years without any school borrowing. All of the temporary borrowings and other obligations of 1959 have been met.

Even though we took $44,000.00 from our Surplus Revenue Account at the Special Town Meeting in November, the balance Dec. 1 of this account, is only $27,000.00 lower than the balance of Jan. 1, 1959, which in essence means that the Town will end up with a satisfactory balance in the Surplus Revenue Account.

All taxes due the Town prior to 1958 have been paid. To our knowledge, this is the first time in the history of the Town that taxes have been this well collected. Because of this, the Town is in a very good position, credit-wise.

The building of new homes continues at a steady pace, thus our assessed valuation is increasing, but, unfortunately not as fast as demands by the various departments of the Town.

Weston Added $1,000,000 In Total Valuation In 1959

The Town of Weston's tax rate for 1959 was $52.60. As of Dec. 22, more than 98.87% of the real estate taxes had been collected.

On Dec. 1, 1959, the Town's cash balance was in round figures $1,387,000.

It is expected that final figures for the year will show a "free cash" or surplus position which will be below that at the beginning of 1959. This results from the use of surplus to reduce the tax rate in 1959 and from the appropriation of a relatively large amount of surplus in October, 1959, for water main extensions, which will ultimately be reimbursed to the Town by developers.

In 1960, the Town plans to borrow up to $2,400,000 for the construction of a new four-year high school building.

In order to obtain the most favorable interest rate when the loan is negotiated, Moody's Investor's Service, Inc., has been requested by the Town Treasurer to conduct, and is currently in the process of conducting, a review of the finances of

500 Came To Carol Sing At Jones House, Dec. 24

WESTON -- Approximately 500 responded to the ringing of church bells which announced the beginning of the Community Carol Sing held in front of the Jones House on Christmas Eve from 7 to 7:20 p.m.

Sponsored by the Women's Community League, the sing was open to Wayland and Weston residents and was accompanied by members of the Weston High School band. Wax tapers burned in the windows of the Jones House, the porch was lighted for the benefit of the musicians and flashlights were carried by many of the carol singers.

The Bell Haven Bell Ringers, one of the few registered groups of bell-ringers in the United States, opened the program. Traditional carols, plus "Rudolph, The Red-Nosed Reindeer," were then sung to the accompaniment of the brass section of the Weston High School band. On the brasses were Paula Toner, Deborah Viles, Steven Cribben, Eric Hoagland, Peter Manson, Ralph Stockmayer and Thomas White.

The Winter Bird Menu

It isn't the cold, sub-freezing as it can get in these parts, that causes many of our songbirds to migrate to a warmer climate. It is the lack of food. More and more varieties, normally thought of as Summer visitors, remain with us throughout the year, as their feeding and care increase in popular appeal.

The Massachusetts Audubon Society, in response to many inquiries on what to feed what birds in winter, issues the following advice:

In purchasing a seed mixture, a high percentage of sunflower seed and nut meats should be insisted upon for winter feeding. Sunflower is the seed preferred by nut-hatches blue jays and chickadees. This is also true of the tufted titmouse, cardinal, purple finch, goldfinch, towhee and evening grosbeak.

The millets, especially the small golden millet, are attractive to the sparrow tribe. This group includes

Richardson - Rein

WESTON -- Mr. and Mrs. Nelson R. Richardson of 12 Bogle Street announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Sally P. Richardson, to Mr. Philip F. Rein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rein of Patchogue, N. Y., at a coffee at their home on Dec. 29. Miss Richardson is a graduate of the School of Oral Hygiene, University of Pennsylvania. Mr. Rein is a graduate of New York University and is now a senior at the School of Dentistry, University of Pennsylvania. A summer wedding is planned. Above, Miss Richardson.

Eighteen girls from Wayland and Weston High Schools were among those invited to attend the Sudbury Valley Smith College Club Christmas Tea held at the home of Mrs. Kenneth C. Tiffin of Holliston on Dec. 21.

Miss Sally Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Cox of Glezen Lane and a senior at Smith, and Miss Ainslie Baldwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Baldwin of Moore Road, and a freshman at Smith this year, were among Smith students in the area who attended.

Prospective students from local high schools heard about the College from students and Club members and were shown views of campus life by Miss Cox, who also narrated the slides.

Wayland students invited were Claire Gregory, Anne Pearson, Sandra Lubin and Elizabeth Woodsum.

Invited from Weston High School were Bonnie McLane, Julie Doebler, Carter Bottjer, Donna Brown, (Please turn to Page 6)

Mexican Visitors Bring Posada And Pinata
To Wayland Families

WAYLAND -- A number of local children and grown-ups were treated to first hand participation in some traditional Mexican Christmas customs because of the visit here, for the last three weeks, of two ladies from Mexico City, Senora Josephina Caldaren and Senorita Anita Orcozo.

The Senora and Senorita have been staying, for a week at a time, with six Wayland families and have given a zesty Mexican fillip to New England Christmas preparations. Most intriguing of the novelties they introduced was the "pinata" they brought with them.

The pinata is a large paper container stuffed with small gifts of candy and is a traditional part of the Mexican Christmas celebration called the "posada." The game of breaking the pinata was tried out by several delighted youngsters in the hosts' families.

Each child is blindfolded and given a big stick with which he is supposed to hit the pinata as it is being pulled through the air on a string. When the pinata is hit, the paper tears and the candy comes tumbling out.

It may even be that the exuberant pinata custom will replace that of the stodgier Santa Claus in these parts because the ladies also paid a visit to the Happy Hollow School one day last week and taught the children how to make their own.

Mrs. Florence Shohl, sixth grade teacher at the School, had been instrumental in arranging the Wayland visit through the Experiment in International Living. The Senor and Senorita, both of whom work at the Institute of North American Cultural Relations in Mexico City, were given the trip as a surprise reward for their devoted service to the Institute.

While in Wayland, Senora Caldaren has stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nichols of Rolling Lane and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Benjamin of Concord Road; and will be with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davis of Local Players On The

All-Scholastic Lists

Eight local players were among the high school football players who won recognition on one or more All-Scholastic lists at the close of this season.

Jerry Whelchel and Dick Morris of Wayland High, Jay Adams and Forbes McMullin of Weston High, and Eddie Sullivan of Wayland, who played for Marian High School in Framingham, all won honorable mentions on the Boston Herald listings.

In the Boston Traveler's selections, Whelchel was named to the third team and Morris, McMullin, and Sullivan as well as Dave Furst and Ed Marsh of Wayland High were given honorable mentions.

The Boston Globe picked Bruce Waldman of Wayland as a best end and Whelchel as a best back among the Class D teams. McMullin and Morris won honorable mentions.

In addition, Eddie Sullivan was named to the 33-man All-Catholic Schoolboy football squad.

All eight players are seniors this year and three of them, Whelchel, Morris and Sullivan, were co-captains for their teams.

Teachers Study Algebra

WESTON -- Miss Helen Green, former Mathematics Department chairman at Weston High School, and five members of the current mathematics staff, are taking part in an in-service course in principles of modern algebra being held at Needham High School.

Mrs. June Ellsworth and Mr. Robert Stuart of the senior high faculty and Mr. William O'Rourke, Mr. Charles Medford and Mrs. Victoria Foley, the three junior high teachers, are also enrolled in the class.

During the fall semester course the group will attack the problems of set theory as well as algebra and number theory. Prof. J. Franklin Fitzgerald, Boston University faculty member conducting the course, has stated the discussions of logic, probability and statistics may also be included in the plan of study.

In addition to the regular course work, the junior high teachers are meeting with Miss Green for weekly study and research sessions.

Stonebridge Road until she returns to Mexico on Dec. 28.

Senorita Orcozo has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Clappitt of Sears Road and Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Pearson of Old Connecticut Path, and is spending the remainder of her stay until Dec. 28 with Mr. and Mrs. John B. Gregory of Concord Road.

Several of the Wayland people who are now studying conversational Spanish welcomed the opportunity for a little practice with the visitors although both the ladies are fluent enough in English to be able to get along on their own. The one difficulty they did experience was on an unescorted trip into Boston where they ran into the same problem a good many natives have had. They got lost in a department store.

A Christmas Tree Cutting

WESTON -- Kindergarten children of the Red Barn Nursery School had the fun of getting their own Christmas tree out of the woods in South Sudbury (by permission). In the photo above, left to right, are Nicholas Schardl of Sudbury, Scott Hinckley of Wayland, Peter Phinney and Heather Saunders of Weston, Debbie Kennedy of Wayland and Franny Fuchs of Weston.

Pack 53 "Does It's Best"

WESTON -- On Thursday, Dec. 10, at St. Peter's Episcopal church in Weston, the cubs of Pack 53 showed their parents and friends how they could "do their best to bring Christmas joys to less fortunate children."

All month the boys had been busy working at their dens and the fruits of their labors were displayed around the room. There were all sorts of games and puzzles made by the boys. These will be given to some charitable institution as Christmas gifts. The boys of one den earned $1 each and they will go on a shopping trip to buy gifts to give to less fortunate children.

After the opening ceremony by the Lion-Webelos Den, and the usual inspection and roll call, Dens 8 and 18 presented skits on the theme "Do Your Best". These were both so well done that the judges declared they were unable to make a decision and both dens were given awards.

Den 18 also won the inspection award, and Den 5 had perfect attendance.

Three new Bobcats were taken into the Pack by Cubmaster Robert Townsend: James Peebles, John King and Mark De Guzman.

All cubs and parents will please note that the January Pack meeting has been changed to Jan. 14.

Mr. Paul Luks

WAYLAND -- Funeral services were held at the Gibbs Memorial Chapel on Dec. 26 for Mr. Paul Luks of 10 Cross Street.

A resident of the town for the past 30 years, Mr. Luks had retired only two months ago after 20 years with the General Ship and Engineer Works, Incorporated. He was a member of the Industrial Union of Marine Ship Building Workers of America and had served with the Merchant Marine in World War I.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ella M. (Copelman) Luks of Cross Street.

WESTON -- Tom Scott was promoted from executive vice president to president of Buckley & Scott, at a recent annual meeting. He succeeds his father, John W. Scott, who was appointed chairman of the Board at the same time. Buckley & Scott, whose headquarters are in Watertown, is one of New England's oldest and largest dealers and distributors of fuel oil and oil burning equipment.

Castro Won't Matriculate At The Electoral College

1960 In The Crystal Ball: School Bonds Will Be Out of Sight, Out of Mind

Somebody will be elected President, but it will be nobody from around here. Local eggheads will plunge into the campaign, but they will be outnumbered by the political hardboiled eggs. Fidel Castro's chances of pulling an upset in the Electoral College are zero.

So, now that 1959 has been disposed of, just before it and Christmas disposed of us, it is appropriate to peek into 1960, which is expected to feature politics, bad weather, personal problems, graduations, weddings, flat tires and a full program of Winter activity by the garden clubs. Everything will be much the same, with names and dates changed, but a few guaranteed predictions may be made:

Another 200 acres of our fair countryside will be covered with hot top, from which rain water will run off in torrents and gouge out another 200 acres of glacial gravel.

Many trees will be cut down because they are diseased. Many others will be cut down because it's so much fun to use the chain saw, if the Pilgrim Fathers had had which there wouldn't be a tree left.

Children will be regimented and hounded into dancing classes by a committee whose motto is "Let no 12-year-old boy escape."

A local man will save up $40, planning to take it to New Hampshire and there buy $50 worth of bottles, obviously brilliant economic move. His wife will discover he has $40, and it will go into curtains.

Horse cars will not come back, but the 4-H clubs will continue to cherish the horse.

Thousands will be appointed to civic committees and a few dozen will do all the work. (This prediction is so easy the prophet did it with one eye covered with a black patch.)

Influenced by that new book, many will be concerned about status, which is what anybody has when the neighbors don't know how successfully he is concealing his financial troubles. But they really don't need to worry. Unless crowds gather to throw stones at the front door, those within are probably doing well enough.

New schools will be opened. Inspecting them, people will be so pleased they'll forget what they cost. Those bonds are hidden away in a vault where nobody ever sees them, anyway.

Every Saturday, 58 per cent of all local housewives will say, "If somebody doesn't go to the dump pretty soon we'll have to move out of the house."

This will send 58 per cent of all local husbands to the dump, a miserable locality ideally suited for the sharing of misery.

And this dump going points up what we sociologists see as a significant trend. (Not in 1960, you may be sure, will any sociologist, pundit or Big Thinker see an insignificant trend, although there will be many.) Women now buy all the stuff and when it's used up, men have to cart it away. And they'd be carting away most of their own stuff, too, unless they protested, on the ground that it takes up too much space in the home. There's always room for one more chair or crockery umbrella stand, never enough for man's other suit.

The moon flight will not be attempted from this neighborhood. There's so much traffic on the roads a rocket couldn't get through. The traffic is caused by commuting motorists who work on semi-conductors, semi-computers, semi-transistors, semi digitals, semi-methods systems, synthetic truncated cones and other parts for moon rockets.

Somebody will turn in a strictly honest income tax return and live for a year on a clear conscience and hay.

A garden club member will stay at home all Summer, toiling among her petunias with spade, trowel and dibble. In October she will reappear, slim, tanned, beautiful and smiling, and she will describe her experience in a sensational magazine article which will rock the Garden Club Federation.-- D.B.W.

Student Day

WESTON -- Sunday was Student Recognition Day at the First Baptist Church of Weston. Three men, home from college for the holidays, assisted the pastor in the Morning Worship. James Tebo, a freshman at the University of Massachusetts, gave the invocation, Robert Howell, senior at Bucknell University in Pennsylvania, read the Scripture lesson, and Robert Walsh, junior at Brandeis University, offered the morning prayer.

At the evening youth meeting a panel discussion on "Youth and College" was held with Tom Clarke and Bob Howell participating.

Cast Of 8th Grade Play

Clifford - Mallory

WESTON -- Miss Margaret Persis Mallory, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. G. Kenneth Mallory of Chestnut Hill, and Mr. Donald Jackson Clifford, son of Dr. and Mrs. Stewart H. Clifford of Doublet Hill Road, were married on Dec. 26 in the Church of the Redeemer in Chestnut Hill. Rev. Lawrence Whittemore performed the 4 o'clock ceremony and a reception followed at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Mallory wore a full-skirted gown of pure silk bombazine trimmed with Alencon lace and iridescent sequins. A bonnet of Alencon lace held her three-tiered fingertip veil of French illusion.

Miss Margaret Elizabeth Siscoe of Chestnut Hill was maid of honor and the bride's only attendant. Mr. Stewart B. Clifford of New York City, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and the ushers were Mr. G. Kenneth Mallory Jr., brother of the bride, and Mr. Paul Clifford and Mr. Frederick Clifford, brothers of the bridegroom.

Miss Mallory was graduated in 1956 from the Winsor School and is now a senior at Wellesley College. She made her debut during the 1956-57 season and is a member of the Vincent Club and the Junior League of Boston.

Mr. Clifford prepared at Noble and Greenough School and was graduated in 1959 from Harvard College where he was a member of the Fox Club and the Hasty Pudding-Institute of 1770.

Following a wedding trip to Bermuda, the couple will live in Wellesley.

Speaker At Weston

WESTON -- Mr. Michael Butler, Information Officer of the British Consulate in Boston, addressed Weston Junior High's Geography Club on Wednesday, Dec. 16.

Britain's dependency on trade and industry was his theme. He also described English landforms, climate, travel facilities, and the position of Britain in her commonwealth.

Mrs. Evon Vogt provided transportation for the British guest, and Richard Berry, 8th grade student, acted as Mr. Butler's host.

WAYLAND -- Chief of Police Ernest H. Damon was among those attending the Dec. 17 meeting of the Massachusetts Police Chiefs Association at which District Attorney Garrett Byrne of Suffolk County was the principal speaker.

The Community Chorus

The Community Chorus will resume rehearsals on Monday evening, Jan. 4, at the High School, Wayland Center.

Under the direction of Mr. Kalman Novak, the Chorus will commence its preparation for the Spring Concert. A tape recording made at the recent Christmas concert will be played at the Jan. 4 meeting and there also will be a discussion of the proposed program for the forthcoming Spring concert.

This rather informal rehearsal is an excellent opportunity for all those interested in the Chorus to join at the very beginning of this new season. All are welcome, with no tryouts required. Rehearsals start promptly at 8 p.m.

The January meeting of the Framingham-Wellesley Branch of the American Association of University Women will be held Wednesday evening, Jan. 6, at 8 o'clock in Peavey Gymnasium at Babson Institute of Business Administration in Wellesley.

Mrs. Frank Genovese of Wellesley, program chairman, has announced that Mrs. Paul Staake Jr. of Wellesley will present a program entitled, "Physical Fitness--a Challenge to the Individual."

A.I.M. Ticket Sale

WAYLAND -- Mrs. Albert D. Hughes of Glezen Lane, Wayland ticket chairman for Adventures in Music, has announced ticket-sale plans for the forthcoming A.I.M. children's concert series. The first concert is to be performed Jan. 23 for first, second and third grade students of the Wayland-Weston-Lincoln-Sudbury-Lexington area at Carey Hall, Lexington, under the direction of Kalman Novak.

Mrs. Hughes advises that parents of elementary school children will soon receive letters offering them the opportunity to purchase by mail tickets for the entire series of four concerts. Tickets for the first performance only will be made available on Jan. 11 by A.I.M. members who will distribute brochures and order blanks to children of the first three grades.

St. Ann's Guild

WAYLAND -- St. Ann's Guild will hold its monthly meeting in the Guild Hall on Tuesday evening, Jan. 5, at 8 p.m. Andre Snow, noted lecturer and traveler, will speak about Austria and show colored slides.

Refreshments will be served by the following committee: Mrs. Frank Libby, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Thomas Burke, Mrs. Anthony Bova, Mrs. Ronald Haggarty, Mrs. William Logue and Mrs. F. J. Carroll.

Cub Scout Awards

WAYLAND -- The following Cub Scouts were to receive awards at the Dec. 17 Pack Meeting:

Den 2 - Thomas Vinciulla, Lion Badge and one gold and two silver arrows under the Lion Badge; Thomas Krinopolis, Bear Badge; and Ronald Mooradian, Silver arrow under the Wolf Badge.

Den 3 - John Griffin and Jeffrey Billig, both Wolf Badges.

Den 4 - Philip Spodowski, Wolf Badge; Steven Williams, one gold and two silver arrows under the Wolf Badge; Steven Williams, one gold and two silver arrows under the Wolf Badge; Roger Osmond, Lion Badge; Roger de Bruyn and Thomas Frye, silver arrows under the Bear Badge.

Den 9 - Mark Kingsbury, George Douglas, and T. Power MacIssac, Lion Badges.

Den 10 - G. Bradford Small, silver arrow under the Wolf Badge.

New Bobcats to be admitted at the Dec. 17 Pack Meeting are N. Richard Kline, David Knaack, Weston Keyes, and Richard Bortone.

Bobcats admitted at the last Pack Meeting on Nov. 17 are William Ames, Jeffrey Billig, John Griffin, Timothy Kingsbury, Thomas Lucas, Daniel J. MacLellan, Harold Morse, Philip Spodowski, Robin Sturgis, David Weaver, Steven Williams and Nelson Wolfe.

A. I. M. Quota, $750

WAYLAND -- Mrs. Dean Hocking, fund raising chairman, and Mrs. George Freedman, Adventures in Music Wayland area chairman, remind people that the Wayland quota for the support of A.I.M. is $750. Contributions may be sent to Mrs. Hocking, Shaw Drive.

Latest advice to parents: Maintain authority and behave accordingly to your years.

WAYLAND -- Miss Betsy Lundy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Lundy of Westway Road, has been appointed chairman of intramurals for her dormitory at the University of Florida, publicity chairman for the scholarship committee, and a member of the hall council. Miss Lundy, graduated from Wayland High School last June, is a freshman in the pre-medical course.

EVENTS AND PEOPLE TO BE FEATURED IN THE NEAR FUTURE

James Kapteyn Will Head Cambridge School Summer Day Camp

WESTON -- M. Adolphus Cheek Jr., headmaster of the Cambridge School of Weston, has announced the appointment of James A. Kapteyn as director of the school's Summer day camp on the school and Mrs. Kapteyn have four daughters and are dorm parents in the school's White Farmhouse dormitory.

The camp grounds will include the school playing fields, swimming pool, dining hall, gym and 130 acres of pond and woodland. Mr. Kapteyn will locate the tribe tents and most of the camp's instruction facilities in the woods surrounding the main council area.

Between June 27 and August 19 the camp will offer a program of swimming instruction, sports, woodlore, dance, and arts and crafts to boys and girls aged four to twelve. Transportation and hot lunches will be provided by the camp.

Weston MYF Party

WESTON -- The Weston Methodist Youth Fellowship is planning "A Gala New Year's Eve Party" to be held in the Parish Hall, North Avenue, on Dec. 31. The festivities will begin at 9 p.m. with entertainment by the Belmont Chapter of the S.P.E.B.S.Q.S.A. Inc. Following this, there will be dancing with a live orchestra. Later in the evening, a short but meaningful watch-night service will be held. A big buffet supper of ham, turkey, casseroles, pickles, olives, rolls and all the "fixings" will be included.

Tickets may be obtained by calling Bill Parlee at TW 4-5741 or Malcolm Currier, TW 4-3706. Everyone (from the 7th grade up) is welcome to attend.

Forest And Trail

WESTON -- The Forest and Trail Association will hold a walk at 2:30 p.m. on Sunday, Jan. 3, starting from 263 South Avenue, where, after the walk, tea will be served by invitation of Dr. and Mrs. William A. Elliston. Guests will be welcome. Skis and snowshoes may be used if conditions are suitable.

Coburn - Taylor

WESTON -- Miss Alexandra Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Spear Taylor of Washington, D.C., was married in St. John's Episcopal Church, Lafayette Square, Washington, on Nov. 1 to Mr. Lawrence Haines Coburn, son of Mrs. Arthur L. Coburn of 153 Church Street and the late Mr. Coburn, Reverend Donald W. Mayberry, rector of the historic church, performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a white silk gown belonging to her great-grandmother and carried a bouquet of roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Bruce J. Phillips of Boston was matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Martha Carmichael of Washington, D.C., Mrs. Johnathan Reed of New York City, and Miss Mary Jane Clark of Chatham, Virginia.

Mr. Frederick R. Coburn, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and another brother, Mr. Arthur L. Coburn, was among the ushers which included Mr. Nicholas Taylor, brother of the bride, Mr. Lawrence DeVoe of New York, Mr. F. Conger Fawcett of Annisquam, Mr. W. Latimer Gray Jr., of Wareham, Mr. Warren C. Moffett and Mr. Bruce J. Phillips, both of Boston, and Mr. Charles E. Baldwin III, of Weston.

Miss Taylor was graduated from the Potomac School, The Madeira School of Greenway, Virginia, and from Connecticut College. She made her debut in 1953 at the Washington Debutante Ball.

Mr. Coburn was graduated from Phillips Exeter Academy in 1952 and from Harvard College in 1956 where he was a member of the D. U. Club and the Hasty Pudding Institute of 1770.

Following a wedding trip, the couple will live in Boston.

WESTON -- Mr. and Mrs. William Sherburne of 50 Summer Street announce the birth at Faulkner Hospital on Dec. 20 of Katherine Frances Sherburne, their first child. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Farren of Dorchester and Mrs. Katherine Sherburne of Weston.

We wish to thank

Mrs. Gillespie Wins Prize

Presenting the certificate. John Markey of the Hood Company, left, passes it to Mrs. Gillespie, right. In the center, Mr. Peter S. Acconcia, owner of the market.

WAYLAND - Mrs. Charles Gillespie of 32 Woodridge Road, was recently awarded a $50 gift certificate prize equivalent to free groceries for two weeks for aptly naming a cottage cheese salad in a contest sponsored by H. P. Hood & Sons. The certificate is redeemable at the Triple A Supermarket in Weston, where she purchased her cottage cheese.

By winning this specific contest, Mrs. Gillespie became eligible for the grand prize, a full year's supply of free groceries up to a value of $25 per week from the market.

The contest was divided into four sections, each section having a different salad. Eight winners were selected from each of the four sections and thus 32 people will have their entries competing for the grand prize.

Team.

Rick transferred to the Bullis Preparatory School in Silver Springs, Maryland, for his senior year and then entered the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis where he is a member of this year's graduating class. A major in electrical engineering, he has been elected to the American Rocket Society and also has many interests outside the scientific field.

He has written and produced an Annapolis musical show, is a member of the Foreign Relations Club, and is active in the Annapolis Sailing Club. He will skipper the U.S.N.A. yawl, "Royono," in the 1960 Newport-Bermuda race and has previously sailed in one Newport and one Bermuda race.

The Smiths moved to their Byron Road home eight years ago and the young couple met the next year when the Johnsons moved into their home across the street.

Susan expects to be graduated from Wheaton in 1961 and Rick is hoping to enter the submarine service after his graduation from Annapolis in June.

No date has yet been set for the wedding.

WINTER BIRD MENU

the song, Lincoln's, chipping, field and tree sparrows, as well as the junco and indigo bunting. If you live near a cultivated field and scatter food on the ground, millet will also attract the Savannah, vesper and even grasshopper sparrows. This group will also eat bread and cracker crumbs, which are not recommended for a steady diet.

Peanut butter is of course a staple winter food, attractive chiefly to those species whose normal diet consists largely of insects. It gives them the protein they must have, and the same food value is contained in suet.

Your feed should contain a very small percentage of grit also, for this is what grinds up the food in the bird's crop. When the ground is completely covered with snow, there is the chance that this essential food element may not be obtainable. If you have a source of coarse sand nearby, scatter a small amount on the ground.

Remember, too, that each kind of a bird has his own preference for a place to eat. Some feed on the ground, while others prefer a feeding station elevated from the ground.

Ground-feeders include juncos, tree sparrows, mourning doves, fox sparrows and pheasants. Feeding-station birds include the nuthatches, chickadees, the finch family and evening grosbeaks.

The Massachusetts Audubon Society has developed two winter mixtures of bird feed which are available at the various sanctuaries.

The feeding tray, ground or elevated, is a sure-fire way of bringing the birds close to you. But once you start feeding them, keep it up.

WESTON FINANCES

the Town of Weston to determine whether the issue of $2,400,000 in bonds will affect the Aa rating which the bonds of the Town now carry.

Probably one half year's interest will be paid on this prospective loan during 1960, but the first payment for retirement of the bond issue will not be made until 1961 when it is estimated that the total bond and interest charges to be paid by the Town will be over $512,000. In anticipation of this high point in the debt costs of the Town repayment of loan of $40,000 for the construction of a water main in South Avenue to serve the new high school site has been scheduled for 1960.

New taxable construction up to Nov. 30, 1959, had totalled an estimated value of $2,000,000 which would probably add about $1,000,000 to the total assessed valuation of real and personal property. This was $26,220,982 as of Jan. 1, 1959.

It is too early to give any accurate estimate of the total budget for 1960. However, the total budget for current expenses is bound to be higher even if no additional personnel and no new programs were to be added since salary increases granted in 1959 which were effective only for a portion of the year will be in effect for a full year in 1960.

SMITH CLUB TEA

Rosamond Lombard, Karen Schuerhoff, Edith and Jane Wypler, Karen Beamish, Alex Corman, Joyce FitzSimons, Nancy Locke, Esther Lombard and Linda Townsend.

Mrs. Peter Beckwith, vice-president of the Club, and Mrs. Sture Blom, both of Wayland, were among the hostesses and Mrs. H. V. S. Brewer, also of Wayland, was one of the pourers.

Gifts, food and decorations were on sale for the benefit of the Club's scholarship fund, which members hope will be large enough in a few years to help send some local girl to Smith.

PETE BOGREN

Pete was graduated from Wayland High School in 1952 and played goal on the Colby College team from 1952 through 1956. He played professional hockey for the St. Louis team in the Midwest League in 1956 and 1957 when he was attending the University of Missouri Graduate School.

Right now, because of his Army duties, Pete can play only part-time for the Washington team. But he has enough accumulated leave time so that he has been able to fill in several times this season when the regular goalies were injured and he expects to be playing some more after his return to Washington on Jan. 8.

217 Passed Swimming Tests In Beach Program

WAYLAND -- The Wayland Red Cross had its most successful swimming program this summer, with a total of 217 boys and girls passing the standard Red Cross tests. The weather was the poorest that can be recalled and because of this fact the usual eight-week program with everyone having lessons three days a week was cut by almost two weeks. The program was extended four days and lessons were given on Saturdays to help offset the loss of lessons because of rain and cold during June and July.

A much needed facility was made possible through the generosity of Eugene Roberts of Woodridge

The thought that acknowledgment of one infinite God, and obedience to His commands, is essential for the spiritualization and salvation of mankind, will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.
The Lesson-Sermon is entitled "God." The Golden Text is from Deuteronomy (10:12, 13):
"And now, Israel, what doth the Lord thy God require of thee, but to fear the Lord thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to serve the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul, to keep the commandments of the Lord, and his statutes, which I command thee this day for thy good?"
From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following will be read (228:25-27): "There is no power apart from God. Omnipotence has all-power, and to acknowledge any other power is to dishonor God."

County Evening Series

WESTON -- The Country Evening Concerts announces that its 1959 scholarship money, donated to the New England Conservatory each year from proceeds of the previous season, will this fall be given in memory of Elizabeth Parsons.

Beth, daughter of Weston's Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Parsons, was one of the ushers at the Country Evening Concerts last winter. She was a violin pupil of the Boston Symphony Orchestra's Stanley Benson and showed great promise as a musician, a promise recognized abroad by her having qualified for the past several years for membership in both the All New England Orchestra and the All State Orchestra.

This promise was further confirmed by her positions as member of the Boston Youth Orchestra and the Wellesley Symphony Orchestra. Here at home she was first violinist and concertmistress of the Weston High School Orchestra, and this year was to have been managing editor of the school paper. Already therefore on her way, she died last June at the age of 16. Her loss to her family and to her friends is immense and unimaginable. Music lost a devoted and gifted associate.

As to the scholarship, it is given to the Conservatory, which in turn gives it to some deserving and needy young student from this general area. Last year the award was made to a versatile soprano-violinist from Westwood who plans a career in teaching, while previous winners have included a clarinetist from Wellesley, a violinist from Newton, and a baritone from Watertown. Winner of this 1959 Beth Parsons Scholarship will soon be announced.

Travis - Morss

WAYLAND -- Miss Cynthia Ann Morss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Reed Morss of Chestnut Hill, formerly of Lincoln Road, was married on Dec. 20 in the First Church in Cambridge, to Mr. William Penfield Travis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bough Travis of Cleveland, Ohio.

Miss Morss was graduated from St. Timothy's School and from Radcliffe College and is now doing graduate work. She made her debut during the 1955-56 season.

Mr. Travis prepared at Middlesex School and was graduated from Harvard College in 1954 where he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and the Varsity Club. He also studied at L'Ecole Normale Supérieure in France and received his master's degree in 1957 from Harvard University. He is currently an instructor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and is working on his Ph.D. degree at Harvard.

Following a wedding trip to San Juan, Puerto Rico, the couple will live in Cambridge.

WAYLAND -- Drawings at Marshall's drugstore, before Christmas, were won by Ming Stokey of Concord road, who received a doll, and Robert Chase of Glezen Lane, who received a Lionel train.
